- A temporary resident of Caesarea, the Roman military capital of Palestine (10:1).
- The commander of at least one hundred Roman (enemy) troops (10:1).
- The head of the Italian Regiment (10:1).
- A Gentile (10:1).
- A man who was as spiritually unclean as the forbidden animals of the Old Testament dietary laws (10:11–16).

- A foreigner he could not visit without breaking rabbinic law (10:28).
- An uncircumcised man unfit to share a meal (11:3).

To Peter these factors disqualified Cornelius from serving him dinner, let alone coming to faith. But Peter was locked into what amounted to a Jewish gospel.

God had always wanted the Israelites to treat their Gentile neighbors with respect (Num. 35:15; Deut. 10:19; Ezek. 47:2). But He also charged His people to shun pagan practices, especially idolatry (Lev. 18:24–19:4; Deut. 12:29–31), and with few exceptions, intermarriage was condemned (compare Ex. 34:16; Deut. 7:3; Ezra 9:12; 10:2–44; Neh. 10:30). This was based on religion, not on race or ethnicity.

Jews were consumed with maintaining their moral purity, and rabbinic tradition made strict separation from Gentiles the rule. Four hundred years of Greek and Roman oppression further hardened Jewish resolve to avoid contact with foreigners whenever possible. Because Peter and other Jewish believers brought these attitudes with them into the church, they found it almost impossible to reach out to Gentiles.

How God Saw Cornelius

God had an entirely different view of Cornelius. The Lord saw that he was . . .

- Devout (Acts 10:2).
- A God-fearing person—as was his household (10:2).
- Generous to the poor (10:2).
- A man whose prayers and alms were welcomed by God (10:2, 4).
- Obedient to God's angel (10:7, 8).
- Cleansed by God, so no longer unclean (10:15).
- A man who was crucial for Peter to meet (10:5, 19, 20).

God was ready to throw the doors of faith wide open to Gentiles: "What God has cleansed you must not call common," He told Peter (10:9–16). Any person who came to Christ was clean in every way.

But Peter was confused. Should he break with his culture and visit this Gentile, violating social codes that were handed down as if they were God's law? He had at least a couple days to think through the situation as he walked to Caesarea to meet Cornelius. His emotional struggle is obvious in his first words to the assembled group: "You know how unlawful it is for a Jewish man to keep company with or go to one of another nation" (10:28). But God broke down the wall in Peter's heart by pouring out the Holy Spirit on these Gentile believers (10:44, 45).

Peter's New Perspective

Listen to the apostle's marvelously changed view:

- "In truth I perceive that God shows no partiality" (10:34).
- "But in every nation whoever fears Him . . . is accepted by Him" (10:35).
- "Jesus Christ . . . is Lord of all" (10:36).
- "Whoever believes in Him will receive remission of sins" (10:43).
- "Can anyone forbid water, that these should not be baptized who have received the Holy Spirit just as we have?" (10:47).
- "God gave them the same gift as He gave us when we believed" (11:17).
- "Who was I that I could withstand God?" (11:17).

Breaking Down Modern Barriers

The incident at Caesarea was not the first time early Christians had to deal with ethnic issues, and attitudes of prejudice and legalism trouble the modern church as much as they did those first followers. We sometimes create wrenching controversies by confusing cultural biases with biblical mandates. But it is a biblical essential that Christians eagerly seek out all people, see them from God's perspective, love them for the gospel's sake, and rejoice over all who respond in faith. To wall ourselves off because of fear or prejudice turns us away from God's compassionate heart.

Resolving Conflict
Acts 11:2–18

Conflict happens. Peter's report of his visit to Cornelius aroused hostility and opposition among some of the Jewish Christians at Jerusalem. They found his behavior in Joppa—socializing with the hated and feared Gentiles—totally unacceptable, even scandalous. But Peter responded with a clear, honest description of what happened (Acts 11:4–17). He filled in gaps in their understanding and gently explained his activities. The result was not only understanding but acceptance and approval of the new converts (11:18).

People around us need that kind of gentle advocacy, interpretation, and persuasion. We can introduce grace and truth into the space that separates adversaries.

The Gospel Spreads Beyond Palestine
Acts 11:19–26

Although the apostles remained in Jerusalem, the majority of Christians were scattered elsewhere as Saul and other persecutors mounted deadly attacks following Stephen's death (Acts 8:1–3; 9:1; 22:4, 5; 26:10, 11). As these refugees searched for places to rebuild their lives, some shared the gospel only with Jews. But Greek-speakers, like those from Cyprus and Cyrene (modern-day Libya), readily crossed ethnic barriers, especially at Antioch. What actions on your part would lead people to say that you readily cross ethnic barriers?

Churches Unlock Communities

Acts 11:22

Christianity eventually prevailed as the dominant worldview and social force of the Roman world in part because the people of the movement planted churches in dozens of the empire's major cities. By the end of the first century, Christians had spread the gospel by establishing visible, strategic communities in cities such as Antioch (Acts 11:22, 26; see also Antioch's profile at Acts 13:1). These Christians stood out from their surrounding culture in their beliefs and values, yet they engaged their surrounding culture in their daily lives and work.

The New Testament word for church is ekklēsia (“assembly” or “congregation”). The ekklēsia was a public assembly called by a herald to discuss legal issues and make community decisions. Paul faced such a gathering at Ephesus, where the town meeting broke into a riot (19:32–41). Ekklēsia always referred to people—first to the citizens of a city and later to gatherings of Christians. There is no evidence that it referred to a church building before the fourth century A.D.

Eight times out of ten, the New Testament uses the word ekklēsia to refer to all of the disciples of a specific city, such as “the church that was at Antioch” (13:1) or “the church of God which is at Corinth” (1 Cor. 1:2). Elsewhere the term encompasses all Christians in all times and places, in what is often called the universal or catholic church (Eph. 1:22; 3:10, 21; 5:23–32).

Christians who came together in these assemblies did not check out of society. Nor did they form congregations that competed with each other for members. They instead lived and worked as members of a larger Christian community and related to other nearby followers as members of a common family in Christ. This radical concept was so extraordinary that by the end of the second century, one author wrote the following:

> Christians are not distinguished from the rest of mankind by either country, speech, customs; the fact is, they nowhere settle in cities of their own; they use no peculiar language; they cultivate no eccentric mode of life. . . . Yet while they dwell in both Greek and non-Greek cities, as each one’s lot was cast, and conform to the customs of the country in dress, food, and mode of life in general, the whole tenor of their way of living stamps it as worthy of admiration and admittedly extraordinary.

The remarkable reputation of early Christians compels us to ask what we will be remembered for—divisions and conflict that distract us from our purpose, or a unity that brings us together to unlock communities for Christ.

A New Name for a New Way
Acts 11:26

As Jesus' followers grew into a movement, they began to be called "the Way" (Acts 9:2; 19:9, 23; 24:14, 22). The name probably began as a reference to Christ's statement, "I am the way" (John 14:6). Most members of the Way had Jewish roots. When Antioch saw an infusion from other ethnic groups, however, no one knew what to call the multicultural body.

Old ethnic designations—Jews, Greeks, Romans, Gentiles—no longer fit. The Antiochians seized on the one factor that united the diverse community—Christ. Actually, the term Christian, or Christ-follower, began as a sarcastic put-down (Acts 11:26). But the name stuck and became a badge of honor.

Sadly, the term Christian has in recent times again become treated as an insult in popular culture. Some blame the liberal mindset of modern society for looking down on Christians as uptight, naive fanatics with outdated ideas that are irrelevant to modern life. And that mindset is probably partly to blame. But it would be naive to assume that Christians are not also at least partly responsible for damaging their own public image. The early Christians also lived in a liberal age, yet by the second century A.D. they had earned a reputation for being relatable, relevant, and "worthy of admiration" (see "Churches Unlock Communities" at Acts 11:22).

Jesus Himself warns us that since we are not of the world, the world will hate us just as it hated Him (John 15:18–25). However, this does not give us permission to act in ways that invite hate, or to hate the world back. Jesus certainly doesn't (3:16). What we are supposed to do, however, is win people over to Christ. How might we live in such a way as to get the world's attention for all the right reasons? How might we, through our everyday actions, reflect the glory of the kingdom of God?

The Antioch Model
Acts 13:1–3

First-century Christians made regular pilgrimages to Jerusalem. They met annually in the Upper Room. But it was the city of Antioch, not Jerusalem, that became the center of early Christianity. What developed there could be a model for modern churches.

Antioch was racially diverse and culturally pluralistic. When persecuted Christians arrived there (Acts 11:19–20), they had to struggle to find ways to make the gospel meaningful for disparate groups. Four factors led to their success.

1. They refused to tolerate ethnic divisions. The dominant groups of the Antioch population—Greeks, Syrians, Africans, and Jews—were literally walled off from each other (see Antioch's profile at Acts 13:1). But the gospel breaks down separation and hostility (Eph. 2:14–22) and brings people together in Christ.
2. They elevated multiethnic leadership. The church deployed pastors, teachers, and evangelists who represented their community's composition. Notice the cross-section represented by church leadership in Acts 13:1:

   - Barnabas, a Hellenist from Cyprus raised in a priestly family. He was the first major leader of the group (4:36; 11:22, 23).
   - Simeon (Niger), an African (13:1).
   - Lucius of Cyrene, also of African descent (13:1).
   - Manaen, a childhood companion of Herod Antipas (the ruler who killed John the Baptist; Mark 6:17–28), perhaps even a relative and certainly a privileged member of society (13:1).
   - Saul (Paul), a Hellenistic Jew from Tarsus who possessed rabbinical training and Roman citizenship. Barnabas intentionally recruited this young, untried leader (11:25, 26; 13:1).

3. They deployed teams to tell the story of Jesus. Paul used Antioch as his base for three missionary tours (13:1–3; 15:36–41; 18:22, 23). Antioch was also a crossroads for travelers from the Tigris-Euphrates River Valley to the east, Asia Minor to the north, and Egypt to the south. The church's location facilitated constant international outreach.
4. They joined together to perform acts of compassion. A famine in Judea became an opportunity for the multiethnic Christians at Antioch to serve their predominantly Jewish brothers to the south (11:27–30). Paul recognized how these projects could unite disconnected churches. "Remember the poor" became a cry that brought together Christians at Ephesus, Corinth, Thessalonica, Galatia, and Rome with their sisters and brothers in Jerusalem (20:17, 18, 35; 2 Cor. 8:1–9:15; Gal. 2:10).

Antioch became an ideal model for how the church can function in an environment of diversity and cultural pluralism.

Think About It: How will you imitate the above four actions in your church? Who will you invite to join you in each?

Paul

Acts 13:9

Also known as: Saul, his Jewish name, perhaps given as a tribute to Israel's first king, who, like his family, was from the tribe of Benjamin. Called Saul prior to his conversion; Paul may have been his Roman name.

Home: Born at Tarsus; brought up in Jerusalem; settled in Antioch of Syria but traveled throughout the Roman empire with extended stays at Corinth and Ephesus.

Family: Born a Roman citizen, meaning that his father, a Pharisee, was a Roman citizen before him. Luke mentions a sister and her son.

Occupation: Tentmaker by trade; trained as a Pharisee under Gamaliel; became the Jewish Council's chief agent of anti-Christian activity; later, became a leader in the church, its most well-known and widely traveled spokesperson, and a major New Testament writer.

Life-changing experiences: Witnessing Stephen's defense before the council and subsequent execution by stoning (Acts 7:1–8:1); meeting Christ on the Damascus road, which led to his conversion and call as an apostle (9:1–31; Gal. 1:1–24).

Best known as: The zealous persecutor of Christians who became a disciple of Jesus and the apostle to the Gentiles.

Think About It: Any change God makes in you is good and dramatic. Name a few ways He has equipped you to do what He wants you to do.

Saul's Power of Ideas

Acts 13:9

Though born at Tarsus, Saul was raised at Jerusalem "at the feet of Gamaliel," the most illustrious rabbi of the day (Acts 22:3) and a highly respected member of the Jewish Council (5:34; see also "Stephen's Trial and Murder" at Acts 6:12). Saul took part in technical training in the Law that prepared him to join the Pharisees, the religious elite of Judaism. The rigorous course of study often began at age fourteen and continued to the age of forty.

Saul apparently was a capable student. He outstripped his peers in enthusiasm for ancestral traditions and zeal for the Law (Phil. 3:4– 6). Gamaliel likely opened the door for him to observe the council, meet its principals, and understand its inner workings.

Saul happened to be present when the conflict between the council and the early church reached a head with the stoning of Stephen (Acts 7:57–8:1). He had likely also witnessed earlier encounters between the council and members of the Way (4:5–18; 5:17–40). But the incident with Stephen seems to have set him on a mission to hunt down and destroy as many Christians as he could (8:1–3).

Ironically, the same background that made this man a persecutor of Christians also prepared him to become their leading spokesperson. Known at first by his Jewish name, Saul, perhaps given in memory of Israel's first king, he was called Paul after his conversion on the road to Damascus (9:1–31).

Devout, energetic, outspoken, stubborn, and exacting, Paul created far more trouble for the Jews than he ever did for the Christians—not through violence but through the power of ideas. He lived with a price on his head as his former allies sought to silence him for good (9:23–25, 29; 23:12–15; 2 Cor. 11:26, 32, 33).

The greatest irony of Paul's life was in his calling to be the apostle to the Gentiles (Acts 9:15; Gal. 1:16; 2:7–9). Paul had been a Pharisee, a title that means "to separate." Some Pharisees refused to eat with non-Pharisees for fear of being "contaminated" by food not rendered ritually clean. They also cut themselves off from women, lepers, Samaritans, and especially Gentiles (or "foreigners").

For Paul to take the gospel to the Gentiles was a complete reversal of his life and a total departure from his background as a Pharisee. There were at least four people who helped him make this dramatic change:

- Ananias. This brave disciple met with Paul in the midst of his conversion, then baptized him, thus welcoming Paul into the faith that would totally reshape his worldview (see his profile at Acts 9:10).
- Barnabas. Like Paul, he was a Hellenist Jew. He embraced and mentored Paul when no one else would come near him (see his profile at Acts 4:36, 37).
- Priscilla and Aquila. These fellow tentmakers joined Paul in business at Corinth and likely discussed the faith and its implications with Paul just as they did with Apollos (see their profile at Rom. 16:3–5).

Paul became Christianity's leading evangelist and theologian. But as his status in the church rose, his perspective on himself became far more humble. He shifted from seeing himself as an important Christian leader to calling himself "the least of the apostles" (1 Cor. 15:9). Later he realized that he was capable of "nothing good" (Rom. 7:18) and was "less than the least of all the saints" (Eph. 3:8). In the end he described himself as the "chief" of sinners (1 Tim. 1:15) and threw himself on God's mercy and grace. The fearsome Pharisee of Pharisees became the fearless apostle to the Gentiles whose credo was "To live is Christ, and to die is gain" (Phil. 1:21).

More: Paul's transformation into the apostle to the Gentiles took at least ten years as he reevaluated his cultural perspectives and brought them in line with God's heart for the world. See "Even Those Who Fall Short Can Be Spiritual Giants" at Gal. 1:11–24 and "An Extremist Transformed" at Gal. 1:13–17. Similar to Paul's conversion experience, the pastor C. H. Spurgeon recalled, "Long before I began with Christ, He began with me."

Acts 15 describes a simmering controversy that finally boiled over. It was around A.D. 48, and Paul and Barnabas had just returned to Antioch after their first missionary journey. They reported the amazing news that God had brought Gentiles to faith in Jesus (Acts 14:26, 27). Then men who claimed to speak for the church in Judea arrived with a disturbing message: Gentiles must become Jews in order to be saved. They must reject their own backgrounds and accept the tenets of Jewish religion and culture.

If what they said was the truth, then half the disciples at Antioch were not Christians. Neither were a majority of new followers in churches Paul and Barnabas had planted in Pisidia and Galatia. No wonder the argument created tension and bitterness (15:2, 6, 7, 24).

The dispute was not quickly resolved. Paul reported that Peter went along with the false teachers' errors. Even Barnabas was swayed (Gal. 2:11–16). The crisis grew so severe that Paul,

Barnabas, and others journeyed to Jerusalem for a full-blown debate in the presence of the apostles and elders. The discussion hung on three crucial presentations:

1. Peter's reminder of his meeting with Cornelius (Acts 10:1–48), when God gave the Holy Spirit to Gentiles.
2. Barnabas and Paul's account of their recent travels through Asia Minor, a journey in which God worked miracles among the Gentiles.
3. James's conclusion that these events correlated with the prophetic words of Amos 9:11, 12.

As Paul later communicated in his letter to the Galatians, the conclusion reached was that "there is neither Jew nor Greek . . . slave nor free . . . male nor female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus" (Gal. 3:28).

Despite the fact that the young church managed to avert a split between Jewish and Gentile factions, the issues of Acts 15 still trouble us. That ancient scene points out how difficult it is to separate our culture and worldview from our grasp of the gospel. The church often finds security in familiarity and excludes anyone who differs. Diversity feels uncomfortable. But Acts 15 shows us how to speak up and resolve our concerns honestly and biblically.

Faith Meets Culture

As the gospel expanded "to the end of the earth" (Acts 1:8), the first evangelists came across cultures that challenged what had become the conventional beliefs and practices of the Christian movement. Their findings required the church to bring together a diverse body to sort out issues of faith and culture.

As we struggle to work out the relationship between faith and culture today, we must keep in mind that the world contains a wide variety of people who face a wide variety of circumstances and who respond to God in a wide variety of ways. Some controversies between us involve "truth issues." Others are "love issues." Many might involve both truth and love. Truth issues call for a clear understanding of Scripture and listening. Love issues require people skills and repeated expressions. The situation in Acts 15 obliged the early church to deal with both.

What issues in the modern church come down to truth? What circumstances demand our loving communication over legitimate differences of opinion and practice? What issues demand us to grow in both truth and love?

More: There is one Lord and one faith, but there are many expressions of faith lived out. See "Faith in Context" at Ezek. 22:15.

Diverse Opportunities for a Diverse Church

Acts 15:22–35

In many nations and especially in the western hemisphere, the church faces an increasingly pluralistic society, and it is highly unlikely we will ever return to a uniform culture, if that ever existed in the first place. But the Book of Acts shows that Christianity can thrive in this new world. The response of the apostolic council at Jerusalem to an influx of Gentile believers demonstrates that Christians must allow for cultural differences if they want their churches to survive.

The collections of people who responded to the gospel and banded together in the first century defy modern market research and principles of church growth. Modern thinking holds that groups of people with similar sociological backgrounds grow larger more quickly than ones with different backgrounds. Some argue that like attracts like, so churches should target people of the same race, demographic profile, and socioeconomic status.

The untidy collection of Christians in Acts upends that idea. Diverse churches sprouted up spontaneously and deliberately in response to God's grace.

Diverse Backgrounds

The first Christians . . .

- Came from all classes of society, from the wealthy and privileged to the destitute, including beggars, slaves, and even criminals.
- Represented the diverse cultures of the day—Roman, Greek, Hebrew, African, Arab, and more.
- Varied widely in political allegiances and power. Government, military, and civic leaders joined reactionaries, revolutionaries, and displaced refugees.
- Developed leadership that was male and female, old and young.
- Came from every kind of religious tradition—pagan sorcery and mystery cults, Greek and Roman mythology, idol worship, Judaism, and more.

Diverse Abilities

The early believers were . . .

- Landholders such as Barnabas (Acts 4:34–37), Ananias and Sapphira (5:1–11), Mnason (21:16) and Publius (28:7–10).
- Health care workers such as Luke (Acts 1:1; see also Col. 4:14; 2 Tim. 4:11).
- Lecturers and teachers such as Stephen (Acts 6:8–10), Philip (8:4, 5), Priscilla and Aquila (18:26), and Apollos (18:24–28), as well as Peter, Paul, and the other apostles.
- Government officials, military personnel, and civic leaders, including the Ethiopian treasurer (8:26–40), Saul (Paul; 8:3; 9:1, 2; 26:9–11), the centurion Cornelius (10:1–48) the proconsul Sergius Paulus (13:6–12), a Philippian jailer (16:22–34), Dionysius (17:34), and Crispus (18:8).
- Merchants and tradespeople such as Saul, who was a tentmaker (Paul; 18:3); Dorcas, who may have worked in the tailoring and garment industry (9:43); Simon, a leather tanner (9:43); Lydia, a woman who manufactured, imported, and exported clothing for the rich (16:13–15, 40), and the tentmakers Priscilla and Aquila (18:2, 3).

Diverse Contributions

The church offered . . .

- Advocacy by Barnabas on behalf of Saul (9:26, 27); by Paul and Barnabas on behalf of a slave girl to free her from oppressive masters (16:16–21); and by Ephesian believers on behalf of Apollos (18:27, 28).
- Charity and hospitality, often anonymous and large scale, to meet both social and spiritual needs (2:45; 4:32; 11:29, 30; 28:13–15).
- Ethnic reconciliation as deacons acted on behalf of neglected widows (6:1–6); as Philip carried the gospel across ethnic barriers (8:4–17, 26–40); as Peter met with the Gentile Cornelius and defended his actions to Jewish leaders at Jerusalem (10:1–11:30); as Paul and Barnabas brought together Gentiles and Jews at Antioch in Pisidia (13:46–52); as the council at Jerusalem accepted Gentiles as equals in the faith, sending Judas and Silas as emissaries to welcome them (15:1–35); as Paul recruited Timothy to spread the gospel (16:1–5).

The early church was a diverse, grass-roots movement that drew people together in innovative ways. It moved them toward one another and out into their communities in service and love. Like the early church, the modern body of Christ exists in a pluralistic society full of opportunities for unparalleled innovation and growth.

Silas

Acts 15:34

Also known as: Silvanus (another form of Silas), meaning “Person of the Woods.”

First noticed as: One of four Jerusalem church leaders named to write and deliver to Antioch a pivotal decision on the status of Gentile converts (Acts 15:22).

Best known as: Paul's traveling companion on his second missionary journey after the apostle rejected John Mark (15:36–41). Silas's Roman citizenship and ties to the Jerusalem church proved useful to their work. Silas also became Paul's writing assistant and was imprisoned with Paul at Philippi on the night when the Philippian jailer and his family believed and were baptized (16:16–34).

Think About It: Name ways you create companionship. Then thank another Christian who shows companionship to you.

When to Give a Second Chance

The story of John Mark shows how important it can be to give someone a second chance, and to discern when to give that chance.

Spurned by Paul for going home to Jerusalem instead of continuing on a journey to Asia Minor (Acts 13:13; 15:38), John Mark was fortunate to have Barnabas, an expert mentor (see "Son of Encouragement" at Acts 4:36, 37). Just as he had done for Paul when everyone else shunned him, Barnabas took John Mark home with him to Cyprus, where he nurtured him personally and spiritually.

Because of Barnabas, John Mark turned out to be a unique gift to the church. He became Peter's valued associate and probably traveled with him to Rome. Tradition says that he composed his Gospel there by writing down Peter's memories of Jesus' life and teaching.

Paul later affirmed John Mark's value. Late in life, he wrote to Timothy and urged him to "get Mark and bring him with you, for he is useful to me for ministry" (2 Tim. 4:11). Indeed he was. Early church tradition says that John Mark was the first evangelist to Alexandria and its first bishop. He won many followers for Jesus there.

Think About It: Barnabas did not just send John Mark back out there; he took him home and nurtured him personally and spiritually. What training have you needed and who provided it? Or who will you ask to show you what you need and then to train you?

John Mark
Acts 15:37

Not to be confused with: John, one of the Twelve and a close friend of Jesus.

Family: Son of Mary, who owned a house in Jerusalem where the church often prayed; relative of Barnabas. Peter affectionately referred to Mark as his "son" (1 Pet. 5:13).

Background: Came from a family wealthy enough to own a large home with at least one servant. They frequently hosted Christian gatherings.

Best known for: Leaving Paul and Barnabas on their first preaching tour after visiting Cyprus (Acts 13:13); later writing the Gospel that bears his name, Mark.

Think About It: John Mark is an excellent example of someone who made mistakes but came back to create great good. What keeps you from trying again? Why will you persist and who will help you do it?

Paul Sees Potential

Acts 16:1–3

Paul recruited Timothy to accompany him on the very trip for which he had just rejected John Mark (Acts 15:37–41). To understand what Paul saw in the young man from Lystra, see the introductions to 1 and 2 Timothy. Timothy eventually took on the major assignment of leading a multiethnic church at Ephesus. Paul's Urban Strategy

Iconium. Lystra. Derbe. Philippi. Ephesus. Corinth. Antioch. Athens. To us those are probably just dots on a map. But they were major cities of the Roman empire, centers of influence that attracted Christian messengers like Paul. He brought the news about Jesus to these cities' marketplaces, arts communities, academies, councils, courts, prisons, temples, and synagogues.

Paul was from the beautiful coastal city of Tarsus, "no mean city" as he described it. At some point he left that city of half a million residents, because he was raised in Jerusalem, one of the largest cities in the empire. So he was no stranger to city life. As we see his work in retrospect, it's obvious that he preferred working in urban centers, a strategy that offered several advantages:

- He could use a common language. Among rural peoples, older ethnic languages prevailed, but multicultural city dwellers spoke to each other in koinē ("common") Greek.
- He could expect heightened receptivity. Then, as today, inhabitants of urban locales were perhaps more likely to entertain new ideas and consider change.
- He could multiply his influence. Large communities stood at the crossroads of communication and commerce, so they amplified the Christian message far beyond city limits.
- He could impact multiple ethnic groups. The gospel is inclusive and multiethnic, uniting people of every background. Cities forced people into close proximity—Jews and Gentiles, men and women, rich and poor. But the message of Christ brought them together in love.
- He could reach the workplace. As a tentmaker Paul identified with the vast numbers of artisans who populated Roman cities. Urban areas were often divided into districts according to crafts, and workers formed guilds to enhance their trades. Paul used these coalitions to spread the message.

- He could count on the Roman legal system. Paul believed that his message was relevant to the political, economic, and religious institutions of his day. As a Roman citizen, he demanded justice. He used the empire's courts to attract a wider audience for the gospel.

Paul intentionally went to cities, proclaiming a gospel with implications for every listener. He understood that the news about Jesus Christ spoke not only to private individuals but to public society as well. He would likely urge us today to pay attention to our cities. Our influence in our communities can build on a careful study of Paul's strategy.

The Trade in Purple

Lydia's hometown of Thyatira thrived by manufacturing and trading in purple, for which it was renowned in the Roman world. The most expensive of dyes and a mark of wealth or royalty, purple came from the murex, a shellfish found only along the northeastern Mediterranean coast. A quarter million mollusks were required to make an ounce of the dye, which partly accounted for its staggering price. Purple cloth ranked in value with gold and was considered vital not only for adorning emperors and temples but for paying tribute and as a currency in international trade. During Old Testament times, purple was used in several features of the tabernacle (for example, Ex. 26:1, 31, 36) and the temple (for example, 2 Chr. 3:14).

We do not know when Lydia relocated to Philippi, but it was a smart business move. A Latin inscription found in the city mentions the economic importance of the dyeing trade. Philippi was the leading Roman colony of the region, set on the major east-west highway connecting Europe to the Middle East. Its people were known for trying to outdo Rome in dress and manners.

Lydia probably belonged to a guild of dyers. Guilds were professional associations that sometimes involved pagan customs and practices such as worship of the trade's patron god. Lydia's conversion did not change her occupation, but it radically altered her loyalty. Her business contacts likely introduced Paul to Macedonia's powerful elite.

Families of the Early Church

Among the first people to join the Christian movement in the West were the Philippian jailer and his entire family. Families played an important role in the gospel's spread during the church's early years. Acts and the New Testament letters often show acceptance of faith as the decision of an entire family or clan.

Family Name	Description
• Ananias • His wife Sapphira	These landowners in the early church saw the praise heaped on Barnabas for selling his property and donating the proceeds to the movement. They sold their property and told Peter they were donating the funds. When their conspiracy to keep part of the money was uncovered, the Holy Spirit struck them dead.
• Philip • His four daughters	Philip was one of seven men selected to manage the delivery of food to widows. As an evangelist, he crossed ethnic barriers by taking the gospel to Samaria and witnessing to an Ethiopian official. He later hosted Paul and other travelers at his home in Caesarea, where his four daughters prophesied.

Simon	This tanner of Joppa hosted Peter at his home during the apostle's momentous trip to Caesarea to share the gospel with Cornelius, a Gentile centurion.
• Mary • John Mark, her son • Rhoda, their maid	This woman of means made her home available as a center of Christian activity in Jerusalem. When Peter was released from prison, he went to her house, where disciples were meeting to pray. John Mark traveled with his cousin Barnabas, Mary's nephew, and later wrote the earliest surviving narrative of Jesus' life and teachings.
Barnabas	This landowner, donor, and leader of the early church brought Saul into the circle of believers, mentored him, and worked with him to extend the movement. He also mentored and defended John Mark. At Antioch, he helped stabilize a new church that crossed ethnic barriers.
• Eunice • Her mother Lois • Eunice's son Timothy • His unnamed father, a Gentile	A Jewish mother and grandmother instilled faith in Timothy, the product of a Jewish-Gentile marriage. Chosen and mentored by Paul, he became a pastor and coworker in spreading Christianity.
• Lydia • Her household	This upscale garment dealer from Philippi, along with her household, became the first European Christians. Likely a Gentile, she hosted Paul and other travelers at her home, risking social and economic pushback but helping to found a church.
• A jailer of Philippi • His household	Shaken by the apparent escape of his prisoners, this man was about to take his own life when Paul and Silas told him how to be saved. His entire family believed and he welcomed the apostles into his home.
• Priscilla • Aquila, her husband	This couple, possibly a marriage between a Roman woman and a Jewish man, became partners in manufacturing tents with Paul. Together they mentored a teacher named Apollos. They also helped lead congregations at Corinth, Rome, and Ephesus, at least some of which met in their home.

• Saul, later called Paul • His sister • Her son	This young Jewish man with Roman citizenship started out as a well-trained Pharisee determined to stamp out Christianity. After encountering the risen Christ he made a complete turnabout, and became an ardent and widely traveled missionary. Apparently his nephew and perhaps his sister joined him in the faith.
• Felix • Drusilla, his third wife • Their son Agrippa	This Roman procurator (governor) of Judea married the Jewish Drusilla, youngest daughter of Herod Agrippa I, linking him to the infamous Herod dynasty. Like the Herods, he considered himself above the law because of his influence with the courts. When Paul was brought before him, he hoped to collect a bribe.
• Publius • His father	This leading citizen of Malta welcomed shipwrecked Paul and other travelers to his estate, hosting the group for three days. Paul healed Publius's father of feverish dysentery, attracting many others with illnesses.
• Philemon • Apphia, possibly his wife • Onesimus, their runaway slave	Likely a businessman of Colosse, Philemon and his family hosted a church in their home. When Paul sent back his runaway slave Onesimus, he was challenged to regard him as a brother in the faith rather than as a rebellious slave. There is some evidence that suggests that Onesimus later became the first bishop of Ephesus.
• Onesiphorus • His household	A relative unknown of Scripture, this man received high praise from Paul for his diligence in locating the imprisoned apostle in Rome and bringing him help.

The Leading Women
Acts 17:4

Thessalonica gave women more opportunities than did most first-century cities. Women there were known for their business contributions, their support of public projects, and their leadership in city government. When the gospel arrived, many of these "leading women" responded, unlike their counterparts in Antioch in Pisidia (Acts 13:50). The difference is difficult to explain, but their response shows that success does not necessarily keep people from responding to the message of Jesus.

Answering the Intellectuals
Acts 17:15–34

At Athens the gospel collided with a centuries-old culture of discourse and intellectualism. Paul had encountered Greek philosophy elsewhere; his hometown of Tarsus was a center of scholarship. But his visit to Athens brought him into direct contact with the heirs of the city's celebrated intellectual tradition (Acts 17:18).

Based on passages such as 1 Corinthians 2:1–5, some think that Paul was intimidated by the arrogance and cynicism of the leisurely Epicureans and Stoics (Acts 17:18–21). But even if Paul felt more anxiety addressing the audience at Athens, Acts gives no hint that he in any way felt inferior. He took his arguments to their own forum, the Areopagus, building on common ground by discussing their altar "to the unknown god" and citing one of their poets (17:23, 28).

Judging by the number of people who believed his message that day, Paul's strategy was ineffective, though not futile. A handful trusted in Christ. The rest dismissed him immediately or postponed judgment pending later discussion, which apparently never came, because Paul departed.

Some point to this scene and believe that the apostle was wrong for ever going to Athens. They contend that Paul was so disillusioned by the experience that for a time he left the ministry to make tents at Corinth (18:1–3). His words in 1 Corinthians 1:18–2:5 denouncing philosophy supposedly support this view. Some even conclude that offering the gospel to intellectuals is a waste of time. Neither conclusion is accurate.

While Luke does not explain exactly why Paul left Athens, nothing in the text supports the idea that Paul became disillusioned. He never left his ministry, just as he had never abandoned his trade of tentmaking (see "Paul's Tentmaking" at Acts 18:1–3). As he worked alongside Aquila and Priscilla at Corinth, he continued to preach in the synagogue and in the house of Justus (18:4, 7), a project that lasted more than eighteen months (18:11). For two years he followed the same pattern at Ephesus (19:8–10).

Paul's approach to the Athenian intellectuals should encourage us to actively participate in universities and other centers of learning. God is certainly more intellectual than any intellectual, and can engage in stimulating conversation with the best of them. What delight to explore God's mind and he ours! Truth is truth. There are not two versions. Uncounted intellectuals find great delight in expressing their faith through academia, science, and more. Anyone God calls to work in academia has an outstanding model to follow: Paul, God's apostle to the intellectuals.

Take Christ to Work

Acts 17:17

Paul addressed the Greeks in Athens in three starkly different settings:

- the synagogue—the Jewish center of worship,
- the Areopagus—the supreme tribunal, and

- the agora—the marketplace.

These disparate settings required distinct approaches that point to Paul's exceptional ability as a teacher.

It is intriguing that Paul spoke out in the marketplace. Because there were few if any believers in Athens, he had to work from the outside in to present the gospel to Athenian workers. But today Christians are already planted in all levels of business in every sector of industry. Paul's example presses us to ask if we are prepared to represent Christ, His message, and His values wherever we already work. Just as importantly, do our actions show distinct imitation of Jesus Christ? Do we choose to express the fruit of the Holy Spirit—love, joy peace longsuffering, kindness goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control? Our faith is not a purely personal affair, and just as God sent Paul to the agora of Athens, He has sent us to carry the message of Christ to our workplace.

Dionysius and Damaris

Acts 17:34

Apparently none of Athens' Epicurean or Stoic philosophers responded to Paul's message about Christ. But Luke does name two individuals who formed the nucleus of a group that believed—an Athenian council member, Dionysius, and a woman, Damaris.

As a member of the court, Dionysius was likely a man of some standing. Later writers name him as the first bishop of the church at Athens.

As an Athenian woman, it was remarkable that Damaris would be among the first to believe. Greek women rarely participated in philosophical discourses. They were generally secluded at home while their husbands pursued leisurely activities such as gymnastics, politics, and philosophy.

There are several possibilities to explain how Damaris managed to hear Paul and decide to follow Christ. One is that she was among a class of women known as hetairai, specially trained companions to wealthy men who were educated in subjects usually reserved for males, such as rhetoric and philosophy. Make no mistake: hetairai existed to entertain their partners. They were not as respected as wives, but they did enjoy many more freedoms, including the opportunity to attend the daily philosophical discussions in the marketplace and the Areopagus (Acts 17:17, 19).

There is no way to know for certain whether Damaris was a hetaira. But whatever her role in society was, she courageously went against the prevailing opinion by siding with Paul, Dionysius, and the message about the resurrected Christ.

Paul's Tentmaking

Acts 18:1–3

Although many work in ministry today as a full-time profession, some of the first Christian workers earned all or part of their living through other occupations. Paul was a tentmaker, a trade he may have learned as a boy in Tarsus. Some pastors are returning to that kind of bivocationalism as a practical reality because their churches cannot support them financially. Others do it out of motivation to stay connected to the world of their members. In developing countries, everyday job skills are desperately needed to supply food, shelter, and economic development. And across the globe, a pastor who helps neighbors do these daily skills earns both respect and opportunity.

Not Many Mighty
Acts 18:7, 8

A majority of converts to early Christianity—at least in Corinth—were from the lower classes. There were "not many mighty," as Paul put it (1 Cor. 1:26–28). But several prominent citizens were attracted to the new religion, including Justus, who lived next door to the synagogue, probably in a house of some size, as well as Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue (Acts 18:7, 8), and Erastus, the city treasurer (Rom. 16:23). The gospel showed incredible power in breaking down what seemed like unshakable social barriers to create a new people of God.

Think About It: How do you and Jesus together show this kind of breaking down barriers? What friendship are you currently invested in that shows the person matters more than the social status?

Sosthenes the Attorney
Acts 18:17

Sosthenes may have been the prosecuting lawyer who brought the case against Paul—and lost. The unfortunate synagogue ruler was beaten in a moment of mob reaction. But the story may have had a happy ending. A few years later, a man named Sosthenes was with Paul in Ephesus as the apostle wrote to the Corinthians. Paul sends greetings from "Sosthenes our brother" (1 Cor. 1:1). We cannot know whether this was the same man, but there is a chance that Paul's treatment of an opponent may have won him over to Jesus. In any case, the idea brings up some important questions: How do we treat our rivals and enemies? Are we gracious whether we win or lose?

Apollos

Name means: “Destroyer.”

Home: Alexandria, Egypt.

Occupation: Itinerant teacher of John the Baptist’s message; became an evangelist so eloquent and popular that the Corinthians set up a faction around him; perhaps to avoid causing further controversy, he did not return to Corinth despite Paul’s request (1 Cor. 16:12).

Best known for: Being taught “the way of God more accurately” by Priscilla and Aquila (Acts 18:26), which made him even more “mighty in the Scriptures” (18:24).

Think About It: It takes courage to learn from someone, particularly when you’re already doing a good job. But openness to learning shows security and wisdom. It also embraces the discovery of something new. So how will you get that chip off your shoulder? Who have you listened to when you didn’t know you needed to learn something? Who will you go to for future learning?

The Septuagint
Acts 18:24

The Bible mentions Alexandria only four times (Acts 6:9; 18:24; 27:6; 28:11). But the city’s influence on the New Testament and the church reached much further than these sparse references, because Alexandria was the birthplace of the Greek Old Testament translation known as the Septuagint.

Jews were scattered among the cities of the Alexandrian, Greek, and Roman empires. By the first century, more than one million Jews lived in Egypt. In Alexandria they were concentrated in districts separate from their Gentile neighbors, but isolation from Jerusalem took its toll. Each succeeding generation moved further away from Judaism, adopting the Hellenistic patterns of Alexandrian society.

The Septuagint was a response to this cultural assimilation. Tradition says that Jewish leaders in Alexandria invited some seventy Greek-speaking elders from Israel to translate the Hebrew Scriptures into koinē, the Greek spoken as a trade language throughout the ancient world.

Several legends attribute miraculous events to their work, which was completed in the second century A.D. One claims that the translators were inspired by the Holy Spirit. Another maintains that the seventy worked independently, but their finished versions matched in every detail. At any rate, the translation known as the Septuagint (Latin: septuaginta, or LXX for seventy) was a scholarly feat of immense importance.

This Greek work became the everyday Scriptures of the early church. It was the Bible Peter quoted at Pentecost and the Bible Apollos grew up with. Conceived in a world-class pluralistic city, it was the first Hebrew Scripture translated into a vernacular language and encouraged the use of koinē for the New Testament. The Septuagint is still the authorized Bible of the Greek Orthodox Church. This Alexandrian translation made Scripture readable and relevant to common people, both Jew and Gentile, and it was an indispensable tool in spreading the gospel throughout the Roman world.

More: The spread of the synagogue was closely related to the development of the Septuagint. See "A Gift of the Exile" at Ezek. 14:1 and "The Synagogue" at Mark 1:21.

Alexandria

Acts 18:24

- One of 21 cities founded by Alexander the Great named Alexandria or Alexander.
- Major port on the Nile Delta, with a canal accessing the Mediterranean Sea.
- Possibly the second-largest city of the Roman empire, with a population of approximately 500,000 including slaves.
- Jews migrated to the city in large numbers.
- Renowned for shipbuilding (Acts 27:6; 28:11).
- Featured the best emporium, or trade center, of the ancient world. Exported papyrus, books, ivory, wood, glasswork, precious metals, bronze, perfumes, cosmetics, and domestic animals. Imported horses, wine, and olive oil from Greece, timber from Cyprus, silk from Africa and the East, and precious stones.
- Site of a library housing 700,000 volumes, one of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World, making it the intellectual center of the Roman empire.
- Birthplace of Apollos (18:24).
- John Mark, author of the earliest written Gospel, may have founded a church there in A.D. 67. It later became a major hub for Christian philosophers and theologians.

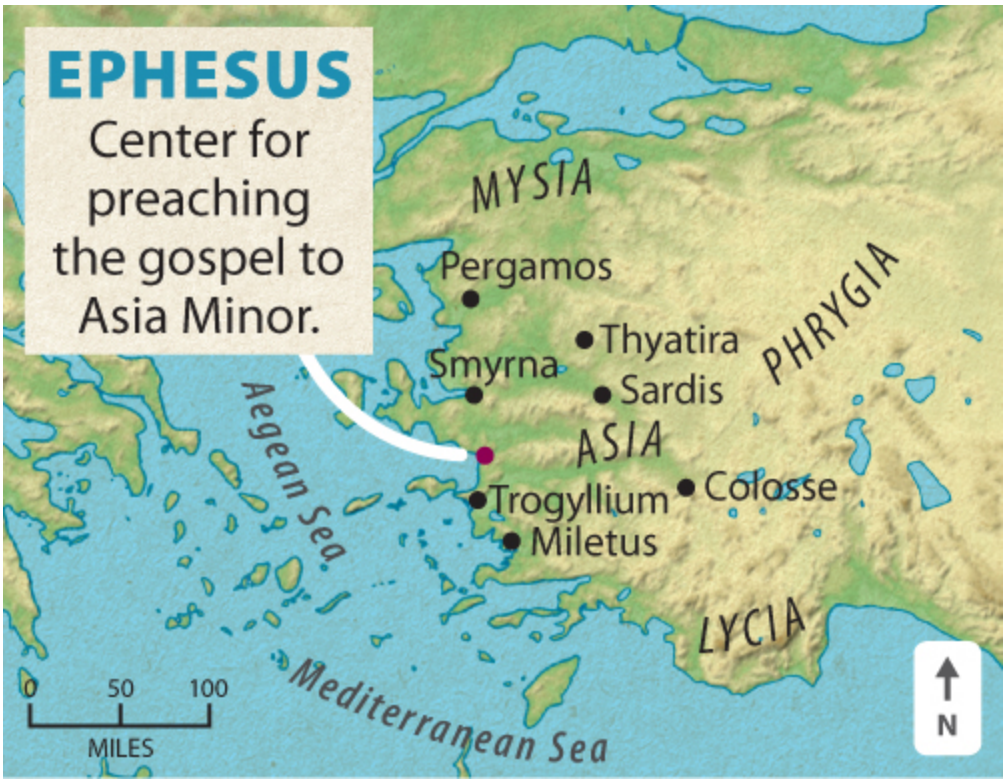
The Ephesus Approach: How the Gospel Transformed a Community

Acts 19:8–41

Evangelism in Ephesus was explosive and unpredictable when the Holy Spirit brought together a diverse coalition of believers from vastly different backgrounds. The Christians at Ephesus had a far-reaching impact on the city's culture and economy, shaking the metropolis to its core.



Laying a Foundation

The work started with Priscilla and Aquila, an entrepreneurial couple whom Paul had met at Corinth (Acts 18:1–3). They joined Paul and sailed with him to Ephesus, a major city of 350,000 inhabitants. Paul traveled on to Palestine and Galatia, but Priscilla and Aquila stayed behind, set up contacts, and made a living manufacturing tents (18:18–23). One beneficiary of their efforts was Apollos, a powerful orator from Alexandria who stirred things up in Paul's absence. Eloquent in delivery but incomplete in theology, he learned the facts about Jesus from Priscilla and Aquila, who sent him to Greece to strengthen the Christians there, including their old friends at Corinth (18:24–28; 1 Cor. 3:6).

The Message Takes Hold

Back in Ephesus, Paul encountered a new breed of religious disciples. Like Apollos, they were unaware of Jesus and knew only about John the Baptist. But they became ecstatic as Paul explained the fulfillment of John's ministry in Christ. Twelve received the Holy Spirit, attracting the attention of the religious establishment (Acts 19:1–7). Paul exploited the attention with a three-month campaign in the local synagogue. When obstinate synagogue Jews publicly maligned the movement, Paul relocated to the school of Tyrannus. For two years he engaged the Ephesians in a dialogue on Christianity during their midday breaks (19:8–10).

Rapid Growth

This concentrated focus brought extraordinary results. The Christian message proved contagious among open-minded Jews and intellectually curious Gentiles. People from Ephesus and throughout Asia Minor were exposed to the news about Jesus, so that "all . . . in Asia heard the word of the Lord" (19:10). Philemon's house church in Laodicea, and probably other nearby churches, were started by those who attended Paul's lectures.

God validated Paul's message with dramatic miracles among the sick and diseased. This drew jealousy from esoteric healers. The seven sons of Sceva attempted to imitate the apostle through an occult ritual but were routed by the powers they claimed to control. The incident produced even more new disciples, driving many occult practitioners and publishers out of business—but not all (see "Counterfeit Christianity" at 2 Tim. 3:8, 9). The growing community of Christians ignited a bonfire that consumed the magic books they had formerly used, valued at four hundred thousand hours of wages (Acts 19:11–20).

Economic Impact

Civic leaders heard complaints about the economic impact of the message. Paul's meddlesome habit of attacking idolatry threatened tourism and idol manufacturing centered around the Temple of Artemis, acclaimed as one of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World. Metalworkers led by Demetrius mobilized the entire city to save a key industry. Recruiting associates in other trade guilds, they fomented a riot and rushed to the amphitheater.

This forced officials to act. A civil servant struggling to keep order —and his job—finally silenced the crowd and urged them to address their grievances in court. His tactic bought time, saved the economy, and preempted violence against Paul and his companions (19:23–41).

An Established Community

The riot ended Paul's teaching but not the gospel's impact. As he departed Ephesus, Paul left behind a dynamic church pastored by his young protégé Timothy (16:1–3; 1 Tim. 1:3). The maturing Christians continued to transform their community with the message of Christ and reached out to travelers to and from their strategically placed city—tourists and religious pilgrims, shipping merchants, sailors, military personnel, and political refugees. Dozens of churches sprang up throughout Asia Minor because of the Holy Spirit's decision to use three tentmakers (Priscilla, Aquila, and Paul), a fiery evangelist (Apollos), a young pastor (Timothy), and countless unnamed Christians to inspire many to follow Christ.

Onward to Rome

When Paul declared, “I must also see Rome,” he was stating his audacious intention to carry the gospel to the capital of his world. Rome was the center of the system that drove his universe. Jerusalem was an important starting point, but his ultimate goal was Rome.

A marble obelisk once stood in the center of Rome displaying the distance from that point to every significant destination in the empire. It was a startling visual reminder of Rome’s influence. Paul seemed to have an internal marker always reminding him how far he was from Rome and how intent he was to get there. Every city he visited became a milepost on his way.

The boldness of his plan is rather shocking. A tiny group from the empire’s periphery aimed to conquer the cities and capital of the mightiest empire in history with its new and strange beliefs. Incredibly, the movement prevailed.

I Have Not Coveted

Acts 20:33–38

Paul's emotional farewell to the Ephesian elders ended with a shout: "I have not coveted!" Paul took pains to emphasize that he was not a deadbeat who took advantage of their generosity. He instead worked, making tents to provide for himself and his companions and to "support the weak" (see "Paul's Tentmaking" at Acts 18:1–3).

These words deserve attention. They reveal a biblical work ethic that renounces greed in favor of honest labor and a trust in God to provide for the basics. As God blesses, a worker's abundance should overflow in generosity toward others. This pattern recurs throughout the New Testament (Matt. 6:24–34; Luke 16:9–13; Eph. 4:28; 2 Thess. 3:6–15; 1 Tim. 6:6–10, 17–19).

Paul's statement also applies to modern churches and Christian organizations. Many outsiders see ministry as nothing more than an excuse to amass money for a greedy class of professional Christian workers. Thankfully that occurrence is rare. But Paul must have faced similar attitudes and therefore chose to pay his own way at Ephesus and elsewhere.

Christian leaders should consider Paul's concerns if not his practice. But his words also challenge the rest of the church. How do we see work, income, and material possessions? Where do we fall on the spectrum from greed to generosity?

Generosity is more than a nice virtue. "You must support the weak," Paul urged (Acts 20:35, emphasis added), because it is exactly what Christ taught. That must have shocked the citizens of the extraordinarily affluent city of Ephesus. It certainly exhorts us to act.

More: *For more on coveting, see "You Shall Not Covet" at Ex. 20:17. Jesus spoke an uncompromising command to guard against craving things that are not ours. See "Guard Against Greed" at Luke 12:15. Free to Be Bold

Lacking honesty, we are nothing. If we can learn to be open with God about our own sinfulness (Ps. 51) and seek His help in our ongoing struggle with doing wrong (Rom. 7:14–8:1), we will be less prone to mislead ourselves and others. Honesty is delightfully freeing, but oh so hard to achieve.

As Paul stood before the hostile Jewish Council, he could honestly declare his clear conscience (Acts 23:1). He made the same claim when he appeared with his accusers before Felix (24:16). Paul's moral clarity gave him the freedom to be bold even when his opponents were at their most hostile.

Paul never claimed to be perfect, and he was upfront about his failures. He apologized, for example, after lashing out in anger (23:5). He did not cover up his mistake in an attempt to look good.

Jesus does not ask us to try to keep up an impossibly perfect image —in fact, that attempt would be a lie of the worst kind. He wants us instead to be candid about our failures and quick to receive His forgiveness (Mark 11:25). When we are honest about ourselves, it gives others hope and freedom to honestly move toward our gracious God.

Felix

Name means: “Happy.”

Home: Caesarea, administrative center of Roman rule in Palestine.

Family: Husband of Drusilla, his third wife and youngest daughter of Herod Agrippa I.

Background: A Greek; a favorite of Emperor Claudius, who made him a freedman, and also of Emperor Nero.

Occupation: Procurator (governor) of Judea (A.D. 52–59).

Known for: Ruling with impunity because of his influence over the courts, at least until he was recalled by Nero; when Paul was brought before him, he expected a bribe; described as heavy-handed, a procrastinator, and a man disposed to cruelty and lust; it has been said that he exercised “the powers of a king with the outlook of a slave.”

Best known for: Giving Paul a fair trial and keeping him in protective custody with liberal visitation rights, thus foiling a Jewish plot to kill him.

Think About It: You wouldn’t expect this man to do a fair action that foiled a plot to kill Paul. What happy surprises might your behavior give today, an action others wouldn’t have expected but will greatly appreciate? How can that goodness-giving pattern become a part of you from now forward?

Truth Triggers Opposition
Acts 24:1–26

This broken world does not always reward our care for others, our efforts to speak the truth, or our sincerity in trying to live with integrity. When God's grace exposes people's sin and guilt, we become a handy target for anger. Paul experienced intense hostility from the Jewish leaders in Jerusalem. They mustered several forms of opposition as he stood before Felix:

- They recruited a skilled orator, Tertullus, who flattered the governor as he argued their case against Paul (Acts 24:1–3).
- They trumped up accusations that amounted to little more than name-calling (24:5, 6). Jason of Thessalonica had experienced similar treatment simply for entertaining Paul and his team (17:5–9).
- They arrested Paul and accused Commander Lysias of violence even though they were the ones on the verge of a riot (23:7–10; 24:6, 7).
- They engineered testimony against Paul (24:9).
- They demeaned the entire Christian movement with terms like "plague" and "sect" (24:5, 14).
- They played political games with Felix, who was obviously used to settling disputes through bribes and other deals (24:26; 25:9).

Learning to recognize this pattern can help us avoid taking attacks on our faith personally. The hostility we face for our beliefs is more often rooted in our opponents' guilt or fear of judgment than in an accurate assessment of who we are or how we act. Sadly, and hurtfully, these attacks can even come from colleagues in Christ.

Nero

Acts 25:12

Home: Rome.

Family: Son of an insanely controlling mother, Agrippina, who became the fourth wife of Claudius; great-great-grandson of Augustus; raised and tortured by his menacing, mentally deranged uncle Caligula. His family history was rife with incest, physical abuse, and political conspiracy.

Occupation: Emperor of Rome (A.D. 54–68). Noble in his youth, he later made himself out to be a new god. He was the Caesar to whom Paul appealed for justice (Acts 25:9–11).

Reputation: Ascetic and maniacal in his devotion to music and the gods; capricious as a ruler, he signed countless death warrants yet once banned capital punishment; laughed at revolts; regarded by early Christians as the Antichrist; died by suicide.

Best known for: Allegedly playing the violin while Rome burned to the ground (he was 35 miles away from Rome at his villa at Antium) and for persecuting Christians.

Timely Diplomacy

Acts 25:13–22

King Agrippa and Bernice showed up at a crucial moment. The relatively inexperienced Roman governor of Judea, Festus, was faced with a religious conflict between the Jews, led by their council, and the growing Christian movement, represented by Paul. Agrippa and Bernice arrived just as Festus began to rule on the case. Festus, the Jews, and Paul all benefited from the couple's expertise in Jewish history and affairs (25:23; 26:3). The brother and sister had watched their father govern Judea for years before Agrippa inherited the office himself (see "Families of the Early Church" at Acts 16:31–34).

No Prepackaging
Acts 26:1–32

Some Christians have the idea that the message about Christ can be communicated with the same old formula time after time, as if everyone we meet brings the same ideas, concerns, and doubts to the conversation. But Paul had no prepackaged gospel message. He varied his approach to fit the situation at hand. He was just as aware of the differences between his audiences as he was of the content of his faith. Acts records encounters that highlight his ability to adapt:

Jews in the Synagogue at Antioch of Pisidia

- Paul reviewed the history of the Jewish faith, summarizing it from the Old Testament (Acts 13:17–22).
- He explained how that history led to Jesus (13:23–37).
- He pointed out his audience's need to accept Jesus as their Messiah (13:38–41).
- He responded to their resistance by clearly explaining the alternative (13:46–48).

Results:

- Many chose to follow the way of Christ (13:43).
- Others reacted negatively and opposed Paul (13:45).
- Troublemakers incited city leaders to persecute Paul and his companions (13:50).

Intellectuals at Athens

- Paul prepared by observing and reflecting on the local culture (17:16).

- He addressed them on their own turf, the Areopagus (17:19, 22).
- He established common ground by beginning with things familiar and meaningful to them (17:22, 23, 28).
- He bridged to a description of God as the creator and sustainer of life, distinguishing Him from the pagan idols the Athenians worshiped (17:23–29).
- He challenged them to repentance and appealed to Christ's resurrection as proof that what he was telling them was true (17:30, 31).

Results:

- Some mocked (17:32).
- Some wanted to hear more (17:32).
- Some believed (17:34).

An Angry Mob at Jerusalem

- Paul built a bridge by reminding them of his own Jewish heritage (21:30).
- He reminded them that he too had once detested Jesus' followers to the point of violently persecuting them (22:4, 5).
- He explained how he had changed his mind and joined a movement he once opposed (22:6–17).

Result:

- Already in a frenzy (21:27–30), the crowd erupted violently and demanded Paul's death (22:22, 23).

High Officials in a Roman Court

- Paul described his religious heritage (26:4, 5).
- He stated his view of his opponents' charges against him (26:6–8).
- He explained his previous opposition to Jesus' followers (26:9–11).
- He told the story of his own life-changing encounter with Christ (26:12–19).
- He explained the fundamentals of Jesus' message and why it mattered to his non-Jewish listeners (26:20–23).

Results:

- The rulers listened carefully (26:24, 31, 32).

- They challenged his application of the gospel to them (26:24, 28).
- They passed him on in the Roman judicial process, foiling a Jewish plot against him (26:31, 32).

The gospel itself is forever the same, but as Christ's followers we must shape our message to fit our audiences. We can think about how our family and friends and coworkers differ from each other. We can speak freely and creatively to their specific needs. We might highlight different ways God has worked in our lives. We can start with aspects of the Good News that they are most likely to understand and accept. And we can ask them to give us feedback on what might help them most. Like Paul, we won't always be successful, but we know we are doing our best when we open a dialogue rather than read a script.

Joy in jail is rare—unless your cause is just (Acts 28:25–28), your conscience is clear (23:1; 24:16; 26:19), and your friends are loyal (28:15). That confidence can give imprisonment a totally different perspective.

As Paul neared the end of his journey to face trial in Rome, disciples from in and around the city welcomed him along the Appian Way from Puteoli to the capital (28:13–15). He had written them three years before, describing his deep longing for them (Rom. 1:9–15; 15:22–29). Even his chains and the prospect of prison could not dim Paul's joy in connecting with these fellow believers.

Responding to Rejection
Acts 28:17–19

As disciples called to proclaim the message of Christ, our role is not to change people; that job belongs to the Holy Spirit (see "Whose Job Is Evangelism?" at John 16:8). Our task is to provide a full and honest disclosure of what God has done by coming in Christ. And we carry out that assignment with the knowledge that it might result in rejection.

Paul knew that following Christ would lead to hostility and rejection (Acts 28:19). But as he responded to criticism and defended himself legally, he nevertheless made sure that his judges had the benefit of a full explanation—even though it necessitated a special all-day meeting (28:23). Yet even that careful effort did not completely right the record or convince all of his hearers (28:24, 29).

Scripture records a long tradition of God-sent messengers whose words are rejected:

- Isaiah was told ahead of time that God was sending him to people who would not listen (Is. 6:9–12).
- Jesus came to those who would not receive Him (John 1:11; 12:37–43).
- Barnabas and Paul turned to the Gentiles at Pisidian Antioch after Jews rejected their message (Acts 13:44–46).
- Paul preached to the Gentiles at Corinth after Jews rejected his message (18:5, 6).
- Paul grieved over his people's rejection of the gospel (Rom. 11:7–10).

We are to make sure we give our hearers a genuine chance to consider Christ based on a faithful and sincere presentation. But our best efforts may result in personal cost, and our realization of that truth is vital to our journey of faith. As Paul wrote in his letter to the Philippians, "To you it has been granted on behalf of Christ, not only to believe in Him, but also to suffer for His sake" (Phil. 1:29).

Roads to Rome—and Beyond

Paul felt compelled to reach Rome (Acts 19:21; Rom. 1:15), no doubt because it was the empire's capital city. But he also intended to make Rome a stopover on his trip west to Spain (Acts 15:28).

The Old Testament prophet Isaiah predicted that in the end times Gentiles would join Jews at Jerusalem to worship God, signaling a breathtaking new era (Is. 66:19–24). Isaiah's text refers to "Tarshish," thought to mean Spain. Paul may have believed that taking the gospel to Rome and going onward to Spain was a way of bringing about Isaiah's glorious vision (Acts 26:23; 28:28; see also "Meet the Person" at Is. 66:18–21).

We have no record of Paul ever reaching Spain. He remained under house arrest in Rome until his trial before the emperor (Acts 28:16, 30, 31). He may have been temporarily released, but tradition says that he was eventually condemned and executed under Nero.

Think About It: How can we know where to go, when, and why?

Paul's Rented House

Acts 28:30, 31

Paul rented a house at his own expense, possibly in south Rome. He spent his time under house arrest reaching out to Jews but even more to Gentiles (Acts 28:28, 29).

The restrictions Paul faced should have inhibited his efforts to broadcast the gospel, but his imprisonment actually furthered his cause (Phil. 1:12). Confined to his lodgings and continually handcuffed to one of the soldiers who guarded him in four-hour shifts, he freely received visitors and spoke with them about the gospel. The guards and the official in charge of presenting his case would have understood in detail his reason for being in Rome. The message of Christ became a topic of discussion among them (1:13), and Paul's circumstances encouraged Christians in Rome to become bolder in witnessing to the faith than ever before.

More: Paul's house in Rome was probably where a runaway slave named Onesimus came to faith. See the introduction to Philemon.

Think About It: How do Paul's patterns give you a strategy when you are housebound, whether due to weather or a surgery or another reason? Does it matter if you're housebound temporarily or permanently? If you are contagious or not?

The Book of Romans was written to explain the core of the Christian faith. While the first five books of the New Testament tell Jesus' story, Romans explores Jesus' message. The book's author, the apostle Paul, shows that the gospel is more than good deeds or lofty moral sentiments. It is truth, with substantial intellectual content. It challenges how people think, transforms their worship, and imparts new insight into daily life.

Paul used his training as a teacher of the Law to analyze complex theological issues. Romans reminds us that the gospel is big enough to deal with the weighty concerns of the world—social justice, human dignity, the earth's ecology, ethical tensions arising from advances in technology, global war, humanity's capacity for self-destruction, and the ultimate destiny of all people and of the very cosmos itself. Romans offers the big picture of God's salvation. It extends to:

- All aspects of life. The gospel is deeply relevant to government, science and technology, and the architecture of world systems. It is not merely personal or private. It is also public and universal.
- All times and places. The gospel is an overarching presence in the grand sweep of history, from creation to Christ to the culmination of the world. At every turn, God is carrying out His plan for redemption.
- All kinds of people. The gospel is meant for Jews and Gentiles, men and women, the powerless and the powerful, the good and the bad. All have a place in God's story of salvation.

In this letter Paul mentions the church in Rome (Rom. 1:7) but he speaks to a general readership. Paul did not start the church in Rome and had never visited the city at the time of his writing (1:13–15). He intended to stop over in Rome, however, on his way to Spain (15:22–24).

While we know few specifics about Paul's readers in Rome, we know much about their first-century life. Rome's influence extended from Britain to parts of Africa and from Spain to Persia. This enormous empire was governed by a system of provincial governors, petty kings, and vassals of Rome. The Pax Romana ("Roman Peace") and a superior road system facilitated transportation and trade and also enabled the rapid spread of Christianity.

The Romans were in love with power. Rome's government, economy, infrastructure, and defense systems were formidable enough to last a thousand years. Perhaps that explains why Paul began his description of the gospel in terms of power—God's power to save (Rom. 1:16).

Rome treated its Caesars like gods, and they held dominion over far-flung territories and peoples. But the Book of Romans affirms Christ as supreme Lord over all creation: over the past (chs. 3–5), over the present (chs. 6–8), over the environment (ch. 8), over the nations (chs. 9–11), and over daily life in a complex society (chs. 12–16). Though the world is corrupted and languishing under the dominion of sin, it yearns for the truth of the gospel—and the gospel is for the world. Humanity's power to destroy is transcended by Christ's power to restore.

Using the customary format of his time, Paul opens his letter to the Romans by identifying himself as the author (1:1). His authorship of Romans is seldom challenged. He likely wrote the letter during his third missionary journey, possibly from Corinth, where he stayed for three months during the spring of A.D. 56 or 57. He informed the Romans of his plans to visit them on his way to Spain after delivering a gift of money to the church at Jerusalem (15:24–28).

Key Verses in Romans

- "I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God to salvation for everyone who believes" (Rom. 1:16).
- "All have sinned and fall short of the glory of God" (Rom. 3:23).
- "Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness" (Rom. 4:3).
- "Having been justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ" (Rom. 5:1).
- "God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us" (Rom. 5:8).
- "The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Rom. 6:23).
- "O wretched man that I am! Who will deliver me from this body of death? I thank God—through Jesus Christ our Lord!" (Rom. 7:24, 25).
- "There is therefore now no condemnation to those who are in Christ Jesus" (Rom. 8:1).
- "All things work together for good to those who love God, to those who are the called according to His purpose" (Rom. 8:28).
- "If you confess with your mouth the Lord Jesus and believe in your heart that God has raised Him from the dead, you will be saved" (Rom. 10:9).
- "Present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service" (Rom. 12:1).
- "Do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God" (Rom. 12:2).

- "Do not be overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good" (Rom. 12:21).

Romans 1

Greeting

1 Paul, a bondservant of Jesus Christ, called to be an apostle, separated to the gospel of God 2 which He promised before through His prophets in the Holy Scriptures,
3 concerning His Son Jesus Christ our Lord, who was born of the seed of David according to the flesh, 4 and declared to be the Son of God with power according to the Spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead.
5 Through Him we have received grace and apostleship for obedience to the faith among all nations for His name, 6 among whom you also are the called of Jesus Christ;
7 To all who are in Rome, beloved of God, called to be saints:

Grace to you and peace from God our Father
and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Desire to Visit Rome

8 First, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for you all, that your faith is spoken of throughout the whole world.
9 For God is my witness, whom I serve with my spirit in the gospel of His Son, that without ceasing I make mention of you always in my prayers, 10 making request if, by some means, now at last I may find a way in the will of God to come to you.
11 For I long to see you, that I may impart to you some spiritual gift, so that you may be established—12 that is, that I may be encouraged together with you by the mutual faith both of you and me.

13 Now I do not want you to be unaware, brethren, that I often planned to come to you (but was hindered until now), that I might have some fruit among you also, just as among the other Gentiles. When Plans Change 14 I am a debtor both to Greeks and to barbarians, both to wise and to unwise.
15 So, as much as is in me, I am ready to preach the gospel to you who are in Rome also.

The Just Live by Faith

16 For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ,[a] for it is the power of God to salvation for everyone who believes, for the Jew first and also for the Greek.
17 For in it the righteousness of God is revealed from faith to faith; as it is written, "The just shall live by faith."[b]

Righteousness

God's Wrath on Unrighteousness

18 For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who suppress the truth in unrighteousness, 19 because what may be known of God is manifest in them, for God has shown it to them.
20 For since the creation of the world His invisible attributes are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even His eternal power and Godhead, so that they are without excuse, 21 because, although they knew God, they did not glorify Him as God, nor were thankful, but became futile in their thoughts, and their foolish hearts were darkened.
22 Professing to be wise, they became fools, 23 and changed the glory of the incorruptible God into an image made like corruptible man—and birds and four-footed animals and creeping things.

[24]Therefore God also gave them up to uncleanness, in the lusts of their hearts, to dishonor their bodies among themselves, The Truth About Sin

[25]who exchanged the truth of God for the lie, and worshiped and served the creature rather than the Creator, who is blessed forever. Amen.

[26]For this reason God gave them up to vile passions. For even their women exchanged the natural use for what is against nature.

[27]Likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust for one another, men with men committing what is shameful, and receiving in themselves the penalty of their error which was due.

[28]And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a debased mind, to do those things which are not fitting;

[29]being filled with all unrighteousness, sexual immorality,[c] wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, evil-mindedness; they are whisperers,

[30]backbiters, haters of God, violent, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents,

[31]undiscerning, untrustworthy, unloving, unforgiving,[d] unmerciful;

[32]who, knowing the righteous judgment of God, that those who practice such things are deserving of death, not only do the same but also approve of those who practice them.

Romans 2

God's Righteous Judgment

1 Therefore you are inexcusable, O man, whoever you are who judge, for in whatever you judge another you condemn yourself; for you who judge practice the same things.
2 But we know that the judgment of God is according to truth against those who practice such things.
3 And do you think this, O man, you who judge those practicing such things, and doing the same, that you will escape the judgment of God?
4 Or do you despise the riches of His goodness, forbearance, and longsuffering, not knowing that the goodness of God leads you to repentance?
5 But in accordance with your hardness and your impenitent heart you are treasuring up for yourself wrath in the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God,
6 who "will render to each one according to his deeds":[a] 7 eternal life to those who by patient continuance in doing good seek for glory, honor, and immortality; 8 but to those who are self-seeking and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness—indignation and wrath, 9 tribulation and anguish, on every soul of man who does evil, of the Jew first and also of the Greek; 10 but glory, honor, and peace to everyone who works what is good, to the Jew first and also to the Greek.
11 For there is no partiality with God.
12 For as many as have sinned without law will also perish without law, and as many as have sinned in the law will be judged by the law The Law

13(for not the hearers of the law are just in the sight of God, but the doers of the law will be justified;
14for when Gentiles, who do not have the law, by nature do the things in the law, these, although not having the law, are a law to themselves, 15who show the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and between themselves their thoughts accusing or else excusing them)
16in the day when God will judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ, according to my gospel.

The Jews Guilty as the Gentiles

17Indeed[b] you are called a Jew, and rest on the law, and make your boast in God, 18and know His will, and approve the things that are excellent, being instructed out of the law, 19and are confident that you yourself are a guide to the blind, a light to those who are in darkness,
20an instructor of the foolish, a teacher of babes, having the form of knowledge and truth in the law.
21You, therefore, who teach another, do you not teach yourself? You who preach that a man should not steal, do you steal?
22You who say, “Do not commit adultery,” do you commit adultery? You who abhor idols, do you rob temples?
23You who make your boast in the law, do you dishonor God through breaking the law?
24For “the name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles because of you,”[c] as it is written.

Circumcision of No Avail

25For circumcision is indeed profitable if you keep the law; but if you are a breaker of the law, your circumcision has become uncircumcision.

[26]Therefore, if an uncircumcised man keeps the righteous requirements of the law, will not his uncircumcision be counted as circumcision?

[27]And will not the physically uncircumcised, if he fulfills the law, judge you who, even with your written code and circumcision, are a transgressor of the law?

[28]For he is not a Jew who is one outwardly, nor is circumcision that which is outward in the flesh;

[29]but he is a Jew who is one inwardly; and circumcision is that of the heart, in the Spirit, not in the letter; whose praise is not from men but from God.

Romans 3

God's Judgment Defended

1 What advantage then has the Jew, or what is the profit of circumcision?
2 Much in every way! Chiefly because to them were committed the oracles of God.
3 For what if some did not believe? Will their unbelief make the faithfulness of God without effect?
4 Certainly not! Indeed, let God be true but every man a liar. As it is written:

"That You may be justified in Your words,
And may overcome when You are judged."[a]

5 But if our unrighteousness demonstrates the righteousness of God, what shall we say? Is God unjust who inflicts wrath? (I speak as a man.)
6 Certainly not! For then how will God judge the world?
7 For if the truth of God has increased through my lie to His glory, why am I also still judged as a sinner?
8 And why not say, "Let us do evil that good may come"?— as we are slanderously reported and as some affirm that we say. Their condemnation is just.

All Have Sinned

9 What then? Are we better than they? Not at all. For we have previously charged both Jews and Greeks that they are all under sin.
10 As it is written:

"There is none righteous, no, not one;

11 There is none who understands;
There is none who seeks after God.
12 They have all turned aside;
They have together become unprofitable;
There is none who does good, no, not one.”[b] 13 “Their throat is an open tomb;
With their tongues they have practiced deceit”;[c]
“The poison of asps is under their lips”;[d]
14 “Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness.”[e]
15 “Their feet are swift to shed blood;
16 Destruction and misery are in their ways;
17 And the way of peace they have not known.”[f]
18 “There is no fear of God before their eyes.”[g]

19 Now we know that whatever the law says, it says to those who are under the law, that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God.
20 Therefore by the deeds of the law no flesh will be justified in His sight, for by the law is the knowledge of sin.

God’s Righteousness Through Faith

21 But now the righteousness of God apart from the law is revealed, being witnessed by the Law and the Prophets, 22 even the righteousness of God, through faith in Jesus Christ, to all and on all[h] who believe. For there is no difference;
23 for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God,
24 being justified freely by His grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus,

[25]whom God set forth as a propitiation by His blood, through faith, to demonstrate His righteousness, because in His forbearance God had passed over the sins that were previously committed,

[26]to demonstrate at the present time His righteousness, that He might be just and the justifier of the one who has faith in Jesus.

Boasting Excluded

[27]Where is boasting then? It is excluded. By what law? Of works? No, but by the law of faith.

[28]Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith apart from the deeds of the law.

[29]Or is He the God of the Jews only? Is He not also the God of the Gentiles? Yes, of the Gentiles also,

[30]since there is one God who will justify the circumcised by faith and the uncircumcised through faith.

[31]Do we then make void the law through faith? Certainly not! On the contrary, we establish the law.

Romans 4

Abraham Justified by Faith

1 What then shall we say that Abraham our father has found according to the flesh?[a] A Faith like Abraham's 2 For if Abraham was justified by works, he has something to boast about, but not before God.
3 For what does the Scripture say? "Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness."[b] 4 Now to him who works, the wages are not counted as grace but as debt.

David Celebrates the Same Truth

5 But to him who does not work but believes on Him who justifies the ungodly, his faith is accounted for righteousness,
6 just as David also describes the blessedness of the man to whom God imputes righteousness apart from works: A Devotion like David's

7 *"Blessed are those whose lawless deeds are forgiven,
And whose sins are covered;*
8 Blessed is the man to whom the LORD shall not impute sin."[c]

Abraham Justified Before Circumcision

9 Does this blessedness then come upon the circumcised only, or upon the uncircumcised also? For we say that faith was accounted to Abraham for righteousness.

10How then was it accounted? While he was circumcised, or uncircumcised? Not while circumcised, but while uncircumcised.

11And he received the sign of circumcision, a seal of the righteousness of the faith which he had while still uncircumcised, that he might be the father of all those who believe, though they are uncircumcised, that righteousness might be imputed to them also,

12and the father of circumcision to those who not only are of the circumcision, but who also walk in the steps of the faith which our father Abraham had while still uncircumcised.

The Promise Granted Through Faith

13For the promise that he would be the heir of the world was not to Abraham or to his seed through the law, but through the righteousness of faith.

14For if those who are of the law are heirs, faith is made void and the promise made of no effect,

15because the law brings about wrath; for where there is no law there is no transgression.

16Therefore it is of faith that it might be according to grace, so that the promise might be sure to all the seed, not only to those who are of the law, but also to those who are of the faith of Abraham, who is the father of us all

17(as it is written, "I have made you a father of many nations"[d]) in the presence of Him whom he believed—God, who gives life to the dead and calls those things which do not exist as though they did;

18who, contrary to hope, in hope believed, so that he became the father of many nations, according to what was spoken, "So shall your descendants be."[e]

19And not being weak in faith, he did not consider his own body, already dead (since he was about a hundred years old), and the deadness of Sarah’s womb.

20 He did not waver at the promise of God through unbelief, but was strengthened in faith, giving glory to God,

21 and being fully convinced that what He had promised
He was also able to perform.

22 And therefore “it was accounted to him for righteousness.”[f]

23 Now it was not written for his sake alone that it was imputed to him,

24 but also for us. It shall be imputed to us who believe in Him who raised up Jesus our Lord from the dead,

25 who was delivered up because of our offenses, and was raised because of our justification.

Romans 5

Faith Triumphs in Trouble

1 Therefore, having been justified by faith, we have[a] peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ, 2 through whom also we have access by faith into this grace in which we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God.
3 And not only that, but we also glory in tribulations, knowing that tribulation produces perseverance;
4 and perseverance, character; and character, hope.
5 Now hope does not disappoint, because the love of God has been poured out in our hearts by the Holy Spirit who was given to us.

Christ in Our Place

6 For when we were still without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly. Salvation: Past, Present, and Future
7 For scarcely for a righteous man will one die; yet perhaps for a good man someone would even dare to die.
8 But God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us.
9 Much more then, having now been justified by His blood, we shall be saved from wrath through Him.
10 For if when we were enemies we were reconciled to God through the death of His Son, much more, having been reconciled, we shall be saved by His life.
11 And not only that, but we also rejoice in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we have now received the reconciliation.

Death in Adam, Life in Christ

12Therefore, just as through one man sin entered the world, and death through sin, and thus death spread to all men, because all sinned—

13(For until the law sin was in the world, but sin is not imputed when there is no law.

14Nevertheless death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over those who had not sinned according to the likeness of the transgression of Adam, who is a type of Him who was to come.

15But the free gift is not like the offense. For if by the one man's offense many died, much more the grace of God and the gift by the grace of the one Man, Jesus Christ, abounded to many.

16And the gift is not like that which came through the one who sinned. For the judgment which came from one offense resulted in condemnation, but the free gift which came from many offenses resulted in justification.

17For if by the one man's offense death reigned through the one, much more those who receive abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness will reign in life through the One, Jesus Christ.)

18Therefore, as through one man's offense judgment came to all men, resulting in condemnation, even so through one Man's righteous act the free gift came to all men, resulting in justification of life.

19For as by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so also by one Man's obedience many will be made righteous.

20Moreover the law entered that the offense might abound. But where sin abounded, grace abounded much more,

21so that as sin reigned in death, even so grace might reign through righteousness to eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Romans 6

Dead to Sin, Alive to God

1 What shall we say then? Shall we continue in sin that grace may abound?
2 Certainly not! How shall we who died to sin live any longer in it?
3 Or do you not know that as many of us as were baptized into Christ Jesus were baptized into His death?
4 Therefore we were buried with Him through baptism into death, that just as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life.
5 For if we have been united together in the likeness of His death, certainly we also shall be in the likeness of His resurrection,
6 knowing this, that our old man was crucified with Him, that the body of sin might be done away with, that we should no longer be slaves of sin. What Sin Does 7 For he who has died has been freed from sin.
8 Now if we died with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with Him,
9 knowing that Christ, having been raised from the dead, dies no more. Death no longer has dominion over Him.
10 For the death that He died, He died to sin once for all;
but the life that He lives, He lives to God.
11 Likewise you also, reckon yourselves to be dead indeed to sin, but alive to God in Christ Jesus our Lord.
12 Therefore do not let sin reign in your mortal body, that you should obey it in its lusts.
13 And do not present your members as instruments of unrighteousness to sin, but present yourselves to God as being alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness to God.

14For sin shall not have dominion over you, for you are not under law but under grace.

From Slaves of Sin to Slaves of God

15What then? Shall we sin because we are not under law but under grace? Certainly not! Real Freedom

16Do you not know that to whom you present yourselves slaves to obey, you are that one's slaves whom you obey, whether of sin leading to death, or of obedience leading to righteousness? Who You Serve

17But God be thanked that though you were slaves of sin, yet you obeyed from the heart that form of doctrine to which you were delivered.

18And having been set free from sin, you became slaves of righteousness.

19I speak in human terms because of the weakness of your flesh. For just as you presented your members as slaves of uncleanness, and of lawlessness leading to more lawlessness, so now present your members as slaves of righteousness for holiness.

20For when you were slaves of sin, you were free in regard to righteousness.

21What fruit did you have then in the things of which you are now ashamed? For the end of those things is death.

22But now having been set free from sin, and having become slaves of God, you have your fruit to holiness, and the end, everlasting life.

23For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Romans 7

Freed from the Law

1 Or do you not know, brethren (for I speak to those who know the law), that the law has dominion over a man as long as he lives?
2 For the woman who has a husband is bound by the law to her husband as long as he lives. But if the husband dies, she is released from the law of her husband.
3 So then if, while her husband lives, she marries another man, she will be called an adulteress; but if her husband dies, she is free from that law, so that she is no adulteress, though she has married another man.
4 Therefore, my brethren, you also have become dead to the law through the body of Christ, that you may be married to another—to Him who was raised from the dead, that we should bear fruit to God.
5 For when we were in the flesh, the sinful passions which were aroused by the law were at work in our members to bear fruit to death.
6 But now we have been delivered from the law, having died to what we were held by, so that we should serve in the newness of the Spirit and not in the oldness of the letter.

Sin's Advantage in the Law

7 What shall we say then? Is the law sin? Certainly not!
On the contrary, I would not have known sin except through the law. For I would not have known covetousness unless the law had said, "You shall not covet."[a] Legalism and Lawlessness 8 But sin, taking opportunity by the commandment, produced in me all manner of evil desire. For apart from the law sin was dead.

9 I was alive once without the law, but when the commandment came, sin revived and I died.

10 And the commandment, which was to bring life, I found to bring death.

11 For sin, taking occasion by the commandment, deceived me, and by it killed me.

12 Therefore the law is holy, and the commandment holy and just and good.

Law Cannot Save from Sin

13 Has then what is good become death to me? Certainly not! But sin, that it might appear sin, was producing death in me through what is good, so that sin through the commandment might become exceedingly sinful. Overwhelmed by Darkness

14 For we know that the law is spiritual, but I am carnal, sold under sin.

15 For what I am doing, I do not understand. For what I will to do, that I do not practice; but what I hate, that I do.

16 If, then, I do what I will not to do, I agree with the law that it is good.

17 But now, it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells in me.

18 For I know that in me (that is, in my flesh) nothing good dwells; for to will is present with me, but how to perform what is good I do not find.

19 For the good that I will to do, I do not do; but the evil I will not to do, that I practice.

20 Now if I do what I will not to do, it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells in me.

21 I find then a law, that evil is present with me, the one who wills to do good. Managing Original Sin

22 For I delight in the law of God according to the inward man.
23 But I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members.
24 O wretched man that I am! Who will deliver me from this body of death?
25 I thank God—through Jesus Christ our Lord! So then, with the mind I myself serve the law of God, but with the flesh the law of sin.

Romans 8

Free from Indwelling Sin

1 There is therefore now no condemnation to those who are in Christ Jesus,[a] who do not walk according to the flesh, but according to the Spirit.
2 For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has made me free from the law of sin and death.
3 For what the law could not do in that it was weak through the flesh, God did by sending His own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, on account of sin: He condemned sin in the flesh,
4 that the righteous requirement of the law might be fulfilled in us who do not walk according to the flesh but according to the Spirit. Walking by the Spirit
5 For those who live according to the flesh set their minds on the things of the flesh, but those who live according to the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.
6 For to be carnally minded is death, but to be spiritually minded is life and peace.
7 Because the carnal mind is enmity against God; for it is not subject to the law of God, nor indeed can be.
8 So then, those who are in the flesh cannot please God.
9 But you are not in the flesh but in the Spirit, if indeed the Spirit of God dwells in you. Now if anyone does not have the Spirit of Christ, he is not His.
10 And if Christ is in you, the body is dead because of sin, but the Spirit is life because of righteousness.
11 But if the Spirit of Him who raised Jesus from the dead dwells in you, He who raised Christ from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies through His Spirit who dwells in you.

Sonship Through the Spirit

12Therefore, brethren, we are debtors—not to the flesh, to live according to the flesh.
13For if you live according to the flesh you will die; but if by the Spirit you put to death the deeds of the body, you will live.
14For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, these are sons of God.
15For you did not receive the spirit of bondage again to fear, but you received the Spirit of adoption by whom we cry out, “Abba, Father.” 16The Spirit Himself bears witness with our spirit that we are children of God, 17and if children, then heirs—heirs of God and joint heirs with Christ, if indeed we suffer with Him, that we may also be glorified together.

From Suffering to Glory

18For I consider that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us.
19For the earnest expectation of the creation eagerly waits for the revealing of the sons of God.
20For the creation was subjected to futility, not willingly, but because of Him who subjected it in hope; 21because the creation itself also will be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God. Liberating Creation 22For we know that the whole creation groans and labors with birth pangs together until now.
23Not only that, but we also who have the firstfruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, eagerly waiting for the adoption, the redemption of our body.

24For we were saved in this hope, but hope that is seen is not hope; for why does one still hope for what he sees?

25But if we hope for what we do not see, we eagerly wait for it with perseverance.

26Likewise the Spirit also helps in our weaknesses. For we do not know what we should pray for as we ought, but the Spirit Himself makes intercession for us[b] with groanings which cannot be uttered.

27Now He who searches the hearts knows what the mind of the Spirit is, because He makes intercession for the saints according to the will of God.

28And we know that all things work together for good to those who love God, to those who are the called according to His purpose. All Things for Good 29For whom He foreknew, He also predestined to be conformed to the image of His Son, that He might be the firstborn among many brethren.

30Moreover whom He predestined, these He also called; whom He called, these He also justified; and whom He justified, these He also glorified.

God's Everlasting Love

31What then shall we say to these things? If God is for us, who can be against us?

32He who did not spare His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all, how shall He not with Him also freely give us all things?

33Who shall bring a charge against God's elect? It is God who justifies.

34Who is he who condemns? It is Christ who died, and furthermore is also risen, who is even at the right hand of God, who also makes intercession for us.

35 Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?
36 As it is written:

> “For Your sake we are killed all day long;
> We are accounted as sheep for the slaughter.”[c]

37 Yet in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him who loved us.
38 For I am persuaded that neither death nor life, nor angels nor principalities nor powers, nor things present nor things to come,
39 nor height nor depth, nor any other created thing, shall be able to separate us from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Romans 9

Israel's Rejection of Christ

1 I tell the truth in Christ, I am not lying, my conscience also bearing me witness in the Holy Spirit, God's Heart for the Whole World
2 that I have great sorrow and continual grief in my heart.
3 For I could wish that I myself were accursed from Christ for my brethren, my countrymen[a] according to the flesh, 4 who are Israelites, to whom pertain the adoption, the glory, the covenants, the giving of the law, the service of God, and the promises;
5 of whom are the fathers and from whom, according to the flesh, Christ came, who is over all, the eternally blessed God. Amen.

Israel's Rejection and God's Purpose

6 But it is not that the word of God has taken no effect.
For they are not all Israel who are of Israel, 7 nor are they all children because they are the seed of Abraham; but, "In Isaac your seed shall be called."[b] 8 That is, those who are the children of the flesh, these are not the children of God; but the children of the promise are counted as the seed.
9 For this is the word of promise: "At this time I will come and Sarah shall have a son."[c] 10 And not only this, but when Rebecca also had conceived by one man, even by our father Isaac 11 (for the children not yet being born, nor having done any good or evil, that the purpose of God according to election might stand, not of works but of Him who calls), 12 it was said to her, "The older shall serve the younger."[d]

13 As it is written, “Jacob I have loved, but Esau I have hated.”[e]

Israel’s Rejection and God’s Justice

14 What shall we say then? Is there unrighteousness with God? Certainly not!

15 For He says to Moses, “I will have mercy on whomever I will have mercy, and I will have compassion on whomever I will have compassion.”[f]

16 So then it is not of him who wills, nor of him who runs, but of God who shows mercy.

17 For the Scripture says to the Pharaoh, “For this very purpose I have raised you up, that I may show My power in you, and that My name may be declared in all the earth.”[g]

18 Therefore He has mercy on whom He wills, and whom He wills He hardens.

19 You will say to me then, “Why does He still find fault? For who has resisted His will?”

20 But indeed, O man, who are you to reply against God? Will the thing formed say to him who formed it, “Why have you made me like this?”

21 Does not the potter have power over the clay, from the same lump to make one vessel for honor and another for dishonor?

22 What if God, wanting to show His wrath and to make His power known, endured with much longsuffering the vessels of wrath prepared for destruction,

23 and that He might make known the riches of His glory on the vessels of mercy, which He had prepared beforehand for glory, 24 even us whom He called, not of the Jews only, but also of the Gentiles?

25 As He says also in Hosea:

“I will call them My people, who were not My people,
And her beloved, who was not beloved.”[h] 26 “And it shall come to pass in the place where it was said to them,
‘You are not My people,’
There they shall be called sons of the living God.”[i]

27 Isaiah also cries out concerning Israel:[j]

“Though the number of the children of Israel be as the sand of the sea,
The remnant will be saved.
28 For He will finish the work and cut it short in righteousness,
Because the LORD will make a short work upon the earth.”[k]

29 And as Isaiah said before:

“Unless the LORD of Sabaoth[l] had left us a seed,
We would have become like Sodom,
And we would have been made like Gomorrah.”[m]

Present Condition of Israel

30 What shall we say then? That Gentiles, who did not pursue righteousness, have attained to righteousness, even the righteousness of faith;
31 but Israel, pursuing the law of righteousness, has not attained to the law of righteousness.[n] 32 Why? Because they did not seek it by faith, but as it were, by the works of the law.[o] For they stumbled at that stumbling stone.

33 As it is written:

> “Behold, I lay in Zion a stumbling stone and > rock of offense,
> And whoever believes on Him will not be put > to shame.”[p]

Romans 10

Israel Needs the Gospel

1 Brethren, my heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel[a] is that they may be saved. Israel

2 For I bear them witness that they have a zeal for God, but not according to knowledge.

3 For they being ignorant of God's righteousness, and seeking to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted to the righteousness of God.

4 For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to everyone who believes.

5 For Moses writes about the righteousness which is of the law, "The man who does those things shall live by them."[b]

6 But the righteousness of faith speaks in this way, "Do not say in your heart, 'Who will ascend into heaven?' "[c] (that is, to bring Christ down from above)

7 or, " 'Who will descend into the abyss?' "[d] (that is, to bring Christ up from the dead).

8 But what does it say? "The word is near you, in your mouth and in your heart"[e] (that is, the word of faith which we preach):

9 that if you confess with your mouth the Lord Jesus and believe in your heart that God has raised Him from the dead, you will be saved.

10 For with the heart one believes unto righteousness, and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation.

11 For the Scripture says, "Whoever believes on Him will not be put to shame."[f]

12 For there is no distinction between Jew and Greek, for the same Lord over all is rich to all who call upon Him.

13For “whoever calls on the name of the LORD shall be saved.”[g]

Israel Rejects the Gospel

14How then shall they call on Him in whom they have not believed? And how shall they believe in Him of whom they have not heard? And how shall they hear without a preacher?
15And how shall they preach unless they are sent? As it is written:

> “How beautiful are the feet of those who > preach the gospel of peace,[h]
> Who bring glad tidings of good things!”[i]

16But they have not all obeyed the gospel. For Isaiah says, “LORD, who has believed our report?”[j] 17So then faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the word of God.
18But I say, have they not heard? Yes indeed:

> “Their sound has gone out to all the earth,
> And their words to the ends of the world.”[k]

19But I say, did Israel not know? First Moses says:

> “I will provoke you to jealousy by those who > are not a nation,
> I will move you to anger by a foolish nation.”[l]

20But Isaiah is very bold and says:

> “I was found by those who did not seek Me;
> I was made manifest to those who did not > ask for Me.”[m]

21 But to Israel he says:

> “All day long I have stretched out My hands
> To a disobedient and contrary people.”[n]

Romans 11

Israel's Rejection Not Total

1 I say then, has God cast away His people? Certainly not! For I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin.

2 God has not cast away His people whom He foreknew. Or do you not know what the Scripture says of Elijah, how he pleads with God against Israel, saying,

3 "LORD, they have killed Your prophets and torn down Your altars, and I alone am left, and they seek my life"?[a]

4 But what does the divine response say to him? "I have reserved for Myself seven thousand men who have not bowed the knee to Baal."[b]

5 Even so then, at this present time there is a remnant according to the election of grace.

6 And if by grace, then it is no longer of works; otherwise grace is no longer grace.[c] But if it is of works, it is no longer grace; otherwise work is no longer work.

7 What then? Israel has not obtained what it seeks; but the elect have obtained it, and the rest were blinded.

8 Just as it is written:

> "God has given them a spirit of stupor,
> Eyes that they should not see
> And ears that they should not hear,
> To this very day."[d]

9 And David says:

> "Let their table become a snare and a trap,
> A stumbling block and a recompense to them.

10 Let their eyes be darkened, so that they do not see,
And bow down their back always.”[e]

Israel’s Rejection Not Final

11 I say then, have they stumbled that they should fall? Certainly not! But through their fall, to provoke them to jealousy, salvation has come to the Gentiles.

12 Now if their fall is riches for the world, and their failure riches for the Gentiles, how much more their fullness!

13 For I speak to you Gentiles; inasmuch as I am an apostle to the Gentiles, I magnify my ministry, One People

14 if by any means I may provoke to jealousy those who are my flesh and save some of them.

15 For if their being cast away is the reconciling of the world, what will their acceptance be but life from the dead?

16 For if the firstfruit is holy, the lump is also holy; and if the root is holy, so are the branches.

17 And if some of the branches were broken off, and you, being a wild olive tree, were grafted in among them, and with them became a partaker of the root and fatness of the olive tree,

18 do not boast against the branches. But if you do boast, remember that you do not support the root, but the root supports you.

19 You will say then, “Branches were broken off that I might be grafted in.”

20 Well said. Because of unbelief they were broken off, and you stand by faith. Do not be haughty, but fear.

21 For if God did not spare the natural branches, He may not spare you either.

22 Therefore consider the goodness and severity of God: on those who fell, severity; but toward you, goodness,[f] if you continue in His goodness. Otherwise you also will be cut off.

23 And they also, if they do not continue in unbelief, will be grafted in, for God is able to graft them in again.

24 For if you were cut out of the olive tree which is wild by nature, and were grafted contrary to nature into a cultivated olive tree, how much more will these, who are natural branches, be grafted into their own olive tree?

25 For I do not desire, brethren, that you should be ignorant of this mystery, lest you should be wise in your own opinion, that blindness in part has happened to Israel until the fullness of the Gentiles has come in.

26 And so all Israel will be saved,[g] as it is written:

> "The Deliverer will come out of Zion,
> And He will turn away ungodliness from Jacob;
> 27 For this is My covenant with them,
> When I take away their sins."[h]

28 Concerning the gospel they are enemies for your sake, but concerning the election they are beloved for the sake of the fathers.

29 For the gifts and the calling of God are irrevocable.

30 For as you were once disobedient to God, yet have now obtained mercy through their disobedience, 31 even so these also have now been disobedient, that through the mercy shown you they also may obtain mercy.

32 For God has committed them all to disobedience, that He might have mercy on all.

33 Oh, the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable are His judgments and His ways past finding out!

34 “For who has known the mind of the LORD?
Or who has become His counselor?”[1] 35 “Or who has first given to Him
And it shall be repaid to him?”[j]

36For of Him and through Him and to Him are all things, to whom be glory forever. Amen.

Romans 12

Living Sacrifices to God

1 I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service. Three Invitations to Serve

2 And do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God.

Serve God with Spiritual Gifts

3 For I say, through the grace given to me, to everyone who is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think, but to think soberly, as God has dealt to each one a measure of faith. Seeing Ourselves Through God's Eyes

4 For as we have many members in one body, but all the members do not have the same function,

5 so we, being many, are one body in Christ, and individually members of one another.

6 Having then gifts differing according to the grace that is given to us, let us use them: if prophecy, let us prophesy in proportion to our faith;

7 or ministry, let us use it in our ministering; he who teaches, in teaching;

8 he who exhorts, in exhortation; he who gives, with liberality; he who leads, with diligence; he who shows mercy, with cheerfulness.

Behave Like a Christian

9 Let love be without hypocrisy. Abhor what is evil. Cling to what is good.

10 Be kindly affectionate to one another with brotherly love, in honor giving preference to one another;

11 not lagging in diligence, fervent in spirit, serving the Lord;

12 rejoicing in hope, patient in tribulation, continuing steadfastly in prayer;

13 distributing to the needs of the saints, given to hospitality.

14 Bless those who persecute you; bless and do not curse.

15 Rejoice with those who rejoice, and weep with those who weep.

16 Be of the same mind toward one another. Do not set your mind on high things, but associate with the humble. Do not be wise in your own opinion.

17 Repay no one evil for evil. Have regard for good things in the sight of all men.

18 If it is possible, as much as depends on you, live peaceably with all men.

19 Beloved, do not avenge yourselves, but rather give place to wrath; for it is written, "Vengeance is Mine, I will repay,"[a] says the Lord.

20 Therefore

> "If your enemy is hungry, feed him;
> If he is thirsty, give him a drink;
> For in so doing you will heap coals of fire on his head."[b]

21 Do not be overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good.

Romans 13

Submit to Government

1 Let every soul be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and the authorities that exist are appointed by God. Governmental Authority 2 Therefore whoever resists the authority resists the ordinance of God, and those who resist will bring judgment on themselves.
3 For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to evil. Do you want to be unafraid of the authority? Do what is good, and you will have praise from the same.
4 For he is God's minister to you for good. But if you do evil, be afraid; for he does not bear the sword in vain; for he is God's minister, an avenger to execute wrath on him who practices evil.
5 Therefore you must be subject, not only because of wrath but also for conscience' sake.
6 For because of this you also pay taxes, for they are God's ministers attending continually to this very thing.
7 Render therefore to all their due: taxes to whom taxes are due, customs to whom customs, fear to whom fear, honor to whom honor.

Love Your Neighbor

8 Owe no one anything except to love one another, for he who loves another has fulfilled the law.
9 For the commandments, *"You shall not commit adultery," "You shall not murder," "You shall not steal,"
"You shall not bear false witness,"*[a] "You shall not covet,"[b] and if there is any other commandment, are all summed up in this saying, namely, “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.”[c]

10 Love does no harm to a neighbor; therefore love is the fulfillment of the law.

Put on Christ

11 And do this, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep; for now our salvation is nearer than when we first believed.

12 The night is far spent, the day is at hand. Therefore let us cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armor of light.

13 Let us walk properly, as in the day, not in revelry and drunkenness, not in lewdness and lust, not in strife and envy.

14 But put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make no provision for the flesh, to fulfill its lusts.

Romans 14

The Law of Liberty

1 Receive one who is weak in the faith, but not to disputes over doubtful things. Matters of Conscience

2 For one believes he may eat all things, but he who is weak eats only vegetables.

3 Let not him who eats despise him who does not eat, and let not him who does not eat judge him who eats; for God has received him.

4 Who are you to judge another's servant? To his own master he stands or falls. Indeed, he will be made to stand, for God is able to make him stand.

5 One person esteems one day above another; another esteems every day alike. Let each be fully convinced in his own mind. The Lord's Day

6 He who observes the day, observes it to the Lord;[a] and he who does not observe the day, to the Lord he does not observe it. He who eats, eats to the Lord, for he gives God thanks; and he who does not eat, to the Lord he does not eat, and gives God thanks.

7 For none of us lives to himself, and no one dies to himself.

8 For if we live, we live to the Lord; and if we die, we die to the Lord. Therefore, whether we live or die, we are the Lord's.

9 For to this end Christ died and rose[b] and lived again, that He might be Lord of both the dead and the living.

10 But why do you judge your brother? Or why do you show contempt for your brother? For we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ.[c]

11 For it is written:

“As I live, says the LORD,
Every knee shall bow to Me,
And every tongue shall confess to God.”[d]

12 So then each of us shall give account of himself to God.
13 Therefore let us not judge one another anymore, but rather resolve this, not to put a stumbling block or a cause to fall in our brother’s way.

The Law of Love

14 I know and am convinced by the Lord Jesus that there is nothing unclean of itself; but to him who considers anything to be unclean, to him it is unclean.
15 Yet if your brother is grieved because of your food, you are no longer walking in love. Do not destroy with your food the one for whom Christ died.
16 Therefore do not let your good be spoken of as evil;
17 for the kingdom of God is not eating and drinking, but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit.
18 For he who serves Christ in these things[e] is acceptable to God and approved by men.
19 Therefore let us pursue the things which make for peace and the things by which one may edify another.
20 Do not destroy the work of God for the sake of food. All things indeed are pure, but it is evil for the man who eats with offense.
21 It is good neither to eat meat nor drink wine nor do anything by which your brother stumbles or is offended or is made weak.[f]
22 Do you have faith? Have[g] it to yourself before God. Happy is he who does not condemn himself in what he approves.
23 But he who doubts is condemned if he eats, because he does not eat from faith; for whatever is not from faith is sin.[h]

Romans 15

Bearing Others' Burdens

1 We then who are strong ought to bear with the scruples of the weak, and not to please ourselves.
2 Let each of us please his neighbor for his good, leading to edification.
3 For even Christ did not please Himself; but as it is written, "The reproaches of those who reproached You fell on Me."[a] 4 For whatever things were written before were written for our learning, that we through the patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope.
5 Now may the God of patience and comfort grant you to be like-minded toward one another, according to Christ
Jesus,
6 that you may with one mind and one mouth glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Glorify God Together

7 Therefore receive one another, just as Christ also received us,[b] to the glory of God. Unity and Diversity 8 Now I say that Jesus Christ has become a servant to the circumcision for the truth of God, to confirm the promises made to the fathers, 9 and that the Gentiles might glorify God for His mercy, as it is written:

*"For this reason I will confess to You among the Gentiles,
And sing to Your name."*[c]

10 And again he says:

“Rejoice, O Gentiles, with His people!”[d]

11 And again:

“Praise the LORD, all you Gentiles!
Laud Him, all you peoples!”[e]

12 And again, Isaiah says:

“There shall be a root of Jesse;
And He who shall rise to reign over the Gentiles,
In Him the Gentiles shall hope.”[f]

13 Now may the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, that you may abound in hope by the power of the Holy Spirit.

From Jerusalem to Illyricum

14 Now I myself am confident concerning you, my brethren, that you also are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, able also to admonish one another.[g]
15 Nevertheless, brethren, I have written more boldly to you on some points, as reminding you, because of the grace given to me by God, 16 that I might be a minister of Jesus Christ to the Gentiles, ministering the gospel of God, that the offering of the Gentiles might be acceptable, sanctified by the Holy Spirit.
17 Therefore I have reason to glory in Christ Jesus in the things which pertain to God.
18 For I will not dare to speak of any of those things which Christ has not accomplished through me, in word and deed, to make the Gentiles obedient—19 in mighty signs and wonders, by the power of the Spirit of God, so that from Jerusalem and round about to Illyricum

I have fully preached the gospel of Christ.
20 And so I have made it my aim to preach the gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should build on another man's foundation, 21 but as it is written:

> "To whom He was not announced, they shall see;
> And those who have not heard shall understand."[h]

Plan to Visit Rome

22 For this reason I also have been much hindered from coming to you.
23 But now no longer having a place in these parts, and having a great desire these many years to come to you, 24 whenever I journey to Spain, I shall come to you.[i] For I hope to see you on my journey, and to be helped on my way there by you, if first I may enjoy your company for a while.
25 But now I am going to Jerusalem to minister to the saints.
26 For it pleased those from Macedonia and Achaia to make a certain contribution for the poor among the saints who are in Jerusalem.
27 It pleased them indeed, and they are their debtors. For if the Gentiles have been partakers of their spiritual things, their duty is also to minister to them in material things.
28 Therefore, when I have performed this and have sealed to them this fruit, I shall go by way of you to Spain.
29 But I know that when I come to you, I shall come in the fullness of the blessing of the gospel[j] of Christ.

30 Now I beg you, brethren, through the Lord Jesus Christ, and through the love of the Spirit, that you strive together with me in prayers to God for me, 31 that I may be delivered from those in Judea who do not believe, and that my service for Jerusalem may be acceptable to the saints, 32 that I may come to you with joy by the will of God, and may be refreshed together with you.
33 Now the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

Romans 16

Sister Phoebe Commended

1 I commend to you Phoebe our sister, who is a servant of the church in Cenchrea, Our Sister Phoebe 2 that you may receive her in the Lord in a manner worthy of the saints, and assist her in whatever business she has need of you; for indeed she has been a helper of many and of myself also.

Greeting Roman Saints

3 Greet Priscilla and Aquila, my fellow workers in Christ
Jesus,
4 who risked their own necks for my life, to whom not only
I give thanks, but also all the churches of the Gentiles.
5 Likewise greet the church that is in their house. Greet my beloved Epaenetus, who is the firstfruits of Achaia[a] to Christ.
6 Greet Mary, who labored much for us.
7 Greet Andronicus and Junia, my countrymen and my fellow prisoners, who are of note among the apostles, who also were in Christ before me. Junia: A Female Apostle?
8 Greet Amplias, my beloved in the Lord.
9 Greet Urbanus, our fellow worker in Christ, and Stachys, my beloved.
10 Greet Apelles, approved in Christ. Greet those who are of the household of Aristobulus.
11 Greet Herodion, my countryman.[b] Greet those who are of the household of Narcissus who are in the Lord.
12 Greet Tryphena and Tryphosa, who have labored in the Lord. Greet the beloved Persis, who labored much in the Lord. Women in the Early Church

13 Greet Rufus, chosen in the Lord, and his mother and mine.

14 Greet Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Hermes, and the brethren who are with them.

15 Greet Philologus and Julia, Nereus and his sister, and Olympas, and all the saints who are with them.

16 Greet one another with a holy kiss. The[c] churches of Christ greet you.

Avoid Divisive Persons

17 Now I urge you, brethren, note those who cause divisions and offenses, contrary to the doctrine which you learned, and avoid them.

18 For those who are such do not serve our Lord Jesus[d] Christ, but their own belly, and by smooth words and flattering speech deceive the hearts of the simple.

19 For your obedience has become known to all. Therefore I am glad on your behalf; but I want you to be wise in what is good, and simple concerning evil.

20 And the God of peace will crush Satan under your feet shortly. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.
Amen.

Greetings from Paul's Friends

21 Timothy, my fellow worker, and Lucius, Jason, and Sosipater, my countrymen, greet you.

22 I, Tertius, who wrote this epistle, greet you in the Lord.

23 Gaius, my host and the host of the whole church, greets you. Erastus, the treasurer of the city, greets you, and Quartus, a brother.

24 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all.
Amen.[e]

Benediction

25Now to Him who is able to establish you according to my gospel and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery kept secret since the world began 26but now made manifest, and by the prophetic Scriptures made known to all nations, according to the commandment of the everlasting God, for obedience to the faith—
27to God, alone wise, be glory through Jesus Christ forever. Amen.[f]

When Plans Change
Rom. 1:13

Paul's life did not always go according to plan. He intended to take the message of Christ to Rome and onward to Spain (Rom. 15:28). But this visionary scraped his plans when God opened other doors. For example, Paul made a complete reversal at Troas, obeying God's command to take the gospel west rather than east (Acts 16:6–10).

This doesn't mean that planning is pointless. It means that plans should always be made, and adapted, with specific instructions from God. No matter what human events come our way, God will show us what to do and what directions to go.

More: For more on biblical principles of planning see "Spirit-Filled Planning" at 1 Chr. 28:11–19 and "The Art of Planning" at Ps. 33:10, 11. Paul did eventually visit Rome, but no one knows for certain whether he made it to Spain. See "Roads to Rome—and Beyond" at Acts 28:28–31.

Righteousness
Rom. 1:17

It's almost impossible to discuss the gospel—or understand the Book of Romans—without grappling with the reality of righteousness (Greek: dikaiosunē). The New Testament uses some form of the word no fewer than 228 times, including about forty times in Romans.

The English word righteous is formed from the base reg, "to move in a straight line." To be righteous is to be "in the straight [or right] way." In the context of morality, the word righteous means living or acting correctly.

In an age when people assume that they have the ability and the right to determine right and wrong for themselves, Scripture presents God as the final measure of morality. His character reveals absolute goodness. He is the ultimate standard of rightness, or righteousness.

We all fall short of God's flawless standard. Only Jesus attained that perfection (Rom. 3:23; 5:18–21). The rest of us stand guilty before God. We are all "unrighteous" because we all have sinned (literally "missed the mark").

But God is restoring things to the right way. He dealt with sin through Jesus' death on the cross (5:6–11). He credits Christ's righteousness to all who trust in Him, and leads us into a restored relationship with Himself (5:1, 2). And He empowers us to please Him and fulfill His purposes (8:1–17). Rather than requiring us to live up to impossible standards, He sets us free to make our own choices, counting on Him for help along the way.

The gospel reveals God's right way. It informs us that God is full of love and mercy. He has done everything He can to bring us back from the wrong way that we have taken. Now we respond. He will equip us to live rightly, and to delight in the paths of righteousness.

The Truth About Sin

Rom. 1:24–32

Just as the Bible clearly presents God as the source and measure of everything right, it also reveals human beings as the cause of suffering and evil. We were created pure and noble but became wicked and hurtful. Our sinful condition separates us from God. It makes our thoughts futile and our hearts foolish (Rom. 1:21). Our rebellion is thorough, producing . . .

- Sexual immorality. We dishonor the bodies that God gave us, as well as the bodies of others.
- Idolatry. We turn from our Creator and exalt our own works.
- Vile passions. We cease being thoughtful servants and responsible stewards and become pleasure-seekers dominated by lust.

- Debased minds. We suppress truth, enslaving ourselves to sin and becoming incapable of doing good (1:18, 28).

Our rebellion leads to pain. And painful consequences. We readily endorse each other's wrongdoing perhaps to ease our own loneliness. But still we hurt. And we still cause hurt. And so we react further. Our rebellion is inexcusable (2:1), and every human being earns wrath and judgment (2:5; 3:10–12; Ps. 51:4). We have thrown off all restraint, and God has let us have our way (Rom. 1:26).

What a miserable existence!

The Book of Romans warns us that sin is real. It alienates us from ourselves and from our loving God, incurring the penalty of eternal death, everlasting separation from Him.

But that is not the end of the story. Jesus Christ brings the opportunity for a fresh start. He will grant peace with God, access by faith to His grace, and the joyful hope of His glory and the glory that perseverance produces (5:1–5). To demonstrate His love, Jesus came into our world and showed us how to live. We truly can see the face of God. He paid the penalty for our sins on the cross even while we were rebelling against Him (5:8). With Paul we can say, "Thanks be to God for His indescribable gift!" (2 Cor. 9:15).

More: For more on Christ's work of rescuing us see "Salvation: Past, Present, and Future" at Rom. 5:6–11 and "A Month-Long Journey with Jesus" at Matt. 1:18–2:23. Augustine was a man plagued by his own sin until he read Rom. 13:13–15. He later became one of Christianity's foremost thinkers.

The Law
Rom. 2:12

Paul's reference to "law" does not refer to rules and regulations in general but to the Law given by the Lord to Moses as part of the covenant that set Israel apart as God's people. It governed their worship, their relationship to God, and their social interactions. The Ten Commandments (Ex. 20:1–17) sum up the Law.

Israel was not the only ancient nation that possessed an extensive legal code. Such collections were in fact common. Most began with an explanation that the gods had given the king power to reign. This declaration of divine authority was often accompanied by pronouncements about how good and capable the ruler was. Then the king's laws were listed, arranged by subject. Most codes of law concluded with a series of blessings and curses (see "Deuteronomy as a Treaty" at Deut. 1:1).

What set Mosaic law apart from these other codes was, above all, its genuine divine origin. God Himself was the source of the Law. It issued from His very nature, and like Him it was holy, righteous, and good. God's heart is behind the law. This meant that all crimes in Israel were crimes against God (1 Sam. 12:9, 10). The Lord expected all people to love and serve Him because in so doing we keep from hurting people and Him (Amos 5:21–24). He disciplined violators as supreme judge (Ex. 22:21–24; Deut. 10:18; 19:17), but He also trusted the nation to carry out justice (13:6–10; 17:7; Num. 15:32–36).

God ruled as the nation's King. Ancient kings often enacted laws to fill their pockets, enhance their image, or surpass their predecessors in economic power and political influence. God instead promulgated laws to express His love for His people and to advance their best interests (Ex. 19:5, 6).

The Law can be split into three rough categories—moral, ceremonial, and civil. Civil laws regulated political leaders, the army, criminal cases, personal and family rights, property rights, and other social issues.

Ceremonial laws specified rules for public worship and ritual, giving high priority to holiness. To honor our holy God (Lev. 21:8), Israel was be holy in all religious practices.

Finally, although God gave the Law to Israel, it is for all. God's law rests on eternal moral principles consistent with His thoroughly good character. His moral laws summarize fundamental, universal standards of right and wrong, expressing the essence of what God requires of all people. We will all be judged by the righteous standard that underlies the Law.

A Faith like Abraham's

Rom. 4:1, 16–25

As the father of Israel, Abraham (see his profile at Gen. 12:1) appears prominently in the New Testament. Romans 4 focuses on him as an individual. Elsewhere he represents the entire people of God, and especially those who have placed their trust in the Lord (for example, Rom. 9:7; 11:1; Gal. 3:6–9).

Abraham's faith is what makes him so essential to New Testament writers. God made significant promises to him and his descendants, Isaac, Jacob, and Jacob's twelve sons—vows He repeated throughout Israel's history. Abraham is remembered as the man who believed that God would do what He said He would do (Rom. 4:3)—a remarkable fact when we consider that Abraham had almost no evidence that God would follow through, and certainly far less reason to believe than the New Testament writers or anyone who lives today.

Paul reveals some of the difficulties Abraham faced while choosing to rely on God. The apostle picks one of many episodes in Abraham's life that required enormous faith, pointing to his anticipation of the birth of an heir, which would fulfill God's promise that Abraham would become "a father of many nations" (Gen. 17:4; Rom. 4:18). Because Abraham and his wife Sarah were far past their childbearing years, Abraham had to see past the physical state of his own body to believe God (4:19). Abraham counted on "things which do not exist" and lived "as though they did" (4:17). He lived in hope when he had no reason to hope (4:18).

Abraham did waver, but he kept returning to trust for one reason: he was "fully convinced that what [God] had promised He was also able to perform" (4:21). When the Lord challenges us to believe seemingly impossible things, we have Abraham's example to follow. One of the Bible's most important promises is God's pledge to send a Messiah, an "Anointed One." Jesus is that Messiah. He is our ultimate example to follow. The central question of the New Testament is: Do we take Jesus at His word? We can "waver at the promise of God through unbelief," or, like Abraham, we can be "strengthened in faith, giving glory to God" (4:20), knowing that He who made the promise is faithful to us.

Rom. 4:6

David was not Israel's first king, but He was God's choice for king (1 Sam. 16:1–13). If anyone could claim to be right with God and in His favor, it was David. Even despite his flaws he was a man after God's own heart (13:14; Acts 13:22). God had promised that his heirs would sit on the throne of Israel forever (2 Sam. 7:12; 22:51). David was a direct ancestor of Jesus Christ (Matt. 1:6; Luke 3:31).

But David counted on none of these advantages to qualify him to come before God. Instead, he threw himself on God's mercy, trusting in His gracious character for forgiveness and "righteousness," or right standing in relation to God. Romans 4:7, 8 quotes Psalm 32, which celebrates the divine delivery from sin experienced by a follower of God.

None of us can rely on our own good works to secure good standing with God. None of us will ever be good enough. That is why God offers an alternative—trusting in Jesus' righteousness to cover our sin and make it possible for us to know God.

Salvation: Past, Present, and Future

Rom. 5:6–11

Salvation is a central theme of the Bible, and an apt description of the process God undertakes to fully rescue us from sin (Luke 19:10; Rom. 5:8; 1 Tim. 2:4). The Book of Romans outlines the extent of God's work, showing salvation in three parts.

- Salvation is a past accomplishment. If you have put your faith in Christ's finished work on the cross for the forgiveness of your sins, then you have been saved (past tense). Christ's atonement has made you righteous, free to stand before God without guilt or penalty for your sins. To use Paul's word, you have been "justified" (Rom. 5:1, 8, 9). Being saved from sin's penalty is a complete, one-time event. God's grace transformed you from a condemned sinner to a righteous child of God. As Paul told the Philippian jailer, if you believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, you will be saved (Acts 16:31).

- Salvation is a present process. Being saved does not prevent present or future sins. The Christians in Rome recognized this reality (Rom. 6:1, 2), as did Paul (7:15–20), who cried out to be set free from ongoing sin (7:24). Christ's atonement again is the answer (8:1–3). The Holy Spirit can give you power to overcome temptation and deal with whatever comes your way (5:3–5; 6:12–14; 8:2, 9–17). As you trust Christ on a daily basis, you are being saved (present tense). This process of being "sanctified" rescues you from sin's power, making you more and more like Christ. It is a lifelong journey in holiness (Titus 2:11–14).
- Salvation is a future hope. Christians look ahead to salvation's ultimate outcome, when you will be "glorified" with Christ (Rom. 8:17). That is, you will be saved (future tense). When you finally stand before God, you will be completely perfected —fully delivered from judgment, removed from sin's presence, restored to God's image and likeness in which you were created, and welcomed into eternal life with God. This is the eternal dimension of salvation, called the believer's hope of glory (5:2; 8:18; Eph. 1:18; Col. 1:27).

Following Christ involves all three dimensions of salvation. By faith you can celebrate having been saved from God's wrath, being now set free from sin, and later being made complete in heaven.

What Sin Does

Rom. 6:6

In the Garden of Eden, the serpent convinced Eve that God was holding back things that she would truly enjoy (Gen. 3:4, 5). But no enjoyment had been withheld.

Sin looks enjoyable and may be enjoyable for a brief time. But sin is anything but beneficial. Several New Testament passages help define sin and alert us to the devastating consequences of wrongdoing, and of failing to do rightly. As you read about each characteristic, notice a time sin has tempted or worked its way into your life:

- Sin is falling short of God's glory (Rom. 3:23). Sinful people miss out on the life that God designed for their good and His glory.
- Sin is a lawlessness that involves living selfishly rather than conforming to God's commands (1 John 3:4).
- Sin includes anything unrighteous, meaning it leads us down the wrong paths (5:17).
- Sin puts us on the wrong side of God, who loves justice, relationships, and righteousness (Rom. 1:18).
- Sin includes knowing the right thing to do and not doing it (James 4:17).
- Sin is consciously disdaining what is right and seeking what is wrong, which includes approving of the sins of others (Rom. 1:32).
- Sin is a bondage that demands obedience to its cravings (6:6, 12, 20).

Every human suffers the harm that sin brings, because "there is none righteous, no, not one" (3:10; 2 Chr. 6:36; Rom. 5:12); "all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God" (3:23).

More: To gain perspective on what God has done to save us from sin, see "Salvation: Past, Present, and Future" at Rom. 5:6–11. John Milton and Daniel Defoe both explored the concepts of sin, repentance, and redemption in their writings.

Real Freedom

Rom. 6:15–22

People will quit jobs, emigrate to new lands, and overthrow governments to gain freedom and the right to determine their own destiny. But the Holy Spirit gives a freedom even greater than these.

In actuality no one is really free. Scripture says every human being serves either God or sin. We are either slaves of righteousness or slaves of evil. And while self-rule, autonomy, and self-determination matter to us and to God, true freedom comes with a simple change of masters: being set free from slavery to sin in order to become slaves to God.

Jesus Christ is our only hope because He alone emancipates us from sin (Rom. 7:24, 25), and makes governments free to live under. His Spirit enables us to do what we cannot do on our own—to live in obedience to God's law (8:3, 4). That is true freedom.

Who You Serve

Rom. 6:16

Paul employs potent imagery when he pictures our relationship to sin as obedience to slavery. The Roman empire depended heavily on slaves to perform hard labor and menial tasks. Many of Paul's Roman readers may have been slaves; one historian estimates that up to half the population in parts of the Roman empire lived in servitude.

Slaves were seized whenever Rome conquered and subjugated other nations. Captives assigned to the empire's extensive construction projects or to its mines faced a hard lot. Fed a meager diet and worked to exhaustion, injuries and disease were common, and slaves too sick or too old to work were abandoned with little hope of surviving on their own.

Some slaves faced better conditions. Nearly every Roman home included at least two or three slaves as servants, and some had hundreds. They assisted in maintaining households and raising children. Slaves with occupational expertise were valued in the workplace, and some businesses depended entirely on slaves as a cheap source of labor.

Slavery existed long before the Romans, however. The Bible records several forms of slavery in ancient times: domestic slavery (for example, Hagar; see her profile at Gen. 16:1), state slavery (for example, the Israelites under Egypt; Ex. 5:6–19; 13:3), and temple slavery (for example, the slaves of the Levites used in the temple; Num. 31:25–47; Josh. 9:21–27).

The Bible does not directly condemn slavery as an institution, although it does contain warnings regarding its practice (Amos 1:6–9; Rev. 18:13). The Old Testament regulated Israel's treatment of slaves (Ex. 21; Deut. 15), repeatedly warning the people not to rule a fellow Israelite harshly (Lev. 25:39; Deut. 15:14). If a master injured a slave, the law set the slave free (Ex. 21:26, 27), and killing a slave was punishable by law (21:20).

The New Testament advised slaves to obey their masters (Eph. 6:5; Col. 3:22; Titus 2:9). Paul appealed to Philemon to receive back Onesimus, a runaway slave who became a Christian and therefore a brother (see the introduction to Philemon), illustrating that in Christ, social distinctions such as slave and master no longer apply (Gal. 3:28; Col. 3:11). Paul elsewhere advised Christian slaves to seek freedom if they could (1 Cor. 7:21).

Among the Romans, an owner could free a slave outright, or a slave could purchase his freedom by paying his owner. If ownership was transferred to a god, a slave could receive his freedom in return for contracting his services. He continued with his master, but now as a free man.

Paul may have had this arrangement in mind when he described the choice of which master to obey—sin or righteousness. Christians have been freed from sin but must choose to serve God. The difference is that if we don't choose to serve God, there is no other option but to return to serving sin, which had so cruelly enslaved us before.

Legalism and Lawlessness

Rom. 7:7

Every Christian encounters two perils—legalism and lawlessness. Paul addresses both in Romans 6–7.

The "Law" (see "The Law" at Rom. 2:12), as used in the Book of Romans, refers specifically to the Old Testament rules and regulations given by God to Israel. It also refers more broadly to God's moral expectations for all mankind. These standards can be perilous for believers because no human being can keep them perfectly.

Paul illustrated this fact by citing the Tenth Commandment: "You shall not covet" (7:7; Ex. 20:17). Although Paul completely agreed with this basic moral principle, when he examined his own life, he found "all manner of evil desire" (Rom. 7:8). The more Paul understood the Law, the more he became aware of his sin, and merely knowing God's expectations did not make him capable of meeting them. He found himself powerless to obey (7:19), leaving him feeling grieved and worthless (7:24).

Like Paul, Christians today may be acutely aware of God's expectations and their inability to fulfill them. This is meant to guide us to good. But sometimes feelings of guilt and condemnation push us toward legalism—being concerned more with following rules than living in a relationship with Christ.

Yet if this overemphasis on the Law is hazardous, its opposite does just as much harm. Any violation of God's law and moral expectations is lawlessness (6:19; 1 John 3:4). And as one sin leads to another, a person who does wrong becomes trapped in an endless pattern of lawlessness. In fact, Christians caught up in legalism may give up their attempts to be perfect and end up engaging in lawlessness.

Legalism and lawlessness are real dangers we face every day. There is only one way to avoid either peril: We must let Jesus produce in us the good that we cannot manufacture through our own abilities (Rom. 8:1–4). If we want to fulfill God's expectations, we must rely on His power.

Overwhelmed by Darkness

Rom. 7:13–25

The apostle Paul looked hard at his deepest, darkest inner life. What he saw was troubling: he was a slave to sin (Rom. 7:15). Nothing good lived in his flesh (7:18). All he could do is cry out in wretchedness (7:24).

It is a comfort to anyone who experiences feelings of inadequacy and failure to know that Paul, one of the most important figures of the early church, a man whose writings have had an eternal impact on countless lives over thousands of years, also experienced feelings of failure and self-loathing. Paul's dismal appraisal of his spiritual condition was a result of measuring himself against holiness, expressed in the Law (7:7). The more Paul understood what he and God wanted, the more he knew that he was utterly unable to live up to God's perfect standard.

The only answer to Paul's miserable condition—and to our own—is Jesus Christ (7:25). He makes it possible to fulfill the righteous requirements of a holy God (8:3, 4). Paul's honesty about his true state led to hope, and the same is true for us. In confession we find God's forgiveness, and the power to make the changes that need making. In admitting our weakness we find His strength. If we deny our true condition, we deceive ourselves and doom ourselves to remain enslaved to sin (1 John 1:8–10) and frustrated for life. But if we turn our bad feelings and weaknesses over to God, He will heal our hearts.

Managing Original Sin

Rom. 7:21

Many people like to believe human beings are basically good. However, while Scripture affirms the inherent dignity and worth of every individual (Ps. 139:13, 14; see also "People at Work" at Ps. 8:6), it nevertheless asserts that every individual is born "in sin" (51:5; Rom. 6:1), distant from God, naturally tending toward wrong rather than right.

Our pride would like to do away with the concept of original sin, an understandable urge given that pride is the root of sin. And the first step in confronting sin requires us to swallow our pride and humbly admit our true condition. Then we confess our sin to God and trust solely in His grace for forgiveness and acceptance (Luke 18:13).

If we want to continue building a relationship with our Savior, a humble honesty about our sin must become our way of life. Sin is so entrenched within us that we can never claim to have conquered it (1 Cor. 4:4; 10:12). We instead live with limitation, admitting that we do not have all the answers to our own problems, let alone those of the world.

More: True humility comes from seeing yourself in relation to God. See "Humility: The Scandalous Virtue" at Phil. 2:3.

Walking by the Spirit

Rom. 8:4

Paul's words about the Law being unable to produce righteousness because of the weakness of the flesh (Rom. 8:3) do not mean he had little regard for the Law. On the contrary, he eagerly sought to meet the loving expectations God revealed through Moses. Because of Christ's work on the cross, we who live and walk "according to the Spirit" (8:4) can find "the righteous requirement" of the Law fulfilled in us. We then have God's power to do rightly. That is why Paul urged believers to . . .

- Turn away from evil and cling to good (12:2, 9).
- Seek love (1 Cor. 13).
- Make the most of their liberty (Gal. 5:13–16).
- Do good toward all people (6:10).

- Live a godly lifestyle (Eph. 2:1–3; 4:1–3).
- Serve others with love and humility (Phil. 2:1–7).
- Undo sinful patterns in ourselves (Col. 3:5–11).
- Grow in contentment with what we have (1 Tim. 6:6–11).

This is life in the Spirit. It is a lifelong adventure of reclaiming what God intended for us from the beginning (Eph. 5:8–10).

Liberating Creation

Rom. 8:21, 22

Romans 8 stretches out like a cosmic canvas of the world from its pristine beginnings to the ruinous impact of sin to its ultimate restoration at the close of history. This passage is crucial for anyone who worries about environmental disaster, wishes for the end of evil, or wonders what will ultimately happen to our world.

Paul recognized that the world is both enchanting and disastrous, orderly and chaotic. The bad news is that sin is not just personal; it is global. Sin has corrupted all of creation, not only individual human beings but also our social and physical environments. Sin is infused throughout the world because sinful people create systems and cultures that protect and promote evil. Sin is so rampant and destructive that we need more than a better planet. We need an entirely new earth.

The good news is that God's salvation is universally available. His saving grace first works inside individuals, then finds its way out into every part of their lives. God's power and purposes penetrate His followers' values, worldviews, relationships, career choices, and community involvements. As God's appointed managers of the earth, His followers gain ground against evil by redirecting social systems and cultures to benefit people rather than exploit them. What begins as personal conversion results in widespread societal change as God's people impact their families, coworkers, churches, friends, neighbors, cities, nations, and natural environments.

Liberation will be partial and imperfect until Christ returns to personally redeem the world. In the meantime, all creation groans like a woman in labor as it awaits its delivery from sin. Christ calls us to participate in the events of our world and to promote His values and love at every opportunity. In doing so, we affirm both the salvation of people and the transformation of places. We participate with Him in the first skirmishes of liberation.

All Things for Good

Rom. 8:28

Romans 8:28 is often quoted. Here are two important things to keep in mind:

- All things work together for good, but not all things are good. The loss of a job, a broken relationship, physical illness, and family troubles are not good. Often they are the direct result of the evil in the world. That distinction is important as we struggle to understand God's character and the nature of good and evil. In practical terms, we are never promised immunity from the world's pains. Every day we must put up with much that is not good (John 16:33).
- Nevertheless, God brings good during bad. Bad does not become good, but good comes even when bad comes. God is the author of all that is good (James 1:17). And we can focus on contributing to that good, alongside God.

God's Heart for the Whole World

Rom. 9:1

Romans 9–11 reminds us that God's love extends to the entire human race. He does not play favorites with any one type of person. As Paul put it, God loves both Jews and Gentiles (non-Jews) alike.

Passage	Teaching
Rom. 9:24	God calls both Jews and Gentiles to experience His mercy.
Rom. 9:25	Gentiles have become children of the living God.
Rom. 9:30	Gentiles have received righteousness through their faith just as Jews have by believing in Jesus.
Rom. 10:3	Jews who seek God through the Law's requirements will never find righteousness because they do not seek it through faith. They seek to prove their own righteousness rather than God's.
Rom. 10:4	Jesus is God's righteousness to everyone who believes.
Rom. 9:33; 10:9, 11	Faith in Jesus is the key to salvation.
Rom. 10:12, 13	God makes no distinction between Jews and Gentiles when it comes to who can be saved.
Rom. 10:20, 21; 11:11	The Gentiles, who were not looking for God, found Him. But the Jews, whom God continually reached out to, did not want Him.
Rom. 11:1, 2	God has not given up on the Jews. Many have turned to God. Paul was one of them.
Rom. 11:14	The Gentiles found Christ through the witness of Jews. Paul's great desire was for all Jews to come to Christ through the witness of the Gentiles.
Rom. 11:16–24	Gentiles were grafted onto God's tree of life while Jews rejected God and were broken off. This does not call for pride or arrogance from the Gentiles, however, but for humility.
Rom. 11:19–24	Jews were cut off from God's tree because they refused to believe. If they repent, God is able to graft them in again.
Rom. 11:32	God wants to have mercy on all.

More: By the time Paul wrote Romans, Gentiles were probably a majority in the church. Paul foresaw the tragic possibility of a church divided into Jewish and Gentile factions. See "One People" at Rom. 11:13–24.

Israel
Rom. 10:1

The major shift of focus between the Old Testament and the New Testament—from the spiritual journey of Israel to the global Good News of Jesus—leaves many people wondering what became of the special relationship between God and His covenant nation. Are the Jews still God's chosen people? Are the promises God made to Abraham, Moses, David, and other Old Testament Hebrews still in effect? Or did God reject Israel when the Israelites rejected Jesus? Paul addresses these questions in Romans 9–11. The issue remains critically important because it demonstrates the trustworthiness of God's promises.

Israel's Origins

God's relationship with Israel reaches back thousands of years to the ancient Middle East, to the days when Abraham (see his profile at Gen. 12:1) became the father of the nation. Abraham had roots in Ur, an ancient Sumerian city in Mesopotamia, where he prospered before moving to the land of Canaan (12:5). There God entered into a sacred covenant with Abraham, promising to bless his descendants and make them His special people (12:1–3). Abraham was expected to remain faithful to God, and he became the channel of God's blessings to the rest of the world.

Abraham's son Isaac had two sons, Esau and Jacob. God chose Jacob for the renewal of His promise to Abraham (28:13–15). Jacob's name was changed to Israel after a dramatic struggle with God (32:24–30; 35:9–15). The meaning of the name Israel has been interpreted as "Prince with God," "He Strives with God," "Let God Rule," or "God Strives." The name was later applied to the descendants of Jacob through his twelve sons. Down through history these twelve tribes were called “Israelites,” “children of Israel,” and “house of Israel,” identifying them as Israel’s descendants.

God’s Chosen People

God’s covenant with Abraham was far more than a casual agreement. It had no end date and no limits to its reach. Another striking feature is that God is holy, all-knowing, and all-powerful, yet He consented to enter into a covenant with Abraham and his descendants—weak, sinful, and imperfect as they were.

Through this Abrahamic covenant, Israel became God’s chosen people, His “special treasure” out of all the peoples of the earth (Deut. 7:6). The special relationship between Israel and God was confirmed at Mount Sinai when the nation promised to perform “all the words which the LORD has said” (Ex. 24:3). When the people later broke their side of the agreement, their leaders called them to renew the covenant (2 Kin. 23:3).

God never breaks His promises. Throughout Israel’s history, He has always lived up to His side of the covenant, giving Paul reason to affirm that God has not cast His people aside (Rom. 11:1). God’s vow to bless the world through Abraham’s descendants (Gen. 22:16, 17) remains an everlasting covenant (17:7).

This is welcome news for both Jew and Gentile. For Jews it means that God has not abandoned His people. They remain prominent in His plans and purposes. For Gentiles it means that God is totally trustworthy. His word can be taken at face value, and we can base our lives on God’s unbreakable promises.

More: Because Israel failed to honor their covenant with God, He promised a new covenant that would accomplish what the old covenant had failed to do. See “Written on Their Hearts” at Jer. 31:31–34.

One People

Rom. 11:13–24

By the time Paul wrote his letter to the Christians in Rome, Gentiles were likely becoming the majority population throughout the church. Jews had less and less influence theologically, culturally, and politically. The pride and prejudice that had caused Jews to look down on Gentiles were coming back to haunt them as Gentile Christians turned away from their Jewish brothers.

Paul pleaded in Romans 9–11 for his Gentile readers to remember that God had not forgotten Israel. The Lord made promises to the nation that are "irrevocable" (Rom. 11:29). And as Paul pointed out, there is no room for Gentile arrogance: Gentiles were not included among God's original people. They were added later, like branches grafted onto a tree (11:17, 18). If the Jews, the "natural branches" had been able to be cut off, then the same outcome certainly remained possible for the Gentiles (11:20, 21).

Paul dreaded the possibility of the church rupturing into separate Jewish and Gentile communities. Gentiles might ignore the Jewish community altogether rather than compassionately communicating the gospel so that Jews could be saved. Here and elsewhere Paul challenged all of Jesus' followers to pursue unity with each other and charity toward all people. God's desire is clear—to have mercy on all (11:32).

Had the church wholeheartedly embraced Paul's teaching, it would not have tragically kept silent or participated in some of the great evils of the past two thousand years. We must ask, what ethnic, racial, and cultural attitudes now challenge us?

More: Paul testified that God's love and mercy extended to the whole world. See "God's Heart for the Whole World" at Rom. 9:1.

Three Invitations to Serve

Rom. 12:1, 2

Page after page of the Bible proclaims the amazing things that God has done for us. So how should we respond to these blessings—or "mercies," as Paul calls them? The only appropriate response is to give ourselves to God as living sacrifices, ready to be offered up for

His purposes however He sees fit. While Scripture outlines multiple ways we can serve God, three stand out as major mandates:

- The Great Creation Mandate concerns the universe and its intricate richness. God made the world and appointed human beings as its managers (Gen. 1:26–31; 2:15). The creation mandate calls us to join Him in developing the natural order of the earth for the benefit of all people (see "People at Work" at Ps. 8:6). Creation now suffers under a curse (Gen. 3:17–19), but God will eventually deliver it from corruption (Rom. 8:18–22). In the meantime, we are to use it responsibly for His glory.
- The Great Commandment Mandate sums up all of our relationships. We are commanded to love God with every part of our being (Deut. 6:5; Matt. 22:37, 38). Christians have even more reason to love and serve the Lord because of our exalted position as His adopted children (Rom. 8:12–17). But our love for God is empty if we neglect to love others (Matt. 22:39, 40; Rom. 13:8–10; 1 John 4:7–11).
- The Great Commission Mandate is an extension of the truth that "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son" (John 3:16). Those who believe in Christ have been charged with spreading this truth to all human beings, so that all people can recognize their sin and respond to God's gracious offer of forgiveness and new life (Matt. 28:18–20; Rom. 10:14, 15).

These three mandates recur as dominant themes throughout the Bible. They tell us that God cherishes His creation and intends it to be managed well. He wants people to love Him and love each other. And He longs for everyone to know of Christ's work of salvation. Each of these mandates is an invitation to faith and service. We have been invited to be good stewards of the earth and its resources, good neighbors toward all peoples, and good communicators of the gospel.

Seeing Ourselves Through God's Eyes

Rom. 12:3

Human beings never run out of ways to compare themselves to others. Either we look down on others and applaud our greater abilities, attractiveness, status, intelligence, or wealth—or we look down on ourselves and envy others for being more capable, more attractive, more powerful, smarter, or richer. Both are forms of idolatry.

Paul recognized that such comparisons are emotionally and spiritually deadly. He even offered an antidote—seeing ourselves not as we stack up against others and not as others evaluate us but as God sees us. The Lord's estimation of our worth is the only one that means anything. And to Him we matter more than we could ever imagine.

God never judges us according to worldly criteria. Our gender, appearance, social status, wealth, and even our level of intelligence and natural abilities are not of first importance to Him. He examines us according to entirely different criteria, as several individuals in Scripture discovered:

- God looks at our heart (1 Kin. 4:29; 1 Sam. 16:7).
- Paul realized that God's grace made him who he was (1 Cor. 15:10). Despite his past, God had transformed him into a new person (2 Cor. 5:17).
- Peter learned that God's power gave him everything he needed to pursue godliness (2 Pet. 1:3).
- Job discovered that everything he had—family, friends, possessions, health—was ultimately from God (Job 1:21).

God does not place value on the same things that the world does. He sees what's truly valuable. He looks at the heart. And He wants us to bring our self-assessments in line with how He sees us. What He sees counts more than anything.

More: Jesus told a parable that illustrates the deadly nature of comparing ourselves against others. See "Quit Comparing" at Luke 18:9–14.

Governmental Authority

Rom. 13:1–7

When Paul wrote to the church in Rome about "governing authorities," no one had to wonder what he had in mind. He was referring to the imperial government of Rome, at that time likely led by Nero. Paul argued that even Rome's harsh and corrupt system of government was established by God and therefore deserved respect and obedience from Christians.

But Rome's authority—like all human authority—was delegated authority. As Paul pointed out, God alone possesses ultimate authority. And His limits on earthly authorities raise tough questions: If governments are subordinate to God and accountable to Him for their actions, to what extent must Christians submit to them? Are there circumstances in which followers of Jesus should obey God rather than human rulers? Should the church object when a government usurps God's power and undermines His purposes?

The early church wrestled with these issues just as we wrestle with them today. Rome's government was far more tolerant of Christians around the time Paul wrote Romans 13 than it was when John penned Revelation a few decades later. Within a span of some thirty years, Christians would no longer see Rome as God's "minister . . . for good." Rome would come to be viewed as a usurper that deserved to fall. On one level the Book of Revelation is the story of Rome's collapse.

Christians throughout history have struggled to know when to obey and when to resist evil governments. There are no easy answers to guide us. But Scripture clearly affirms that . . .

- Government is a venue through which God accomplishes His purposes.
- Obedience is more than mere external compliance. Our motivation to obey must arise from an inner conviction and go beyond a fear of punishment. Submission to human authorities reflects our submission to the Lord's authority.
- Both leaders and followers are accountable to God.

Matters of Conscience

Rom. 14:1–23

One noticeable difference between Christianity and many other religions is that Christians are meant to be free of ritualistic rules. In Romans 14, Paul discusses two specific examples—special days of religious observance (Rom. 14:5–13) and regulations regarding food (14:2–4, 14–23). He offers principles that apply to all matters of conscience, those gray areas of life where Scripture leaves us without specific directions.

Issues surrounding food and religious days created problems for Christians in Rome. Those from Jewish backgrounds appreciated their heritage of strict Sabbath-keeping and were shocked when Gentile believers regarded Sabbath days as inconsequential. Those from pagan backgrounds may have encouraged the church to create counterparts to festival days they had observed in their former religions. Both kinds of holy days created tension in the church.

Religious dietary habits added to the conflict. Pagan religions sacrificed meat to idols that was subsequently sold in public markets. These tended to be choice cuts that made for good eating. But many Christians objected to consuming such meat—and sometimes meat of any kind—lest they appear to approve idolatry. Others saw no problem (14:2). People lined up on both sides of the issue, questioning each other's spirituality and arguing over which position was right (14:1).

Meat sacrificed to idols isn't a major issue for modern Christians, but disputes over other gray areas still divide us today. Paul offers several pointers for settling our disputes:

- No Christian should judge another over disputable practices (14:3, 4, 13). We may have opinions about right and wrong, but we must express them as opinions.
- People need to form their own convictions in matters of conscience (14:5, 22, 23). God has given us the intellectual ability to evaluate the gray areas of life and make our own choices when Scripture is not clear. Unexamined morality is as irresponsible as no morality.
- We are not totally free to do as we please. We must answer to the Lord for everything we do (14:7, 8, 12).
- We should avoid offending others by flaunting our liberty (14:13). By deliberately engaging in behaviors that others may find offensive, we run the risk of becoming a stumbling block to believers whose consciences are immature—who lack knowledge and confidence of their liberty in Christ (14:2;

1 Cor. 8:9–12). We might even tempt them to engage in behaviors they regard as sinful. Actions that are not inherently sinful can nevertheless produce sin if they cause others to stumble.

- We should act in love, pursuing peace between our fellow Christians and helping others to grow in faith (Rom. 14:15, 19). Even when we disagree with another believer, we should do everything we can to extend grace to that person, for whom Christ died.

Christianity is just as concerned with community and healthy relationships as it is with morality. In fact, expressing community well is a matter of morality. There are indeed matters worth fighting for. But where God is either silent or has left room for personal choice, we must practice tolerance and consider what is best for others above what is best for ourselves.

The Lord's Day

Rom. 14:5–13

In the Old Testament, God commanded His people to set aside one day each week as a "Sabbath," a holy day of rest (Ex. 20:8–11; Is. 58:13, 14; Jer. 17:19–27). Here in Romans, Paul takes a less directive position on the Sabbath. This doesn't mean that there is no such thing as a "Lord's Day," however. In fact, Paul reasons that because we are the Lord's possession, we should live every day for the Lord. If we act like Sunday belongs to Him but the other six days belong to us, we have suffered a grave misunderstanding. Every day belongs to the Lord.

Yet the question remains as to whether God's original instructions regarding a Sabbath mean that we should still observe one day of the week in a special way. According to Paul, neither tradition nor pressure from others should determine our decision. Instead, we should seek the Spirit's guidance. As we study God's inspired Word, He will help us decide what we should do.

More: For more on God's intentions regarding the Sabbath, see "Weekly Day of Rest" at Gen. 2:1–3 and "Keeping the Sabbath" at Ex. 20:8–11.

Unity and Diversity

Rom. 15:7–12

Social systems often push people to divide themselves along racial, ethnic, or cultural lines—or to abandon their distinctions, often by assimilating into a dominant societal group. Paul called for a new approach. He never asked Jews to give up their Jewish heritage and become Gentiles. Nor did he ask Gentiles to become Jews. He instead affirmed the rich backgrounds of both groups while challenging them to live together in unity.

God calls us to be Paul's type of church—a diverse body unified around Christ. Our backgrounds are God's gift to each of us and to the church. We can rejoice in the heritage He has given us and be enriched by the heritage He has given others.

Our Sister Phoebe

Rom. 16:1

Paul called Phoebe a diakonos (translated here as "servant," elsewhere as "deacon" or "minister") of the church at Cenchrea, the eastern port of Corinth. The term may imply that Phoebe held a formal position of responsibility. Paul frequently referred to himself as a diakonos and used the same term to describe other coworkers such as Apollos, Tychicus, Epaphras, and Timothy (1 Cor. 3:5; Eph. 6:21; Col. 1:7; 4:7; 1 Thess. 3:2).

What it meant to be a diakonos in the early church is not completely clear. When the word appears in first-century secular literature, it refers to a helper of any sort who was not a slave. Whatever the role entailed, Paul applauded Phoebe as a valued sister to be esteemed by Christians as his coworker.

Phoebe may have assisted Paul by taking his letter to Rome. The other terms used to describe her suggest that she was a wealthy and influential businesswoman. She may have agreed to carry the document with her on a business trip to the capital. Couriers in the ancient world served as representatives of those who sent them, so it is possible that Phoebe not only delivered the letter but also read it at gatherings of Christians and discussed its contents with them.

Junia: A Female Apostle?

Rom. 16:7

Paul sends greetings to two fellow countrymen and fellow prisoners, Andronicus and Junia. It is impossible to tell from the Greek text whether Junia was a man or a woman; the name could also be translated Junias. But in Romans 16:3 Paul greets a couple, Priscilla and Aquila, then a man, Epaenetus (Rom. 16:4) and a woman, Mary (16:5). Then he comes to Andronicus and Junia, whom he names together. Though we cannot be certain, they may have been a couple, like Priscilla and Aquila.

Paul writes that Adronicus and Junia are "of note among the apostles" (16:7), meaning either that they were apostles themselves or that the apostles esteemed them. If the former—and if Junia was a woman—this means that the early church had female apostles as well as male and that the movement was not led exclusively by men.

We do know that, right from the start, the apostles were joined by women who followed Christ. See "Extraordinarily Inclusive" at Acts 1:14.

Women in the Early Church
Rom. 16:12

As Paul traveled throughout the Mediterranean, many other Christians worked with him to spread the message of Christ. Many of these valuable associates were women, and several are listed here in Romans 16. Paul literally owed his life to some of these coworkers. In several of his letters he lists their names and expresses his gratitude to them. Here are some of the women he mentions:

- Apphia (Philem. 2)
- Euodia (Phil. 4:2, 3)
- Junia (possibly a woman; Rom. 16:7)
- Lydia (Acts 16:13–40)
- Mary of Rome (Rom. 16:6)
- Nympha (possibly a woman; see footnote at Col. 4:15)
- Persis (Rom. 16:12)
- Phoebe (16:1, 2)
- Priscilla (Acts 18:1–28; Rom. 16:3; 1 Cor. 16:19; 2 Tim. 4:19)
- Syntyche (Phil. 4:2, 3)
- Tryphena (Rom. 16:12)
- Tryphosa (16:12)

Women also played major roles in Jesus' life and work, and they helped spread the Good News to the far reaches of the Roman world. See "The Women Around Jesus" at John 19:25 and "Women and the Growth of Christianity" at Philippians 4:3.

Many people yearn for a church with the bold integrity and energetic commitment of first-century gatherings of Christ-followers. They imagine the early church as a close-knit congregation of believers who were radically devoted to each other and, despite their small number, were shaking the world's foundations with the gospel. It's an exhilarating ideal—but not one that many of the first churches lived up to over any given period of time.

The fellowship at Corinth, for example, possessed skilled leadership and sound teaching, but it struggled with the same breadth of problems churches face today. The modern church is the church as it has always been: a community of sinners saved by grace.

If we approach the two Corinthian letters with this truth in mind, they make for encouraging reading. Like the struggling Christians at Corinth, we learn that there is no instant spirituality. Discipleship is a process, a lifelong journey that requires patience and perseverance.

When our own attitudes and actions seem less than Christlike, we can take comfort in the knowledge that the Corinthians have walked this path before us. And in spite of their shortcomings, they held a special place in the hearts of those who knew them best and helped them get started in the faith.

Unlike the Book of Romans, Paul's letters to the Corinthians are highly personal. Paul knew of the difficulties his friends were facing, and he delivered the words they needed—not eloquent explorations of complex concepts but practical advice for working through everyday problems.

Paul had lived in Corinth for a year and a half (Acts 18:11), but the Christians he had taught there had now fallen into inner conflict and heresy. They divided themselves into competing factions (1 Cor. 1:10–17). They tolerated blatant immorality, ignoring an incestuous relationship in one of the church's families (5:1–13). They sued each other in court (6:1–11). They mishandled spiritual gifts (12:1–14:40). They once again needed basic teaching on the resurrection (15:1–58). Paul addressed these issues compassionately yet firmly, determined to correct the Corinthians' errors and help them gather their bearings and redirect their course.

Like many modern believers, the Corinthian Christians struggled with the temptations that are part of living in an immoral society. Corinth was a city of beauty. Stately gates at each city entrance opened onto well-maintained avenues with dozens of buildings and monuments built by the Roman emperors. City walls were lined with picturesque colonnades and residential shops. But Corinth was known not only for its architectural splendor but also for its encouragement of sin and excess. See Corinth's profile at 2 Corinthians 1:1.

The two Corinthian epistles preserved in Scripture are only part of the correspondence between Paul and the Corinthians. Paul wrote at least four letters to the church, some in response to messages sent to him. For more on this correspondence, see the introduction to 2 Corinthians.

The greetings in both 1 and 2 Corinthians identify their author as Paul the apostle, and there is no serious dispute that he wrote them. The first epistle was probably written from Ephesus (1 Cor. 16:8) around A.D. 56. The second epistle was sent from Macedonia some twelve to fifteen months later, after Paul had met with Titus and received news of the church's response to his previous correspondence (2 Cor. 2:12–17).

Key Verses in 1 Corinthians

- “Has not God made foolish the wisdom of this world?” (1 Cor. 1:20).
- “We preach Christ crucified, to the Jews a stumbling block and to the Greeks foolishness, but to those who are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God” (1 Cor. 1:23, 24).
- “All things are lawful for me, but all things are not helpful” (1 Cor. 6:12).
- “Do you not know that your body is the temple of the Holy Spirit . . . and you are not your own?” (1 Cor. 6:19).
- “I have become all things to all men, that I might by all means save some” (1 Cor. 9:22).
- “Let him who thinks he stands take heed lest he fall” (1 Cor. 10:12).
- “God is faithful, who will not allow you to be tempted beyond what you are able, but with the temptation will also make the way of escape, that you may be able to bear it” (1 Cor. 10:13).
- “And now abide faith, hope, love, these three; but the greatest of these is love” (1 Cor. 13:13).
- “O Death, where is your sting? O Hades, where is your victory?” (1 Cor. 15:55).

1 Corinthians 1

Greeting

1 Paul, called to be an apostle of Jesus Christ through the will of God, and Sosthenes our brother,

> 2 To the church of God which is at Corinth, to > those who are sanctified in Christ Jesus, called > to be saints, with all who in every place call on > the name of Jesus Christ our Lord, both theirs > and ours:
>
> 3 Grace to you and peace from God our Father > and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Spiritual Gifts at Corinth

4 I thank my God always concerning you for the grace of God which was given to you by Christ Jesus, 5 that you were enriched in everything by Him in all utterance and all knowledge, 6 even as the testimony of Christ was confirmed in you, 7 so that you come short in no gift, eagerly waiting for the revelation of our Lord Jesus Christ, 8 who will also confirm you to the end, that you may be blameless in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ.
9 God is faithful, by whom you were called into the fellowship of His Son, Jesus Christ our Lord.

Sectarianism Is Sin

10 Now I plead with you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that you all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you, but that you be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment.

11For it has been declared to me concerning you, my brethren, by those of Chloe's household, that there are contentions among you.

12Now I say this, that each of you says, "I am of Paul," or "I am of Apollos," or "I am of Cephas," or "I am of Christ."

13Is Christ divided? Was Paul crucified for you? Or were you baptized in the name of Paul?

14I thank God that I baptized none of you except Crispus and Gaius, 15lest anyone should say that I had baptized in my own name.

16Yes, I also baptized the household of Stephanas. Besides, I do not know whether I baptized any other.

17For Christ did not send me to baptize, but to preach the gospel, not with wisdom of words, lest the cross of Christ should be made of no effect.

Christ the Power and Wisdom of God

18For the message of the cross is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God. Foolishness to the Perishing

19For it is written:

> "I will destroy the wisdom of the wise,
> And bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent."[a] 20Where is the wise? Where is the scribe? Where is the disputer of this age? Has not God made foolish the wisdom of this world?

21For since, in the wisdom of God, the world through wisdom did not know God, it pleased God through the foolishness of the message preached to save those who believe.

22 For Jews request a sign, and Greeks seek after wisdom;

23 but we preach Christ crucified, to the Jews a stumbling block and to the Greeks[b] foolishness,

24 but to those who are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God.

25 Because the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.

Glory Only in the Lord

26 For you see your calling, brethren, that not many wise according to the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble, are called.

27 But God has chosen the foolish things of the world to put to shame the wise, and God has chosen the weak things of the world to put to shame the things which are mighty;

28 and the base things of the world and the things which are despised God has chosen, and the things which are not, to bring to nothing the things that are,

29 that no flesh should glory in His presence.

30 But of Him you are in Christ Jesus, who became for us wisdom from God—and righteousness and sanctification and redemption—

31 that, as it is written, "He who glories, let him glory in the LORD."[c]

1 Corinthians 2

Christ Crucified

1 And I, brethren, when I came to you, did not come with excellence of speech or of wisdom declaring to you the testimony[a] of God.
2 For I determined not to know anything among you except Jesus Christ and Him crucified.
3 I was with you in weakness, in fear, and in much trembling.
4 And my speech and my preaching were not with persuasive words of human[b] wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power, 5 that your faith should not be in the wisdom of men but in the power of God.

Spiritual Wisdom

6 However, we speak wisdom among those who are mature, yet not the wisdom of this age, nor of the rulers of this age, who are coming to nothing.
7 But we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, the hidden wisdom which God ordained before the ages for our glory,
8 which none of the rulers of this age knew; for had they known, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.
9 But as it is written:

> "Eye has not seen, nor ear heard,
> Nor have entered into the heart of man
> The things which God has prepared for those > who love Him."[c]

10 But God has revealed them to us through His Spirit. For the Spirit searches all things, yes, the deep things of God.

11 For what man knows the things of a man except the spirit of the man which is in him? Even so no one knows the things of God except the Spirit of God.

12 Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit who is from God, that we might know the things that have been freely given to us by God.

13 These things we also speak, not in words which man's wisdom teaches but which the Holy[d] Spirit teaches, comparing spiritual things with spiritual.

14 But the natural man does not receive the things of the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness to him; nor can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned.

15 But he who is spiritual judges all things, yet he himself is rightly judged by no one. Judging All Things

16 For "who has known the mind of the LORD that he may instruct Him?"[e] But we have the mind of Christ.

1 Corinthians 3

Sectarianism Is Carnal

1And I, brethren, could not speak to you as to spiritual people but as to carnal, as to babes in Christ.

2I fed you with milk and not with solid food; for until now you were not able to receive it, and even now you are still not able;

3for you are still carnal. For where there are envy, strife, and divisions among you, are you not carnal and behaving like mere men?

4For when one says, “I am of Paul,” and another, “I am of Apollos,” are you not carnal?

Watering, Working, Warning

5Who then is Paul, and who is Apollos, but ministers through whom you believed, as the Lord gave to each one?

Working Together

6I planted, Apollos watered, but God gave the increase.

7So then neither he who plants is anything, nor he who waters, but God who gives the increase.

8Now he who plants and he who waters are one, and each one will receive his own reward according to his own labor.

9For we are God’s fellow workers; you are God’s field, you are God’s building. Workplace Myths

10According to the grace of God which was given to me, as a wise master builder I have laid the foundation, and another builds on it. But let each one take heed how he builds on it.

11For no other foundation can anyone lay than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ.

12 Now if anyone builds on this foundation with gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, straw, 13 each one's work will become clear; for the Day will declare it, because it will be revealed by fire; and the fire will test each one's work, of what sort it is. The Ultimate Review 14 If anyone's work which he has built on it endures, he will receive a reward.
15 If anyone's work is burned, he will suffer loss; but he himself will be saved, yet so as through fire.
16 Do you not know that you are the temple of God and that the Spirit of God dwells in you?
17 If anyone defiles the temple of God, God will destroy him. For the temple of God is holy, which temple you are.

Avoid Worldly Wisdom

18 Let no one deceive himself. If anyone among you seems to be wise in this age, let him become a fool that he may become wise.
19 For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God.
For it is written, "He catches the wise in their own craftiness";[a] 20 and again, "The LORD knows the thoughts of the wise, that they are futile."[b] 21 Therefore let no one boast in men. For all things are yours:
22 whether Paul or Apollos or Cephas, or the world or life or death, or things present or things to come—all are yours.
23 And you are Christ's, and Christ is God's.

1 Corinthians 4

Stewards of the Mysteries of God

1 Let a man so consider us, as servants of Christ and stewards of the mysteries of God.
2 Moreover it is required in stewards that one be found faithful.
3 But with me it is a very small thing that I should be judged by you or by a human court.[a] In fact, I do not even judge myself.
4 For I know of nothing against myself, yet I am not justified by this; but He who judges me is the Lord.
5 Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord comes, who will both bring to light the hidden things of darkness and reveal the counsels of the hearts. Then each one's praise will come from God.

Fools for Christ's Sake

6 Now these things, brethren, I have figuratively transferred to myself and Apollos for your sakes, that you may learn in us not to think beyond what is written, that none of you may be puffed up on behalf of one against the other.
7 For who makes you differ from another? And what do you have that you did not receive? Now if you did indeed receive it, why do you boast as if you had not received it?
8 You are already full! You are already rich! You have reigned as kings without us—and indeed I could wish you did reign, that we also might reign with you!
9 For I think that God has displayed us, the apostles, last, as men condemned to death; for we have been made a spectacle to the world, both to angels and to men.

10 We are fools for Christ's sake, but you are wise in Christ! We are weak, but you are strong! You are distinguished, but we are dishonored!
11 To the present hour we both hunger and thirst, and we are poorly clothed, and beaten, and homeless.
12 And we labor, working with our own hands. Being reviled, we bless; being persecuted, we endure; 13 being defamed, we entreat. We have been made as the filth of the world, the offscouring of all things until now.

Paul's Paternal Care

14 I do not write these things to shame you, but as my beloved children I warn you.
15 For though you might have ten thousand instructors in Christ, yet you do not have many fathers; for in Christ Jesus
I have begotten you through the gospel.
16 Therefore I urge you, imitate me.
17 For this reason I have sent Timothy to you, who is my beloved and faithful son in the Lord, who will remind you of my ways in Christ, as I teach everywhere in every church.
18 Now some are puffed up, as though I were not coming to you.
19 But I will come to you shortly, if the Lord wills, and I will know, not the word of those who are puffed up, but the power.
20 For the kingdom of God is not in word but in power.
21 What do you want? Shall I come to you with a rod, or in love and a spirit of gentleness?

1 Corinthians 5

Immorality Defiles the Church

1It is actually reported that there is sexual immorality among you, and such sexual immorality as is not even named[a] among the Gentiles—that a man has his father's wife! Uncovering Sin

2And you are puffed up, and have not rather mourned, that he who has done this deed might be taken away from among you.

3For I indeed, as absent in body but present in spirit, have already judged (as though I were present) him who has so done this deed.

4In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, when you are gathered together, along with my spirit, with the power of our Lord Jesus Christ,

5deliver such a one to Satan for the destruction of the flesh, that his spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus.[b]

6Your glorying is not good. Do you not know that a little leaven leavens the whole lump?

7Therefore purge out the old leaven, that you may be a new lump, since you truly are unleavened. For indeed Christ, our Passover, was sacrificed for us.[c]

8Therefore let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, nor with the leaven of malice and wickedness, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.

Immorality Must Be Judged

9I wrote to you in my epistle not to keep company with sexually immoral people.

10 Yet I certainly did not mean with the sexually immoral people of this world, or with the covetous, or extortioners, or idolaters, since then you would need to go out of the world.
11 But now I have written to you not to keep company with anyone named a brother, who is sexually immoral, or covetous, or an idolater, or a reviler, or a drunkard, or an extortioner—not even to eat with such a person.
12 For what have I to do with judging those also who are outside? Do you not judge those who are inside?
13 But those who are outside God judges. Therefore "put away from yourselves the evil person."[d]

1 Corinthians 6

Do Not Sue the Brethren

1 Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unrighteous, and not before the saints?

Christians Suing Christians

2 Do you not know that the saints will judge the world?
And if the world will be judged by you, are you unworthy to judge the smallest matters?
3 Do you not know that we shall judge angels? How much more, things that pertain to this life?
4 If then you have judgments concerning things pertaining to this life, do you appoint those who are least esteemed by the church to judge?
5 I say this to your shame. Is it so, that there is not a wise man among you, not even one, who will be able to judge between his brethren?
6 But brother goes to law against brother, and that before unbelievers!
7 Now therefore, it is already an utter failure for you that you go to law against one another. Why do you not rather accept wrong? Why do you not rather let yourselves be cheated?
8 No, you yourselves do wrong and cheat, and you do these things to your brethren!
9 Do you not know that the unrighteous will not inherit the kingdom of God? Do not be deceived. Neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor homosexuals,[a] nor sodomites, 10 nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners will inherit the kingdom of God.

11 And such were some of you. But you were washed, but you were sanctified, but you were justified in the name of the Lord Jesus and by the Spirit of our God.

Glorify God in Body and Spirit

12 All things are lawful for me, but all things are not helpful. All things are lawful for me, but I will not be brought under the power of any. Managing Commitments

13 Foods for the stomach and the stomach for foods, but God will destroy both it and them. Now the body is not for sexual immorality but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.

14 And God both raised up the Lord and will also raise us up by His power.

15 Do you not know that your bodies are members of Christ? Shall I then take the members of Christ and make them members of a harlot? Certainly not!

16 Or do you not know that he who is joined to a harlot is one body with her? For “the two,” He says, “shall become one flesh.”[b]

17 But he who is joined to the Lord is one spirit with Him.

18 Flee sexual immorality. Every sin that a man does is outside the body, but he who commits sexual immorality sins against his own body.

19 Or do you not know that your body is the temple of the Holy Spirit who is in you, whom you have from God, and you are not your own?

20 For you were bought at a price; therefore glorify God in your body[c] and in your spirit, which are God’s.

1 Corinthians 7

Principles of Marriage

1 Now concerning the things of which you wrote to me: It is good for a man not to touch a woman. Questions About Marriage

2 Nevertheless, because of sexual immorality, let each man have his own wife, and let each woman have her own husband.

3 Let the husband render to his wife the affection due her, and likewise also the wife to her husband.

4 The wife does not have authority over her own body, but the husband does. And likewise the husband does not have authority over his own body, but the wife does.

5 Do not deprive one another except with consent for a time, that you may give yourselves to fasting and prayer; and come together again so that Satan does not tempt you because of your lack of self-control.

6 But I say this as a concession, not as a commandment.

7 For I wish that all men were even as I myself. But each one has his own gift from God, one in this manner and another in that.

8 But I say to the unmarried and to the widows: It is good for them if they remain even as I am;

9 but if they cannot exercise self-control, let them marry. For it is better to marry than to burn with passion.

Keep Your Marriage Vows

10 Now to the married I command, yet not I but the Lord: A wife is not to depart from her husband.

11 But even if she does depart, let her remain unmarried or be reconciled to her husband. And a husband is not to divorce his wife.

12 But to the rest I, not the Lord, say: If any brother has a wife who does not believe, and she is willing to live with him, let him not divorce her.
13 And a woman who has a husband who does not believe, if he is willing to live with her, let her not divorce him.
14 For the unbelieving husband is sanctified by the wife, and the unbelieving wife is sanctified by the husband; otherwise your children would be unclean, but now they are holy.
15 But if the unbeliever departs, let him depart; a brother or a sister is not under bondage in such cases. But God has called us to peace.
16 For how do you know, O wife, whether you will save your husband? Or how do you know, O husband, whether you will save your wife?

Live as You Are Called

17 But as God has distributed to each one, as the Lord has called each one, so let him walk. And so I ordain in all the churches. Working for God 18 Was anyone called while circumcised? Let him not become uncircumcised. Was anyone called while uncircumcised? Let him not be circumcised.
19 Circumcision is nothing and uncircumcision is nothing, but keeping the commandments of God is what matters.
20 Let each one remain in the same calling in which he was called.
21 Were you called while a slave? Do not be concerned about it; but if you can be made free, rather use it.
22 For he who is called in the Lord while a slave is the Lord's freedman. Likewise he who is called while free is Christ's slave.
23 You were bought at a price; do not become slaves of men.

24 Brethren, let each one remain with God in that state in which he was called.

To the Unmarried and Widows

25 Now concerning virgins: I have no commandment from the Lord; yet I give judgment as one whom the Lord in His mercy has made trustworthy.

26 I suppose therefore that this is good because of the present distress—that it is good for a man to remain as he is:

27 Are you bound to a wife? Do not seek to be loosed. Are you loosed from a wife? Do not seek a wife.

28 But even if you do marry, you have not sinned; and if a virgin marries, she has not sinned. Nevertheless such will have trouble in the flesh, but I would spare you.

29 But this I say, brethren, the time is short, so that from now on even those who have wives should be as though they had none,

30 those who weep as though they did not weep, those who rejoice as though they did not rejoice, those who buy as though they did not possess,

31 and those who use this world as not misusing it. For the form of this world is passing away.

32 But I want you to be without care. He who is unmarried cares for the things of the Lord—how he may please the Lord. Women and Work in the Ancient World

33 But he who is married cares about the things of the world—how he may please his wife.

34 There is[a] a difference between a wife and a virgin. The unmarried woman cares about the things of the Lord, that she may be holy both in body and in spirit. But she who is married cares about the things of the world—how she may please her husband.

35 And this I say for your own profit, not that I may put a leash on you, but for what is proper, and that you may serve the Lord without distraction.

36 But if any man thinks he is behaving improperly toward his virgin, if she is past the flower of youth, and thus it must be, let him do what he wishes. He does not sin; let them marry.

37 Nevertheless he who stands steadfast in his heart, having no necessity, but has power over his own will, and has so determined in his heart that he will keep his virgin,[b] does well.

38 So then he who gives her[c] in marriage does well, but he who does not give her in marriage does better.

39 A wife is bound by law as long as her husband lives; but if her husband dies, she is at liberty to be married to whom she wishes, only in the Lord.

40 But she is happier if she remains as she is, according to my judgment—and I think I also have the Spirit of God.

1 Corinthians 8

Be Sensitive to Conscience

1 Now concerning things offered to idols: We know that we all have knowledge. Knowledge puffs up, but love edifies.

Gray Areas

2 And if anyone thinks that he knows anything, he knows nothing yet as he ought to know.
3 But if anyone loves God, this one is known by Him.
4 Therefore concerning the eating of things offered to idols, we know that an idol is nothing in the world, and that there is no other God but one.
5 For even if there are so-called gods, whether in heaven or on earth (as there are many gods and many lords), 6 yet for us there is one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we for Him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, through whom are all things, and through whom we live.
7 However, there is not in everyone that knowledge; for some, with consciousness of the idol, until now eat it as a thing offered to an idol; and their conscience, being weak, is defiled.
8 But food does not commend us to God; for neither if we eat are we the better, nor if we do not eat are we the worse.
9 But beware lest somehow this liberty of yours become a stumbling block to those who are weak.
10 For if anyone sees you who have knowledge eating in an idol's temple, will not the conscience of him who is weak be emboldened to eat those things offered to idols?
11 And because of your knowledge shall the weak brother perish, for whom Christ died?

12 But when you thus sin against the brethren, and wound their weak conscience, you sin against Christ.
13 Therefore, if food makes my brother stumble, I will never again eat meat, lest I make my brother stumble.

1 Corinthians 9

A Pattern of Self-Denial

1 Am I not an apostle? Am I not free? Have I not seen Jesus Christ our Lord? Are you not my work in the Lord? Professional Christian Workers 2 If I am not an apostle to others, yet doubtless I am to you. For you are the seal of my apostleship in the Lord.
3 My defense to those who examine me is this:
4 Do we have no right to eat and drink?
5 Do we have no right to take along a believing wife, as do also the other apostles, the brothers of the Lord, and Cephas?
6 Or is it only Barnabas and I who have no right to refrain from working?
7 Who ever goes to war at his own expense? Who plants a vineyard and does not eat of its fruit? Or who tends a flock and does not drink of the milk of the flock?
8 Do I say these things as a mere man? Or does not the law say the same also?
9 For it is written in the law of Moses, "You shall not muzzle an ox while it treads out the grain."[a] Is it oxen God is concerned about?
10 Or does He say it altogether for our sakes? For our sakes, no doubt, this is written, that he who plows should plow in hope, and he who threshes in hope should be partaker of his hope.
11 If we have sown spiritual things for you, is it a great thing if we reap your material things?
12 If others are partakers of this right over you, are we not even more? Nevertheless we have not used this right, but endure all things lest we hinder the gospel of Christ.

13 Do you not know that those who minister the holy things eat of the things of the temple, and those who serve at the altar partake of the offerings of the altar?
14 Even so the Lord has commanded that those who preach the gospel should live from the gospel.
15 But I have used none of these things, nor have I written these things that it should be done so to me; for it would be better for me to die than that anyone should make my boasting void.
16 For if I preach the gospel, I have nothing to boast of, for necessity is laid upon me; yes, woe is me if I do not preach the gospel!
17 For if I do this willingly, I have a reward; but if against my will, I have been entrusted with a stewardship.
18 What is my reward then? That when I preach the gospel, I may present the gospel of Christ[b] without charge, that I may not abuse my authority in the gospel.

Serving All Men

19 For though I am free from all men, I have made myself a servant to all, that I might win the more;
20 and to the Jews I became as a Jew, that I might win Jews; to those who are under the law, as under the law,[c] that I might win those who are under the law; 21 to those who are without law, as without law (not being without law toward God,[d] but under law toward Christ[e]), that I might win those who are without law; 22 to the weak I became as[f] weak, that I might win the weak. I have become all things to all men, that I might by all means save some.
23 Now this I do for the gospel's sake, that I may be partaker of it with you.

Striving for a Crown

24Do you not know that those who run in a race all run, but one receives the prize? Run in such a way that you may obtain it.
25And everyone who competes for the prize is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a perishable crown, but we for an imperishable crown.
26Therefore I run thus: not with uncertainty. Thus I fight:
not as one who beats the air.
27But I discipline my body and bring it into subjection, lest, when I have preached to others, I myself should become disqualified.

1 Corinthians 10

Old Testament Examples

1 Moreover, brethren, I do not want you to be unaware that all our fathers were under the cloud, all passed through the sea,
2 all were baptized into Moses in the cloud and in the sea,
3 all ate the same spiritual food, 4 and all drank the same spiritual drink. For they drank of that spiritual Rock that followed them, and that Rock was Christ.
5 But with most of them God was not well pleased, for their bodies were scattered in the wilderness.
6 Now these things became our examples, to the intent that we should not lust after evil things as they also lusted.
7 And do not become idolaters as were some of them. As it is written, "The people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play."[a] 8 Nor let us commit sexual immorality, as some of them did, and in one day twenty-three thousand fell; 9 nor let us tempt Christ, as some of them also tempted, and were destroyed by serpents; 10 nor complain, as some of them also complained, and were destroyed by the destroyer.
11 Now all[b] these things happened to them as examples, and they were written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the ages have come.
12 Therefore let him who thinks he stands take heed lest he fall. Escaping Temptation 13 No temptation has overtaken you except such as is common to man; but God is faithful, who will not allow you to be tempted beyond what you are able, but with the temptation will also make the way of escape, that you may be able to bear it.

Flee from Idolatry

14Therefore, my beloved, flee from idolatry.

15I speak as to wise men; judge for yourselves what I say.

16The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?

17For we, though many, are one bread and one body; for we all partake of that one bread.

18Observe Israel after the flesh: Are not those who eat of the sacrifices partakers of the altar?

19What am I saying then? That an idol is anything, or what is offered to idols is anything?

20Rather, that the things which the Gentiles sacrifice they sacrifice to demons and not to God, and I do not want you to have fellowship with demons.

21You cannot drink the cup of the Lord and the cup of demons; you cannot partake of the Lord's table and of the table of demons.

22Or do we provoke the Lord to jealousy? Are we stronger than He?

All to the Glory of God

23All things are lawful for me,[c] but not all things are helpful; all things are lawful for me,[d] but not all things edify.

24Let no one seek his own, but each one the other's well-being.

25Eat whatever is sold in the meat market, asking no questions for conscience' sake;

26for "the earth is the LORD's, and all its fullness."[e]

27 If any of those who do not believe invites you to dinner, and you desire to go, eat whatever is set before you, asking no question for conscience' sake.

28 But if anyone says to you, "This was offered to idols," do not eat it for the sake of the one who told you, and for conscience' sake;[f] for "the earth is the LORD's, and all its fullness."[g]

29 "Conscience," I say, not your own, but that of the other. For why is my liberty judged by another man's conscience?

30 But if I partake with thanks, why am I evil spoken of for the food over which I give thanks?

31 Therefore, whether you eat or drink, or whatever you do, do all to the glory of God.

32 Give no offense, either to the Jews or to the Greeks or to the church of God, 33 just as I also please all men in all things, not seeking my own profit, but the profit of many, that they may be saved.

1 Corinthians 11

1Imitate me, just as I also imitate Christ.

Head Coverings

2Now I praise you, brethren, that you remember me in all things and keep the traditions just as I delivered them to you. Head Coverings

3But I want you to know that the head of every man is Christ, the head of woman is man, and the head of Christ is God. Headship

4Every man praying or prophesying, having his head covered, dishonors his head.

5But every woman who prays or prophesies with her head uncovered dishonors her head, for that is one and the same as if her head were shaved.

6For if a woman is not covered, let her also be shorn. But if it is shameful for a woman to be shorn or shaved, let her be covered.

7For a man indeed ought not to cover his head, since he is the image and glory of God; but woman is the glory of man.

8For man is not from woman, but woman from man.

9Nor was man created for the woman, but woman for the man.

10For this reason the woman ought to have a symbol of authority on her head, because of the angels.

11Nevertheless, neither is man independent of woman, nor woman independent of man, in the Lord.

12For as woman came from man, even so man also comes through woman; but all things are from God.

13 Judge among yourselves. Is it proper for a woman to pray to God with her head uncovered?
14 Does not even nature itself teach you that if a man has long hair, it is a dishonor to him?
15 But if a woman has long hair, it is a glory to her; for her hair is given to her[a] for a covering.
16 But if anyone seems to be contentious, we have no such custom, nor do the churches of God.

Conduct at the Lord's Supper

17 Now in giving these instructions I do not praise you, since you come together not for the better but for the worse.
18 For first of all, when you come together as a church, I hear that there are divisions among you, and in part I believe it.
19 For there must also be factions among you, that those who are approved may be recognized among you.
20 Therefore when you come together in one place, it is not to eat the Lord's Supper.
21 For in eating, each one takes his own supper ahead of others; and one is hungry and another is drunk.
22 What! Do you not have houses to eat and drink in? Or do you despise the church of God and shame those who have nothing? What shall I say to you? Shall I praise you in this? I do not praise you.

Institution of the Lord's Supper

23 For I received from the Lord that which I also delivered to you: that the Lord Jesus on the same night in which He was betrayed took bread;
24 and when He had given thanks, He broke it and said,
"Take, eat;[b] this is My body which is broken[c] for you; do this in remembrance of Me.”

25 In the same manner He also took the cup after supper, saying, “This cup is the new covenant in My blood. This do, as often as you drink it, in remembrance of Me.”

26 For as often as you eat this bread and drink this cup, you proclaim the Lord’s death till He comes.

Examine Yourself

27 Therefore whoever eats this bread or drinks this cup of the Lord in an unworthy manner will be guilty of the body and blood[d] of the Lord.

28 But let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of the bread and drink of the cup.

29 For he who eats and drinks in an unworthy manner[e] eats and drinks judgment to himself, not discerning the Lord’s[f] body.

30 For this reason many are weak and sick among you, and many sleep.

31 For if we would judge ourselves, we would not be judged.

32 But when we are judged, we are chastened by the Lord, that we may not be condemned with the world.

33 Therefore, my brethren, when you come together to eat, wait for one another.

34 But if anyone is hungry, let him eat at home, lest you come together for judgment. And the rest I will set in order when I come.

1 Corinthians 12

Spiritual Gifts: Unity in Diversity

1 Now concerning spiritual gifts, brethren, I do not want you to be ignorant:
2 You know that[a] you were Gentiles, carried away to these dumb idols, however you were led.
3 Therefore I make known to you that no one speaking by the Spirit of God calls Jesus accursed, and no one can say that Jesus is Lord except by the Holy Spirit.
4 There are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit.
5 There are differences of ministries, but the same Lord.
6 And there are diversities of activities, but it is the same
God who works all in all.
7 But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to each one for the profit of all:
8 for to one is given the word of wisdom through the Spirit, to another the word of knowledge through the same Spirit, 9 to another faith by the same Spirit, to another gifts of healings by the same[b] Spirit, 10 to another the working of miracles, to another prophecy, to another discerning of spirits, to another different kinds of tongues, to another the interpretation of tongues.
11 But one and the same Spirit works all these things, distributing to each one individually as He wills.

Unity and Diversity in One Body

12 For as the body is one and has many members, but all the members of that one body, being many, are one body, so also is Christ.

13For by one Spirit we were all baptized into one body—whether Jews or Greeks, whether slaves or free—and have all been made to drink into[c] one Spirit.
14For in fact the body is not one member but many.
15If the foot should say, “Because I am not a hand, I am not of the body,” is it therefore not of the body?
16And if the ear should say, “Because I am not an eye, I am not of the body,” is it therefore not of the body?
17If the whole body were an eye, where would be the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where would be the smelling?
18But now God has set the members, each one of them, in the body just as He pleased.
19And if they were all one member, where would the body be?
20But now indeed there are many members, yet one body.
21And the eye cannot say to the hand, “I have no need of you”; nor again the head to the feet, “I have no need of you.”
22No, much rather, those members of the body which seem to be weaker are necessary.
23And those members of the body which we think to be less honorable, on these we bestow greater honor; and our unpresentable parts have greater modesty, 24but our presentable parts have no need. But God composed the body, having given greater honor to that part which lacks it, 25that there should be no schism in the body, but that the members should have the same care for one another.
26And if one member suffers, all the members suffer with it; or if one member is honored, all the members rejoice with it.
27Now you are the body of Christ, and members individually.

28 And God has appointed these in the church: first apostles, second prophets, third teachers, after that miracles, then gifts of healings, helps, administrations, varieties of tongues. The Gift of Loving Well

29 Are all apostles? Are all prophets? Are all teachers? Are all workers of miracles?

30 Do all have gifts of healings? Do all speak with tongues? Do all interpret?

31 But earnestly desire the best[d] gifts. And yet I show you a more excellent way.

1 Corinthians 13

The Greatest Gift

1 Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I have become sounding brass or a clanging cymbal. A Lifestyle of Love

2 And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries and all knowledge, and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, but have not love, I am nothing.

3 And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned,[a] but have not love, it profits me nothing.

4 Love suffers long and is kind; love does not envy; love does not parade itself, is not puffed up;

5 does not behave rudely, does not seek its own, is not provoked, thinks no evil;

6 does not rejoice in iniquity, but rejoices in the truth;

7 bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things.

8 Love never fails. But whether there are prophecies, they will fail; whether there are tongues, they will cease;
whether there is knowledge, it will vanish away.

9 For we know in part and we prophesy in part.

10 But when that which is perfect has come, then that which is in part will be done away.

11 When I was a child, I spoke as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child; but when I became a man, I put away childish things.

12 For now we see in a mirror, dimly, but then face to face.
Now I know in part, but then I shall know just as I also am known.

13 And now abide faith, hope, love, these three; but the greatest of these is love.

1 Corinthians 14

Prophecy and Tongues

1 Pursue love, and desire spiritual gifts, but especially that you may prophesy.
2 For he who speaks in a tongue does not speak to men but to God, for no one understands him; however, in the spirit he speaks mysteries.
3 But he who prophesies speaks edification and exhortation and comfort to men.
4 He who speaks in a tongue edifies himself, but he who prophesies edifies the church.
5 I wish you all spoke with tongues, but even more that you prophesied; for[a] he who prophesies is greater than he who speaks with tongues, unless indeed he interprets, that the church may receive edification.

Tongues Must Be Interpreted

6 But now, brethren, if I come to you speaking with tongues, what shall I profit you unless I speak to you either by revelation, by knowledge, by prophesying, or by teaching?
7 Even things without life, whether flute or harp, when they make a sound, unless they make a distinction in the sounds, how will it be known what is piped or played?
8 For if the trumpet makes an uncertain sound, who will prepare for battle?
9 So likewise you, unless you utter by the tongue words easy to understand, how will it be known what is spoken?
For you will be speaking into the air.
10 There are, it may be, so many kinds of languages in the world, and none of them is without significance.

11 Therefore, if I do not know the meaning of the language, I shall be a foreigner to him who speaks, and he who speaks will be a foreigner to me.
12 Even so you, since you are zealous for spiritual gifts, let it be for the edification of the church that you seek to excel.
13 Therefore let him who speaks in a tongue pray that he may interpret.
14 For if I pray in a tongue, my spirit prays, but my understanding is unfruitful.
15 What is the conclusion then? I will pray with the spirit, and I will also pray with the understanding. I will sing with the spirit, and I will also sing with the understanding.
16 Otherwise, if you bless with the spirit, how will he who occupies the place of the uninformed say "Amen" at your giving of thanks, since he does not understand what you say?
17 For you indeed give thanks well, but the other is not edified.
18 I thank my God I speak with tongues more than you all; 19 yet in the church I would rather speak five words with my understanding, that I may teach others also, than ten thousand words in a tongue.

Tongues a Sign to Unbelievers

20 Brethren, do not be children in understanding; however, in malice be babes, but in understanding be mature.
21 In the law it is written:

> "With men of other tongues and other lips
> I will speak to this people;
> And yet, for all that, they will not hear Me,"[b] says the Lord.

22 Therefore tongues are for a sign, not to those who believe but to unbelievers; but prophesying is not for unbelievers but for those who believe.
23 Therefore if the whole church comes together in one place, and all speak with tongues, and there come in those who are uninformed or unbelievers, will they not say that you are out of your mind?
24 But if all prophesy, and an unbeliever or an uninformed person comes in, he is convinced by all, he is convicted by all.
25 And thus[c] the secrets of his heart are revealed; and so, falling down on his face, he will worship God and report that God is truly among you.

Order in Church Meetings

26 How is it then, brethren? Whenever you come together, each of you has a psalm, has a teaching, has a tongue, has a revelation, has an interpretation. Let all things be done for edification.
27 If anyone speaks in a tongue, let there be two or at the most three, each in turn, and let one interpret.
28 But if there is no interpreter, let him keep silent in church, and let him speak to himself and to God.
29 Let two or three prophets speak, and let the others judge.
30 But if anything is revealed to another who sits by, let the first keep silent.
31 For you can all prophesy one by one, that all may learn and all may be encouraged.
32 And the spirits of the prophets are subject to the prophets.
33 For God is not the author of confusion but of peace, as in all the churches of the saints.

34 Let your[d] women keep silent in the churches, for they are not permitted to speak; but they are to be submissive, as the law also says. Women: Silent in the Church?
35 And if they want to learn something, let them ask their own husbands at home; for it is shameful for women to speak in church.
36 Or did the word of God come originally from you? Or was it you only that it reached?
37 If anyone thinks himself to be a prophet or spiritual, let him acknowledge that the things which I write to you are the commandments of the Lord.
38 But if anyone is ignorant, let him be ignorant.[e] 39 Therefore, brethren, desire earnestly to prophesy, and do not forbid to speak with tongues.
40 Let all things be done decently and in order.

1 Corinthians 15

The Risen Christ, Faith's Reality

1 Moreover, brethren, I declare to you the gospel which I preached to you, which also you received and in which you stand,
2 by which also you are saved, if you hold fast that word which I preached to you—unless you believed in vain.
3 For I delivered to you first of all that which I also received: that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures,
4 and that He was buried, and that He rose again the third day according to the Scriptures,
5 and that He was seen by Cephas, then by the twelve.
6 After that He was seen by over five hundred brethren at once, of whom the greater part remain to the present, but some have fallen asleep.
7 After that He was seen by James, then by all the apostles.
8 Then last of all He was seen by me also, as by one born out of due time.
9 For I am the least of the apostles, who am not worthy to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the church of God.
10 But by the grace of God I am what I am, and His grace toward me was not in vain; but I labored more abundantly than they all, yet not I, but the grace of God which was with me.
11 Therefore, whether it was I or they, so we preach and so you believed.

The Risen Christ, Our Hope

12Now if Christ is preached that He has been raised from the dead, how do some among you say that there is no resurrection of the dead?

13But if there is no resurrection of the dead, then Christ is not risen.

14And if Christ is not risen, then our preaching is empty and your faith is also empty.

15Yes, and we are found false witnesses of God, because we have testified of God that He raised up Christ, whom He did not raise up—if in fact the dead do not rise.

16For if the dead do not rise, then Christ is not risen.

17And if Christ is not risen, your faith is futile; you are still in your sins!

18Then also those who have fallen asleep in Christ have perished.

19If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men the most pitiable.

The Last Enemy Destroyed

20But now Christ is risen from the dead, and has become the firstfruits of those who have fallen asleep.

21For since by man came death, by Man also came the resurrection of the dead.

22For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ all shall be made alive.

23But each one in his own order: Christ the firstfruits, afterward those who are Christ's at His coming.

24Then comes the end, when He delivers the kingdom to God the Father, when He puts an end to all rule and all authority and power. The End of Authority

25For He must reign till He has put all enemies under His feet.

26The last enemy that will be destroyed is death.

27For “He has put all things under His feet.”[a] But when He says “all things are put under Him,” it is evident that He who put all things under Him is excepted.
28Now when all things are made subject to Him, then the Son Himself will also be subject to Him who put all things under Him, that God may be all in all.

Effects of Denying the Resurrection

29Otherwise, what will they do who are baptized for the dead, if the dead do not rise at all? Why then are they baptized for the dead?
30And why do we stand in jeopardy every hour?
31I affirm, by the boasting in you which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, I die daily.
32If, in the manner of men, I have fought with beasts at Ephesus, what advantage is it to me? If the dead do not rise, “Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die!”[b]
33Do not be deceived: “Evil company corrupts good habits.”
34Awake to righteousness, and do not sin; for some do not have the knowledge of God. I speak this to your shame.

A Glorious Body

35But someone will say, “How are the dead raised up? And with what body do they come?”
36Foolish one, what you sow is not made alive unless it dies.
37And what you sow, you do not sow that body that shall be, but mere grain—perhaps wheat or some other grain.
38But God gives it a body as He pleases, and to each seed its own body.
39All flesh is not the same flesh, but there is one kind of flesh[c] of men, another flesh of animals, another of fish, and another of birds.

40 There are also celestial bodies and terrestrial bodies; but the glory of the celestial is one, and the glory of the terrestrial is another.

41 There is one glory of the sun, another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars; for one star differs from another star in glory.

42 So also is the resurrection of the dead. The body is sown in corruption, it is raised in incorruption.

43 It is sown in dishonor, it is raised in glory. It is sown in weakness, it is raised in power.

44 It is sown a natural body, it is raised a spiritual body.
There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body.

45 And so it is written, "The first man Adam became a living being."[d] The last Adam became a life-giving spirit.

46 However, the spiritual is not first, but the natural, and afterward the spiritual.

47 The first man was of the earth, made of dust; the second Man is the Lord[e] from heaven.

48 As was the man of dust, so also are those who are made of dust; and as is the heavenly Man, so also are those who are heavenly.

49 And as we have borne the image of the man of dust, we shall also bear[f] the image of the heavenly Man.

Our Final Victory

50 Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; nor does corruption inherit incorruption.

51 Behold, I tell you a mystery: We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed—

52 in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, and the dead will be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed.

53 For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality.
54 So when this corruptible has put on incorruption, and this mortal has put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written: "Death is swallowed up in victory."[g]

> 55 "O Death, where is your sting?[h] > O Hades, where is your victory?"[i]

56 The sting of death is sin, and the strength of sin is the law.
57 But thanks be to God, who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.
58 Therefore, my beloved brethren, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that your labor is not in vain in the Lord.

1 Corinthians 16

Collection for the Saints

1 Now concerning the collection for the saints, as I have given orders to the churches of Galatia, so you must do also:
2 On the first day of the week let each one of you lay something aside, storing up as he may prosper, that there be no collections when I come.
3 And when I come, whomever you approve by your letters I will send to bear your gift to Jerusalem.
4 But if it is fitting that I go also, they will go with me.

Personal Plans

5 Now I will come to you when I pass through Macedonia (for I am passing through Macedonia).
6 And it may be that I will remain, or even spend the winter with you, that you may send me on my journey, wherever I go.
7 For I do not wish to see you now on the way; but I hope to stay a while with you, if the Lord permits.
8 But I will tarry in Ephesus until Pentecost.
9 For a great and effective door has opened to me, and there are many adversaries. Once an Enemy, Now a Friend 10 And if Timothy comes, see that he may be with you without fear; for he does the work of the Lord, as I also do.
11 Therefore let no one despise him. But send him on his journey in peace, that he may come to me; for I am waiting for him with the brethren.
12 Now concerning our brother Apollos, I strongly urged him to come to you with the brethren, but he was quite unwilling to come at this time; however, he will come when he has a convenient time.

Final Exhortations

13Watch, stand fast in the faith, be brave, be strong.

14Let all that you do be done with love.

15I urge you, brethren—you know the household of Stephanas, that it is the firstfruits of Achaia, and that they have devoted themselves to the ministry of the saints—

16that you also submit to such, and to everyone who works and labors with us.

17I am glad about the coming of Stephanas, Fortunatus, and Achaicus, for what was lacking on your part they supplied.

18For they refreshed my spirit and yours. Therefore acknowledge such men.

Greetings and a Solemn Farewell

19The churches of Asia greet you. Aquila and Priscilla greet you heartily in the Lord, with the church that is in their house.

20All the brethren greet you. Greet one another with a holy kiss.

21The salutation with my own hand—Paul's.

22If anyone does not love the Lord Jesus Christ, let him be accursed.[a] O Lord, come![b]

23The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

24My love be with you all in Christ Jesus. Amen.

Foolishness to the Perishing
1 Cor. 1:18

Paul recognized that to most people the gospel seems foolish. In settings like business, government, and higher education, the message of Christ can at times seem completely out of place. The moment we attempt to introduce it as relevant, we face stares of incredulity if not disgust. The irony is that the gospel is not only relevant to any situation—it is the most important part of every situation. And it is to those who need the gospel the most that it seems the most foolish. But only the Holy Spirit can open people's eyes to the truth. We must communicate the Christian message as persuasively and persistently as we can while relying on the Spirit to work in us and everyone around us.

More: Both non-Christians and Christians feel uncomfortable with evangelism. But the Holy Spirit makes all the difference. See "Whose Job Is Evangelism?" at John 16:8.

Judging All Things
1 Cor. 2:15

Paul's claim that Christians will judge all things sounds arrogant, as if he were urging us to police the morality of everything and everyone. But Paul was making a more nuanced point. He was challenging spiritually immature Christians in Corinth to grow up by using spiritual discernment to examine the world around them. He identifies three categories of people:

- natural (1 Cor. 2:14)—those without Christ, still living in the lost condition in which they were born;

- spiritual (2:15)—Christians in whom the Spirit of God is producing growth; and
- carnal (3:1)—Christians who remain immature in the faith because they don't allow the Spirit to work in their lives.

Spiritual people "judge" in the sense of examining and investigating the spiritual value of beliefs, attitudes, and actions. Evaluation is another word for this process. This is a task not just for individuals but for groups. Christians in various occupations, for example, need to band together to explore how their faith applies to their jobs. By analyzing work in light of Scripture, we can detect points of concern and determine how to solve them in a Christlike way. We can take this a step further by listening to the voices of Christians in other times, places, and cultures.

This type of judgment has nothing to do with condemning others but everything to do with recognizing and doing what God wants, when he wants, and how he wants. Rather than giving us an occasion for pride, our responsibility to judge should lead us to fresh humility, because God will be the final judge of everything we do (2 Cor. 5:10).

Working Together

1 Cor. 3:5–8

Starting the church at Corinth was not a one-person job. The task required the joint efforts of Apollos, Paul, and others, not to mention God. The Lord desires us to work through cooperation rather than seeking our own personal agendas.

That principle applies to every part of life. Getting individual credit for success may feel good temporarily, but collaborative efforts almost always result in achievements far greater than what people can accomplish in isolation. The variety of skills, fresh insights, and collective energy of a group has enormous potential, but we will miss out on those powerful contributions if we make it our goal to promote ourselves alone.

More: Apollos was a gifted orator, but he learned much of his theology from a couple who mentored him. See Apollos's profile at Acts 18:24–28.

Workplace Myths
1 Cor. 3:9

Paul called himself one of God's "fellow workers," and each of us is a coworker with God (see "People at Work" at Ps. 8:6). But distorted views of work dominate modern culture. These ideas damage people and Christ's message.

Myth: Only church and missionary work has spiritual value. Some people believe that everyday work in the "secular" world has no lasting value and that only "sacred" work matters to God.

Truth: Christianity makes no distinction between the "sacred" and the "secular." We live all of life under Christ's lordship. He sees all work as valuable, and we will each answer to Him for how we have carried out the tasks He gave us (1 Cor. 3:13).

Myth: Pastors, missionaries, and Christian leaders are heroes, and laypeople barely matter. It follows that if only "sacred" work has eternal value, then "sacred" workers outclass everyone else. The best that non-clergy can do is to support religious professionals and engage in ministry in their spare time.

Truth: God delegates His work to everyone. The Bible's main characters are ranchers, farmers, fishermen, winemakers, ironworkers, carpenters, tentmakers, textile manufacturers, government officials, construction workers and supervisors, military personnel, financiers, physicians, judges, tax collectors, musicians, sculptors, dancers, poets, writers, and more. Nowhere does God diminish their worth or dismiss their work. Their labors accomplish His purposes and reflect His image (see "God: The Original Worker" at John 5:17).

Myth: Work is a part of the Curse. Some people maintain that God punished Adam and Eve for their sin by forcing them to work: "In the sweat of your face you shall eat bread till you return to the ground" (Gen. 3:19). This punishment supposedly explains why work feels like an endless slog and why workplaces are driven by greed and selfishness.

Truth: Work is a gift from God. Work is one of God's best gifts (Eccl. 3:13; 5:18, 19). While work did become more toilsome after the Fall (see "Work Itself Is a Gift from God" at Gen. 3:17–19), God gave work to Adam and Eve long before they sinned (2:15), and the Bible shows that God still praised and commanded work long afterward (9:1–7; Col. 3:23; I Thess. 4:11). From this we can safely say that He continues to treat work as a gift today.

Myth: God is no longer involved in His creation. Many modern believers think God is irrelevant to the workplace. And because He doesn't care about their work, they don't care much about His.

Truth: God remains intimately connected with both His world and its workers. Nowhere in Scripture does God behave like a detached Creator. He holds creation together (Col. 1:16, 17) and works to restore it from sin (John 5:17; Rom. 8:18–25). And He uses people's efforts to accomplish His purposes. Christians serve Christ as their ultimate boss (see "The Lord's Employees" at Col. 3:22–24), and He actively watches over their work (see "Your Workstyle" at Titus 2:9–11).

Myth: The here and now is all that matters. Some people say heaven is a make-believe world of gold-paved streets and never-ending choir music. We should live to the fullest while we can.

Truth: God saves the best rewards for eternity. Scripture offers few details about life after death, but it does promise a future society remade by God, and in this society, work goes on—without the sweat, toil, pain, or futility of the Curse (Is. 65:17–25; Rev. 22:2–5). God rewards His people according to how they have spent their lives, including working hours (1 Cor. 3:9–15).

Myth: Friday is the most important day of the week. The secular work ethic cries, "Thank God it's Friday!" Because work doesn't really matter, weekends are for catching up on real life—and escaping the drudgery of meaningless work.

Truth: God wants us to pursue cycles of meaningful work and restorative rest. God never intended for us to work seven days a week, but every day of the week is equally important to Him. He invites us to join Him in a weekly day of rest, renewal, and celebration—so that we can return to work with a fresh sense of purpose, thanking Him for Monday.

The Ultimate Review

1 Cor. 3:13–15

Over the centuries, people have laughed at, satirized, and mocked the idea of standing before God and having one's life examined. But there is no joke in Paul's description of a day of accountability. Everyone who follows Jesus will appear before God as He evaluates how we spent our lives, a judgment that will not determine our salvation but our reward or loss.

Paul makes his point through the image of metal being purified in a refining fire. The flames burn away the worthless impurities, leaving only what is precious behind. Based on the values laid out in Scripture, we can imagine some of what constitutes "gold, silver, precious stones": acts of charity and kindness; ethical decision-making; pursuing justice and fair play; keeping our word; exuding courage and perseverance in the face of opposition and persecution; humility; communicating Christ's message to others; loving well our spouse and children; working hard wherever God puts us; trusting God to keep His promises. When the flames die down, whatever is left will meet with God's approval.

We can likewise envision what sorts of "wood, hay, straw" will burn up: lies we have told; abusive acts; manipulative behavior; thefts we have committed; selfishness of every kind; squandering our income on trivial luxuries; ignoring the poor and disadvantaged; damaging the environment; perpetuating systems that lock ourselves into positions of power and lock others out; arrogant self-sufficiency; lack of faith.

It is well worth it to ask ourselves: When the smoke clears, what will be left?

Uncovering Sin
1 Cor. 5:1–13

Evil doesn't go away just because it is ignored, or covered up; like yeast, evil does its work from within (1 Cor. 5:6–8). And Christians who consistently disobey God's clear commands infect others around them. Groups who tolerate evil can develop a distorted perception that allows faults among their own members yet condemns outsiders for the same shortcomings (Rom. 1:32; 1 Cor. 5:9, 10).

Paul challenged the Corinthians to confront the sin they had allowed within their congregation (5:5). Once the perpetrator had repented, however, they were to seek his restoration. Their corrective actions had the goal of promoting healing rather than permanently expelling wrongdoers (Matt. 18:15–22; 2 Cor. 10:8). In the kingdom of God there are no throwaway people.

Christians Suing Christians
1 Cor. 6:1–11

Scripture declares that for one Christian to take another Christian to court is "an utter failure" (1 Cor. 6:7). So what should we do when we have disputes that call for litigation? Paul recommends that we take our issues not to a civil court but to a court of wise believers to pass judgment (6:4, 5). If such an arrangement is impossible, Paul says that it would be better to "accept wrong" (6:7) than to ask non-believers to judge the situation.

Modern Christians often disagree on how to interpret this passage. Do Paul's words categorically rule out lawsuits between followers of Christ? No one can be certain, but we do know that early churches took Paul's instructions literally, forbidding their members from turning to pagan courts for justice. They instead appointed elders to preside over civil disputes.

Those courts gained such a reputation for justice that they even attracted non-Christians, who found them preferable to the notoriously corrupt Roman imperial courts. Church courts eventually replaced secular courts, and for six centuries they were the most important courts in Europe. In some places they were the only formal courts in existence.

Today some Christians are attempting to restore the church's judicial function, using Christian attorneys who work alongside church leaders to settle disputes among church members. The decisions can even be legally binding if the disputants agree in advance to treat them as such. This alternative to civil litigation is often locally available.

Managing Commitments

1 Cor. 6:12

Paul reminds us that many of our freely-chosen commitments end up hindering our freedom. Our habits overpower us. Our possessions possess us. Our jobs and social activities consume us. But there are ways to manage these commitments:

- Determine your limits. What can you realistically handle?
- Allow yourself time to make decisions. Acting rashly often brings harm.
- Listen to your family and friends. Shared decision-making is wise.
- Consider what you are giving up. What will you lose by taking on a new commitment? What new problems will arise?
- Commit to subtract as well as add. Learning to say no sets you free from the tyranny of too many responsibilities.

Questions About Marriage

1 Cor. 7:1

Reading 1 Corinthians 7 is like listening to one side of a conversation. Hearing not only Paul's answers but also the questions and objections posed by the Corinthians would help fill out our understanding of biblical ideals of marriage. But we can still draw several practical lessons, especially since marriage was undergoing profound changes then just as it is now.

Some early Christians had already married by the time they came to know Christ. They wondered whether they should divorce their unbelieving spouses to marry fellow Christians instead and thus live more wholeheartedly for Christ. On the surface that argument might make sense. When our primary loyalty shifts toward Jesus, our other loyalties can undergo dramatic changes as well.

But Paul did not recommend divorce in these cases. In fact, he wrote that Christians should do everything they possibly can to preserve their marriages, even marriages to non-believers—as long as their spouses are willing (1 Cor. 7:10–13). God desires peace in relationships (7:15), and that may or may not be possible in a family where religious beliefs are not shared. If a non-believer wants to leave, he or she should be allowed to go (7:15). A Christian is not compelled to leave his or her unbelieving spouse, but if the unbeliever departs, the marriage may be dissolved to maintain peace.

This statute seems pretty simple, but there are many situations that complicate matters for churches in a variety of cultures today. For example, issues regarding marriage can seem cloudy when . . .

- The new believer's spouse is apathetic toward marriage as well as uninterested in church or religion.
- A congregation includes unmarried couples living together in relationships many years or even decades old.
- An unfaithful spouse admits to having two families—and asks which one should be bound by marriage.
- A member of a polygamous society wants to join the church—along with his five wives. Should he divorce his wives? Keep one? Which one?

Paul offers no simple solutions for any of these situations, but he shares a piece of important news: it is possible for a Christian to "sanctify" a family—to be an agent of God's love and grace, and perhaps to bring other family members to faith.

Working for God

1 Cor. 7:17–24

In the ancient world, people generally worked their entire lives at the same job. But Paul's admonition that Christians stay in the situation where God has called them seems irrelevant in the modern world, where people are both more empowered and more often required to change careers multiple times in their lifespan.

Maybe we need to see Paul's words from another angle—that becoming a Christian does not necessitate a career change. Wherever we are when we meet God, we can pursue that role to God's glory. On the other hand, nothing about our faith locks us into any particular work situation any more than an unmarried person is locked into remaining single (1 Cor. 7:8, 9).

What Paul wrote about work parallels what he wrote about marriages that had been entered into before coming to Christ (7:10–16). A Christian is not compelled to leave his or her unbelieving spouse, but if the unbeliever departs, the marriage may be dissolved to maintain peace. Conversion is neither a mandate nor an excuse to end a marriage—nor is it a reason to exit a job, career field, or educational path.

Christianity instills in us new values that may make us eager to escape certain work environments. But Paul discouraged such an escape as the normal path for a new believer. A job change, or changes within the job, may be necessary. Jesus' disciples found this out when He plucked them out of their old careers to take His message to the world, and Zacchaeus discovered this about his tax collecting. But just as a believer can lead others to Christ in an unbelieving family (7:16), so may Jesus' followers make a difference for Him at any place of employment.

More: It is important for us to figure out how best to use our God-given skills and abilities in whatever opportunities the Lord brings our way. See "Career Change" at Gen. 50:24; "You Are Unique" at Ps. 33:15; and "Finding Direction" at Is. 6:8, 9. Working alongside non-Christians is an advantage that lets us communicate the message of Christ by how we do our jobs. See "Your Workstyle" at Titus 2:9–11.

Women and Work in the Ancient World
1 Cor. 7:32–35

Paul's observation that marriage compels a woman to care about "the things of the world" hints at the demanding lives of first-century women, especially in the large cities of the Roman empire.

The New Testament shows women carrying out a wide range of tasks: drawing water, grinding grain, manufacturing tents, hosting guests, governing and influencing civic affairs, making clothes, teaching, prophesying and fulfilling other spiritual functions, burying the dead, and doing the work of slaves, to name but a few. Additional historical evidence reveals that women also served as wool workers, midwives, hairdressers, nurses, vendors, entertainers, political leaders, and even construction workers, among many other occupations.

If a woman was a member of the upper classes, custom dictated that her role in society was to marry a Roman citizen, give birth to legitimate heirs, and manage her household according to her husband's orders. By the first century A.D., however, few families lived out that model.

Female slaves were used by wealthy women to cook, make clothes, wash laundry, and care for children (see "Jesus Valued Children" at Matt. 19:14). A high-ranking slave was often designated the household manager. Female slaves were considered household property as well as sexual property. A master could force a slave to have sex with him or anyone he chose. Children she bore also became his property.

Individual women who were freeborn or former slaves often lacked the economic security of either the citizen or the slave. Many women nevertheless sought to buy their way out of slavery. Some of these working-class women made their way in the world as vendors of fish, grain, vegetables, clothing, or perfume. Others became wet nurses, and some chose to become entertainers or prostitutes, occupations considered beneath the dignity of respectable women.

More: Jewish women carried out household tasks and also prepared their family for the Sabbath. See "Jewish Homemaking" at Mark 1:29–31. Not all first-century women centered their lives around domestic responsibilities, however. Lydia was a successful businesswoman in the purple trade (see "The Trade in Purple" at Acts 16:14) and Priscilla manufactured tents with her husband.

Gray Areas

The Christians in first-century Corinth passionately disagreed about meat sacrificed to idols. It was a gray area—a matter without clear-cut biblical instruction. Paul could have told the Corinthians to settle their disputes with a list of dos and don'ts. He instead appealed to the conscience of each believer.

Paul argued that what we eat or drink does not define our relationship to God (1 Cor. 8:8). Idols are nothing more than inventions of human imagination, so eating meat offered to made-up idols cannot make a person right or wrong with God (8:4–6). It means nothing when a pagan priest blesses meat and offers it to an idol. Christians should therefore enjoy whatever food they want.

Nevertheless, our actions affect our relationships with other Christians and with non-Christians. We are obligated to keep from making ourselves a "stumbling block" (8:9) and are instead to love our neighbors. Our faith is not just between us and God; we also have corporate ethical responsibilities.

So we live in this tension: God's grace frees us to choose as we please, but God's love requires us to pay attention to our conscience.

What we eat, where we live, how we spend time and money, what entertainment we pursue—almost everything we do affects others (8:10–13). We must ask ourselves whether we treat them with disregard or with love.

God does not expect us to let others manipulate us with legalistic criticism, or by saying our behavior offends them. But He does want us to discern how our choices impact the people who observe us. Following Christ with our hearts is not enough. We must also follow Him with our consciences.

Professional Christian Workers
1 Cor. 9:1–23

How much should pastors, missionaries, and ministry staff be paid? Should they be compensated at all? Paul offers insight to these questions.

Philosophers in Paul's day traveled from city to city, charging a fee for public lessons. More prestigious teachers commanded higher fees. When Paul charged nothing for teaching Christ to the Corinthians, he faced criticism. Some said that an authentic religious leader would never offer his services for free.

While Paul disagreed with this assertion, he also insisted that spiritual laborers should be supported materially by those who benefit from their efforts. He backed up his argument by pointing to five similar situations:

- Roman soldiers drew pay for their service (1 Cor. 9:7).
- Winemakers enjoyed the fruits of their vineyards (9:7).
- Shepherds received food from their flocks (9:7).
- The Law affirmed the right of laborers to receive fair compensation (9:8–10).
- The Law allowed priests and their attendants to live off of the sacrifices that people brought to the temple (9:13).

Paul explained that Jesus allowed those who preach the gospel to make their living from doing so (9:14). Elsewhere the apostle wrote that church elders who rule well are worthy of "double honor" (1 Tim. 5:17, 18), and the context shows that Paul had payment in mind. In short, effective vocational Christian workers should be paid fairly for their labor.

Escaping Temptation

1 Cor. 10:12, 13

Like every human being who has gone before us, we are fallen, prone to temptation and subject to sin. So as people attempting to follow Jesus, few Bible teachings have more practical impact on our day-to-day journey of faith than Paul's warning to "take heed lest [you] fall."

External promptings toward sin never stop, and none of us is immune to our own corrupt cravings. Unless we take Paul's caution seriously and pay attention to temptation, we will surely fall. But we can gain greater perseverance by making a habit of acting on several ideas that Scripture offers for dealing with temptation:

- We should physically avoid temptation whenever we can. Proverbs 4:14, 15 urges, "Do not enter the path of the wicked, and do not walk in the way of evil. Avoid it, do not travel on it." We often know ahead of time whether a situation is likely to lead us to sin. The obvious way to avoid doing wrong is to sidestep those situations. Paul described a "way of escape" from temptation (1 Cor. 10:13), and often all it takes to evade sin is to stay clear of the place or people where temptation lurks.
- We should avoid encouraging others to do wrong, even inadvertently. Teachers, for example, can help students avoid cheating by constructing assignments and tests in ways that reduce the incentive to cheat. Business owners can implement procedures that do not put employees in a position that tempts them to steal. People are worthy of trust, but human nature is never immune to temptation.

- We should immediately flee from the most powerful temptations. Paul warned the Corinthians to flee sexual immorality (6:18) and idolatry (10:14). Elsewhere he warned Timothy to flee covetousness and wealth (1 Tim. 6:9–11) as well as youthful lusts (2 Tim. 2:22). The message is: instead of flirting with temptation, flee from it.
- We should admit chronic temptation to Christ and ask for His healing work. Some temptations powerfully remind us of how fallen we really are. Rather than denyour state of corruption or trying to repress our cravings, we should bring them to Christ. He alone is capable of transforming us from the inside out.
- We must continue resisting temptation until it subsides . . . and then resist again. When Christ was tempted by the devil, He continued His fight until the devil left (Matt. 4:1–11). James encourages us to do the same (James 4:7). Resistance begins by bringing the Word of God to mind and standing our ground. We have God's faithful promise that the temptations we encounter will never go beyond what is "common to man," or beyond our ability to bear (1 Cor. 10:13).

Head Coverings

1 Cor. 11:2–16

Head coverings were an essential article in first-century wardrobes, protecting both men and women from intense sun and heat as well as rain. A woman's head covering also signaled her modesty and fidelity. Jewish women and other women of the Middle East wore veils in public, but women of Rome never wore veils. Among the Greeks, some did and some did not. Some cultures assumed that a woman without a veil had loose morals.

These cultural issues flared in Corinth as the church debated whether women were required to cover their heads during worship. Paul wrote that the church had no general policy, suggesting that individuals, or at least individual households or congregations, were free to choose for themselves how to handle the issue.

The issue may have been especially critical in Corinth, where a favorite slogan was "All things are lawful" (1 Cor. 6:12; 10:23). Paul wanted Christians to maintain a high moral reputation and create no barriers to others becoming Christ's followers. This included avoiding offending others' sensibilities when they were more conservative than one's own (Rom. 14:13; 1 Cor. 8:9).

Headship

1 Cor. 11:3

Some believe that the term head by definition implies subordination of one thing to another. Others disagree. For example, John Chrysostom, an early church leader, declared that only a heretic would understand "head" in 1 Corinthians 11:3 to mean "chief" or "authority over." Rather, he understood the word to mean "absolute oneness," "cause," or "primal source." It is important to note that while "the head of Christ is God," Jesus is elsewhere shown to be equal with God (John 1:1–3; 10:30; Col. 1:15). So the term head need not negate the idea of equality. At the same time, although Christ is God's equal, He became obedient to the point of death (Phil. 2:5–8), demonstrating that equality need not rule out submission.

The Gift of Loving Well

1 Cor. 12:28–31

God made us to carry out His purposes, uniquely designing each of us for specific tasks. Paul writes that "the manifestation of the Spirit is given to each one for the profit of all" (1 Cor. 12:7). God distributes spiritual gifts, skills, abilities, interests, and personalities so that we can carry out His work.

Those endeavors include "spiritual" tasks but also extend to pursuits related to health, education, agriculture, business, law, communication, the arts—any work arena that has the capacity to bring glory to God.

The Lord lies behind all of our giftedness, but He cares even more about our character and conduct. Between chapters on spiritual gifts (chs. 12, 14) Paul includes his famous description of "a more excellent way" (12:31). First Corinthians 13 reveals the way of living with Christlike love. Whatever other gifts we possess, it is most important that we excel at love (13:13; Matt. 22:35–40).

Think About It: Name tasks you do from the moment you awaken until you lie down to sleep. How would each be done with love? Without love? Why choose to love well in this element of your day?

A Lifestyle of Love

1 Cor. 13:1–13

First Corinthians 13 has long been called the Love Chapter because of its moving description of love. But it is more than beautiful words to be recited at weddings or printed on a keepsake. It describes the hard work of a lifestyle of love. God intended love as more than passion, romantic feelings, or sentimental expressions. Love requires commitment, sacrifice, and service—actions that benefit both the giver and the receiver. Paul's words sum up the characteristics of godly love:

Love and Oneself

- Love does not battle with rivals for attention ("envy").
- Love does not brag about itself ("parade").

- Love does not inflate its view of itself (“puffed up”).

Love and Relationships

- Love does not trample on others’ feelings (“rude”).
- Love does not serve its needs at the expense of others’ (“seek its own”).
- Love does not take offense easily (“provoked”).

Love and Sins

- Love does not keep track of wrongs suffered (“no evil”).
- Love does not celebrate sin (“rejoice in iniquity”).
- Love delights in every correct thought, word, or act (“rejoices in the truth”).

Love and Sinners

- Love keeps all things in confidence (“bears all things”).
- Love knows what God can do (“believes all things”).
- Love is optimistic (“hopes all things”).
- Love survives under any condition (“endures all things”).

Where do we learn to love like this? Only God can teach us. “We love . . .” wrote John, “because [Christ] first loved us” (1 John 4:19). If we want to be loved with a love like 1 Corinthians 13 describes—and be able to love others in the same way—we must first accept Jesus’ love for us, then commit ourselves to expressing that kind of love for His sake.

Think About It: First Corinthians 13 is not the only passage where Paul describes the lifestyle of love that Christ wants to produce in His followers. See “New Creatures with New Character” at Gal. 5:22, 23. Juan Luis Segundo argued that the Bible is only fully understood in the context of community, where it can be embodied in a lifestyle of justice and compassion.

Women: Silent in the Church?
1 Cor. 14:34

When Paul instructs women to keep silent in the church, he seems to contradict the unbiased view of women implied by his earlier statements in the letter. In chapter 11 he mentioned women who prayed and prophesied, presumably during worship services (v. 5). He also wrote that the Spirit gave gifts to everyone in the body (12:7, 11). Presumably some women would have received speaking gifts.

So why did Paul urge women to keep silent? Some scholars posit that the women in the congregation at Corinth had few opportunities for formal education and little exposure to large gatherings. Paul may have been advising them to take advantage of their newfound opportunity to listen and learn in a large community setting.

More: Whatever Paul meant by his words in 1 Cor. 14:34, no one can argue that women have played a major role in spreading the gospel, upholding social justice, and impacting the world for Christ.

The End of Authority
1 Cor. 15:24

Paul asserted that someday all authority, rule, and power will end. Peter made a similar statement when he asked what kind of people we should be in light of the end of the present time (1 Pet. 3:10–13). No matter how hard we have worked to acquire power, it will eventually fade away. In the meantime, we are to hold authority lightly and use it wisely to further God's purposes.

Once an Enemy, Now a Friend

1 Cor. 16:9–20

Paul was once a dangerous enemy of Christ's followers. But his dramatic encounter with the Savior and subsequent change of heart brought him into God's family (Acts 9:1–30). Courageous Christians such as Ananias and Barnabas began to nurture and aid this new brother in Christ.

Jesus still welcomes people today into His family. Because we have experienced the same gift from God—forgiveness and hope—we are now brothers and sisters in Christ.

As Paul closed 1 Corinthians, he acknowledged several of his family of faith:

- Timothy (1 Cor. 16:10, 11) was a younger coworker who needed acceptance and affirmation.
- Apollos (1 Cor. 16:12) was a gifted former leader of the Corinthians (1:12) who was unable to go to them at that time (see his profile at Acts 18:24–28).
- Stephanas (1 Cor. 16:15, 16) was baptized by Paul in the early days of the Corinthian church. The Corinthians needed to respect him.
- Fortunatus and Achaicus (16:17, 18) were supporters of Paul who may have brought him the letter from the Corinthians that he answered with 1 Corinthians. Like Stephanas, they deserved recognition.
- Priscilla and Aquila (16:19) were cofounders of the Corinthian church and business partners with Paul (Acts 18:1–4). They were now leading a similar gathering at Ephesus and sent warm greetings to their brothers and sisters across the Aegean Sea.

Once an enemy, Paul had become a true friend, partner, and advocate of Christians. Just as others had once cared for him and his needs, he openly shared with the Corinthians the needs and concerns of his brothers and sisters elsewhere. Their mutual support models the relationships we should build with friends in the faith—a network of connections that extends beyond enjoying each other's company to showing support in hard times and bringing others to their aid if we find ourselves out of reach.

Think About It: Just hoping that someone has changed can lead to foolish alliances. So how can you tell that someone has become trustworthy enough to become a friend, a spouse, a confidante, or another close relationship?

1 Corinthians 16

a 16:22 Greek anathema

b 16:22 Aramaic Maranatha

The books of 1 and 2 Corinthians do away with idealistic notions about the church and the people that make up its body. But in opening our eyes to the realities of human frailty, we are awakened to a far more glorious vista: a world in which brokenness can be fixed, failures forgiven, relationships redeemed. The ideal of a flawless life cannot match the miracle of a rescued one (Luke 15:7).

It is this hope in restoration and rebirth through Christ that is the driving force behind 2 Corinthians, the poignant record of the apostle Paul's work for reconciliation with the Christians at Corinth. As he had attempted to guide them and correct their errors, they had at times spurned the instruction of their mentor. This letter shows Paul reaching out to the church in a spirit of healing and renewal after it had finally submitted to the teachings of the gospel.

During their conflict, several letters passed between Paul and the Corinthians, including at least one between those that have been preserved as 1 and 2 Corinthians (2 Cor. 2:3). Because the two epistles included in the Bible are the only ones that have survived, we must infer what we can about the other parts of their conversation.

Paul's first, unpreserved letter to the church at Corinth was written during a long stay in Ephesus (Acts 20:31). In it he cautioned the congregation against mixing with sexually immoral people (1 Cor. 5:9). This was an ever-present danger in Corinth, where most Christians were converts from other religions that preached very different values (12:2). Some had likely participated in ritual prostitution at the city's dozens of pagan temples and shrines. The most prominent temple in Corinth employed no fewer than one thousand prostitutes.

The Corinthians apparently wrote back to Paul, perhaps to justify their behavior but also to ask him about other matters. He then wrote 1 Corinthians and severely condemned the congregation's divisions and continued tolerance of immorality. He also addressed their other questions, as the repeated use of the phrase "now concerning" indicates (7:1, 25; 8:1; 12:1; 16:1).

For all its stern language, 1 Corinthians failed to correct the church's abuses. So Paul visited the congregation, but was rebuffed (2 Cor. 2:1). After returning to Ephesus, he penned a forceful letter calculated to shock the stubborn Corinthians into obedience. Most scholars believe that this letter has been lost, although some surmise that it has been preserved in 2 Corinthians as chapters 10–13.

Paul sent Titus to deliver the fiery epistle and waited to hear about the Corinthians' response. But Titus delayed in returning. As time passed, Paul felt increasingly anxious that his message had been too strongly worded. When he could wait for a reply no longer, he set out for Corinth by way of Macedonia. During his journey he crossed paths with Titus, who was bringing news that the church had at last agreed to mend its ways. Encouraged by this development, Paul wrote 2 Corinthians to bring healing to the relationship.

The Book of 2 Corinthians demonstrates that all people, including believers and people who work in full-time ministry, wrestle with hardship, self-doubt, and sin. Yet whatever problems we face or sins we commit, God's grace is sufficient to bring us through and even to transform us into a new creation (5:17; 12:7–9).

The greetings in both 1 and 2 Corinthians identify their author as Paul the apostle, and there is no serious dispute that he wrote them. Paul wrote 2 Corinthians from Macedonia some twelve to fifteen months after he wrote 1

Corinthians, which is believed to have been composed in A.D. 56.

Key Verses in 2 Corinthians

- “Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty” (2 Cor. 3:17).
- “We have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellence of the power may be of God and not of us” (2 Cor. 4:7).
- “We are hard-pressed on every side, yet not crushed; we are perplexed, but not in despair; persecuted, but not forsaken; struck down, but not destroyed” (2 Cor. 4:8, 9).
- “We do not look at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen. For the things which are seen are temporary, but the things which are not seen are eternal” (2 Cor. 4:18).
- “We walk by faith, not by sight” (2 Cor. 5:7).
- “If anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation; old things have passed away; behold, all things have become new” (2 Cor. 5:17).
- “Do not be unequally yoked together with unbelievers” (2 Cor. 6:14).
- “God loves a cheerful giver” (2 Cor. 9:7).
- “My grace is sufficient for you, for My strength is made perfect in weakness” (2 Cor. 12:9).

2 Corinthians 1

Greeting

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, and Timothy our brother,

To the church of God which is at Corinth, with all the saints who are in all Achaia: Corinth

2 Grace to you and peace from God our Father
and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Comfort in Suffering

3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies and God of all comfort, 4 who comforts us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort those who are in any trouble, with the comfort with which we ourselves are comforted by God.
5 For as the sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our consolation also abounds through Christ.
6 Now if we are afflicted, it is for your consolation and salvation, which is effective for enduring the same sufferings which we also suffer. Or if we are comforted, it is for your consolation and salvation.
7 And our hope for you is steadfast, because we know that as you are partakers of the sufferings, so also you will partake of the consolation.

Delivered from Suffering

8 For we do not want you to be ignorant, brethren, of our trouble which came to us in Asia: that we were burdened beyond measure, above strength, so that we despaired even of life.

9 Yes, we had the sentence of death in ourselves, that we should not trust in ourselves but in God who raises the dead,
10 who delivered us from so great a death, and does[a] deliver us; in whom we trust that He will still deliver us, 11 you also helping together in prayer for us, that thanks may be given by many persons on our[b] behalf for the gift granted to us through many.

Paul's Sincerity

12 For our boasting is this: the testimony of our conscience that we conducted ourselves in the world in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom but by the grace of God, and more abundantly toward you.
13 For we are not writing any other things to you than what you read or understand. Now I trust you will understand, even to the end 14 (as also you have understood us in part), that we are your boast as you also are ours, in the day of the Lord Jesus.

Sparing the Church

15 And in this confidence I intended to come to you before, that you might have a second benefit—16 to pass by way of you to Macedonia, to come again from Macedonia to you, and be helped by you on my way to Judea.
17 Therefore, when I was planning this, did I do it lightly?
Or the things I plan, do I plan according to the flesh, that with me there should be Yes, Yes, and No, No?
18 But as God is faithful, our word to you was not Yes and No.
19 For the Son of God, Jesus Christ, who was preached among you by us—by me, Silvanus, and Timothy—was not

Yes and No, but in Him was Yes.
20For all the promises of God in Him are Yes, and in Him Amen, to the glory of God through us.
21Now He who establishes us with you in Christ and has anointed us is God, 22who also has sealed us and given us the Spirit in our hearts as a guarantee.
23Moreover I call God as witness against my soul, that to spare you I came no more to Corinth.
24Not that we have dominion over your faith, but are fellow workers for your joy; for by faith you stand.

2 Corinthians 2

1 But I determined this within myself, that I would not come again to you in sorrow.
2 For if I make you sorrowful, then who is he who makes me glad but the one who is made sorrowful by me?

Forgive the Offender

3 And I wrote this very thing to you, lest, when I came, I should have sorrow over those from whom I ought to have joy, having confidence in you all that my joy is the joy of you all.
4 For out of much affliction and anguish of heart I wrote to you, with many tears, not that you should be grieved, but that you might know the love which I have so abundantly for you.
5 But if anyone has caused grief, he has not grieved me, but all of you to some extent—not to be too severe.

Accountability

6 This punishment which was inflicted by the majority is sufficient for such a man, 7 so that, on the contrary, you ought rather to forgive and comfort him, lest perhaps such a one be swallowed up with too much sorrow.
8 Therefore I urge you to reaffirm your love to him.
9 For to this end I also wrote, that I might put you to the test, whether you are obedient in all things.
10 Now whom you forgive anything, I also forgive. For if indeed I have forgiven anything, I have forgiven that one[a] for your sakes in the presence of Christ, 11 lest Satan should take advantage of us; for we are not ignorant of his devices.

Triumph in Christ

12Furthermore, when I came to Troas to preach Christ's gospel, and a door was opened to me by the Lord, 13I had no rest in my spirit, because I did not find Titus my brother; but taking my leave of them, I departed for Macedonia.
14Now thanks be to God who always leads us in triumph in Christ, and through us diffuses the fragrance of His knowledge in every place.
15For we are to God the fragrance of Christ among those who are being saved and among those who are perishing.
16To the one we are the aroma of death leading to death, and to the other the aroma of life leading to life. And who is sufficient for these things?
17For we are not, as so many,[b] peddling the word of God;
but as of sincerity, but as from God, we speak in the sight of God in Christ.

2 Corinthians 3

Christ's Epistle

1 Do we begin again to commend ourselves? Or do we need, as some others, epistles of commendation to you or letters of commendation from you?
2 You are our epistle written in our hearts, known and read by all men;
3 clearly you are an epistle of Christ, ministered by us, written not with ink but by the Spirit of the living God, not on tablets of stone but on tablets of flesh, that is, of the heart.

The Spirit, Not the Letter

4 And we have such trust through Christ toward God.
5 Not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think of anything as being from ourselves, but our sufficiency is from God, 6 who also made us sufficient as ministers of the new covenant, not of the letter but of the Spirit;[a] for the letter kills, but the Spirit gives life.

Glory of the New Covenant

7 But if the ministry of death, written and engraved on stones, was glorious, so that the children of Israel could not look steadily at the face of Moses because of the glory of his countenance, which glory was passing away, Image-Conscious 8 how will the ministry of the Spirit not be more glorious?
9 For if the ministry of condemnation had glory, the ministry of righteousness exceeds much more in glory.
10 For even what was made glorious had no glory in this respect, because of the glory that excels.

11 For if what is passing away was glorious, what remains is much more glorious.
12 Therefore, since we have such hope, we use great boldness of speech—13 unlike Moses, who put a veil over his face so that the children of Israel could not look steadily at the end of what was passing away.
14 But their minds were blinded. For until this day the same veil remains unlifted in the reading of the Old Testament, because the veil is taken away in Christ.
15 But even to this day, when Moses is read, a veil lies on their heart.
16 Nevertheless when one turns to the Lord, the veil is taken away.
17 Now the Lord is the Spirit; and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.
18 But we all, with unveiled face, beholding as in a mirror the glory of the Lord, are being transformed into the same image from glory to glory, just as by the Spirit of the Lord.

2 Corinthians 4

The Light of Christ's Gospel

1 Therefore, since we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we do not lose heart.
2 But we have renounced the hidden things of shame, not walking in craftiness nor handling the word of God deceitfully, but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God. A Code of Ethics for Christian Witness 3 But even if our gospel is veiled, it is veiled to those who are perishing,
4 whose minds the god of this age has blinded, who do not believe, lest the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine on them.
5 For we do not preach ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord, and ourselves your bondservants for Jesus' sake.
6 For it is the God who commanded light to shine out of darkness, who has shone in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.

Cast Down but Unconquered

7 But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellence of the power may be of God and not of us. Earthen Vessels 8 We are hard-pressed on every side, yet not crushed; we are perplexed, but not in despair; 9 persecuted, but not forsaken; struck down, but not destroyed—

10 always carrying about in the body the dying of the Lord Jesus, that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body.
11 For we who live are always delivered to death for Jesus' sake, that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our mortal flesh.
12 So then death is working in us, but life in you.
13 And since we have the same spirit of faith, according to what is written, "I believed and therefore I spoke,"[a] we also believe and therefore speak, 14 knowing that He who raised up the Lord Jesus will also raise us up with Jesus, and will present us with you.
15 For all things are for your sakes, that grace, having spread through the many, may cause thanksgiving to abound to the glory of God.

Seeing the Invisible

16 Therefore we do not lose heart. Even though our outward man is perishing, yet the inward man is being renewed day by day.
17 For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, is working for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory,
18 while we do not look at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen. For the things which are seen are temporary, but the things which are not seen are eternal.

2 Corinthians 5

Assurance of the Resurrection

1For we know that if our earthly house, this tent, is destroyed, we have a building from God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.
2For in this we groan, earnestly desiring to be clothed with our habitation which is from heaven, Struggle Is a Part of All Lives 3if indeed, having been clothed, we shall not be found naked.
4For we who are in this tent groan, being burdened, not because we want to be unclothed, but further clothed, that mortality may be swallowed up by life.
5Now He who has prepared us for this very thing is God, who also has given us the Spirit as a guarantee.
6So we are always confident, knowing that while we are at home in the body we are absent from the Lord.
7For we walk by faith, not by sight.
8We are confident, yes, well pleased rather to be absent from the body and to be present with the Lord.

The Judgment Seat of Christ

9Therefore we make it our aim, whether present or absent, to be well pleasing to Him.
10For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, that each one may receive the things done in the body, according to what he has done, whether good or bad.
The Judgment Seat
11Knowing, therefore, the terror of the Lord, we persuade men; but we are well known to God, and I also trust are well known in your consciences.

Be Reconciled to God

12For we do not commend ourselves again to you, but give you opportunity to boast on our behalf, that you may have an answer for those who boast in appearance and not in heart.

13For if we are beside ourselves, it is for God; or if we are of sound mind, it is for you.

14For the love of Christ compels us, because we judge thus: that if One died for all, then all died;

15and He died for all, that those who live should live no longer for themselves, but for Him who died for them and rose again.

16Therefore, from now on, we regard no one according to the flesh. Even though we have known Christ according to the flesh, yet now we know Him thus no longer.

17Therefore, if anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation; old things have passed away; behold, all things have become new.

18Now all things are of God, who has reconciled us to Himself through Jesus Christ, and has given us the ministry of reconciliation, 19that is, that God was in Christ reconciling the world to Himself, not imputing their trespasses to them, and has committed to us the word of reconciliation.

20Now then, we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God were pleading through us: we implore you on Christ's behalf, be reconciled to God.

21For He made Him who knew no sin to be sin for us, that we might become the righteousness of God in Him.

2 Corinthians 6

Marks of the Ministry

1 We then, as workers together with Him also plead with you not to receive the grace of God in vain.
2 For He says:

> “In an acceptable time I have heard you,
> And in the day of salvation I have helped > you.”[a]

Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation.
3 We give no offense in anything, that our ministry may not be blamed. Dealing with Stress
4 But in all things we commend ourselves as ministers of God: in much patience, in tribulations, in needs, in distresses,
5 in stripes, in imprisonments, in tumults, in labors, in sleeplessness, in fastings;
6 by purity, by knowledge, by longsuffering, by kindness, by the Holy Spirit, by sincere love, 7 by the word of truth, by the power of God, by the armor of righteousness on the right hand and on the left, 8 by honor and dishonor, by evil report and good report;
as deceivers, and yet true;
9 as unknown, and yet well known; as dying, and behold we live; as chastened, and yet not killed; 10 as sorrowful, yet always rejoicing; as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing all things.

Be Holy

11O Corinthians! We have spoken openly to you, our heart is wide open.
12You are not restricted by us, but you are restricted by your own affections.
13Now in return for the same (I speak as to children), you also be open.
14Do not be unequally yoked together with unbelievers. For what fellowship has righteousness with lawlessness? And what communion has light with darkness?
15And what accord has Christ with Belial? Or what part has a believer with an unbeliever?
16And what agreement has the temple of God with idols? For you[b] are the temple of the living God. As God has said:

> "I will dwell in them
> And walk among them.
> I will be their God,
> And they shall be My people."[c]

17Therefore

> "Come out from among them
> And be separate, says the Lord.
> Do not touch what is unclean,
> And I will receive you."[d] > 18 "I will be a Father to you,
> And you shall be My sons and daughters,
> Says the LORD Almighty."[e]

2 Corinthians 7

1Therefore, having these promises, beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God.

The Corinthians' Repentance

2Open your hearts to us. We have wronged no one, we have corrupted no one, we have cheated no one.
3I do not say this to condemn; for I have said before that you are in our hearts, to die together and to live together.
4Great is my boldness of speech toward you, great is my boasting on your behalf. I am filled with comfort. I am exceedingly joyful in all our tribulation.
5For indeed, when we came to Macedonia, our bodies had no rest, but we were troubled on every side. Outside were conflicts, inside were fears.
6Nevertheless God, who comforts the downcast, comforted us by the coming of Titus, A Teammate to Count On 7and not only by his coming, but also by the consolation with which he was comforted in you, when he told us of your earnest desire, your mourning, your zeal for me, so that I rejoiced even more.
8For even if I made you sorry with my letter, I do not regret it; though I did regret it. For I perceive that the same epistle made you sorry, though only for a while.
9Now I rejoice, not that you were made sorry, but that your sorrow led to repentance. For you were made sorry in a godly manner, that you might suffer loss from us in nothing.
10For godly sorrow produces repentance leading to salvation, not to be regretted; but the sorrow of the world produces death.

11For observe this very thing, that you sorrowed in a godly manner: What diligence it produced in you, what clearing of yourselves, what indignation, what fear, what vehement desire, what zeal, what vindication! In all things you proved yourselves to be clear in this matter.

12Therefore, although I wrote to you, I did not do it for the sake of him who had done the wrong, nor for the sake of him who suffered wrong, but that our care for you in the sight of God might appear to you.

The Joy of Titus

13Therefore we have been comforted in your comfort. And we rejoiced exceedingly more for the joy of Titus, because his spirit has been refreshed by you all.

14For if in anything I have boasted to him about you, I am not ashamed. But as we spoke all things to you in truth, even so our boasting to Titus was found true.

15And his affections are greater for you as he remembers the obedience of you all, how with fear and trembling you received him.

16Therefore I rejoice that I have confidence in you in everything.

2 Corinthians 8

Excel in Giving

1 Moreover, brethren, we make known to you the grace of God bestowed on the churches of Macedonia:
2 that in a great trial of affliction the abundance of their joy and their deep poverty abounded in the riches of their liberality.
3 For I bear witness that according to their ability, yes, and beyond their ability, they were freely willing, 4 imploring us with much urgency that we would receive[a]
the gift and the fellowship of the ministering to the saints.
5 And not only as we had hoped, but they first gave themselves to the Lord, and then to us by the will of God.
6 So we urged Titus, that as he had begun, so he would also complete this grace in you as well.
7 But as you abound in everything—in faith, in speech, in knowledge, in all diligence, and in your love for us—see that you abound in this grace also.

Christ Our Pattern

8 I speak not by commandment, but I am testing the sincerity of your love by the diligence of others. Christ Became Poor 9 For you know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor, that you through His poverty might become rich.
10 And in this I give advice: It is to your advantage not only to be doing what you began and were desiring to do a year ago;
11 but now you also must complete the doing of it; that as there was a readiness to desire it, so there also may be a completion out of what you have.

12For if there is first a willing mind, it is accepted according to what one has, and not according to what he does not have.

13For I do not mean that others should be eased and you burdened;

14but by an equality, that now at this time your abundance may supply their lack, that their abundance also may supply your lack—that there may be equality.

15As it is written, "He who gathered much had nothing left over, and he who gathered little had no lack."[b]

Collection for the Judean Saints

16But thanks be to God who puts[c] the same earnest care for you into the heart of Titus.

17For he not only accepted the exhortation, but being more diligent, he went to you of his own accord.

18And we have sent with him the brother whose praise is in the gospel throughout all the churches,

19and not only that, but who was also chosen by the churches to travel with us with this gift, which is administered by us to the glory of the Lord Himself and to show your ready mind,

20avoiding this: that anyone should blame us in this lavish gift which is administered by us—

21providing honorable things, not only in the sight of the Lord, but also in the sight of men.

22And we have sent with them our brother whom we have often proved diligent in many things, but now much more diligent, because of the great confidence which we have in you.

23If anyone inquires about Titus, he is my partner and fellow worker concerning you. Or if our brethren are inquired about, they are messengers of the churches, the glory of Christ.

24 Therefore show to them, and[d] before the churches, the proof of your love and of our boasting on your behalf.

2 Corinthians 9

Administering the Gift

1 Now concerning the ministering to the saints, it is superfluous for me to write to you;
2 for I know your willingness, about which I boast of you to the Macedonians, that Achaia was ready a year ago; and your zeal has stirred up the majority.
3 Yet I have sent the brethren, lest our boasting of you should be in vain in this respect, that, as I said, you may be ready;
4 lest if some Macedonians come with me and find you unprepared, we (not to mention you!) should be ashamed of this confident boasting.[a] 5 Therefore I thought it necessary to exhort the brethren to go to you ahead of time, and prepare your generous gift beforehand, which you had previously promised, that it may be ready as a matter of generosity and not as a grudging obligation.

The Cheerful Giver

6 But this I say: He who sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and he who sows bountifully will also reap bountifully. Reaping the Benefits
7 So let each one give as he purposes in his heart, not grudgingly or of necessity; for God loves a cheerful giver.
8 And God is able to make all grace abound toward you, that you, always having all sufficiency in all things, may have an abundance for every good work.
9 As it is written:

> "He has dispersed abroad,

He has given to the poor;
His righteousness endures forever.”[b] Who Are the Poor?

10 Now may[c] He who supplies seed to the sower, and bread for food, supply and multiply the seed you have sown and increase the fruits of your righteousness, 11 while you are enriched in everything for all liberality, which causes thanksgiving through us to God.
12 For the administration of this service not only supplies the needs of the saints, but also is abounding through many thanksgivings to God,
13 while, through the proof of this ministry, they glorify God for the obedience of your confession to the gospel of Christ, and for your liberal sharing with them and all men, 14 and by their prayer for you, who long for you because of the exceeding grace of God in you.
15 Thanks be to God for His indescribable gift!

2 Corinthians 10

The Spiritual War

1 Now I, Paul, myself am pleading with you by the meekness and gentleness of Christ—who in presence am lowly among you, but being absent am bold toward you. Integrity in the Face of Competition

2 But I beg you that when I am present I may not be bold with that confidence by which I intend to be bold against some, who think of us as if we walked according to the flesh.

3 For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war according to the flesh.

4 For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal but mighty in God for pulling down strongholds,

5 casting down arguments and every high thing that exalts itself against the knowledge of God, bringing every thought into captivity to the obedience of Christ,

6 and being ready to punish all disobedience when your obedience is fulfilled.

Reality of Paul's Authority

7 Do you look at things according to the outward appearance? If anyone is convinced in himself that he is Christ's, let him again consider this in himself, that just as he is Christ's, even so we are Christ's.[a]

8 For even if I should boast somewhat more about our authority, which the Lord gave us[b] for edification and not for your destruction, I shall not be ashamed—

9 lest I seem to terrify you by letters.

10 "For his letters," they say, "are weighty and powerful, but his bodily presence is weak, and his speech contemptible.”

11 Let such a person consider this, that what we are in word by letters when we are absent, such we will also be in deed when we are present.

Limits of Paul’s Authority

12 For we dare not class ourselves or compare ourselves with those who commend themselves. But they, measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves among themselves, are not wise.

13 We, however, will not boast beyond measure, but within the limits of the sphere which God appointed us—a sphere which especially includes you.

14 For we are not overextending ourselves (as though our authority did not extend to you), for it was to you that we came with the gospel of Christ;

15 not boasting of things beyond measure, that is, in other men’s labors, but having hope, that as your faith is increased, we shall be greatly enlarged by you in our sphere,

16 to preach the gospel in the regions beyond you, and not to boast in another man’s sphere of accomplishment.

17 But “he who glories, let him glory in the LORD.”[c]

18 For not he who commends himself is approved, but whom the Lord commends.

2 Corinthians 11

Concern for Their Faithfulness

1 Oh, that you would bear with me in a little folly—and indeed you do bear with me.
2 For I am jealous for you with godly jealousy. For I have betrothed you to one husband, that I may present you as a chaste virgin to Christ.
3 But I fear, lest somehow, as the serpent deceived Eve by his craftiness, so your minds may be corrupted from the simplicity[a] that is in Christ.
4 For if he who comes preaches another Jesus whom we have not preached, or if you receive a different spirit which you have not received, or a different gospel which you have not accepted—you may well put up with it!

Paul and False Apostles

5 For I consider that I am not at all inferior to the most eminent apostles.
6 Even though I am untrained in speech, yet I am not in knowledge. But we have been thoroughly manifested[b] among you in all things.
7 Did I commit sin in humbling myself that you might be exalted, because I preached the gospel of God to you free of charge?
8 I robbed other churches, taking wages from them to minister to you.
9 And when I was present with you, and in need, I was a burden to no one, for what I lacked the brethren who came from Macedonia supplied. And in everything I kept myself from being burdensome to you, and so I will keep myself.

10 As the truth of Christ is in me, no one shall stop me from this boasting in the regions of Achaia.
11 Why? Because I do not love you? God knows!
12 But what I do, I will also continue to do, that I may cut off the opportunity from those who desire an opportunity to be regarded just as we are in the things of which they boast.
13 For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into apostles of Christ.
14 And no wonder! For Satan himself transforms himself into an angel of light.
15 Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also transform themselves into ministers of righteousness, whose end will be according to their works.

Reluctant Boasting

16 I say again, let no one think me a fool. If otherwise, at least receive me as a fool, that I also may boast a little.
17 What I speak, I speak not according to the Lord, but as it were, foolishly, in this confidence of boasting.
18 Seeing that many boast according to the flesh, I also will boast.
19 For you put up with fools gladly, since you yourselves are wise!
20 For you put up with it if one brings you into bondage, if one devours you, if one takes from you, if one exalts himself, if one strikes you on the face.
21 To our shame I say that we were too weak for that! But in whatever anyone is bold—I speak foolishly—I am bold also.

Suffering for Christ

22Are they Hebrews? So am I. Are they Israelites? So am I. Are they the seed of Abraham? So am I.
23Are they ministers of Christ?—I speak as a fool—I am more: in labors more abundant, in stripes above measure, in prisons more frequently, in deaths often.
24From the Jews five times I received forty stripes minus one.
25Three times I was beaten with rods; once I was stoned; three times I was shipwrecked; a night and a day I have been in the deep;
26*in* journeys often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils of my own countrymen, in perils of the Gentiles, in perils in the city, in perils in the wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren;
27in weariness and toil, in sleeplessness often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness—28besides the other things, what comes upon me daily: my deep concern for all the churches.
29Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is made to stumble, and I do not burn with indignation?
30If I must boast, I will boast in the things which concern my infirmity.
31The God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who is blessed forever, knows that I am not lying.
32In Damascus the governor, under Aretas the king, was guarding the city of the Damascenes with a garrison, desiring to arrest me;
33but I was let down in a basket through a window in the wall, and escaped from his hands.

2 Corinthians 12

The Vision of Paradise

1 It is doubtless[a] not profitable for me to boast. I will come to visions and revelations of the Lord:
2 I know a man in Christ who fourteen years ago—whether in the body I do not know, or whether out of the body I do not know, God knows—such a one was caught up to the third heaven.
3 And I know such a man—whether in the body or out of the body I do not know, God knows—4 how he was caught up into Paradise and heard inexpressible words, which it is not lawful for a man to utter.
5 Of such a one I will boast; yet of myself I will not boast, except in my infirmities.
6 For though I might desire to boast, I will not be a fool; for I will speak the truth. But I refrain, lest anyone should think of me above what he sees me to be or hears from me.

The Thorn in the Flesh

7 And lest I should be exalted above measure by the abundance of the revelations, a thorn in the flesh was given to me, a messenger of Satan to buffet me, lest I be exalted above measure. Strength Through Weakness 8 Concerning this thing I pleaded with the Lord three times that it might depart from me.
9 And He said to me, “My grace is sufficient for you, for My strength is made perfect in weakness.” Therefore most gladly I will rather boast in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me.

10 Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in needs, in persecutions, in distresses, for Christ's sake. For when I am weak, then I am strong.

Signs of an Apostle

11 I have become a fool in boasting;[b] you have compelled me. For I ought to have been commended by you; for in nothing was I behind the most eminent apostles, though I am nothing.

12 Truly the signs of an apostle were accomplished among you with all perseverance, in signs and wonders and mighty deeds.

13 For what is it in which you were inferior to other churches, except that I myself was not burdensome to you? Forgive me this wrong!

Love for the Church

14 Now for the third time I am ready to come to you. And I will not be burdensome to you; for I do not seek yours, but you. For the children ought not to lay up for the parents, but the parents for the children.

15 And I will very gladly spend and be spent for your souls; though the more abundantly I love you, the less I am loved.

16 But be that as it may, I did not burden you. Nevertheless, being crafty, I caught you by cunning!

17 Did I take advantage of you by any of those whom I sent to you?

18 I urged Titus, and sent our brother with him. Did Titus take advantage of you? Did we not walk in the same spirit? Did we not walk in the same steps?

19 Again, do you think[c] that we excuse ourselves to you? We speak before God in Christ. But we do all things, beloved, for your edification.

[20]For I fear lest, when I come, I shall not find you such as I wish, and that I shall be found by you such as you do not wish; lest there be contentions, jealousies, outbursts of wrath, selfish ambitions, backbitings, whisperings, conceits, tumults;

[21]lest, when I come again, my God will humble me among you, and I shall mourn for many who have sinned before and have not repented of the uncleanness, fornication, and lewdness which they have practiced.

2 Corinthians 13

Coming with Authority

1 This will be the third time I am coming to you. “By the mouth of two or three witnesses every word shall be established.”[a]

2 I have told you before, and foretell as if I were present the second time, and now being absent I write[b] to those who have sinned before, and to all the rest, that if I come again I will not spare—

3 since you seek a proof of Christ speaking in me, who is not weak toward you, but mighty in you.

4 For though He was crucified in weakness, yet He lives by the power of God. For we also are weak in Him, but we shall live with Him by the power of God toward you.

5 Examine yourselves as to whether you are in the faith. Test yourselves. Do you not know yourselves, that Jesus Christ is in you?—unless indeed you are disqualified.

6 But I trust that you will know that we are not disqualified.

Paul Prefers Gentleness

7 Now I[c] pray to God that you do no evil, not that we should appear approved, but that you should do what is honorable, though we may seem disqualified.

8 For we can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth.

9 For we are glad when we are weak and you are strong. And this also we pray, that you may be made complete.

10 Therefore I write these things being absent, lest being present I should use sharpness, according to the authority which the Lord has given me for edification and not for destruction. Spiritual Authority

Greetings and Benediction

11 Finally, brethren, farewell. Become complete. Be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace will be with you.

12 Greet one another with a holy kiss.

13 All the saints greet you.

14 The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Spirit be with you all. Amen.

Corinth

2 Cor. 1:1

- A The city had such an infamous reputation that “to Corinthianize” meant to engage in gross immorality.
- A highly celebrated metropolis of New Testament times, second in the empire only to Rome.
- Less than 100 years old at the time of Paul.
- A planned city rebuilt from ashes by the Roman emperors.
- A transportation hub for both land and sea travel, located on an isthmus that linked two seaports and two bays. Shippers saved time and avoided the dangers of sailing around Greece by moving passengers and goods across the isthmus and reloading them onto ships on the other side.
- Greece’s leading commercial center for trade, agriculture, and industry.
- Host city to athletic events, gladiatorial contests, theater productions, and the Isthmian Games, one of four major athletic festivals of the Greeks.
- A center for pagan religions. More than a dozen temples have been excavated at Corinth, including the magnificent temple of Apollo, with more than three dozen 24-foot high Doric columns. The temple of Aphrodite employed at least 1,000 religious prostitutes.
- Home to diverse peoples and cultures, including Greeks, Roman colonists (mostly retired army veterans and freedmen), and Jews.

Think About It: The Corinthian culture had potential for tremendous evil and amazing good. If you had lived there how would you have countered the pervasive immorality at work and at church and for your kids at school? Passages in 1 and 2 Corinthians can help you think this through.

Accountability

2 Cor. 2:5-11

The discipline that the Corinthian church exercised toward one of its members is an example of an essential function of all Christian communities—holding each other accountable.

Accountability is easy to talk about but difficult to practice. No one likes feeling judged or controlled by others. In modern society especially, it is easy to believe that how one person chooses to live is nobody else's business. But Scripture upholds the righteous principles of accountability.

- Accountability applies to both actions and attitudes. The modern world is often concerned only with results, not methods—even if those methods cause harm to others. But God looks at each step along a journey, not just a final destination—and He is concerned not only with our decisions but also the motivations behind them. As God told Samuel, "The LORD does not see as man sees; for man looks at the outward appearance, but the LORD looks at the heart" (1 Sam. 16:7).
- Accountability depends on trust. Allowing others to hold us accountable requires us to trust their judgment and believe that they are committed to the same truths and values we are. We want to know that they have our best interests at heart. Thus Paul pleaded with the Corinthians to end their divisions and "be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment" (1 Cor. 1:10).
- Accountability requires submission. Everyone battles a natural tendency to rebel against God. Accountability allows others to enter into that struggle with us. That means we must at times defer to the judgment or counsel of others, especially when they confront us with clear-cut scriptural truth or the wisdom of personal experience. Paul told the Ephesians that part of living the Lord's will involves "submitting to one another in the fear of God" (Eph. 5:21).

It should not surprise us that being part of the body of Christ involves accountability. Throughout our lives we are kept in check by parents, teachers, employers—and we usually recognize their expectations and requirements as healthy necessities. Our openness to correction in human relationships ultimately reflects our willingness to accept God's love. If we are totally unable to submit to other people, we will likely create problems for ourselves.

Image-Conscious
2 Cor. 3:7–18

Do you care what people see when they look at you? What image do you project to family, friends, coworkers, neighbors, and strangers? As Paul traversed the Roman empire, he cared intensely about how others perceived him. But the core of his concern was not for himself but whether people would see Jesus when they looked at him. He wanted people to respect his messages as coming from God.

Paul reminded the Corinthians of an Old Testament scene in which Moses received the Law. As Israel wandered through the wilderness, God revealed Himself to the people in what looked like flames (Ex. 24:17). With Moses, however, He spoke face-to-face (33:11). This encounter with the living God left such a mark on Moses that his face glowed when he returned to the people. To ease their fears he veiled his face, hiding the glory that had rubbed off from being close to God (34:29–35).

Christians enjoy a proximity to God closer than Moses ever did, because God now lives inside us (Gal. 2:20). As others observe us, they should see God's glory shining out (2 Cor. 3:9–11, 18). If we do not let them see Jesus' love, integrity, and power, then we are not, like Moses, committing an act of kindness. We are veiling the Light of the World (John 8:12; 9:5)—meant for all the world to see.

A Code of Ethics for Christian Witness
2 Cor. 4:2

When we present the message of Jesus, we need to be like Paul, absolutely above board in our motives and methods. We need to respect those who hear us and refuse to do anything that violates their integrity. To do anything less cheapens the gospel and turns us into salespeople rather than sincere sharers of truth (2 Cor. 2:17). Here are some suggested statutes (from material developed by InterVarsity Christian Fellowship) to guide our witness:

1. We are Christians, called by God to honor Jesus Christ with our lives, abiding by biblically defined ethical standards in every area of life, public and private. This includes our efforts to persuade others to believe in Jesus.
2. Wherever we live and work, we seek to follow the mandate, motives, message, and model of Jesus, who still pursues and reclaims those lost in sin and rebelling against Him.
3. We believe all people are created in God's image with the capacity to relate to their Creator and Redeemer. We disdain any effort to influence people which depersonalizes them or deprives them of their inherent value as persons.
4. Since we respect the value of persons, we believe all are worthy of hearing about Jesus Christ. We also affirm the right of every person to survey other religious options. People are free to choose a different belief system than Christianity.
5. We affirm the role and right of Christians to share the gospel of Christ in the marketplace of ideas. However, this does not justify any means to fulfill that end. We reject coercive techniques or manipulative appeals, especially those that play on emotions and discount or contradict reason or evidence. We will not bypass a person's critical faculties, prey upon psychological weaknesses, undermine a relationship with one's family or religious institution, or mask the true nature of Christian conversion. We will not intentionally mislead.
6. We respect the individual integrity, intellectual honesty, and academic freedom of others, both believers and skeptics, and so we proclaim Christ without hidden agendas. We reveal our own identity, purpose, theological positions, and sources of information. We will use no false advertising and seek no material gain from presenting the gospel.
7. We invite people of other religious persuasions to join us in true dialogue. We acknowledge our humanness—that we Christians are just as sinful, needy, and dependent on the grace of God as anyone else. We seek to listen sensitively in order to understand, and thus rid our witness of any stereotypes or fixed formulae which block honest communication.

8. As our “brothers’ keepers,” we accept our responsibility to admonish any Christian brother or sister who presents the message of Christ in a way that violates these ethical guidelines.

Earthen Vessels
2 Cor. 4:7

We may wrap our human frame in stunning clothes, surround it with gleaming possessions, or transport it in wheeled luxury. But in the end we are still mere human beings. Yet in spite of this, God protects us and has invested each of us with dignity and value. How can we express this incredible value God has imparted to us?

Struggle Is a Part of All Lives
2 Cor. 5:2–5

In much of the world, evil flourishes. Christians continue to suffer acute and chronic calamities. Yet modern Christians often assume that health, prosperity, and every brand of external success should be the norm. They expect these things as a God-given right, as if the Lord owes them rewards for their faith or virtue.

These misguided illusions could not be further from the realities of today or of the New Testament era. “Groaning” is and was a daily experience for both Christians and non-Christians. Paul did acclaim the “new creation” that God brings about (2 Cor. 5:17). But after celebrating that undeniable fact, he went on to say that Christian life involves trouble and pain (6:4–10). Only when we put on our glorified bodies will God spare us from all suffering (5:1).

This doesn't mean that no believers will enjoy health and wealth in this life, but the experience of Christians throughout history and around the world shows material and physical comfort as the exception rather than the rule. So if we find ourselves wondering what we did wrong to deserve adversity, we should remember that struggle is simply a part of life for believers and non-believers, and not necessarily a punishment. In fact, the Bible forewarns us that we enter the kingdom of God "through many tribulations" (Acts 14:22), and we should "count it all joy" when we find ourselves in hard times, for it is through hardship that we develop patience (James 1:2, 3).

Perhaps most helpful of all is knowing that troubles come to all lives. As Christians we have God to help us through them.

The Judgment Seat
2 Cor. 5:10

Scripture assures us that one day all of us will stand before the judgment seat (Greek: bēma) of Christ.

Paul's Corinthian readers were no doubt familiar with the concept of a bēma. As in most cities of Greece, a large, richly decorated platform called the bēma stood in the middle of the marketplace at Corinth. It was used by officials for public proclamation, commendation, and condemnation.

Paul had been brought to the Corinthian bēma by Jews who opposed his message. His case was heard by Gallio, the Roman proconsul (governor) of the region, who dismissed the complaint (Acts 18:12–17). But the bēma was used for more than tribunals. At the bēma, winners of Corinth's prestigious athletic contests were announced.

Paul's statement that believers will appear before the bēma of Christ is as much a reason for joy and hope as it is for fear. The judgment rendered at the bēma will be fair, because Christ will be the judge.

He once stood before Pontius Pilate's bēma (Matt. 27:19; John 19:10) and knows how it feels to be unfairly judged.

The Lord will not be deciding the eternal fate of Christians as He sits on His bēma; this was settled for us at the moment of salvation (5:24). The bēma of Christ will instead be our chance to understand our lives according to Christ's perfect assessment. As we stand before Him, we will experience honest evaluation and true justice.

Think About It: How will your life continue and change, knowing every action and thought will be judged by the God you adore?

Dealing with Stress

2 Cor. 6:3–10

Tension, conflict, weariness, and suffering are commonplace in our world, but some hold out hope that God will bring life's troubles to an end. They assume that a relationship with Christ ushers us into peace, ease, even prosperity.

That was not the experience or teaching of early Christians such as Paul, James, or Peter—and certainly not of Jesus. Paul described his life of serving God with the words "tribulations," "distresses," "imprisonments," "tumult," and "sleeplessness," among others.

But he also linked these stresses with treasures that money cannot buy: "purity," "kindness," "sincere love," "honor," "rejoicing," and "having nothing, and yet possessing all things."

As long as we live on this earth, we will experience the unbreakable connection between trouble and hope. The real hope walks us through.

- Jesus said that if we want to follow Him, we must deny ourselves and take up our own cross. If we try to save our lives, we will lose them. If we lose our lives for His sake, we will find them (Matt. 16:24, 25).

- The author of the Book of Hebrews encourages us to remember that our troubles signal that we are legitimate children of God, who lovingly disciplines us to train us in righteousness (Heb. 12:8–11).
- James challenges us to find joy in our various trials because they produce patience, which in the end makes us mature (James 1:2–4).
- Peter knew firsthand that pressure can cause one's allegiance to Christ to waver. He warns us that "fiery trials" are nothing out of the ordinary. But they can produce extraordinary results in that they allow us to experience Christ's sufferings, so that we can also experience His glory (1 Pet. 4:12, 13).

As long as we attempt to obey Christ, we can count on having to deal with stress. But we can also count on "purity," "kindness," "sincere love," "honor," and "rejoicing.

A Teammate to Count On

2 Cor. 7:6, 7

Paul noted that Titus was dependable (2 Cor. 8:17), reliable (7:6), and diligent (8:17). Titus combined that stick-with-it character with an enormous capacity for friendship and affection (7:13–15). Possessing both strength and tact, Titus brought calm to desperate situations.

Titus also brought an ethnic background that proved useful in the early church. As an uncircumcised Gentile, he accompanied Paul and Barnabas to Jerusalem, where Jewish Christians were debating whether non-Jews could be saved. Paul introduced Titus as a living example of the monumental truth that Gentiles need not be circumcised—that is, become Jews—in order to receive God's grace (Gal. 2:1–3).

Paul later selected Titus to help manage a church established among the wayward population of the island of Crete. Paul encouraged Titus to teach “sound doctrine” (Titus 1:9; 2:1) knowing that correct living results from correct belief. For more on that challenging situation, see the introduction to the Book of Titus.

Christ Became Poor

2 Cor. 8:8, 9

Almost anyone can love people in the abstract. But it is through concrete expressions of love—lending a hand or sharing resources or reminding us of our value—that we may determine the sincerity of someone’s care. To illustrate this point, Paul turned to Jesus, the ultimate model of demonstrated love. Consider what our Lord gave up when He left heaven and took on a human body:

- He left His Father, whose immediate presence Jesus would not experience again for more than thirty years. Would you willingly endure separation from a father who loves you so that you could help people who would treat you as a stranger and a lunatic?
- He left a joyful crowd that included the patriarchs, redeemed saints, and the angelic hosts—created beings who surrounded Him with worship and fellowship prior to His incarnation. Would you leave a place of adoration to help people who would despise and reject you?
- He left His pre-incarnate existence, taking on a physical body plagued by pain and limitations. Would you endure hunger, thirst, and physical agony to help people who would eventually torture and kill you?

Christ’s willingness to became poor puts into perspective His command to the rich young ruler to sell all he had and give the proceeds to the poor (Mark 10:21). It drives home His instruction that His disciples sell their possessions and give alms, providing themselves not with earthly riches but with treasure in heaven (Luke 12:33). Jesus asks us to put others first through actions as well as words—something He has already done for us beyond all measure. His love is truly worth imitating.

Reaping the Benefits

2 Cor. 9:6–8

When Paul asked the Corinthians to give generously to help needy Christians, he linked generosity with spiritual benefits, saying that the more we give, the more we will receive.

This principle goes beyond financial giving. It means making time to help coworkers talk through problems. It means making ourselves available to help our kids with homework and to do chores alongside our spouse. It means doing our part in our schools and communities. Every arena of life offers opportunities to give generously—or grudgingly.

We are constant recipients of God's generosity. He promises that if we will give of ourselves, He will supply us with whatever it takes to do the work He calls us to do.

More: Giving generously to gain spiritual benefits does not mean that God rewards godliness with material blessings. See "Giving to Get" at 1 Tim. 6:3–6.

Who Are the Poor?

2 Cor. 9:9, 10

Standing next to most modern Christians, the Corinthian believers would look dreadfully poor. Yet Paul described the Christians of Macedonia as living in "deep poverty" (2 Cor. 8:2), even poorer than the Corinthians. Scripture announces that God "has given to the poor" (9:9). What does that mean?

The word used here for poor referred to day laborers who toiled for a living. They were distinct from the truly destitute. Many workers had a rough life, but their survival was not at risk. The truly poor faced an immediate danger of dying if no one helped them.

Paul described God as dispersing help to the day laborers, giving not food for survival but seed to raise a crop (9:9, 10). God would aid the Corinthians so that they could in turn aid the truly destitute Christians in Jerusalem.

Many Christians today work at well-paid jobs, own their homes, and manage to put away money for retirement. Paul would doubtless call us rich. We may work hard, but we have a disposable income that most first-century Christians could not have imagined. God did not give us these resources solely for ourselves but to meet both immediate and long-term needs, for those who need help to survive and thrive in this world.

Think About It: Just giving money seldom solves a problem. Notice that Paul described God as dispersing help to the day laborers, giving not food for survival but seed to raise a crop. Name several ways to use your money to equip for the long term, rather than for a single day.

Integrity in the Face of Competition

2 Cor. 10:1

Paul faced severe competition at Corinth—the kind that tempts us to do whatever it takes to win. In 2 Corinthians 10–12, he described real threats to his hard work in Corinth:

- Opposing leaders and teachers were making headway. Paul's people were tempted to cross over to them (2 Cor. 10:15; 11:3, 4, 12–15).

- Paul felt this loss deeply (10:2, 3; 11:2, 3, 29).
- He felt threatened (10:8–11, 13–15; 11:5, 6, 16–21).
- He loved the Corinthians and feared losing them so much that he became angry (11:11–15).

Paul defended himself as a faithful servant who had suffered for the Corinthians and the message of Christ (10:13–18; 11:20–30; 12:11). As he wrestled with mixed feelings and sketchy information, he relied on proven principles of godliness and clear communication:

- Paul was passionate about the problem. He wrote extensively to the Corinthians (see the introductions to 1 and 2 Corinthians).
- He attempted to visit Corinth to discuss matters in person (2 Cor. 10:2, 11; 12:14; 13:1).
- He pushed through his awkwardness at defending himself (11:21, 23; 12:7–10) and encouraged the Corinthians to examine his work among them in order to gauge his loyalty and integrity (10:13, 15; 11:22–27).
- He clearly disclosed the finances of his previous work in Corinth (11:7–9; 1 Cor. 16:1–4, 16).
- He appealed for a method of negotiation that would honor Christ (2 Cor. 10:3, 4; 13:8–10).
- He urged in-depth analysis of the situation (10:7; 13:1, 5, 8).

Paul faced a real temptation to use any means necessary to prevent Christians from being hurt in Corinth, a tension we can feel as we read his letters to them. But Paul went to battle against his internal struggles so that he could rise above underhanded tactics. He avoided viciousness, choosing to act with Christlike values.

Strength Through Weakness

2 Cor. 12:7–10

The modern world worships the physical power of athletes, the financial invincibility of companies, the political stamina of officeholders, and the military potency of armies. But Paul put a different twist on the idea of strength when he said that weakness can make a person strong.

Most of us have no problem with God using our natural strengths. But we often balk when He pushes us to do something that makes us feel our weaknesses. Moses claimed to be a poor speaker, yet God picked him to address the pharaoh of Egypt (Ex. 4:10). Peter was impulsive and even hot-headed, yet God chose him as one of the chief builders of the early church.

Paul's own weakness, or "thorn," could have been anything—a physical pain or sickness, an emotional instability, a doubt, a struggle with temptation, or some other type of problem. Whatever it was, persistent prayer did not bring relief. But through the apostle's struggle, Paul called upon God. God taught him about the sufficiency of His grace.

Spiritual Authority

2 Cor. 13:10

All of us who exercise leadership among other Christians should take note of Paul's comment about his authority. Paul felt frustrated when people rejected his lead, as the Corinthians had. As an apostle, he was appointed to a position of spiritual authority over them. He felt this responsibility deeply. At times that led him to deal severely with them (1 Cor. 4:21; 5:5; Titus 1:13).

But Paul matured in how he exercised authority, especially as he grew up in the faith. He did not lord his power over others or leverage his authority for personal advantage. He did not use his position as an excuse to let his anger fly. He instead recognized that spiritual authority is given "for edification and not for destruction" (2 Cor. 13:10; compare 10:8). God gives us authority so that we can build others up, not tear them down.

More: Paul's method of leadership reflected the unique style of authority encouraged by Jesus. See "Leaders Serve" at Matt. 20:25–28.

Christian history offers countless examples of attempts to add requirements for salvation that go beyond the gospel. These claims almost always include an appeal to Scripture, but whether they are well-intentioned or not, they inevitably distort the faith and damage those swayed by false teaching.

The first-century Galatians faced this threat from Judaizers, false teachers who insisted that belief in Jesus was inadequate for salvation. They taught that people could not please God without also keeping the Law. To the Judaizers, this point made perfect sense. For centuries, Jews had held to the Law as the path to favor with God (compare Deut. 6:1–9; 30:15–20; Mark 12:28–34; Luke 10:25–28). The Judaizers perceived Jesus as building on the Law but not replacing it.

Their teaching disturbed new Christians in Galatia who had responded to Paul's message (Acts 13:13–14:26). If what the Judaizers said was true, Paul was wrong and Christ alone did not really make a person right with God. Paul was outraged and zealous to defend the integrity of the gospel. So he composed the letter we now call Galatians (Gal. 1:1, 2).

The Book of Galatians emphasizes that only Christ—nothing more and nothing less—is sufficient for salvation. Centuries later, after the church had once again embraced add-ons to the faith, a young priest named Martin Luther claimed Galatians for his own, calling it the Magna Carta of Christian liberty. His work helped begin a reformation of faith that taught salvation by grace rather than as a reward for human effort.

Every generation is tempted to classify Christians by their outward expressions of faith. Some are considered better believers than others. This segregation of the church nearly always results from add-ons to the simple, pure gospel of Christ. But it is only when we hold to Christ alone that we can expect real growth as individuals and communities, living by "the fruit of the Spirit" rather than by the Law (5:18, 22, 23).

The Book of Galatians is one of our best sources of information about Paul's life immediately following his conversion (1:11–2:14). The date of the epistle depends on its recipients—a difficult issue to settle because the name Galatia (1:2) is ambiguous. It could refer to a people (Celts living in northern Asia Minor) or to an area (the Roman province of Galatia in southern Asia Minor, a region that included other ethnic groups). We are not sure if Paul ever traveled to northern Galatia, but we do know that he visited southern Galatia (Acts 13–14; 16:1–5).

It seems likely that Paul's letter was circulated among these southern Galatians, which implies that Galatians was written before the council at Jerusalem (c. A.D. 49; Acts 15). If it had been written after that gathering, Paul probably would have cited the council's decision to accept Gentiles into the faith as support for his argument. Given this timing, Galatians may be Paul's earliest surviving letter, written perhaps around A.D. 48.

Key Verses in Galatians

- "I have been crucified with Christ; it is no longer I who live, but Christ lives in me" (Gal. 2:20).
- "The law was our tutor to bring us to Christ, that we might be justified by faith" (Gal. 3:24).
- "There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is neither male nor female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus" (Gal. 3:28).

- "Walk in the Spirit, and you shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh" (Gal. 5:16).
- "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control" (Gal. 5:22, 23).
- "Do not be deceived, God is not mocked; for whatever a man sows, that he will also reap" (Gal. 6:7).
- "Let us do good to all, especially to those who are of the household of faith" (Gal. 6:10).

Galatians 1

Greeting

1 Paul, an apostle (not from men nor through man, but through Jesus Christ and God the Father who raised Him from the dead),
2 and all the brethren who are with me,
To the churches of Galatia:

3 Grace to you and peace from God the Father and our Lord Jesus Christ,

4 who gave Himself for our sins, that He might deliver us from this present evil age, according to the will of our God and Father,
5 to whom be glory forever and ever. Amen.

Only One Gospel

6 I marvel that you are turning away so soon from Him who called you in the grace of Christ, to a different gospel, 7 which is not another; but there are some who trouble you and want to pervert the gospel of Christ.
8 But even if we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel to you than what we have preached to you, let him be accursed.
9 As we have said before, so now I say again, if anyone preaches any other gospel to you than what you have received, let him be accursed.
10 For do I now persuade men, or God? Or do I seek to please men? For if I still pleased men, I would not be a bondservant of Christ.

Call to Apostleship

11But I make known to you, brethren, that the gospel which was preached by me is not according to man. Even Those Who Fall Short Can Be Spiritual Giants

12For I neither received it from man, nor was I taught it, but it came through the revelation of Jesus Christ.

13For you have heard of my former conduct in Judaism, how I persecuted the church of God beyond measure and tried to destroy it. An Extremist Transformed

14And I advanced in Judaism beyond many of my contemporaries in my own nation, being more exceedingly zealous for the traditions of my fathers.

15But when it pleased God, who separated me from my mother's womb and called me through His grace,

16to reveal His Son in me, that I might preach Him among the Gentiles, I did not immediately confer with flesh and blood, 17nor did I go up to Jerusalem to those who were apostles before me; but I went to Arabia, and returned again to Damascus.

Contacts at Jerusalem

18Then after three years I went up to Jerusalem to see Peter,[a] and remained with him fifteen days.

19But I saw none of the other apostles except James, the Lord's brother.

20(Now concerning the things which I write to you, indeed, before God, I do not lie.)

21Afterward I went into the regions of Syria and Cilicia.

22And I was unknown by face to the churches of Judea which were in Christ.

23But they were hearing only, "He who formerly persecuted us now preaches the faith which he once tried to destroy.”

24 And they glorified God in me.

Galatians 2

Defending the Gospel

1Then after fourteen years I went up again to Jerusalem with Barnabas, and also took Titus with me. Christians in Conflict

2And I went up by revelation, and communicated to them that gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but privately to those who were of reputation, lest by any means I might run, or had run, in vain.

3Yet not even Titus who was with me, being a Greek, was compelled to be circumcised.

4And this occurred because of false brethren secretly brought in (who came in by stealth to spy out our liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage), 5to whom we did not yield submission even for an hour, that the truth of the gospel might continue with you.

6But from those who seemed to be something—whatever they were, it makes no difference to me; God shows personal favoritism to no man—for those who seemed to be something added nothing to me.

7But on the contrary, when they saw that the gospel for the uncircumcised had been committed to me, as the gospel for the circumcised was to Peter

8(for He who worked effectively in Peter for the apostleship to the circumcised also worked effectively in me toward the Gentiles), 9and when James, Cephas, and John, who seemed to be pillars, perceived the grace that had been given to me, they gave me and Barnabas the right hand of fellowship, that we should go to the Gentiles and they to the circumcised.

10 They desired only that we should remember the poor, the very thing which I also was eager to do.

No Return to the Law

11 Now when Peter[a] had come to Antioch, I withstood him to his face, because he was to be blamed; 12 for before certain men came from James, he would eat with the Gentiles; but when they came, he withdrew and separated himself, fearing those who were of the circumcision. The Circumcision 13 And the rest of the Jews also played the hypocrite with him, so that even Barnabas was carried away with their hypocrisy.
14 But when I saw that they were not straightforward about the truth of the gospel, I said to Peter before them all, "If you, being a Jew, live in the manner of Gentiles and not as the Jews, why do you[b] compel Gentiles to live as Jews?[c]
15 "We who are Jews by nature, and not sinners of the Gentiles,
16 "knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law but by faith in Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Christ Jesus, that we might be justified by faith in Christ and not by the works of the law; for by the works of the law no flesh shall be justified.
17 "But if, while we seek to be justified by Christ, we ourselves also are found sinners, is Christ therefore a minister of sin? Certainly not!
18 "For if I build again those things which I destroyed, I make myself a transgressor.
19 "For I through the law died to the law that I might live to God.
20 "I have been crucified with Christ; it is no longer I who live, but Christ lives in me; and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by faith in the Son of God, who loved me and gave Himself for me.

21 “I do not set aside the grace of God; for if righteousness comes through the law, then Christ died in vain.”

Galatians 3

Justification by Faith

1O foolish Galatians! Who has bewitched you that you should not obey the truth,[a] before whose eyes Jesus Christ was clearly portrayed among you[b] as crucified? A Strong Rebuke

2This only I want to learn from you: Did you receive the Spirit by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith?

3Are you so foolish? Having begun in the Spirit, are you now being made perfect by the flesh?

4Have you suffered so many things in vain—if indeed it was in vain?

5Therefore He who supplies the Spirit to you and works miracles among you, does He do it by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith?—

6just as Abraham “believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness.”[c]

7Therefore know that only those who are of faith are sons of Abraham.

8And the Scripture, foreseeing that God would justify the Gentiles by faith, preached the gospel to Abraham beforehand, saying, “In you all the nations shall be blessed.”[d]

9So then those who are of faith are blessed with believing Abraham.

The Law Brings a Curse

10For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse; for it is written, “Cursed is everyone who does not continue in all things which are written in the book of the law, to do them.”[e]

11 But that no one is justified by the law in the sight of God is evident, for “the just shall live by faith.”[f] 12 Yet the law is not of faith, but “the man who does them shall live by them.”[g] 13 Christ has redeemed us from the curse of the law, having become a curse for us (for it is written, “Cursed is everyone who hangs on a tree”[h]), 14 that the blessing of Abraham might come upon the Gentiles in Christ Jesus, that we might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith.

The Changeless Promise

15 Brethren, I speak in the manner of men: Though it is only a man’s covenant, yet if it is confirmed, no one annuls or adds to it.
16 Now to Abraham and his Seed were the promises made. He does not say, “And to seeds,” as of many, but as of one, “And to your Seed,”[i] who is Christ.
17 And this I say, that the law, which was four hundred and thirty years later, cannot annul the covenant that was confirmed before by God in Christ,[j] that it should make the promise of no effect.
18 For if the inheritance is of the law, it is no longer of promise; but God gave it to Abraham by promise.

Purpose of the Law

19 What purpose then does the law serve? It was added because of transgressions, till the Seed should come to whom the promise was made; and it was appointed through angels by the hand of a mediator.
20 Now a mediator does not mediate for one only, but God is one.
21 Is the law then against the promises of God? Certainly not! For if there had been a law given which could have given life, truly righteousness would have been by the law.

22 But the Scripture has confined all under sin, that the promise by faith in Jesus Christ might be given to those who believe.
23 But before faith came, we were kept under guard by the law, kept for the faith which would afterward be revealed.
24 Therefore the law was our tutor to bring us to Christ, that we might be justified by faith.
25 But after faith has come, we are no longer under a tutor.

Sons and Heirs

26 For you are all sons of God through faith in Christ Jesus.
27 For as many of you as were baptized into Christ have put on Christ.
28 There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is neither male nor female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus. We Are Family
29 And if you are Christ's, then you are Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise.

Galatians 4

1 Now I say that the heir, as long as he is a child, does not differ at all from a slave, though he is master of all, 2 but is under guardians and stewards until the time appointed by the father.
3 Even so we, when we were children, were in bondage under the elements of the world.
4 But when the fullness of the time had come, God sent forth His Son, born[a] of a woman, born under the law, 5 to redeem those who were under the law, that we might receive the adoption as sons.
6 And because you are sons, God has sent forth the Spirit of His Son into your hearts, crying out, “Abba, Father!” 7 Therefore you are no longer a slave but a son, and if a son, then an heir of[b] God through Christ.

Fears for the Church

8 But then, indeed, when you did not know God, you served those which by nature are not gods.
9 But now after you have known God, or rather are known by God, how is it that you turn again to the weak and beggarly elements, to which you desire again to be in bondage?
10 You observe days and months and seasons and years.
11 I am afraid for you, lest I have labored for you in vain.
12 Brethren, I urge you to become like me, for I became like you. You have not injured me at all.
13 You know that because of physical infirmity I preached the gospel to you at the first.
14 And my trial which was in my flesh you did not despise or reject, but you received me as an angel of God, even as Christ Jesus.

15 What[c] then was the blessing you enjoyed? For I bear you witness that, if possible, you would have plucked out your own eyes and given them to me.

16 Have I therefore become your enemy because I tell you the truth?

17 They zealously court you, but for no good; yes, they want to exclude you, that you may be zealous for them.

18 But it is good to be zealous in a good thing always, and not only when I am present with you.

19 My little children, for whom I labor in birth again until Christ is formed in you,

20 I would like to be present with you now and to change my tone; for I have doubts about you.

Two Covenants

21 Tell me, you who desire to be under the law, do you not hear the law?

22 For it is written that Abraham had two sons: the one by a bondwoman, the other by a freewoman.

23 But he who was of the bondwoman was born according to the flesh, and he of the freewoman through promise,

24 which things are symbolic. For these are the[d] two covenants: the one from Mount Sinai which gives birth to bondage, which is Hagar—

25 for this Hagar is Mount Sinai in Arabia, and corresponds to Jerusalem which now is, and is in bondage with her children— The Jerusalem Above

26 but the Jerusalem above is free, which is the mother of us all.

27 For it is written:

> "Rejoice, O barren,
> You who do not bear!

Break forth and shout,
You who are not in labor!
For the desolate has many more children
Than she who has a husband."[e]

28 Now we, brethren, as Isaac was, are children of promise.
29 But, as he who was born according to the flesh then persecuted him who was born according to the Spirit, even so it is now.
30 Nevertheless what does the Scripture say? "Cast out the bondwoman and her son, for the son of the bondwoman shall not be heir with the son of the freewoman."[f]
31 So then, brethren, we are not children of the bondwoman but of the free.

Galatians 5

Christian Liberty

1 Stand fast therefore in the liberty by which Christ has made us free,[a] and do not be entangled again with a yoke of bondage.
2 Indeed I, Paul, say to you that if you become circumcised, Christ will profit you nothing.
3 And I testify again to every man who becomes circumcised that he is a debtor to keep the whole law.
4 You have become estranged from Christ, you who attempt to be justified by law; you have fallen from grace.
5 For we through the Spirit eagerly wait for the hope of righteousness by faith.
6 For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision nor uncircumcision avails anything, but faith working through love.

Love Fulfills the Law

7 You ran well. Who hindered you from obeying the truth?
8 This persuasion does not come from Him who calls you.
9 A little leaven leavens the whole lump.
10 I have confidence in you, in the Lord, that you will have no other mind; but he who troubles you shall bear his judgment, whoever he is.
11 And I, brethren, if I still preach circumcision, why do I still suffer persecution? Then the offense of the cross has ceased.
12 I could wish that those who trouble you would even cut themselves off!
13 For you, brethren, have been called to liberty; only do not use liberty as an opportunity for the flesh, but through love serve one another.

14For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.”[b]

15But if you bite and devour one another, beware lest you be consumed by one another!

Walking in the Spirit

16I say then: Walk in the Spirit, and you shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh.

17For the flesh lusts against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh; and these are contrary to one another, so that you do not do the things that you wish.

18But if you are led by the Spirit, you are not under the law. Ten Freedoms

19Now the works of the flesh are evident, which are: adultery,[c] fornication, uncleanness, lewdness,

20idolatry, sorcery, hatred, contentions, jealousies, outbursts of wrath, selfish ambitions, dissensions, heresies,

21envy, murders,[d] drunkenness, revelries, and the like; of which I tell you beforehand, just as I also told you in time past, that those who practice such things will not inherit the kingdom of God.

22But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, New Creatures with New Character

23gentleness, self-control. Against such there is no law.

24And those who are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with its passions and desires.

25If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit.

26Let us not become conceited, provoking one another, envying one another.

Galatians 6

Bear and Share Burdens

[1]Brethren, if a man is overtaken in any trespass, you who are spiritual restore such a one in a spirit of gentleness, considering yourself lest you also be tempted. Stay on Guard

[2]Bear one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ.

[3]For if anyone thinks himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceives himself.

[4]But let each one examine his own work, and then he will have rejoicing in himself alone, and not in another.

[5]For each one shall bear his own load.

Be Generous and Do Good

6Let him who is taught the word share in all good things with him who teaches.

[7]Do not be deceived, God is not mocked; for whatever a man sows, that he will also reap.

[8]For he who sows to his flesh will of the flesh reap corruption, but he who sows to the Spirit will of the Spirit reap everlasting life.

[9]And let us not grow weary while doing good, for in due season we shall reap if we do not lose heart.

[10]Therefore, as we have opportunity, let us do good to all, especially to those who are of the household of faith.

Glory Only in the Cross

11See with what large letters I have written to you with my own hand!

12As many as desire to make a good showing in the flesh, these would compel you to be circumcised, only that they may not suffer persecution for the cross of Christ.
13For not even those who are circumcised keep the law, but they desire to have you circumcised that they may boast in your flesh.
14But God forbid that I should boast except in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom[a] the world has been crucified to me, and I to the world.
15For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision nor uncircumcision avails anything, but a new creation.

Blessing and a Plea

16And as many as walk according to this rule, peace and mercy be upon them, and upon the Israel of God.
17From now on let no one trouble me, for I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus.
18Brethren, the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

Even Those Who Fall Short Can Be Spiritual Giants

Gal. 1:11–24

Biblical accounts of people who struggled to live for God are intended to encourage us, but comparing ourselves to giants of the faith often intimidates us. Paul, for example, was a brilliant scholar, a fervent evangelist, a compassionate pastor, a competent businessman, and a diplomatic statesman. When he urges us to follow his example as he follows Christ's example (1 Cor. 11:1), his suggestion sounds more than a little unrealistic. But we should not overlook the fact that Paul grew in his faith with considerable difficulty. Note his acute awareness of his own failings over the years:

- c. A.D. 55: "I am the least of the apostles" (1 Cor. 15:9).
- c. A.D. 57: "I know that in me . . . nothing good dwells" (Rom. 7:18).
- c. A.D. 60: "[I] am less than the least of all the saints" (Eph. 3:8).
- c. A.D. 63: "Jesus came . . . to save sinners, of whom I am chief" (1 Tim. 1:15).

Paul was perhaps more average than we might think. Look carefully at some of the highs and lows of his life (see his profile at Acts 13:9). Change a few particulars and his story could be anyone's—all because Paul was as human as any of us. His breathtaking commitment did not develop overnight. He faced challenges that forced him to grow and change, and he experienced his fair share of pain and anxiety. If there is hope for him, then there is hope for us.

More: One essential factor in Paul's growth was the painstaking guidance of a more mature Christian. See "Barnabas: A Model of Mentoring" at Acts 9:27.

An Extremist Transformed

Gal. 1:13–17

Paul sets up his message to the Galatians by recounting his dramatic meeting with Christ on the road to Damascus and his subsequent conversion (Acts 9:1–30). In those long hours he must have been under deep spiritual strain. He learned that the reports that Jesus had risen were true. He realized he had dedicated his life to killing the Messiah's followers. It was a life-altering experience for one "advanced in Judaism" and "exceedingly zealous for the traditions" of his fathers (Gal. 1:14).

That may be why God struck Paul with blindness for three days. He had much to sort out after meeting the risen Lord. He had to reverse the entire theological basis of his life.

Yet God intended to change more than Paul's theology. He was determined to transform his extremist view of the world. At the heart of Paul's intense hatred of the Christian movement might have been a belief that it would destroy Judaism by mixing it with foreign, Gentile elements (see "Stephen's Trial and Murder" at Acts 6:12).

Imagine Paul's shock when Ananias informed him that God had chosen him to take the message of Christ to none other than the Gentiles (9:15; 22:14, 15; 26:16–18). Such a task would have been unthinkable. Jews like Paul, who were wholly committed to living by all the laws and traditions of Judaism, had nothing to do with Gentiles (10:28). It took years for Paul to reevaluate his perspective and align it with God's (9:26–30; 22:17–21).

Paul's dramatic transformation challenges us to examine the prejudices that keep us from living out God's love for the world. When we find racial and cultural biases where we live, work, or worship, do we challenge that thinking?—or keep silent?—or worse, go along with hatred or even promote it? Do we actually form relationships across cultural and racial lines? Do we become color blind? Can God use us to take His name to every person?

Christians in Conflict
Gal. 2:1–10

Sometimes it feels like the best we can manage in a highly charged situation is to pretend our differences do not exist. But God gives us ways to do better than that. In an exchange with the apostles at Jerusalem, Paul demonstrated how we can actively honor one another when strong convictions are at stake.

Jewish followers of Christ found themselves in the uncomfortable process of discovering that their faith was influenced by an entrenched ethnic and cultural bias against Gentiles—a prejudice exposed by the ministry of Paul and others (Gal. 1:15; see also "Saul's Power of Ideas" at Acts 13:9). Paul went to Jerusalem to discuss his work with leading Jewish believers. Note several elements of their meeting:

1. Paul voluntarily sought out opposing leaders (Gal. 2:1, 2).
2. He met with them privately to discuss a volatile situation (2:2).
3. He sought input from recognized leaders (2:2–9).
4. He evaluated his position and behavior in order to avoid working "in vain" (2:2).
5. He brought along evidence of his position—a Gentile named Titus—causing some to demand that Titus conform to the Jewish rite of circumcision (2:3–5).
6. Clarity did not require uniformity of practice (2:9).
7. The leaders reached agreement on another matter: serving the poor among both Jews and Gentiles (2:10).

Commitment to Christ demands that we respect each other even when we disagree. Will we work in accord with the Lord's purposes? We are in control of how we treat each other—something that matters deeply to God.

The Circumcision
Gal. 2:12

The fact that a group in the early church was known simply as "the circumcision" reflects severe controversy over this rite in the first century A.D. Originally mandated by God as a sign of His covenant relationship with Israel (see "Circumcision" at Gen. 17:9–14), circumcision became a mark of exclusivity not only among the Jews but also among early Jewish Christians.

The Jewish people took enormous pride in this surgical removal of a male child's foreskin, making the ritual a badge of spiritual and national superiority. But their attitude fostered exclusivism rather than compassion to reach out to other nations as God intended. Gentiles were regarded as the "uncircumcision," a term of disrespect implying that non-Jewish peoples were outside the circle of God's love.

A crisis erupted at Antioch when a group of believers from Judea taught, "Unless you are circumcised according to the custom of Moses, you cannot be saved" (Acts 15:1). These people, called Judaizers, were in effect insisting that a person from a non-Jewish background must first become a Jew before becoming a Christian.

A council of apostles and elders convened at Jerusalem to resolve the issue (Acts 15:6–29). Among those attending were Paul, Barnabas, Simon Peter, and James, the leader of the Jerusalem church. To insist on circumcision for the Gentiles, Peter argued, was a burdensome yoke (15:10), a position affirmed by the council.

Years later, the apostle Paul reinforced that decision, telling the Christians at Rome that Abraham, the "father of circumcision" (Rom. 4:12), was saved by faith rather than by circumcision (4:9–12).

Paul also spoke of the "circumcision of Christ" (Col. 2:11), a reference to Jesus' atoning death, which "condemned sin in the flesh" (Rom. 8:3) and nailed "the handwriting of requirements" to the cross (Col. 2:14). Paul declared that the new covenant of Christ's blood makes forgiveness available to both Jew and Gentile and renders circumcision unnecessary. All that matters is a changed nature—a new creation that makes all believers one in Christ (Eph. 2:14–18).

Think About It: What terms of derision do you speak about brother and sister believers, whether to their faces or behind their backs? What terms of love will you deliberately speak instead and begin the process of seeing them as deeply loved?

A Strong Rebuke

Gal. 3:1

Paul had no tolerance for people who altered the gospel. In the Book of Galatians and elsewhere, he fiercely rebuked both those who corrupted the truth about Jesus, and their followers. Note his passion and directness:

- "I marvel that you are turning away so soon from [Christ] . . . to a different gospel" (Gal. 1:6).
- "Even if we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel to you than what we have preached to you, let him be accursed" (1:8).
- "As we have said before, so now I say again, if anyone preaches any other gospel to you than what you have received, let him be accursed" (1:9).
- "O foolish Galatians! Who has bewitched you . . . ?" (3:1).
- "I am afraid for you, lest I have labored for you in vain" (4:11).
- "I would like to be present with you now and to change my tone; for I have doubts about you" (4:20).
- "I could wish that those who trouble you would even cut themselves off!" (5:12).
- "Beware of dogs, beware of evil workers, beware of the mutilation!" (Phil. 3:2).

God calls Christians to be kind, humble, meek, and longsuffering; to bear with one another, forgive each other, and above all to love one another as they seek unity within congregations and the church at large (Col. 3:12–15). But they are also called to "stand fast" in the faith (1 Cor. 16:13) and in their liberty in Christ (Gal. 5:1), and to "contend earnestly for the faith" (Jude 3). That sometimes entails firmness and open management of conflict when the saving truth of the gospel is under attack.

Paul's forceful defense of the faith obliges us to ask how we deal with challenges to truth. Many modern Christians let slide all kinds of compromises of biblical principles. Others argue with a superiority that makes matters worse. But true commitment requires us to defend truth and wise practice against all who twist and misuse it.

We Are Family

Gal. 3:28

Christianity brings liberation from the divisions and categories that have kept people apart since the world began. Because of Christ, three major social distinctions no longer matter:

- Ethnicity: “neither Jew nor Greek.”
- Socioeconomic status: “neither slave nor free.”
- Gender: “neither male nor female.”

These were all chasms within first-century culture that quickly carried over into the church. But as Paul told his readers, “You are all one in Christ Jesus.”

Faith in Jesus makes us children of God and brings us all into the same family. We are no longer divided by ethnicity, social status, or gender. We are now brothers and sisters in God’s family.

Baptism is a powerful symbol of that new unity (Gal. 3:27). In baptism a person affirms the lordship of Christ and his or her commitment to a new way of life. Paul might have been quoting a first-century baptismal creed when he urged us to “put on Christ” not simply in word but in deed.

In early Christian communities, this new unity brought shocking changes to how people related to each other. Suddenly, Gentiles and Jews could stand before God together. Both slaves and masters could pray or prophesy. Both women and men could enjoy full membership in the body of Christ, who “is all and in all” (Col. 3:11). The breaking down of traditional barriers was more than a future hope. The early church worked to make it a present reality. Today we can continue this work of breaking down barriers, and of forming friendships that demonstrate that the church is an embodiment of God’s kingdom and is far more than a human institution.

The Jerusalem Above
Gal. 4:25, 26

Paul distinguished between a "Jerusalem which now is" and "the Jerusalem above." The background to these terms was his fury over teachers who had come from Jerusalem to enforce a Jewish agenda on new Christians in Galatia. These teachers claimed that a person could not become a Christian unless he first became a Jew. The "Jerusalem which now is" referred to those teachers. They had enslaved Jerusalem, and Paul resented their coming to Galatia to subjugate new converts. He spoke of "the Jerusalem above" as a symbol of freedom from both legalism and sin—a sign of God's rule and kingdom.

Ten Freedoms
Gal. 5:18

To live "under the law" means to submit to the crushing expectation of fulfilling God's moral standards through mere human ability. We are doomed to misery if we try to live up to those demands because sooner or later we will fail (Rom. 7:7–24).

Instead of experiencing the freedom of a clean conscience, we feel enslaved to legalism and guilt. With delight, and upon accepting Jesus, the Holy Spirit equips us to embrace and live the heart of each law.

God's moral standards are not the problem; it is our sinful nature that keeps us from obeying. But God lives in us through the Holy Spirit, enabling us to carry out His holy standards, summed up in the Ten Commandments. Walking by the Spirit (Gal. 5:16) makes us able to obey His commands ("the law"). We experience powerful new freedoms to be the person God means for us to be.

	Original Commandment	New Freedoms
1	“You shall have no other gods before Me” (Ex. 20:3).	God is our Helper. If we hold to Him, we discover freedom from anxiety about our future, our relationships, our well-being, and our happiness.
2	“You shall not make for yourself a carved image” (Ex. 20:4).	God is our Teacher. If we hold to Him, we learn truth and avoid being fooled by falsehood.
3	“You shall not take the name of the LORD your God in vain” (Ex. 20:7).	God is our Friend. If we hold to Him, our prayers are not ineffective. We do not try to force Him to help us, and we learn not to selfishly invoke His name.
4	“Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy” (Ex. 20:8).	God is our Master. If we hold to Him, we find fulfillment. We do not work ourselves to death.
5	“Honor your father and your mother” (Ex. 20:12).	God is our Father. If we hold to Him, we experience His love. We thank the people who nurtured us and taught us how to live well in this broken world.
6	“You shall not murder” (Ex. 20:13).	God is our Protector. If we hold to Him, we find freedom from competing with our neighbors and instead act with love.
7	“You shall not commit adultery” (Ex. 20:14).	God is the Author of true happiness. If we hold to Him, we find freedom to pursue true love rather than the distortions of love promoted by the world.
8	“You shall not steal” (Ex. 20:15).	God is our Provider. If we hold to Him, we learn to give instead of take. We find freedom from worry about our material well-being and instead work honestly to earn what we need, with the abilities He has given us.
9	“You shall not bear false witness” (Ex. 20:16).	God is Truth. If we hold to Him, we learn to speak truth and create trust.
10	“You shall not	God is the Giver of every good gift. If we covet" (Ex. 20:17). hold to Him, we discover freedom from greed and instead live with generosity, compassion, and self-respect.

More: Jesus said that God's commandments can be summed up in two basic principles. See "Love God, Love People" at Deut. 5:6–21. God's commands should guide our workplace attitudes and behaviors. See "Ten Practical Commandments" at James 2:8–13.

New Creatures with New Character

Gal. 5:22, 23

When we trust in Christ, we are in Christ. And when we are in Christ, we are new creatures. The old habits and character traits that marked life before Christ pass away. God is in the process of making us entirely new (2 Cor. 5:17). Paul offers several descriptions of what we look like as new creatures with new character:

1 Corinthians 13:3–8: Love . . .

- suffers long
- is kind
- does not envy
- does not parade itself
- is not puffed up
- does not behave rudely
- does not seek its own
- is not provoked
- thinks no evil
- does not rejoice in iniquity
- rejoices in the truth
- bears all things
- believes all things
- hopes all things
- endures all things

Stay on Guard

Gal. 6:1

Paul warns us to be on alert when we correct others who have fallen into sin. We must pay attention to our own susceptibility to temptation even as we work to help others overcome their temptations. See “Escaping Temptation” at 1 Corinthians 10:12, 13.

The roots of new faith are often shallow and unsure. We do not know enough about truth to understand how Christ reaches into every part of our lives, and we often come to a standstill on our journey of growth.

Yet when we have been in the faith longer, we may shrug off what we have come to see as unnecessary disciplines and constraints. We care less about what we can do for God than about what God can do for us. Jesus' significance for people of other times and places fades from our concerns.

Paul's letter to the Ephesians was written for Christians both new and old. By unveiling some of what lies behind life in Christ, Ephesians infuses depth into our day-to-day experience with Christ. For example, this letter explains how all three members of the Godhead participate in salvation through a coordinated, eternal plan. It also reveals the broad, diverse nature of the church, demonstrating how God has brought together people who were once completely cut off from one another. And it makes us aware of the vast forces of evil arrayed against God and His people, and what steps we must take to withstand the "spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places" (Eph. 6:12).

By studying the Book of Ephesians, we discover a foundation for Christianity that goes far beyond any particular culture and ideology. We find a purpose that transcends personal interests and preoccupations, and that spurs us to persevere in the journey of faith—as Paul puts it, to "grow up in all things into Him who is the head—Christ" (4:15).

Paul's authorship of the epistle to the Ephesians is sometimes challenged, in large part because Paul writes as if he and the believers at Ephesus had never met each other face-to-face (1:15; 3:2), and he refers to no one by name except Tychicus (6:21). This does not seem to align with the fact that Paul spent three years in Ephesus helping to plant and nurture the church (see "The Ephesus Approach: How the Gospel Transformed a Community" at Acts 19:8–41).

Yet there are several possible explanations behind this apparent incongruity. One is that Paul intended the letter to be read by a number of churches in Asia Minor, of which the church at Ephesus was simply the most prominent. In fact, Paul may have been referring to the Book of Ephesians when he told the Colossians to read an "epistle from Laodicea" (Col. 4:16).

Assuming that Paul wrote Ephesians, he probably produced it around the same time as Colossians and Philemon. Colossians and Ephesians are parallel in style and content, and both were delivered by Tychicus (Eph. 6:21; Col. 4:7). Paul was in prison at the time of his writing, presumably in Rome, suggesting a date for the book of around A.D. 61.

Key Verses in Ephesians

- "By grace you have been saved through faith, and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God, not of works, lest anyone should boast" (Eph. 2:8, 9).
- "He . . . gave some to be apostles, some prophets, some evangelists, and some pastors and teachers, for the equipping of the saints for the work of ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ" (Eph. 4:11, 12).
- "Speaking the truth in love" (Eph. 4:15).

- “Do not let the sun go down on your wrath” (Eph. 4:26).
- “Do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God” (Eph. 4:30).
- “Do not be drunk with wine . . . but be filled with the Spirit” (Eph. 5:18).
- “Wives, submit to your own husbands, as to the Lord” (Eph. 5:22).
- “Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ also loved the church” (Eph. 5:25).
- “Children, obey your parents in the Lord, for this is right” (Eph. 6:1).
- “Fathers, do not provoke your children to wrath, but bring them up in the training and admonition of the Lord” (Eph. 6:4).
- “Put on the whole armor of God, that you may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil” (Eph. 6:11).

Ephesians 1

Greeting

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God,
To the saints who are in Ephesus, and faithful in Christ Jesus: The New Testament Church Ephesus

2 Grace to you and peace from God our Father
and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Redemption in Christ

3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us with every spiritual blessing in the heavenly places in Christ, 4 just as He chose us in Him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before Him in love,
5 having predestined us to adoption as sons by Jesus Christ to Himself, according to the good pleasure of His will,
6 to the praise of the glory of His grace, by which He made us accepted in the Beloved.
7 In Him we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of His grace 8 which He made to abound toward us in all wisdom and prudence, 9 having made known to us the mystery of His will, according to His good pleasure which He purposed in Himself,
10 that in the dispensation of the fullness of the times He might gather together in one all things in Christ, both[a] which are in heaven and which are on earth—in Him.

11 In Him also we have obtained an inheritance, being predestined according to the purpose of Him who works all things according to the counsel of His will, What's in It for Us?
12 that we who first trusted in Christ should be to the praise of His glory.
13 In Him you also trusted, after you heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation; in whom also, having believed, you were sealed with the Holy Spirit of promise, 14 who[b] is the guarantee of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession, to the praise of His glory.

Prayer for Spiritual Wisdom

15 Therefore I also, after I heard of your faith in the Lord Jesus and your love for all the saints, 16 do not cease to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers:
17 that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give to you the spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of Him, 18 the eyes of your understanding[c] being enlightened; that you may know what is the hope of His calling, what are the riches of the glory of His inheritance in the saints, A Perfect Inheritance 19 and what is the exceeding greatness of His power toward us who believe, according to the working of His mighty power
20 which He worked in Christ when He raised Him from the dead and seated Him at His right hand in the heavenly places, 21 far above all principality and power and might and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this age but also in that which is to come.

22 And He put all things under His feet, and gave Him to be head over all things to the church, 23 which is His body, the fullness of Him who fills all in all.

Ephesians 2

By Grace Through Faith

1 And you He made alive, who were dead in trespasses and sins, Stand Together in Grace 2 in which you once walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit who now works in the sons of disobedience, 3 among whom also we all once conducted ourselves in the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling the desires of the flesh and of the mind, and were by nature children of wrath, just as the others.
4 But God, who is rich in mercy, because of His great love with which He loved us, 5 even when we were dead in trespasses, made us alive together with Christ (by grace you have been saved), 6 and raised us up together, and made us sit together in the heavenly places in Christ Jesus, 7 that in the ages to come He might show the exceeding riches of His grace in His kindness toward us in Christ Jesus.
8 For by grace you have been saved through faith, and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God, 9 not of works, lest anyone should boast.
10 For we are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God prepared beforehand that we should walk in them.

Brought Near by His Blood

11 Therefore remember that you, once Gentiles in the flesh—who are called Uncircumcision by what is called the Circumcision made in the flesh by hands—

12 that at that time you were without Christ, being aliens from the commonwealth of Israel and strangers from the covenants of promise, having no hope and without God in the world.
13 But now in Christ Jesus you who once were far off have been brought near by the blood of Christ.

Christ Our Peace

14 For He Himself is our peace, who has made both one, and has broken down the middle wall of separation, 15 having abolished in His flesh the enmity, that is, the law of commandments contained in ordinances, so as to create in Himself one new man from the two, thus making peace, 16 and that He might reconcile them both to God in one body through the cross, thereby putting to death the enmity.
17 And He came and preached peace to you who were afar off and to those who were near.
18 For through Him we both have access by one Spirit to the Father.

Christ Our Cornerstone

19 Now, therefore, you are no longer strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints and members of the household of God, A Community Temple 20 having been built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ Himself being the chief corner*stone,* 21 in whom the whole building, being fitted together, grows into a holy temple in the Lord, 22 in whom you also are being built together for a dwelling place of God in the Spirit.

Ephesians 3

The Mystery Revealed

1For this reason I, Paul, the prisoner of Christ Jesus for you Gentiles—
2if indeed you have heard of the dispensation of the grace of God which was given to me for you, 3how that by revelation He made known to me the mystery (as I have briefly written already, 4by which, when you read, you may understand my knowledge in the mystery of Christ), 5which in other ages was not made known to the sons of men, as it has now been revealed by the Spirit to His holy apostles and prophets:
6that the Gentiles should be fellow heirs, of the same body, and partakers of His promise in Christ through the gospel, 7of which I became a minister according to the gift of the grace of God given to me by the effective working of His power.

Purpose of the Mystery

8To me, who am less than the least of all the saints, this grace was given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ, 9and to make all see what is the fellowship[a] of the mystery, which from the beginning of the ages has been hidden in God who created all things through Jesus Christ;[b] 10to the intent that now the manifold wisdom of God might be made known by the church to the principalities and powers in the heavenly places,

11according to the eternal purpose which He accomplished in Christ Jesus our Lord, 12in whom we have boldness and access with confidence through faith in Him.
13Therefore I ask that you do not lose heart at my tribulations for you, which is your glory.

Appreciation of the Mystery

14For this reason I bow my knees to the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ,[c] 15from whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named, 16that He would grant you, according to the riches of His glory, to be strengthened with might through His Spirit in the inner man, 17that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith; that you, being rooted and grounded in love, 18may be able to comprehend with all the saints what is the width and length and depth and height—19to know the love of Christ which passes knowledge; that you may be filled with all the fullness of God.
20Now to Him who is able to do exceedingly abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that works in us, 21to Him be glory in the church by Christ Jesus to all generations, forever and ever. Amen.

Ephesians 4

Walk in Unity

1 I, therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you to walk worthy of the calling with which you were called, 2 with all lowliness and gentleness, with longsuffering, bearing with one another in love, 3 endeavoring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace.
4 There is one body and one Spirit, just as you were called in one hope of your calling;
5 one Lord, one faith, one baptism;
6 one God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you[a] all.

Spiritual Gifts

7 But to each one of us grace was given according to the measure of Christ's gift.
8 Therefore He says:

> "When He ascended on high,
> He led captivity captive,
> And gave gifts to men."[b]

9 (Now this, "He ascended"—what does it mean but that
He also first[c] descended into the lower parts of the earth?
10 He who descended is also the One who ascended far above all the heavens, that He might fill all things.) 11 And He Himself gave some to be apostles, some prophets, some evangelists, and some pastors and teachers,

12 for the equipping of the saints for the work of ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ, The True Meaning of Ministry 13 till we all come to the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God, to a perfect man, to the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ; 14 that we should no longer be children, tossed to and fro and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the trickery of men, in the cunning craftiness of deceitful plotting,
15 but, speaking the truth in love, may grow up in all things into Him who is the head—Christ—16 from whom the whole body, joined and knit together by what every joint supplies, according to the effective working by which every part does its share, causes growth of the body for the edifying of itself in love.

The New Man

17 This I say, therefore, and testify in the Lord, that you should no longer walk as the rest of[d] the Gentiles walk, in the futility of their mind, 18 having their understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God, because of the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart; 19 who, being past feeling, have given themselves over to lewdness, to work all uncleanness with greediness.
20 But you have not so learned Christ,
21 if indeed you have heard Him and have been taught by Him, as the truth is in Jesus:
22 that you put off, concerning your former conduct, the old man which grows corrupt according to the deceitful lusts,
23 and be renewed in the spirit of your mind,

24 and that you put on the new man which was created according to God, in true righteousness and holiness.

Do Not Grieve the Spirit

25 Therefore, putting away lying, “Let each one of you speak truth with his neighbor,”[e] for we are members of one another.
26 “Be angry, and do not sin”:[f] do not let the sun go down on your wrath,
27 nor give place to the devil.
28 Let him who stole steal no longer, but rather let him labor, working with his hands what is good, that he may have something to give him who has need.
29 Let no corrupt word proceed out of your mouth, but what is good for necessary edification, that it may impart grace to the hearers.
30 And do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, by whom you were sealed for the day of redemption.
31 Let all bitterness, wrath, anger, clamor, and evil speaking be put away from you, with all malice.
32 And be kind to one another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God in Christ forgave you.

Ephesians 5

Walk in Love

1 Therefore be imitators of God as dear children. Responding to God

2 And walk in love, as Christ also has loved us and given Himself for us, an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweet-smelling aroma.

3 But fornication and all uncleanness or covetousness, let it not even be named among you, as is fitting for saints;

4 neither filthiness, nor foolish talking, nor coarse jesting, which are not fitting, but rather giving of thanks.

5 For this you know,[a] that no fornicator, unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, has any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and God.

6 Let no one deceive you with empty words, for because of these things the wrath of God comes upon the sons of disobedience.

7 Therefore do not be partakers with them.

Walk in Light

8 For you were once darkness, but now you are light in the Lord. Walk as children of light

9 (for the fruit of the Spirit[b] is in all goodness, righteousness, and truth),

10 finding out what is acceptable to the Lord.

11 And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather expose them.

12 For it is shameful even to speak of those things which are done by them in secret.

13 But all things that are exposed are made manifest by the light, for whatever makes manifest is light.
14 Therefore He says:

> “Awake, you who sleep,
> Arise from the dead,
> And Christ will give you light.”

Walk in Wisdom

15 See then that you walk circumspectly, not as fools but as wise,
16 redeeming the time, because the days are evil.
17 Therefore do not be unwise, but understand what the will of the Lord is.
18 And do not be drunk with wine, in which is dissipation;
but be filled with the Spirit, 19 speaking to one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord,
20 giving thanks always for all things to God the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, 21 submitting to one another in the fear of God.[c] A New Perspective on Marriage

Marriage—Christ and the Church

22 Wives, submit to your own husbands, as to the Lord.
23 For the husband is head of the wife, as also Christ is head of the church; and He is the Savior of the body.
24 Therefore, just as the church is subject to Christ, so let the wives be to their own husbands in everything.
25 Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ also loved the church and gave Himself for her,

26 that He might sanctify and cleanse her with the washing of water by the word, 27 that He might present her to Himself a glorious church, not having spot or wrinkle or any such thing, but that she should be holy and without blemish.
28 So husbands ought to love their own wives as their own bodies; he who loves his wife loves himself.
29 For no one ever hated his own flesh, but nourishes and cherishes it, just as the Lord does the church.
30 For we are members of His body,[d] of His flesh and of His bones.
31 "For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh."[e]
32 This is a great mystery, but I speak concerning Christ and the church.
33 Nevertheless let each one of you in particular so love his own wife as himself, and let the wife see that she respects her husband.

Ephesians 6

Children and Parents

1 Children, obey your parents in the Lord, for this is right.
2 “Honor your father and mother,” which is the first commandment with promise:
3 “that it may be well with you and you may live long on the earth.”[a] 4 And you, fathers, do not provoke your children to wrath, but bring them up in the training and admonition of the Lord.

Bondservants and Masters

5 Bondservants, be obedient to those who are your masters according to the flesh, with fear and trembling, in sincerity of heart, as to Christ; Witnessing at Work 6 not with eyeservice, as men-pleasers, but as bondservants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart,
7 with goodwill doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men,
8 knowing that whatever good anyone does, he will receive the same from the Lord, whether he is a slave or free.
9 And you, masters, do the same things to them, giving up threatening, knowing that your own Master also[b] is in heaven, and there is no partiality with Him.

The Whole Armor of God

10 Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might. The Enemy

11 Put on the whole armor of God, that you may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.
12 For we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this age,[c] against spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places.
13 Therefore take up the whole armor of God, that you may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand.
14 Stand therefore, having girded your waist with truth, having put on the breastplate of righteousness, 15 and having shod your feet with the preparation of the gospel of peace;
16 above all, taking the shield of faith with which you will be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked one.
17 And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God;
18 praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, being watchful to this end with all perseverance and supplication for all the saints—19 and for me, that utterance may be given to me, that I may open my mouth boldly to make known the mystery of the gospel,
20 for which I am an ambassador in chains; that in it I may speak boldly, as I ought to speak.

A Gracious Greeting

21 But that you also may know my affairs and how I am doing, Tychicus, a beloved brother and faithful minister in the Lord, will make all things known to you; 22 whom I have sent to you for this very purpose, that you may know our affairs, and that he may comfort your hearts.
23 Peace to the brethren, and love with faith, from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

[24]Grace be with all those who love our Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity. Amen.

The New Testament Church

Eph. 1:1

Scripture tells us more about the Ephesian church community than any other group of believers, giving us our best glimpse of a first-century congregation.

- No fewer than twenty New Testament chapters, covering a period of more than forty years, describe God's work and community at Ephesus.
- More biblical authors wrote about Ephesus than about any other New Testament congregation. Luke devoted three chapters (Acts 18–20) to the details of its founding. Paul wrote a letter to the Ephesians and two letters, 1 and 2 Timothy, to the church's young pastor. The apostle John relayed a message from Christ encouraging and warning the Christians at Ephesus (Rev. 2:1–7).
- The world of Ephesus feels like our own. It is tense with prejudice and political backbiting, governed by an ambitious upper class that often exploits a disenfranchised underclass, and yet often exudes a strong hope for its future.
- The congregation at Ephesus was dedicated to evangelism. Luke reports that the message of Christ spread far inland from that major urban center until "all who dwelt in Asia heard the word of the Lord Jesus, both Jews and Greeks" (Acts 19:10). Revelation and Paul's letters to Timothy suggest that the Ephesian Christians started several other churches. Some historians believe that the fugitive slave Onesimus from Philemon's house church in Laodicea may have been the same Bishop Onesimus who served at Ephesus around A.D. 110 (see the introduction to Philemon).
- Establishing a thriving center of Christianity was costly. Paul devoted more time and energy to Ephesus than to any other city, making at least three visits and remaining on site for three years to lay a foundation for the church. His business partners Aquila and Priscilla contributed enormous help. Paul's protégé Timothy later persevered through many difficulties there and apparently established faithful leadership to succeed him (2 Tim. 2:2; see also the introduction to 1 Timothy).

This ancient church illustrates how we can establish a modern community of faith. Scripture provides us with details of the church's beginnings (Acts 18–20), its needs as it matured (1 and 2 Timothy), and God's warning that its members would need to rekindle their passion for the Lord as time went by (Rev. 2:1–7).

Ephesus

Eph. 1:1

- Major city of Asia between the Croessus Mountains and the Aegean Sea, seated at the mouth of the Cayster River. Today, the site of ancient Ephesus lies six miles inland due to river silting.
- First-century population estimated at 300,000, making Ephesus one of Rome's larger cities.
- Extremely prosperous as a commercial center, provincial capital, and port city of the eastern Roman empire.
- Featured numerous monuments, theaters, and temples, notably the temple of Diana (Acts 19:24–27). Ephesus was an international tourist center so profitable that its leaders opened the first world bank.
- Well-known for religious pluralism, including emperor-worship, mystery cults, occult practices, Hellenized Judaism, and early Christianity.

- A frequent destination for Paul, who stayed there for almost three years while he helped to establish the Ephesian church. He may have been jailed there, and likely wrote some of his letters there.
- Home of several Christian leaders, including Timothy, Erastus, and Onesiphorus.
- Timothy and the apostle John pastored there. The church experienced institutional development but was later admonished for losing its "first love" (Rev. 2:4).
- The Christian population in Ephesus held firm over four centuries. In A.D. 431 a church council held there condemned Nestorianism (a theory that Jesus was two distinct persons rather than one person with two natures—divine and human) as a false teaching.

What's in It for Us?

Eph. 1:11

Obedience to Jesus can be costly. Jesus said, "If anyone desires to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow Me" (Luke 9:23). But at some point it is fair to ask how we benefit from following Christ. The Lord's first followers raised this question. "We have left all and followed You," Peter told Jesus. "Therefore what shall we have?" (Matt. 19:27).

Paul partially answers this question in Ephesians 1:3–14. Much of what God promises to His followers will be given in the future, in another mode of existence. Specifically, Paul mentions our "inheritance" (Eph. 1:11), which means that all that God has prepared for Christ in "the fullness of the times" (1:10) is going to be ours as well (Rom. 8:15–17). This includes salvation from sin (Heb. 1:14), everlasting life (Matt. 19:29), and the kingdom of God (25:34). As hard as it might be to grasp, we will inherit God Himself.

But much more will happen now. We find love, joy, peace, kindness and more. We experience a depth of human relationships as God created them to be. We find a bit of heaven on earth when we work according to "Your kingdom come. Your will be done On earth as it is in heaven" (Matt. 6:10). In these ways and more God lets us glimpse that inconceivable future. The Holy Spirit lives inside us as a guarantee of things to come (Eph. 1:14). He "seals" us, assuring that we remain in God's family and do not lose our inheritance. And as we move toward our day of inheritance, He works in every part of our lives to make us like Christ. Paul describes those real-world changes in Ephesians 4–6.

A Perfect Inheritance

Eph. 1:18

Ancient conquerors often bequeathed territory and other property to children or valued servants (Luke 19:12, 14, 17, 27). These treasures formed their inheritance (Matt. 21:38). Ephesians highlights a similar concept, God's "inheritance in the saints."

God is at work preparing an inheritance—a kingdom—for His Son. It will encompass people from throughout history—those whom the Bible calls "saints," or true believers, whom God has chosen to be His children. Paul wanted the Ephesians—and us—to know that all who believe in Christ will be part of that jubilant crowd.

When humankind rebelled against Him, God could have completely started over and instead created new and perfect creatures to present to His Son. But He chose to gather a people from the fallen masses of humanity. Telling us that we are part of His Son's inheritance is actually a promise: the renovation that He has begun in our lives today will continue until we are perfected, ready to be presented to Christ.

Stand Together in Grace

Eph. 2:1

The few Gentiles in the church during the earliest days of Christianity were often scorned by Jewish believers who found it hard to accept that God had offered salvation to non-Jews. But Gentiles composed the majority of the church in Ephesus (see "The Ephesus Approach: How the Gospel Transformed a Community" at Acts 19:8–41). And the Book of Ephesians details the new life that Christ gave to Gentiles:

Gentiles were . . .	God has . . .
• dead in trespasses and sins (Eph. 2:1, 5). • children of wrath (2:3).	• made them alive together with Christ (Eph. 2:1, 5). • loved them (2:4). • raised them up (2:6). • seated them with Christ (2:6). • made them right with God by grace through faith (2:8, 9). • appointed them to do good works (2:10).
• without Christ (Eph. 2:12). • aliens from the commonwealth of Israel (2:12). • strangers from the covenants of promise (2:12). • without hope and without God in the world (2:12).	• brought them near by the blood of Christ (Eph. 2:13).
• far from God (Eph. 2:17).	• provided access to Himself (Eph. 2:18).
• strangers and foreigners (Eph. 2:19).	• made them fellow citizens with the saints and members of the household of God (Eph. 2:19). • built them into a holy temple, or dwelling place, of God (2:21, 22).

God did not give these privileges to Gentiles separately from Jews but along with them (Eph. 2:5, 6, 21, 22; 4:16). God has torn down the “wall of separation” that divided these groups in order to create a unified body (2:14–16).

These principles were immediately relevant to Jews and Gentiles, but they matter wherever Christians encounter cultural diversity. Ephesians challenges us to see past our differences and stand together in grace. We are to “[bear] with one another in love, endeavoring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (4:2, 3).

Think About It: How, specifically, will you climb over a wall of separation in the next three days?

A Community Temple

Eph. 2:19–22

Paul saw the community of Christians in Ephesus as a monument in the making. Apostles and prophets were the foundation of the building, and Christ was its cornerstone. Jews and Gentiles were chiseled into living bricks and mortar until the entire group would become God’s dwelling.

Suppose Paul visited the churches of the modern world—not the physical buildings, but the people. Would he find us to be a spiritual monument in the making? What would enable us to put aside other cares and concerns to become a holy dwelling for God?

The True Meaning of Ministry

Eph. 4:12

Ministry is God's work done by God's people—serving others with all the gifts, resources, and power that the Lord gives us.

Some people assume that ministry is solely the domain of Christian professionals. But God says that ministry belongs to everyone, and every Christian is a minister. He gives gifts to each and every person to carry out His work (Rom. 12:4–8; 1 Cor. 12).

The job of professional Christian workers is to equip others to do their part in ministry (Eph. 4:11, 12) by teaching Scripture, leading the way around obstacles, imparting vision for spreading Christ's love, and helping people discover and develop the practical skills required to carry out their God-given tasks.

Ministry is the calling, privilege, and responsibility of every member of Christ's body. Some congregations ground people in this truth by referring to professional workers as "staff" or "pastors" and calling all members "ministers."

When believers are baptized, they are ordained into the ministry. Sharing ministry among all mobilizes and affirms the whole church and enriches every place that believers live and work.

Responding to God

Eph. 5:1–18

The Book of Ephesians may be divided into two halves of an overarching presentation on faith. Chapters 1–3 describe what God has done for us in Christ. Chapters 4–6 tell what we are intended to do in response. We are to imitate God just as children mimic the behaviors of their parents. In chapter five, Paul explores some of the patterns of a godly lifestyle:

- We live in love, sacrificing for others just as Christ has done for us (Eph. 5:2).
- We give up selfish pursuits such as immorality and greed (5:3, 5).
- We replace offensive language, flippant chatter, and unkind jokes with speech marked by thanksgiving to God and affirmation of others (5:4, 20).

- We exercise discernment and avoid deception (5:6, 7, 15).
- We abandon situations in which evil is the agenda (5:11, 12).
- We manage our time well (5:16).

A New Perspective on Marriage
Eph. 5:21–29

In many first-century marriages (and marriages throughout history), a wife was primarily valued as a means to produce legitimate children for the husband. Communication, cooperation, and affection were not normal expectations of marriage for women. But new life in Christ called for different patterns in marriage. Paul instructed husbands to love their wives and seek their personal development—a radically countercultural idea.

Each was to submit to the other. Their submission was not a form of subordination but an exercise in gentleness and love.

Witnessing at Work
Eph. 6:5–9

Interacting with others in the workplace is an opportunity for non-Christians to see firsthand how faith makes a real-world difference in us. That is why Paul elsewhere challenges us to godly work habits (see "Your Workstyle" at Titus 2:9–11). But we should never let the act of witnessing get in the way of doing our jobs, as if God sends us to work just to give us a platform for evangelism. Paul challenges us to work with "sincerity of heart" and to stick to the task at hand, which he calls “doing the will of God.” This focus can impress our employers and coworkers far more than words.

The Enemy
Eph. 6:10–13

As Job’s friend Eliphaz observed, “Man is born to trouble, as the sparks fly upward” (Job 5:7). When people face setbacks—financial pressure, job loss, family conflict, injury, illness, emotional pain, death—they cast about for someone to blame, often faulting God or others or themselves. Scripture tells us to consider a different source: the “principalities” and “powers” that roam the heavenly places. Our struggle is not always against God or other people or ourselves but against these “spiritual hosts of wickedness.”

The influence of these entities does not absolve people of responsibility. The point is that human beings are not our enemy. Our real adversaries are sin and Satan. If we intend to stand against them, we must fight them with spiritual weapons appropriate to the conflict (Eph. 6:14–18).

Many people dismiss the idea of a supernatural realm as the fruit of superstition left over from the ancient world. Still others trust unreliable sources of information about the spiritual world. The Bible alone gives accurate insight into the evil forces that exist in this realm and exert a substantial influence on human events. Paul calls them “principalities,” a word often used in the New Testament. Here it refers to fallen angels (Rom. 8:38; Col. 2:15) but elsewhere to human rulers (Titus 3:1, translated as “authorities”) or to any ruler other than God (Eph. 1:21; Col. 2:10).

Sometimes evil powers make their presence obvious, as in demon possession (see “Demons” at Luke 11:14). But Satan and his hosts have other, more subtle means of influencing human activity and carrying out their evil purposes. In the modern world they seem to work through two primary means:

1. Belief systems. By introducing subtle lies into the worldviews that shape both individual lives and entire societies, Satan can ravage the world. Our best protection against this deception is a grounding in biblical truth (Eph. 6:14), which enables us to test the ideas we encounter from religious teachers, educators, government leaders, the media, family, friends, and more.

2. Human institutions and leaders. Satan targets human systems and institutions because of their sway over others. Consider the character and spiritual choices of first-century groups such as the Pharisees (Matt. 23:13–15, 31–36), the Jewish Council (Acts 7:51–60), the Herods, Caiaphas (see "The Religious Power Broker" at Matt. 26:3–5), Pontius Pilate (John 18:37, 38; 19:10, 11; 1 Cor. 2:8), and the Caesars, especially Nero (see his profile at Acts 25:12). Through these groups Satan launched a counterattack to the coming of Christ and the birth of the church.

God has established structures of human authority to carry out good purposes (Rom. 13:1–7), but as long as human beings are in charge, they remain vulnerable to the influence of evil spiritual forces.

As Paul wrote to the Ephesians, he sat chained to a Roman soldier for no other crime than preaching the gospel (Eph. 6:19, 20). In a letter to Timothy he instructed the young pastor to instruct people to pray "for kings and all who are in authority, that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and reverence" because God "desires all men to be saved and to come to the knowledge of the truth" (1 Tim. 2:1–4).

Dark powers endlessly endeavor to subvert God's purposes. But it is pointless to attempt to determine whether a particular incident has been caused by an evil entity. We have a far more constructive strategy for standing against our spiritual enemies: "put on the whole armor of God" (Eph. 6:11). That armor consists of powerful spiritual weapons: truth, righteousness, the gospel of peace, faith, salvation, the word of God, and prayer (6:14–18). By learning to wear and to wield these armaments, we can resist the devil's plans so that when the fight is over, we will still be standing.

In his letter to the Philippians, the apostle Paul focuses on the Christ-centered life, the hallmark of which is joy—a remarkable theme given that he may have been writing while awaiting execution, likely in Rome (Phil. 1:13, 23; 4:22).

The church at Philippi was the first founded on European soil (Acts 16:6–15). This Roman military colony was situated on a major trade route and was home to many wealthy merchants. Paul's first convert was a businesswoman who sold purple, a dye that was as valuable as gold and was used for tribute and international trade (16:14).

Paul neither condemned the wealthy nor attacked profitable commerce. He instead emphasized the preeminence of Christ. Paul knew what it was like to possess status and power (Phil. 3:4–6), but he had also surrendered everything to Christ. He could say that "to me, to live is Christ" (1:21), and that his "chains are in Christ" (1:13). He could "count all things loss" to gain Christ (3:8). The Lord had taken hold of Paul (3:12), and the apostle's sole passion was to bring Him glory (3:8, 9).

Paul longed for his friends to enjoy this luminous experience of Christ. He prayed that they would abound in Christ's love (1:9), adopt Christ's mind (2:5–11), and follow in Christ's footsteps, entering into His suffering, death, and resurrection (3:10, 11). Paul urged the Philippians to make their relationship with Christ part of daily life by becoming increasingly likeminded with Him (2:5–11). Paul may have quoted an early hymn of the church in this passage—possibly even one of the songs he sang while he and Silas were imprisoned during his first visit to Philippi (Acts 16:25).

Paul most likely wrote this letter around A.D. 60. About ten years earlier, he had helped to start the church at Philippi during his second missionary journey (16:11–40). Both he and the Philippian congregation treasured their relationship (Phil. 1:5; 4:15), and Paul returned to the city during his third missionary journey (Acts 20:1, 6). During Paul's imprisonment in Rome, the Philippians sent a gift to comfort him (Phil. 4:18). Epaphroditus, the Philippians' courier, fell ill after delivering the gift, but when he recovered he returned to Philippi bearing this letter (2:25–30).

Key Verses in Philippians

- "He who has begun a good work in you will complete it until the day of Jesus Christ" (Phil. 1:6).
- "To me, to live is Christ, and to die is gain" (Phil. 1:21).
- "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus" (Phil. 2:5).
- "What things were gain to me, these I have counted loss for Christ" (Phil. 3:7).
- "I press toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus" (Phil. 3:14).
- "Let your requests be made known to God; and the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus" (Phil. 4:6, 7).
- "Whatever things are true . . . noble . . . just . . . pure . . . lovely . . . of good report . . . meditate on these things" (Phil. 4:8).
- "My God shall supply all your need according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus" (Phil. 4:19).

Philippians 1

Greeting

1 Paul and Timothy, bondservants of Jesus Christ,
To all the saints in Christ Jesus who are in Philippi, with the bishops[a] and deacons: A Humble Message for a Proud City

2 Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thankfulness and Prayer

3 I thank my God upon every remembrance of you,
4 always in every prayer of mine making request for you all with joy,
5 for your fellowship in the gospel from the first day until now,
6 being confident of this very thing, that He who has begun a good work in you will complete it until the day of Jesus Christ;
7 just as it is right for me to think this of you all, because I have you in my heart, inasmuch as both in my chains and in the defense and confirmation of the gospel, you all are partakers with me of grace.
8 For God is my witness, how greatly I long for you all with the affection of Jesus Christ.
9 And this I pray, that your love may abound still more and more in knowledge and all discernment,
10 that you may approve the things that are excellent, that you may be sincere and without offense till the day of Christ,

11being filled with the fruits of righteousness which are by Jesus Christ, to the glory and praise of God.

Christ Is Preached

12But I want you to know, brethren, that the things which happened to me have actually turned out for the furtherance of the gospel, 13so that it has become evident to the whole palace guard, and to all the rest, that my chains are in Christ;
14and most of the brethren in the Lord, having become confident by my chains, are much more bold to speak the word without fear.
15Some indeed preach Christ even from envy and strife, and some also from goodwill:
16The former[b] preach Christ from selfish ambition, not sincerely, supposing to add affliction to my chains;
17but the latter out of love, knowing that I am appointed for the defense of the gospel.
18What then? Only that in every way, whether in pretense or in truth, Christ is preached; and in this I rejoice, yes, and will rejoice.

To Live Is Christ

19For I know that this will turn out for my deliverance through your prayer and the supply of the Spirit of Jesus Christ, 20according to my earnest expectation and hope that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but with all boldness, as always, so now also Christ will be magnified in my body, whether by life or by death.
21For to me, to live is Christ, and to die is gain.
22But if I live on in the flesh, this will mean fruit from my labor; yet what I shall choose I cannot tell.

23 For[c] I am hard-pressed between the two, having a desire to depart and be with Christ, which is far better.
24 Nevertheless to remain in the flesh is more needful for you.
25 And being confident of this, I know that I shall remain and continue with you all for your progress and joy of faith, 26 that your rejoicing for me may be more abundant in Jesus Christ by my coming to you again.

Striving and Suffering for Christ

27 Only let your conduct be worthy of the gospel of Christ, so that whether I come and see you or am absent, I may hear of your affairs, that you stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel, 28 and not in any way terrified by your adversaries, which is to them a proof of perdition, but to you of salvation,[d] and that from God.
29 For to you it has been granted on behalf of Christ, not only to believe in Him, but also to suffer for His sake, 30 having the same conflict which you saw in me and now hear is in me.

Philippians 2

Unity Through Humility

1 Therefore if there is any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any affection and mercy,
2 fulfill my joy by being like-minded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind.
3 Let nothing be done through selfish ambition or conceit, but in lowliness of mind let each esteem others better than himself. Humility: The Scandalous Virtue 4 Let each of you look out not only for his own interests, but also for the interests of others.

The Humbled and Exalted Christ

5 Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus, 6 who, being in the form of God, did not consider it robbery to be equal with God, 7 but made Himself of no reputation, taking the form of a bondservant, and coming in the likeness of men.
8 And being found in appearance as a man, He humbled Himself and became obedient to the point of death, even the death of the cross.
9 Therefore God also has highly exalted Him and given Him the name which is above every name, 10 that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of those in heaven, and of those on earth, and of those under the earth,
11 and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

Light Bearers

12Therefore, my beloved, as you have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling;
13for it is God who works in you both to will and to do for His good pleasure.
14Do all things without complaining and disputing,
15that you may become blameless and harmless, children of God without fault in the midst of a crooked and perverse generation, among whom you shine as lights in the world,
16holding fast the word of life, so that I may rejoice in the day of Christ that I have not run in vain or labored in vain.
17Yes, and if I am being poured out as a drink offering on the sacrifice and service of your faith, I am glad and rejoice with you all.
18For the same reason you also be glad and rejoice with me.

Timothy Commended

19But I trust in the Lord Jesus to send Timothy to you shortly, that I also may be encouraged when I know your state.
20For I have no one like-minded, who will sincerely care for your state.
21For all seek their own, not the things which are of Christ Jesus.
22But you know his proven character, that as a son with his father he served with me in the gospel.
23Therefore I hope to send him at once, as soon as I see how it goes with me.
24But I trust in the Lord that I myself shall also come shortly.

Epaphroditus Praised

25Yet I considered it necessary to send to you Epaphroditus, my brother, fellow worker, and fellow soldier, but your messenger and the one who ministered to my need;
26since he was longing for you all, and was distressed because you had heard that he was sick.
27For indeed he was sick almost unto death; but God had mercy on him, and not only on him but on me also, lest I should have sorrow upon sorrow.
28Therefore I sent him the more eagerly, that when you see him again you may rejoice, and I may be less sorrowful.
29Receive him therefore in the Lord with all gladness, and hold such men in esteem;
30because for the work of Christ he came close to death, not regarding his life, to supply what was lacking in your service toward me.

Philippians 3

All for Christ

1 Finally, my brethren, rejoice in the Lord. For me to write the same things to you is not tedious, but for you it is safe.
2 Beware of dogs, beware of evil workers, beware of the mutilation!
3 For we are the circumcision, who worship God in the Spirit,[a] rejoice in Christ Jesus, and have no confidence in the flesh,
4 though I also might have confidence in the flesh. If anyone else thinks he may have confidence in the flesh, I more so:
5 circumcised the eighth day, of the stock of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, a Hebrew of the Hebrews; concerning the law, a Pharisee;
6 concerning zeal, persecuting the church; concerning the righteousness which is in the law, blameless.
7 But what things were gain to me, these I have counted loss for Christ.
8 Yet indeed I also count all things loss for the excellence of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord, for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and count them as rubbish, that I may gain Christ 9 and be found in Him, not having my own righteousness, which is from the law, but that which is through faith in Christ, the righteousness which is from God by faith; 10 that I may know Him and the power of His resurrection, and the fellowship of His sufferings, being conformed to His death, 11 if, by any means, I may attain to the resurrection from the dead.

Pressing Toward the Goal

12Not that I have already attained, or am already perfected; but I press on, that I may lay hold of that for which Christ Jesus has also laid hold of me.

13Brethren, I do not count myself to have apprehended; but one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forward to those things which are ahead, 14I press toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus.

15Therefore let us, as many as are mature, have this mind; and if in anything you think otherwise, God will reveal even this to you.

16Nevertheless, to the degree that we have already attained, let us walk by the same rule,[b] let us be of the same mind.

Our Citizenship in Heaven

17Brethren, join in following my example, and note those who so walk, as you have us for a pattern.

18For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ:

19whose end is destruction, whose god is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame—who set their mind on earthly things.

20For our citizenship is in heaven, from which we also eagerly wait for the Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ, 21who will transform our lowly body that it may be conformed to His glorious body, according to the working by which He is able even to subdue all things to Himself.

Philippians 4

1Therefore, my beloved and longed-for brethren, my joy and crown, so stand fast in the Lord, beloved.

Be United, Joyful, and in Prayer

2I implore Euodia and I implore Syntyche to be of the same mind in the Lord.
3And[a] I urge you also, true companion, help these women who labored with me in the gospel, with Clement also, and the rest of my fellow workers, whose names are in the Book of Life. Women and the Growth of Christianity 4Rejoice in the Lord always. Again I will say, rejoice!
5Let your gentleness be known to all men. The Lord is at hand.
6Be anxious for nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to God;
7and the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus.

Meditate on These Things

8Finally, brethren, whatever things are true, whatever things are noble, whatever things are just, whatever things are pure, whatever things are lovely, whatever things are of good report, if there is any virtue and if there is anything praiseworthy—meditate on these things. New Thoughts 9The things which you learned and received and heard and saw in me, these do, and the God of peace will be with you.

Philippian Generosity

10But I rejoiced in the Lord greatly that now at last your care for me has flourished again; though you surely did care, but you lacked opportunity. Finding Contentment

11Not that I speak in regard to need, for I have learned in whatever state I am, to be content:

12I know how to be abased, and I know how to abound. Everywhere and in all things I have learned both to be full and to be hungry, both to abound and to suffer need.

13I can do all things through Christ[b] who strengthens me.

14Nevertheless you have done well that you shared in my distress.

15Now you Philippians know also that in the beginning of the gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no church shared with me concerning giving and receiving but you only.

16For even in Thessalonica you sent aid once and again for my necessities.

17Not that I seek the gift, but I seek the fruit that abounds to your account.

18Indeed I have all and abound. I am full, having received from Epaphroditus the things sent from you, a sweet-smelling aroma, an acceptable sacrifice, well pleasing to God.

19And my God shall supply all your need according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus.

20Now to our God and Father be glory forever and ever. Amen.

Greeting and Blessing

21Greet every saint in Christ Jesus. The brethren who are with me greet you.

22 All the saints greet you, but especially those who are of Caesar's household.
23 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all.[c]
Amen.

A Humble Message for a Proud City

Phil. 1:1

Much of the traffic to Rome from the east funneled through Philippi, which served as a gateway from the Middle East to Greece and Italy. For Christians in this affluent city, Christ came clothed in humility. In the Book of Philippians we meet a Savior who is human, vulnerable, and accessible. He lays down His rights and assumes the role of a servant. Though the world tells us to seek honor and power through selfish ambition and empty conceit, Scripture urges us to find status and dignity through the "lowliness of mind" that characterized Christ (Phil. 2:3).

Humility: The Scandalous Virtue

Phil. 2:3

When Paul praised "lowliness of mind," he invited scorn. Like modern society, Greek and Roman culture exalted the rich and powerful, not the humble. "Lowliness of mind" would have seemed a preposterous contradiction; lowly people, such as slaves, had no intelligence; only the wealthy upper classes possessed education and were worthy of honor.

Humility seemed especially out of place in Philippi. Home to a Roman military colony with the pretentious name of Colonia Augusta Julia Philippensis, the city lived under the jus Italicum ("law of Italy"), creating a miniature self-governing version of the Roman empire. The Philippians would have considered themselves quite important.

Yet Paul insisted that his Philippian readers cultivate humility. He did not advocate a groveling, servile demeanor but that they would see themselves in relation to God. Biblical humility means evaluating ourselves accurately—nothing more, nothing less. It includes teachability. Instead of thinking more highly of ourselves than is warranted (Rom. 12:3), we should recognize the full range of our strengths and weaknesses, successes and failures, and receive instruction on what to do about each. Real humility makes us not self-deprecating but truthful.

Jesus praised the "poor in spirit" (literally "the destitute"; Matt. 5:3), and David expresses such people's humble attitude in Psalm 39:4–6:

> LORD, make me to know my end,
> And what is the measure of my days,
> That I may know how frail I am.
> Indeed, You have made my days as handbreadths,
> And my age is as nothing before You;
> Certainly every man at his best state is but vapor.
> Surely every man walks about like a shadow;
> Surely they busy themselves in vain;
> He heaps up riches,
> And does not know who will gather them.

The prophet Micah said that humility is one of three essential virtues that should rule our lives (Mic. 6:8):

> He has shown you, O man, what is good;
> And what does the LORD require of you
> But to do justly,

To love mercy,
And to walk humbly with your God?

Humility is essential if we want to live with contentment. Scripture insists that we either walk humbly with God—or not at all (Ps. 138:6; Is. 57:15; 1 Pet. 5:5–7).

More: Humility affects three key areas of everyday life: our circumstances, our nature (see "Managing with Original Sin" at Rom. 7:21), and how we see ourselves.

Women and the Growth of Christianity
Phil. 4:3

Euodia and Syntyche (Phil. 4:2) were only two of the many women who had a role in spreading the gospel and leading the early church to maturity. Note the variety and significance of women's involvement:

Activity	Reference
Prayed	Acts 1:14
Received the Spirit	Acts 2:17
Were converted	Acts 2:41
Hosted the church in their homes	Acts 2:46, 47; Col. 4:15
Received help	Acts 6:1, 2
Were thrown in prison	Acts 8:3
Helped the needy	Acts 9:39
Were raised from the dead	Acts 9:40
Aided Paul and his ministry partners	Acts 16:15

Were freed from evil spirits	Acts 16:18
Were often the first converts in a city	Acts 17:34
Traveled with Paul	Acts 18:18
Taught others	Acts 18:26
Carried Paul's letters	Rom. 16:1
Excelled in ministry and were described as "among the apostles" (according to one possible translation)	Rom. 16:7
Worked alongside men to proclaim the gospel	Phil. 4:3

New Thoughts
Phil. 4:8

The new pattern of thinking summarized in Philippians 4:8 is only one of several changes that God works within His followers. See "New Creatures with New Character" at Galatians 5:22, 23.

Finding Contentment
Phil. 4:10–13

Paul sounds relaxed and upbeat in Philippians 4, but earlier in the book he mentions his "chains" (Phil. 1:13). Most scholars agree that

Paul was in prison when he wrote this epistle, probably in Rome. His situation was anything but comfortable—he likely faced a death sentence. That background accentuates his powerful message of joy and contentment.

Paul had experienced wealth and privilege firsthand. He was both a Roman citizen and a prominent member of the Jewish community (3:4–6; Acts 22:3–5, 25–29; 26:4, 5). As an apostle of Christ, however, he had faced extraordinary hardships—jailings, beatings, stonings, forced expulsions, shipwrecks, and more. He had suffered intense emotional and spiritual disappointments (2 Cor. 11:23–33).

Either extreme—living in plenty or in want—tests our character. But Paul had a secret in every circumstance: "Christ who strengthens me" (Phil. 4:13). Rather than worrying about what he had or didn't have, he looked to Christ to satisfy his needs. The result was an unfaltering contentment no matter what his external circumstances were.

Letting our failures and disappointments dominate us draws us away from the God who cares. Yet when times are good, we can feel tempted to forget God, and often forget to be grateful. Human desire is an unruly thing; we seem to never have enough, and modern culture constantly pushes us toward discontent (see "Guard Against Greed" at Luke 12:15). But whether we lack necessities or live in plenty, we have a lifetime to practice the habit of contentment. Whatever circumstances we face, Christ is always enough.

More: Where does contentment end and responsibility begin? Or what about setting goals and taking initiative? See "A Command to Work" at 2 Thess. 3:6–12.

The Colossian Christians had been mixing and matching what they knew of Jesus with ideas and practices adopted from surrounding cultures—with disastrous results. Some fell into extreme legalism, obsessing over rules and doctrines while ignoring the overall spirit of the Christian message. Others abused their forgiveness and freedom in Christ and succumbed to flagrant immorality. Their mingling of the truth with ideas and practices borrowed from other religions compromised the gospel. Their faith became difficult to distinguish from other belief systems.

As the apostle Paul penned his urgent letter to the Christians in Colosse, he overflowed with prayer, imploring God to fill his readers with spiritual understanding so they could live "worthy of the Lord, fully pleasing Him" (Col. 1:10). Then he offered his readers exactly what they needed to enter into this new and better life: he introduced them to a Christ immense beyond imagination.

In modern times, when many subscribe to the ideas that "what's true for you isn't true for me" and "all religions are the same," Colossians couldn't speak more pointedly. The Book of Colossians refuses to minimize Christ, demoting Him to one god among many. Instead, it exalts Him as preeminent Lord of the universe, Creator of all things, the one true God worthy of honor, worship, obedience, and love. And it offers practical insights into following Jesus as Lord over all of life.

Paul hadn't visited Colosse (2:1), so he didn't know the Colossians face-to-face. But for more than two years he lived one hundred miles to the west of Colosse, in Ephesus, where he established a thriving church that had likely carried the gospel to Colosse (Acts 19:10), probably through the ministry of a disciple named Epaphras (Col. 1:7). Paul wrote this letter while in prison (4:3, 10, 18), perhaps from Rome around A.D. 61.

Key Verses in Colossians

- "He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn over all creation. . . . All things were created through Him and for Him" (Col. 1:15, 16).
- "Christ is all and in all" (Col. 3:11).
- "Put on tender mercies, kindness, humility, meekness, longsuffering; bearing with one another, and forgiving one another, if anyone has a complaint against another; even as Christ forgave you" (Col. 3:12, 13).
- "Whatever you do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus" (Col. 3:17).
- "Whatever you do, do it heartily, as to the Lord and not to men" (Col. 3:23).
- "Continue earnestly in prayer, being vigilant in it with thanksgiving" (Col. 4:2).

Colossians 1

Greeting

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, and Timothy our brother,

2 To the saints and faithful brethren in Christ who are in Colosse:

Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.[a]

Their Faith in Christ

3 We give thanks to the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, praying always for you,
4 since we heard of your faith in Christ Jesus and of your love for all the saints;
5 because of the hope which is laid up for you in heaven, of which you heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel,
6 which has come to you, as it has also in all the world, and is bringing forth fruit,[b] as it is also among you since the day you heard and knew the grace of God in truth;
7 as you also learned from Epaphras, our dear fellow servant, who is a faithful minister of Christ on your behalf,
8 who also declared to us your love in the Spirit.

Preeminence of Christ

9 For this reason we also, since the day we heard it, do not cease to pray for you, and to ask that you may be filled with the knowledge of His will in all wisdom and spiritual understanding;

10 that you may walk worthy of the Lord, fully pleasing Him, being fruitful in every good work and increasing in the knowledge of God;
11 strengthened with all might, according to His glorious power, for all patience and longsuffering with joy; 12 giving thanks to the Father who has qualified us to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in the light.
13 He has delivered us from the power of darkness and conveyed us into the kingdom of the Son of His love, 14 in whom we have redemption through His blood,[c] the forgiveness of sins.
15 He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn over all creation. The Cosmic Christ 16 For by Him all things were created that are in heaven and that are on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or principalities or powers. All things were created through Him and for Him.
17 And He is before all things, and in Him all things consist. Sustaining the World 18 And He is the head of the body, the church, who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead, that in all things He may have the preeminence.

Reconciled in Christ

19 For it pleased the Father that in Him all the fullness should dwell,
20 and by Him to reconcile all things to Himself, by Him, whether things on earth or things in heaven, having made peace through the blood of His cross.
21 And you, who once were alienated and enemies in your mind by wicked works, yet now He has reconciled 22 in the body of His flesh through death, to present you holy, and blameless, and above reproach in His sight—

[23]if indeed you continue in the faith, grounded and steadfast, and are not moved away from the hope of the gospel which you heard, which was preached to every creature under heaven, of which I, Paul, became a minister.

Sacrificial Service for Christ

24I now rejoice in my sufferings for you, and fill up in my flesh what is lacking in the afflictions of Christ, for the sake of His body, which is the church,

[25]of which I became a minister according to the stewardship from God which was given to me for you, to fulfill the word of God,

[26]the mystery which has been hidden from ages and from generations, but now has been revealed to His saints.

[27]To them God willed to make known what are the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles: which[d] is Christ in you, the hope of glory.

[28]Him we preach, warning every man and teaching every man in all wisdom, that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus.

[29]To this end I also labor, striving according to His working which works in me mightily.

Colossians 2

Not Philosophy but Christ

1For I want you to know what a great conflict I have for you and those in Laodicea, and for as many as have not seen my face in the flesh, Syncretism: A Dangerous Mix

2that their hearts may be encouraged, being knit together in love, and attaining to all riches of the full assurance of understanding, to the knowledge of the mystery of God, both of the Father and[a] of Christ,

3in whom are hidden all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.

4Now this I say lest anyone should deceive you with persuasive words.

5For though I am absent in the flesh, yet I am with you in spirit, rejoicing to see your good order and the steadfastness of your faith in Christ.

6As you therefore have received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk in Him,

7rooted and built up in Him and established in the faith, as you have been taught, abounding in it[b] with thanksgiving.

8Beware lest anyone cheat you through philosophy and empty deceit, according to the tradition of men, according to the basic principles of the world, and not according to Christ.

9For in Him dwells all the fullness of the Godhead bodily;

10and you are complete in Him, who is the head of all principality and power.

Not Legalism but Christ

11In Him you were also circumcised with the circumcision made without hands, by putting off the body of the sins[c] of the flesh, by the circumcision of Christ, 12buried with Him in baptism, in which you also were raised with Him through faith in the working of God, who raised Him from the dead.
13And you, being dead in your trespasses and the uncircumcision of your flesh, He has made alive together with Him, having forgiven you all trespasses, 14having wiped out the handwriting of requirements that was against us, which was contrary to us. And He has taken it out of the way, having nailed it to the cross.
15Having disarmed principalities and powers, He made a public spectacle of them, triumphing over them in it.
16So let no one judge you in food or in drink, or regarding a festival or a new moon or sabbaths, 17which are a shadow of things to come, but the substance is of Christ.
18Let no one cheat you of your reward, taking delight in false humility and worship of angels, intruding into those things which he has not[d] seen, vainly puffed up by his fleshly mind, 19and not holding fast to the Head, from whom all the body, nourished and knit together by joints and ligaments, grows with the increase that is from God.
20Therefore,[e] if you died with Christ from the basic principles of the world, why, as though living in the world, do you subject yourselves to regulations—21"Do not touch, do not taste, do not handle," 22which all concern things which perish with the using—according to the commandments and doctrines of men?
23These things indeed have an appearance of wisdom in self-imposed religion, false humility, and neglect of the body, but are of no value against the indulgence of the flesh.

Colossians 3

Not Carnality but Christ

1 If then you were raised with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ is, sitting at the right hand of God. The Worth of Work
2 Set your mind on things above, not on things on the earth.
3 For you died, and your life is hidden with Christ in God.
4 When Christ who is our life appears, then you also will appear with Him in glory.
5 Therefore put to death your members which are on the earth: fornication, uncleanness, passion, evil desire, and covetousness, which is idolatry. Everyday Idolatry 6 Because of these things the wrath of God is coming upon the sons of disobedience, 7 in which you yourselves once walked when you lived in them.
8 But now you yourselves are to put off all these: anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy language out of your mouth.
9 Do not lie to one another, since you have put off the old man with his deeds, 10 and have put on the new man who is renewed in knowledge according to the image of Him who created him, 11 where there is neither Greek nor Jew, circumcised nor uncircumcised, barbarian, Scythian, slave nor free, but Christ is all and in all. No Place for Prejudice

Character of the New Man

12Therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, put on tender mercies, kindness, humility, meekness, longsuffering;

13bearing with one another, and forgiving one another, if anyone has a complaint against another; even as Christ forgave you, so you also must do.

14But above all these things put on love, which is the bond of perfection.

15And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to which also you were called in one body; and be thankful.

16Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom, teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord.

17And whatever you do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through Him.

The Christian Home

18Wives, submit to your own husbands, as is fitting in the Lord.

19Husbands, love your wives and do not be bitter toward them.

20Children, obey your parents in all things, for this is well pleasing to the Lord.

21Fathers, do not provoke your children, lest they become discouraged.

22Bondservants, obey in all things your masters according to the flesh, not with eyeservice, as men-pleasers, but in sincerity of heart, fearing God. Codes of Conduct for the Christian Worker The Lord's Employees

23And whatever you do, do it heartily, as to the Lord and not to men, [24]knowing that from the Lord you will receive the reward of the inheritance; for[a] you serve the Lord Christ.

[25]But he who does wrong will be repaid for what he has done, and there is no partiality.

Colossians 4

1 Masters, give your bondservants what is just and fair, knowing that you also have a Master in heaven.

Christian Graces

2 Continue earnestly in prayer, being vigilant in it with thanksgiving;
3 meanwhile praying also for us, that God would open to us a door for the word, to speak the mystery of Christ, for which I am also in chains,
4 that I may make it manifest, as I ought to speak.
5 Walk in wisdom toward those who are outside, redeeming the time.
6 Let your speech always be with grace, seasoned with salt, that you may know how you ought to answer each one.

Final Greetings

7 Tychicus, a beloved brother, faithful minister, and fellow servant in the Lord, will tell you all the news about me.
8 I am sending him to you for this very purpose, that he[a] may know your circumstances and comfort your hearts, 9 with Onesimus, a faithful and beloved brother, who is one of you. They will make known to you all things which are happening here.
10 Aristarchus my fellow prisoner greets you, with Mark the cousin of Barnabas (about whom you received instructions: if he comes to you, welcome him), The Gift of an Ethnic Heritage 11 and Jesus who is called Justus. These are my only fellow workers for the kingdom of God who are of the circumcision; they have proved to be a comfort to me.

12 Epaphras, who is one of you, a bondservant of Christ, greets you, always laboring fervently for you in prayers, that you may stand perfect and complete[b] in all the will of God.
13 For I bear him witness that he has a great zeal[c] for you, and those who are in Laodicea, and those in Hierapolis.
14 Luke the beloved physician and Demas greet you.
15 Greet the brethren who are in Laodicea, and Nymphas and the church that is in his[d] house.

Closing Exhortations and Blessing

16 Now when this epistle is read among you, see that it is read also in the church of the Laodiceans, and that you likewise read the epistle from Laodicea.
17 And say to Archippus, "Take heed to the ministry which you have received in the Lord, that you may fulfill it." 18 This salutation by my own hand—Paul. Remember my chains. Grace be with you. Amen.

The Cosmic Christ
Col. 1:15–18

Aware that the Colossians were struggling to understand Christ's superiority over other spiritual ideologies, Paul delivered a compelling description of their sovereign Lord. The bodily manifestation of the invisible God, the firstborn of creation, first in rank and privilege, Christ created and sustains everything seen and unseen. He possesses all authority, ruling over ecological systems, principalities, and powers.

In Philippians 2:5–8, Paul provided a very different description of Jesus the Servant, Lord over the personal and private, the One who speaks to our hearts, meets our daily needs, and impacts our lives from within. Yet His lordship means faith can never just be a private matter limited to personal holiness, spiritual disciplines, and individual growth. Jesus is both private and public, intimate friend and cosmic ruler.

With Christ as Creator and God of the universe, His followers need no other spiritual guidance than His. And the fact that Christ is at work on a grand scale suggests the kinds of activities that should occupy His followers: feeding the hungry, assisting the poor, working to develop communities. We should be leaders of institutional change, transforming societies and businesses, confronting public injustice, and advocating human rights.

More: Jacob Riis was a journalist and photographer who fought for social reform, believing it required not only economic efforts but also spiritual vision. His work led to many successes for New York City's poor—the demolition of tenements, creation of parks, and decontamination of the city's water supply, for example.

Sustaining the World
Col. 1:17

People often refer to Mother Nature when talking about the natural laws that maintain order and balance in our world. But Paul asserts that the world isn't powered by an impersonal force or random chance. Christ is ultimately the One who holds all things together. Since the first day of creation, He has sustained the world and provided for His creatures (Neh. 9:6; Ps. 36:6; Heb. 1:3). We depend on Him for every breath we draw.

Christ's ongoing work lends tremendous dignity to our own labor, especially since God placed humanity over creation as His managers. He values work that seeks to understand and oversee this world—the climatologist studying humans' impact on the environment, the physicist unlocking the secrets of quantum mechanics, the city planner designing a neighborhood that will promote safety and a sense of community. Whenever we partner with Christ in upholding creation, we reflect His work as Creator, fulfilling our role as those who have been made in the image of God.

Syncretism: A Dangerous Mix
Col. 2:1–23

Colosse was a city swirling with spiritual ideas. Hellenism preserved vestiges of Greek philosophies that extolled the use of reason to understand the mysteries of the spiritual realm, at the expense of faith. A rigid form of Judaism promoted ritual observances as a means to get right with God. Local pagan culture added in occultism and mystical rites. These religious influences often mixed together in a pick-and-choose blend known as syncretism, creating strange, often self-contradictory beliefs and practices. In Colosse, these involved the cultic worship of angels, especially the angel Michael, who was credited with sparing the town from disaster despite frequent earthquakes.

Syncretism threatened to disrupt and divide the Colossian church through arguments over hidden knowledge and holy days. Paul responded by warning the Colossians not to be deceived by "persuasive words" (Col. 2:4) or "philosophy and empty deceit" (2:8).

He reminded the Colossians that Christ embodies all of God's fullness, and through Him we receive everything we need for faith and life, including freedom from false wisdom, idolatry, and feigned humility (2:18–23). After all, Christ has triumphed over every spiritual power. He has won forgiveness for and raised to newness those who believe. The Colossians didn't need the beliefs, rituals, or rules of other spiritual systems to experience God.

Christianity isn't one truth among many; it is the only truth, and its truth is eternal. The gospel supersedes the claims and rituals of manmade religions. This exclusivity can sometimes invite criticism, but the Bible clearly warns against crafting a spirituality that suits our personal preferences rather than the values God loves and desires.

The Worth of Work

Col. 3:1–4

When Paul says to focus on "things above" rather than "things on the earth," we might assume that heavenly things matter and earthly things don't. His words might seem to divide existence into the spiritual and the unspiritual, diminishing the value of how most people spend their days. The lives of pastors or missionaries, for example, might seem more valuable than the lives of people with other occupations. Or spending hours in prayer might seem more meaningful than the time we spend earning a living or engaging with family and friends.

Yet contrary to what some might believe when taking this passage at face value, it does not distinguish between the sacred and the secular. Rather, it contrasts the life that Christ offers ("things above") with the spiritual death of a life spent apart from Him ("things on the earth"). This is made clear by the rest of Colossians

3, where "earthly things" include fornication, covetousness, and wrath (Col. 3:5, 8), and "things above" include tender mercies, kindness, and humility (3:12–15).

We might wonder what our own daily routines have to do with living the life Christ offers. The spiritual value of an action has to do not just with its content but with one's conduct and character while performing it. If Christ is Lord over all of life, then He is also Lord over work. Whatever we do with our days, we can do it "in the name of the Lord Jesus" (3:17) with a concern for His approval and in a manner that honors Him. Even a slave and master are given this opportunity (3:22–25; 4:1), so there can be no doubt that Jesus' concern for our work does not depend on how much or how little influence we believe ourselves to have.

When we labor for God, what we do counts for eternity. We can be confident of these facts:

- God Himself created a time-bound and temporary world (2 Pet. 3:10, 11). Yet He values His work, declaring it to be "very good" (Gen. 1:31; Ps. 119:68; Acts 14:17).
- God promises rewards to people in everyday jobs based on their attitude and conduct (Eph. 6:7–9; Col. 3:23–4:1).
- God cares not only about spiritual needs but about everyday needs as well (Matt. 25:37–40). He cares whether people have food, clothing, and shelter.
- God cares about all human beings (John 3:16; Rom. 5:8). When a job meets people's needs, He values it because He values people.

More: Because God cares about the everyday needs of people as well as their spiritual needs, He gives people skills to meet needs of all kinds. See "People at Work" at Ps. 8:6.

Everyday Idolatry
Col. 3:5

Wanting a bigger house, a newer car, a more prestigious job, an impressive romance, or a more vibrant personality isn't wrong in and of itself. What matters is the attitude that makes us want those things. Rightly managed desire motivates us to be productive. As Proverbs 16:26 says, "The person who labors, labors for himself, for his hungry mouth drives him on." Greed, on the other hand, is desire burning out of control. It's the difference between a small circle of flame that cooks food on the stove and a raging inferno that threatens to destroy the entire house.

Greed is idolatry because it involves surrendering our will to a thing, making it our master, our god, the thing we serve above all else. Greed happens when we judge God to be inadequate and decide we need something more to satisfy our desires. Yet God insists, "You shall have no other gods before Me" (Ex. 20:3). Greed also implies a lack of trust in Him to keep His promises to supply our needs (Phil. 4:19). Therefore, greed is nothing less than an attack on God's character. No wonder Paul warns so sternly against it.

More: From the Bible's point of view, idolatry is letting anything or anyone stand in God's place. This suggests that people practice many forms of idolatry today. See "Modern-Day Idols" at Is. 46:5–10. Jesus gives an unequivocal command against longing for things we don't have. See "Guard Against Greed" at Luke 12:15.

No Place for Prejudice

Col. 3:11

Colosse included people from a wide range of ethnic and cultural backgrounds:

- Greeks, whose cultural heritage dominated the Roman world,
- Jews, who prided themselves as God's chosen people,
- Barbarians, who spoke no Greek and therefore lacked social standing,
- Scythians, a cruel, warlike people from the north, and
- slaves, workers at the bottom of society.

Members of all of these groups became followers of Christ and joined the community of believers at Colosse. But their ethnic prejudices created problems, which Paul listed (Col. 3:8, 9). He gives these attitudes and behaviors blunt and unattractive names:

- anger,
- wrath,
- malice,
- blasphemy,
- filthy language, and
- lying.

Paul challenged this culturally mixed group to shed these attitudes and behaviors like old clothes and put on Christ instead. He might have been alluding to a first-century baptismal creed that reminded converts that they were joining a new family in Christ (see "We Are Family" at Gal. 3:28).

God's family has no place for prejudice, and no place for groups of one ethnicity only. Membership in His family calls for new ways of relating to others, with kindness, humility, meekness, forbearance, and forgiveness (Col. 3:12–17). Whenever we act on these ideals, we take a step toward transforming our church and culture.

More: Paul often challenged new believers to set aside their old ways for a new life in Christ. For an expanded list of what our hearts should look like in this new life, see "New Creatures with New Character" at Gal. 5:22, 23.

Codes of Conduct for the Christian Worker

Col. 3:22–4:1

There is no shortage of biblical instruction for living out our faith at work. Paul and other New Testament writers offer guidelines to both supervisors and their subordinates for honoring Christ in the workplace.

FOR EMPLOYERS AND MANAGERS

Finance

- Pay workers fairly (1 Cor. 9:7–14; Col. 4:1).
- Don't fall in love with wealth (1 Tim. 6:6–10, 17, 18).

Work Relationships

- Aim for holiness in every business transaction (2 Cor. 7:1).
- Treat people kindly (Gal. 5:14, 15; Eph. 4:31, 32).
- Motivate employees with respect rather than threats (6:5–9).
- Evaluate yourself accurately (Rom. 12:3).

Communication

- Verify accusations (Matt. 18:15–35; 1 Tim. 5:19).
- Communicate graciously and truthfully (Col. 4:6).

Responsibility

- Fulfill your legal obligations (Rom. 13:6–8).
- Welcome accountability (1 Cor. 3:9–15).
- Care for the poor and weak (Rom. 12:13; Gal. 2:10).
- Maintain good work so that unexpected needs may be met (Titus 3:14).
- Practice contentment (Phil. 4:12).
- Care for your family and those who rely on you (1 Tim. 5:8).

Management

- Look to the long-term implications of your decisions (2 Pet. 3:8–13).
- Patiently help each employee strive for the best (1 Thess. 5:14, 15).
- Stay open to others' opinions (2 Cor. 5:16, 17; Philem. 10–14).

FOR EMPLOYEES AND WORKERS

Tasks

- Don't exit a situation rashly (1 Cor. 7:17–24).
- Put stress and trouble into perspective (2 Cor. 4:7–18).

Supervisors

- Respect authority (Rom. 13:1–8; 1 Thess. 5:12).
- Work wholeheartedly (Eph. 6:5–8).

- Give employers obedient, hard work (Col. 3:22–25; 1 Thess. 4:11, 12).
- Honor bosses whether or not they follow Christ (1 Tim. 6:1, 2).

Coworkers

- Develop an accurate self-understanding (Rom. 12:3).
- Acknowledge differences and accept the contributions of others (1 Cor. 12:1–8).
- Help others but carry your own load (Gal. 6:1–5).
- Learn to speak appropriately and sensitively (Col. 4:6).
- Treat others with respect (1 Tim. 5:1–3).
- Develop a reputation for good relationships (Titus 3:1, 2).

Responsibility

- Give all of yourself to God (Rom. 12:1).
- Develop the art of discernment in order to live responsibly (Eph. 5:15–18).
- Work as if working for God (1 Cor. 3:13; Col. 3:17).
- Don't let responsibilities overwhelm you (Phil. 4:6).
- Take responsibility for yourself (1 Thess. 4:11, 12; 2 Thess. 3:8, 9).
- Develop godly work habits (Titus 2:9, 10).

Finances

- Live frugally and do not steal (Eph. 4:28).
- Care for your family and those who rely on you (1 Tim. 5:8).

The Lord's Employees

Col. 3:22–24

A significant percentage of people in the Roman empire were slaves. In the city of Rome, possibly half of the population lived in servitude. So it's likely that many early Christians were slaves. While some slaves were skilled artisans or educated workers, most did menial work or hard labor. All had limited rights, and their owners could legally beat or kill them without fear of punishment—the very epitome of a dead-end job. Yet slaves and their work mattered to God. In writing to these workers, Paul redefined their occupational status. They were more than slaves. They were the Lord's employees.

No matter what we do or who we work for, Christ is our real boss. He gives us work as a gift. He created us in His image to be workers, designing us with skills and abilities to accomplish His purposes. He has also sovereignly placed us in occupations where He wants us to do His work. Even if the world accords a job little respect, it still has value and dignity to Christ.

Yet even though Christ is our ultimate boss, He works through human supervisors. They may not act very Christlike. But in working for them, we ultimately work for Christ. So we should ask ourselves: Do we follow their instructions? Do we shirk responsibility when they're not around? Are we more interested in impressing them to gain approval and advancement than in getting the job done? How would our work ethic change if we saw Christ as our supervisor?

Christ asks us to put all of ourselves into our work. If we serve Him in our jobs, we have more reason than anyone to work with integrity and enthusiasm even when the work itself is unchallenging or unpleasant. Christ asks us to labor with dignity, always giving our very best, knowing we work for Him. He notices and rewards our good, faithful work.

The Gift of an Ethnic Heritage
Col. 4:10, 11

Cultural traditions provide people with shared experiences and values that bind them together. As Paul concludes his letter to the Colossians, he mentions three men who shared his Jewish heritage: Aristarchus; Mark, the cousin of Barnabas; and Jesus who was called Justus. Paul says that these were the only Jews still working with him.

Even though Paul was the "apostle to the Gentiles" (Rom. 11:13), he still cherished his Jewish roots. No Gentile could fully appreciate what it meant to grow up within Judaism's traditions. But Aristarchus, Mark, and Justus could. No wonder Paul calls them "a comfort" to him (Col. 4:11).

God never asks us to reject our roots. We can embrace our cultural and ethnic heritage as a rich gift from Him no matter how our surrounding culture regards it. To be sure, we should not use our ethnicity to shut out other people (Gal. 3:28; Col. 3:11). But we also need not hide the background from which God has called us. We need never deny the strengths in a culture.

More: We can embrace our cultural heritage by considering how God has used it to shape us. See "Researching Your Religious Roots" at Heb. 13:24. Several books of the Bible deal with the themes of cultural roots and spiritual heritage. See "Genealogies: Records of God's Grace" at 1 Chr. 1:29 and "Our Hebrew Heritage" at Heb. 1:1–3. Hudson Taylor led successful missionary work in China after he realized that if he demonstrated respect for the cultural heritage of the Chinese people, they would become much more willing to accept him into their community.

Second only to Corinth as the commercial center of Greece, Thessalonica thrived as a free city under Rome allowed to levy its own taxes, mint its own coins, and appoint local magistrates.

Judging from his comments in this letter, the apostle Paul probably felt greater affection for the church at Thessalonica than for any other congregation (1 Thess. 2:7, 8, 11). The Christians there did more than just talk about the gospel—they acted on it, emulating what they had seen in Paul, Silas, and Timothy. The threesome had worked hard to demonstrate an exemplary lifestyle when they brought news about Jesus to the city (2:9–11; 2 Thess. 3:7–9). Their embodiment of Christ's message persuaded many Thessalonians to believe (Acts 17:1–4), and even the unpersuaded recognized a power in the messengers, calling them men who had "turned the world upside down" (17:6).

For a time the gospel did cause radical change in Thessalonica. But after the apostles left and things quieted down, the new believers were forced to learn a fundamental reality of the faith: lasting change takes work.

As the Thessalonian Christians matured amidst a city filled with immorality, greed, and idolatry, Paul held them accountable for long-term progress. He urged his readers to keep hope alive by reminding them of how he had faithfully worked among them (1 Thess. 2:9). They too should keep on working rather than allowing themselves to become weary of doing good (4:11; 5:12–14; 2 Thess. 3:6–13).

The work that Paul called the Thessalonians to achieve was the everyday work of making a living and maintaining a home—an outward day-to-day toil that would bring about inner work. As the Thessalonians went about their everyday responsibilities, the Lord was building their character, a "work of faith, labor of love, and patience of hope" (1 Thess. 1:3).

Both 1 and 2 Thessalonians assert that Paul is their author. He wrote both letters from Corinth (1:1; 2 Thess. 1:1; Acts 18:5). The first was produced shortly after he left Thessalonica following an uprising of Jews and local troublemakers (17:1–7). Timothy had stayed with the new congregation and brought Paul an encouraging report of the young church's steadfast faith (1 Thess. 3:6). Paul responded to this happy news by composing 1 Thessalonians around A.D. 51.

Key Verses in 1 Thessalonians

- "Remembering . . . your work of faith, labor of love, and patience of hope" (1 Thess. 1:3).
- "This is the will of God, your sanctification: that you should abstain from sexual immorality" (1 Thess. 4:3).
- "The Lord Himself will descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of an archangel, and with the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first. Then we who are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. And thus we shall always be with the Lord" (1 Thess. 4:16, 17).
- "Rejoice always, pray without ceasing, in everything give thanks; for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus for you" (1 Thess. 5:16–18).
- "Do not quench the Spirit" (1 Thess. 5:19).

1 Thessalonians 1

Greeting

1 Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy,
To the church of the Thessalonians in God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ:

Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.[a]

Their Good Example

2 We give thanks to God always for you all, making mention of you in our prayers,
3 remembering without ceasing your work of faith, labor of love, and patience of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ in the sight of our God and Father, Work, Labor, and Patience
4 knowing, beloved brethren, your election by God.
5 For our gospel did not come to you in word only, but also in power, and in the Holy Spirit and in much assurance, as you know what kind of men we were among you for your sake.
6 And you became followers of us and of the Lord, having received the word in much affliction, with joy of the Holy Spirit,
7 so that you became examples to all in Macedonia and Achaia who believe.
8 For from you the word of the Lord has sounded forth, not only in Macedonia and Achaia, but also in every place. Your faith toward God has gone out, so that we do not need to say anything.
9 For they themselves declare concerning us what manner of entry we had to you, and how you turned to God from idols to serve the living and true God,

10 and to wait for His Son from heaven, whom He raised from the dead, even Jesus who delivers us from the wrath to come.

1 Thessalonians 2

Paul's Conduct

1For you yourselves know, brethren, that our coming to you was not in vain.
2But even[a] after we had suffered before and were spitefully treated at Philippi, as you know, we were bold in our God to speak to you the gospel of God in much conflict.
3For our exhortation did not come from error or uncleanness, nor was it in deceit.
4But as we have been approved by God to be entrusted with the gospel, even so we speak, not as pleasing men, but God who tests our hearts.
5For neither at any time did we use flattering words, as you know, nor a cloak for covetousness—God is witness. Be a Creditable Messenger 6Nor did we seek glory from men, either from you or from others, when we might have made demands as apostles of Christ.
7But we were gentle among you, just as a nursing mother cherishes her own children.
8So, affectionately longing for you, we were well pleased to impart to you not only the gospel of God, but also our own lives, because you had become dear to us.
9For you remember, brethren, our labor and toil; for laboring night and day, that we might not be a burden to any of you, we preached to you the gospel of God.
10You are witnesses, and God also, how devoutly and justly and blamelessly we behaved ourselves among you who believe;
11as you know how we exhorted, and comforted, and charged[b] every one of you, as a father does his own children,

12that you would walk worthy of God who calls you into His own kingdom and glory.

Their Conversion

13For this reason we also thank God without ceasing, because when you received the word of God which you heard from us, you welcomed it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which also effectively works in you who believe.
14For you, brethren, became imitators of the churches of God which are in Judea in Christ Jesus. For you also suffered the same things from your own countrymen, just as they did from the Judeans, 15who killed both the Lord Jesus and their own prophets, and have persecuted us; and they do not please God and are contrary to all men, 16forbidding us to speak to the Gentiles that they may be saved, so as always to fill up the measure of their sins; but wrath has come upon them to the uttermost.

Longing to See Them

17But we, brethren, having been taken away from you for a short time in presence, not in heart, endeavored more eagerly to see your face with great desire.
18Therefore we wanted to come to you—even I, Paul, time and again—but Satan hindered us.
19For what is our hope, or joy, or crown of rejoicing? Is it not even you in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at His coming?
20For you are our glory and joy.

1 Thessalonians 3

Concern for Their Faith

1 Therefore, when we could no longer endure it, we thought it good to be left in Athens alone, Stay Connected 2 and sent Timothy, our brother and minister of God, and our fellow laborer in the gospel of Christ, to establish you and encourage you concerning your faith, 3 that no one should be shaken by these afflictions; for you yourselves know that we are appointed to this.
4 For, in fact, we told you before when we were with you that we would suffer tribulation, just as it happened, and you know.
5 For this reason, when I could no longer endure it, I sent to know your faith, lest by some means the tempter had tempted you, and our labor might be in vain.

Encouraged by Timothy

6 But now that Timothy has come to us from you, and brought us good news of your faith and love, and that you always have good remembrance of us, greatly desiring to see us, as we also to see you—7 therefore, brethren, in all our affliction and distress we were comforted concerning you by your faith.
8 For now we live, if you stand fast in the Lord.
9 For what thanks can we render to God for you, for all the joy with which we rejoice for your sake before our God, 10 night and day praying exceedingly that we may see your face and perfect what is lacking in your faith?

Prayer for the Church

11Now may our God and Father Himself, and our Lord Jesus Christ, direct our way to you.

12And may the Lord make you increase and abound in love to one another and to all, just as we do to you,

13so that He may establish your hearts blameless in holiness before our God and Father at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all His saints.

1 Thessalonians 4

Plea for Purity

1 Finally then, brethren, we urge and exhort in the Lord Jesus that you should abound more and more, just as you received from us how you ought to walk and to please God; 2 for you know what commandments we gave you through the Lord Jesus.
3 For this is the will of God, your sanctification: that you should abstain from sexual immorality; 4 that each of you should know how to possess his own vessel in sanctification and honor,
5 not in passion of lust, like the Gentiles who do not know
God;
6 that no one should take advantage of and defraud his brother in this matter, because the Lord is the avenger of all such, as we also forewarned you and testified.
7 For God did not call us to uncleanness, but in holiness.
8 Therefore he who rejects this does not reject man, but God, who has also given[a] us His Holy Spirit.

A Brotherly and Orderly Life

9 But concerning brotherly love you have no need that I should write to you, for you yourselves are taught by God to love one another;
10 and indeed you do so toward all the brethren who are in all Macedonia. But we urge you, brethren, that you increase more and more;
11 that you also aspire to lead a quiet life, to mind your own business, and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you, Quiet Living

12 that you may walk properly toward those who are outside, and that you may lack nothing.

The Comfort of Christ's Coming

13 But I do not want you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning those who have fallen asleep, lest you sorrow as others who have no hope.
14 For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so God will bring with Him those who sleep in Jesus.[b] 15 For this we say to you by the word of the Lord, that we who are alive and remain until the coming of the Lord will by no means precede those who are asleep.
16 For the Lord Himself will descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of an archangel, and with the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first.
17 Then we who are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. And thus we shall always be with the Lord.
18 Therefore comfort one another with these words.

1 Thessalonians 5

The Day of the Lord

1 But concerning the times and the seasons, brethren, you have no need that I should write to you.
2 For you yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so comes as a thief in the night.
3 For when they say, “Peace and safety!” then sudden destruction comes upon them, as labor pains upon a pregnant woman. And they shall not escape.
4 But you, brethren, are not in darkness, so that this Day should overtake you as a thief.
5 You are all sons of light and sons of the day. We are not of the night nor of darkness.
6 Therefore let us not sleep, as others do, but let us watch and be sober.
7 For those who sleep, sleep at night, and those who get drunk are drunk at night.
8 But let us who are of the day be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love, and as a helmet the hope of salvation.
9 For God did not appoint us to wrath, but to obtain salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ, 10 who died for us, that whether we wake or sleep, we should live together with Him.
11 Therefore comfort each other and edify one another, just as you also are doing.

Various Exhortations

12 And we urge you, brethren, to recognize those who labor among you, and are over you in the Lord and admonish you,

13 and to esteem them very highly in love for their work's sake. Be at peace among yourselves.
14 Now we exhort you, brethren, warn those who are unruly, comfort the fainthearted, uphold the weak, be patient with all. Uphold the Weak 15 See that no one renders evil for evil to anyone, but always pursue what is good both for yourselves and for all.
16 Rejoice always,
17 pray without ceasing,
18 in everything give thanks; for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus for you.
19 Do not quench the Spirit.
20 Do not despise prophecies.
21 Test all things; hold fast what is good.
22 Abstain from every form of evil.

Blessing and Admonition

23 Now may the God of peace Himself sanctify you completely; and may your whole spirit, soul, and body be preserved blameless at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.
24 He who calls you is faithful, who also will do it.
25 Brethren, pray for us.
26 Greet all the brethren with a holy kiss.
27 I charge you by the Lord that this epistle be read to all the holy[a] brethren.
28 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you. Amen.

Work, Labor, and Patience

1 Thess. 1:3

We are quick to notice Paul's mention of faith, hope, and love—the trinity of Christian virtues. But we should not overlook the terms he attaches to them: work of faith, labor of love, and patience of hope. These words also matter deeply. Good results, both practical and spiritual, can only come from hard work, diligent labor, and steadfast patience. Hebrews 6:9–12 also highlights these values.

Be a Creditable Messenger

1 Thess. 2:5

Paul perceived two dangers that threatened to compromise his credibility as Christ's messenger. The first was the use of "flattering words," or telling people what they wanted to hear.

The second was the use of faith as "a cloak for covetousness," or preaching Jesus from concealed motives, especially as a way to get rich. Such deceptions are unacceptable for anyone, and particularly for anyone who represents Christ.

Paul's integrity was based on his realization that God had entrusted him with the message of Jesus (1 Thess. 2:4). Spreading the gospel to the Gentiles was not a plan of his own making but a calling from God (Gal. 1:11–17). He aimed not to please people but to please the Lord.

Paul chose not to worry about his material comfort, much less covet what others had. He remained content in any circumstance (see "Finding Contentment" at Phil. 4:10–13). Yet Paul was not irresponsible or lazy.

The best way to counter modern culture's rampant cynicism toward religion is to present a credible and straightforward message about Christ. And the best way to achieve that is to let go of our worries about material things and focus our hearts on God's opinion and desires rather than anyone else's.

Stay Connected

1 Thess. 3:1–10

Despite persistent efforts to present and defend the gospel in Athens, Paul met with an indifferent response from most Athenians (Acts 17:16–34). Unsurprisingly, his thoughts turned toward the Thessalonian Christians and their unusually deep connection to the gospel (1 Thess. 2:8; 2:17–3:1).

Anxious for news of his friends, Paul sent his associate Timothy north for a visit (3:2). The young man's report buoyed Paul's spirits. Even as the Athenians resisted Christ, the Thessalonians continued to seek God (3:6–10).

Paul's emotional honesty should remind us to acknowledge our troubles to our friends. Paul needed the Thessalonians' warm affection and the capable companionship of Timothy. Paul stayed connected to other Christians and counted on them for insight, encouragement, and support. He honored Christian community (Heb. 10:24, 25).

There are people all around us who feel unbearable stress and heartbreaking failure. Everyone needs encouragement, affirmation, and help staying focused on God's big picture. Take time today to give some encouragement and to get refreshed.

Quiet Living
1 Thess. 4:11

Paul's exhortation to "lead a quiet life" seems wildly impossible in modern life. How can we ever find calm when technology constantly accelerates change and increases complexity . . . when we carry the world in our hands and anyone can trace our digital footprints . . . when a global economy makes everybody's business our own?

Our faith makes us able to meet the challenge of leading a quiet life. An important first step is Paul's command to work with our own hands. Paul's emphasis is not on "hands" but on "your own." God does not insist on manual labor but on self-sufficiency (see "A Command to Work" at 2 Thess. 3:6–12). And Paul was not objecting to busyness but to needless distraction.

We have to admit that we allow and even invite interruptions, and few investments will help us more than developing ways to set boundaries on intrusions—without disconnecting from relationships. In fact, the down time we gain should create space for more often connecting with family and neighbors, as well as for personal reflection and for conversation with God.

The main thrust of 1 Thessalonians 4:11 is to bring peace into our lives, freeing ourselves from unnecessary disturbances and conflicts (Rom. 12:18; Heb. 12:14). Minding our own business and working hard helps us live well with people outside the faith (1 Thess. 4:12). We live peaceably by avoiding quarrels and complaints (Col. 3:13), by refusing to take offense when others strike at us (Matt. 5:7–12), by not getting entangled in others' business (Prov. 6:1), and by humbly accepting the circumstances that God sends us for our good (Rom. 8:28; Phil. 4:11, 12).

Uphold the Weak
1 Thess. 5:14

Paul begins to wrap up his letter to the Thessalonians with four exhortations:

1. The "unruly" need warning.
2. Those who are losing heart need encouragement.
3. Those who are weak need support.
4. And everyone needs patience.

Paul's third directive, "uphold the weak," concerns our compassion toward the destitute. Jesus is our model for compassion (see "Christ Became Poor" at 2 Cor. 8:8, 9). He even staked His credibility on His work among the poor (see "Evidence of God" at Matt. 11:2–6). Scripture repeatedly urges us to share at least some of our material wealth with people in need. It is the only Christlike response.

Paul hardly needed to challenge the Thessalonian believers to be generous. He knew by experience that despite their deep poverty they willingly gave "beyond their ability" (2 Cor. 8:3). And if the Thessalonians could give like that, we should too.

More: For more on what Scripture says about our responsibility to the poor, see "I Have Not Coveted" at Acts 20:33–38. DeWitt Clinton saw his faith as not only relevant "to our destiny in the world to come" but also for "its influence on this world." As a ten-term mayor of New York, he promoted causes such as public education, public sanitation, and care for the poor.

A healthy modern church might well resemble the congregation in Thessalonica. Of all the churches mentioned in the New Testament, the Thessalonian church best modeled how to carry out God's instructions as spoken through the apostles. News of their faith spread far and wide during the first century, impressing everyone who heard their story (1 Thess. 1:7–9). The Thessalonians engaged with their surroundings and were outspoken about their beliefs. Where the world lacked hope, they pointed to the hope that is found in Jesus.

But when hope fades, people lose heart, and doubts begin to grow. That decline might have been happening in Thessalonica, as evidenced by the congregation's increasing interest in the end times. Perhaps the people were impatient for reward or validation. Paul wrote 2 Thessalonians in response to their questions.

Paul had already told the Thessalonians that Christ's return would be sudden and unannounced, like "a thief in the night" (5:2). False teachers had twisted this truth and asserted that Jesus would be back within moments—or that He had already arrived. Some of the Thessalonian Christians apparently heard this teaching and quit their work to await Jesus' return. They wasted their days in idleness and lived off handouts.

Paul responded with a careful explanation of the events that will take place during the end times (2 Thess. 2:1–12). He described the rise of the Man of Sin (called the Antichrist in John's epistles), but he also explained how Christians should live as they look forward to the Second Coming. As in his first letter to the Thessalonians, Paul urges his readers to serve God with a steadfast hope. “The Lord is faithful,” he declares (3:3). Therefore, His people should be faithful as well.

This letter speaks to Christians whose hope has faded, whose discipline has become lax, and whose trust has been crowded out by doubt. Two thousand years after the Thessalonians, we too are to keep working, stay faithful, and not lose hope. God will honor His commitments according to His perfect timing.

Paul wrote both 1 and 2 Thessalonians, listing himself, Silvanus and Timothy in the openings of the epistles (1 Thess. 1:1; 2 Thess. 1:1). He apparently signed 2 Thessalonians with his own hand (3:17). This second message followed soon after the first, which was written around A.D. 51.

Key Verses in 2 Thessalonians

- “The mystery of lawlessness is already at work. . . . And then the lawless one will be revealed, whom the Lord will consume with the breath of His mouth and destroy with the brightness of His coming” (2 Thess. 2:7, 8).
- “If anyone will not work, neither shall he eat” (2 Thess. 3:10).
- “Do not grow weary in doing good” (2 Thess. 3:13).

2 Thessalonians 1

Greeting

1 Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy,
To the church of the Thessalonians in God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ:

2 Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

God's Final Judgment and Glory

3 We are bound to thank God always for you, brethren, as it is fitting, because your faith grows exceedingly, and the love of every one of you all abounds toward each other,

Finishing Well

4 so that we ourselves boast of you among the churches of God for your patience and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations that you endure,

5 which is manifest evidence of the righteous judgment of God, that you may be counted worthy of the kingdom of God, for which you also suffer;

6 since it is a righteous thing with God to repay with tribulation those who trouble you,

7 and to give you who are troubled rest with us when the Lord Jesus is revealed from heaven with His mighty angels,

8 in flaming fire taking vengeance on those who do not know God, and on those who do not obey the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ.

9 These shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord and from the glory of His power,

10 when He comes, in that Day, to be glorified in His saints and to be admired among all those who believe,[a] because our testimony among you was believed.

11 Therefore we also pray always for you that our God would count you worthy of this calling, and fulfill all the good pleasure of His goodness and the work of faith with power,

12 that the name of our Lord Jesus Christ may be glorified in you, and you in Him, according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ.

2 Thessalonians 2

The Great Apostasy

1 Now, brethren, concerning the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and our gathering together to Him, we ask you, Think Critically About What You Hear

2 not to be soon shaken in mind or troubled, either by spirit or by word or by letter, as if from us, as though the day of Christ[a] had come.

3 Let no one deceive you by any means; for that Day will not come unless the falling away comes first, and the man of sin[b] is revealed, the son of perdition,

4 who opposes and exalts himself above all that is called God or that is worshiped, so that he sits as God[c] in the temple of God, showing himself that he is God.

5 Do you not remember that when I was still with you I told you these things?

6 And now you know what is restraining, that he may be revealed in his own time.

7 For the mystery of lawlessness is already at work; only He[d] who now restrains will do so until He[e] is taken out of the way.

8 And then the lawless one will be revealed, whom the Lord will consume with the breath of His mouth and destroy with the brightness of His coming.

9 The coming of the lawless one is according to the working of Satan, with all power, signs, and lying wonders,

10 and with all unrighteous deception among those who perish, because they did not receive the love of the truth, that they might be saved.

11 And for this reason God will send them strong delusion, that they should believe the lie,

12that they all may be condemned who did not believe the truth but had pleasure in unrighteousness.

Stand Fast

13But we are bound to give thanks to God always for you, brethren beloved by the Lord, because God from the beginning chose you for salvation through sanctification by the Spirit and belief in the truth, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit

14to which He called you by our gospel, for the obtaining of the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.

15Therefore, brethren, stand fast and hold the traditions which you were taught, whether by word or our epistle.

16Now may our Lord Jesus Christ Himself, and our God and Father, who has loved us and given us everlasting consolation and good hope by grace, 17comfort your hearts and establish you in every good word and work.

2 Thessalonians 3

Pray for Us

1 Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may run swiftly and be glorified, just as it is with you, 2 and that we may be delivered from unreasonable and wicked men; for not all have faith.
3 But the Lord is faithful, who will establish you and guard you from the evil one.
4 And we have confidence in the Lord concerning you, both that you do and will do the things we command you.
5 Now may the Lord direct your hearts into the love of God and into the patience of Christ.

Warning Against Idleness

6 But we command you, brethren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that you withdraw from every brother who walks disorderly and not according to the tradition which he[a] received from us. A Command to Work 7 For you yourselves know how you ought to follow us, for we were not disorderly among you; 8 nor did we eat anyone's bread free of charge, but worked with labor and toil night and day, that we might not be a burden to any of you, 9 not because we do not have authority, but to make ourselves an example of how you should follow us.
10 For even when we were with you, we commanded you this: If anyone will not work, neither shall he eat. No Work = No Food 11 For we hear that there are some who walk among you in a disorderly manner, not working at all, but are busybodies.

12 Now those who are such we command and exhort through our Lord Jesus Christ that they work in quietness and eat their own bread.

13 But as for you, brethren, do not grow weary in doing good. A Word for the Weary

14 And if anyone does not obey our word in this epistle, note that person and do not keep company with him, that he may be ashamed.

15 Yet do not count him as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother.

Benediction

16 Now may the Lord of peace Himself give you peace always in every way. The Lord be with you all.

17 The salutation of Paul with my own hand, which is a sign in every epistle; so I write.

18 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all.
Amen.

Finishing Well
2 Thess. 1:3–12

At the time Paul composed this letter, the Christians in Thessalonica were facing increasing suffering (2 Thess. 1:4, 5). He encouraged them to look beyond their immediate troubles to Christ's return and the affirmation they would receive from Him at that time (1:6, 7).

The Lord would deal justly with their enemies (1:8, 9), and they would join their Savior in joy and praise (1:10). Paul expanded this theme in the next chapter as he explored the Thessalonians' current difficulties (2:1–12).

God calls us to finish our lives well by living according to enduring truths (2:15). He challenges us to stay faithful to the end in the way we manage our experiences here and now, whether good or bad. He will always show us what to do and how to do it.

Think Critically About What You Hear
2 Thess. 2:1–12

Like many people in the modern world, the Christians at Thessalonica were agitated by urgent warnings about the future (2 Thess. 2:1, 2). False teachers exploited people's curiosities and anxieties, feeding on their brightest hopes and darkest fears about Christ's return (2:3; 1 Thess. 5:2–5).

Paul responded by appealing to the Thessalonians' reason, urging them to think critically about what they heard and test it against the clear teaching he had already given them (2 Thess. 2:3–12, 15). He clarified that Jesus had not—and would not—return until the unveiling of the Man of Sin (2:3). This embodiment of evil would exalt himself as God and set himself up in the temple to be worshiped (2:4).

We still need to "stand fast and hold the traditions which [we] were taught" (2:15): the truths of God's Word. By acting on our real-world responsibilities, we push aside fearful speculations about the events of the Lord's return (3:6–13).

Father, Son, and Holy Spirit

2 Thess. 2:13–17

The concept of the Trinity is essential to Christianity. But the Bible assumes a triune God rather than trying to prove the nature of His being. It simply presents the reality that there is one God who exists in three Persons—Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. Paul sought to enrich his readers' understanding of their new life in Christ by explaining how each Person of the Godhead works on our behalf:

- The Father selects us for salvation, loves us, and gives us consolation and hope.
- The Son shows us how to be human, shares His glory with us, and offers comfort because He really has been there.
- The Spirit purifies ("sanctifies") us and guides the expression of our faith.

We have a powerful, caring, active God who works on our behalf. The first-century Christians at Thessalonica would have instantly noticed a contrast between the one true God and the many gods of Greek and Roman cultures, who were often frivolous, capricious, and terribly self-absorbed.

When people in our own lives reduce God to a vague feeling or energy or higher power, we can be assured that they are wrong; our God is infinitely more powerful and personal. The doctrine of the Trinity may be difficult to understand, but for now we see the world as it truly is as in a dim mirror (1 Cor. 13:12). We can obey what we know clearly and not dwell on things that remain cloudy. All things will one day be revealed. In the meantime we can know that Father,

Son, and Holy Spirit all work for the same purposes. We need not try to divide them.

A Command to Work

2 Thess. 3:6–12

Taking responsibility for meeting our own material needs and those of our family is, for some, not an obvious obligation. But God commands each of us to take up this challenge. He created a world of resources for us to accomplish this task, and He gives us the authority, strength, and skills we need to earn our living.

There are times when grown children must care for parents or grandparents (Mark 7:9–13; 1 Tim. 5:4). There are also times when the church must assume responsibility for people in need. But the Bible makes it clear that responsibility always starts with individuals.

In 1 Thessalonians 4:12, Paul explained the reasons for this command: 1) Christians who beg, borrow unnecessarily, or steal discredit Christ and the church, and 2) God does not want His children to lack what they need. He calls us not to poverty but to adequacy. Work is His means of fulfilling our needs.

More: God takes our work seriously. See "People at Work" at Ps. 8:6.

No Work = No Food

2 Thess. 3:10

Apparently some Thessalonians who anticipated the Lord's immediate return quit their jobs and spent their days idly waiting for the end times to begin. Paul responded by declaring that those who would not work should not eat.

If these Macedonian Christians were the same ones Paul mentioned in 2 Corinthians 8:2, they would have struggled to make a living under the best of circumstances. When jobs are too few or pay too little, it is common for some to grow discouraged and give up trying to find employment. But we have been created to work (Gen. 2:15) and called to persevere in the face of life's obstacles (Rom. 5:3, 4).

A Word for the Weary

Paul's words in 2 Thessalonians 3:13 speak to us when we are worn out from doing good and from the troubles of this very bent world. The apostle reminds us that God never forgets us. We are the object of His attention and love. He sees the good that we do when no one else is around, and He will never forget our efforts.

As we read Paul's words in 1 and 2 Timothy, we feel his heart reaching out to the new Christians at Ephesus, a city where he had invested much time and hard work to establish a community of faith (Acts 19:1–20:1), and to Timothy, the young pastor to the Ephesians. Paul envisioned the flock and its shepherd growing to full maturity together, and the messages he wrote to Timothy serve as manuals for ecclesiastical organization that still guide churches today. Paul's first letter emphasizes the life of the congregation, and his second letter dwells on the life of the pastor.

Paul's instruction was necessary in part because of the gospel's success at Ephesus. The city's Christian community had grown substantially over the years and was influencing other cities throughout Asia Minor (see "The New Testament Church" at Eph. 1:1). The large, diverse congregation struggled internally with issues of unity and doctrinal purity, and externally with an unbelieving and sometimes hostile environment.

Paul saw Timothy as a key human factor in the success or failure of the Ephesian church. Although Timothy was relatively young and untested in his role as a solo pastor, Paul believed that careful coaching would draw out Timothy's God-given gifts (2 Tim. 1:6). The apostle encouraged Timothy to push past his natural timidity and rely on God for the power, love, and wisdom he needed (1:7).

Paul's confidence was based on both God's trustworthy support and the potential he saw in his young protégé during their work together. Paul called Timothy his “beloved and faithful son in the Lord” (1 Cor. 4:17) and his “true son in the faith” (1 Tim. 1:2). He knew Timothy’s single-minded commitment to the Lord. Paul once told the Philippians that no one could care for them so well as his young friend (Phil. 2:19–21).

Other leaders paid more attention to their own affairs than what mattered to Christ—but not Timothy: “You know his proven character,” Paul wrote, “that as a son with his father he served with me in the gospel” (2:22). As Paul’s apprentice, Timothy had traveled widely and worked among Christians in Greece, Macedonia, and Asia Minor. He also participated in sending six New Testament letters (2 Cor. 1:1; Phil. 1:1; Col. 1:1; 1 Thess. 1:1; 2 Thess. 1:1; Philem. 1).

The two epistles addressed to Timothy bear Paul’s usual greeting, and throughout history the church has generally agreed that Paul is indeed their author. This view is supported by the close, personal tone of these letters, which reflects the keen friendship that is known to have existed between Timothy and Paul (1 Tim. 1:2, 18; 6:20; 2 Tim. 1:2, 4, 5; 2:2). The first letter was written from Macedonia, probably late in Paul’s life.

Key Verses in 1 Timothy

- “Now to the King eternal, immortal, invisible, to God who alone is wise, be honor and glory forever and ever. Amen” (1 Tim. 1:17).
- “There is one God and one Mediator between God and men, the Man Christ Jesus” (1 Tim. 2:5).
- “Bodily exercise profits a little, but godliness is profitable for all things, having promise of the life that now is and of that which is to come” (1 Tim. 4:8).

- “Let no one despise your youth, but be an example to the believers in word, in conduct, in love, in spirit, in faith, in purity” (1 Tim. 4:12).
- “The love of money is a root of all kinds of evil” (1 Tim. 6:10).

1 Timothy 1

Greeting

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ, by the commandment of God our Savior and the Lord Jesus Christ, our hope,
2 To Timothy, a true son in the faith:

> Grace, mercy, and peace from God our Father > and Jesus Christ our Lord.

No Other Doctrine

3 As I urged you when I went into Macedonia—remain in Ephesus that you may charge some that they teach no other doctrine, Questions for Sorting Out Truth 4 nor give heed to fables and endless genealogies, which cause disputes rather than godly edification which is in faith.
5 Now the purpose of the commandment is love from a pure heart, from a good conscience, and from sincere faith, 6 from which some, having strayed, have turned aside to idle talk,
7 desiring to be teachers of the law, understanding neither what they say nor the things which they affirm.
8 But we know that the law is good if one uses it lawfully, 9 knowing this: that the law is not made for a righteous person, but for the lawless and insubordinate, for the ungodly and for sinners, for the unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers,
10 for fornicators, for sodomites, for kidnappers, for liars, for perjurers, and if there is any other thing that is contrary to sound doctrine,

11according to the glorious gospel of the blessed God which was committed to my trust.

Glory to God for His Grace

12And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord who has enabled me, because He counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry, 13although I was formerly a blasphemer, a persecutor, and an insolent man; but I obtained mercy because I did it ignorantly in unbelief.
14And the grace of our Lord was exceedingly abundant, with faith and love which are in Christ Jesus.
15This is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am chief.
16However, for this reason I obtained mercy, that in me first Jesus Christ might show all longsuffering, as a pattern to those who are going to believe on Him for everlasting life.
17Now to the King eternal, immortal, invisible, to God who alone is wise,[a] be honor and glory forever and ever.
Amen.

Fight the Good Fight

18This charge I commit to you, son Timothy, according to the prophecies previously made concerning you, that by them you may wage the good warfare, 19having faith and a good conscience, which some having rejected, concerning the faith have suffered shipwreck, 20of whom are Hymenaeus and Alexander, whom I delivered to Satan that they may learn not to blaspheme.

1 Timothy 2

Pray for All Men

1 Therefore I exhort first of all that supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks be made for all men, 2 for kings and all who are in authority, that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and reverence.
3 For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Savior,
4 who desires all men to be saved and to come to the knowledge of the truth.
5 For there is one God and one Mediator between God and men, the Man Christ Jesus, 6 who gave Himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time,
7 for which I was appointed a preacher and an apostle—I am speaking the truth in Christ[a] and not lying—a teacher of the Gentiles in faith and truth.

Men and Women in the Church

8 I desire therefore that the men pray everywhere, lifting up holy hands, without wrath and doubting; Structuring the Church

Ways to Worship

9 in like manner also, that the women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with propriety and moderation, not with braided hair or gold or pearls or costly clothing, 10 but, which is proper for women professing godliness, with good works.
11 Let a woman learn in silence with all submission.
12 And I do not permit a woman to teach or to have authority over a man, but to be in silence.

13 For Adam was formed first, then Eve. The Legacy of Eve

14 And Adam was not deceived, but the woman being deceived, fell into transgression.

15 Nevertheless she will be saved in childbearing if they continue in faith, love, and holiness, with self-control.

1 Timothy 3

Qualifications of Overseers

1This is a faithful saying: If a man desires the position of a bishop,[a] he desires a good work. Qualifications for Leadership

2A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, temperate, sober-minded, of good behavior, hospitable, able to teach;

3not given to wine, not violent, not greedy for money,[b] but gentle, not quarrelsome, not covetous;

4one who rules his own house well, having his children in submission with all reverence

5(for if a man does not know how to rule his own house, how will he take care of the church of God?);

6not a novice, lest being puffed up with pride he fall into the same condemnation as the devil.

7Moreover he must have a good testimony among those who are outside, lest he fall into reproach and the snare of the devil.

Qualifications of Deacons

8Likewise deacons must be reverent, not double-tongued, not given to much wine, not greedy for money, 9holding the mystery of the faith with a pure conscience.

10But let these also first be tested; then let them serve as deacons, being found blameless.

11Likewise, their wives must be reverent, not slanderers, temperate, faithful in all things.

12Let deacons be the husbands of one wife, ruling their children and their own houses well.

13For those who have served well as deacons obtain for themselves a good standing and great boldness in the faith which is in Christ Jesus.

The Great Mystery

14These things I write to you, though I hope to come to you shortly;
15but if I am delayed, I write so that you may know how you ought to conduct yourself in the house of God, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth.
16And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness:

God[c] was manifested in the flesh,
Justified in the Spirit,
Seen by angels,
Preached among the Gentiles,
Believed on in the world,
Received up in glory.

1 Timothy 4

The Great Apostasy

1 Now the Spirit expressly says that in latter times some will depart from the faith, giving heed to deceiving spirits and doctrines of demons, The Wisdom of Experience 2 speaking lies in hypocrisy, having their own conscience seared with a hot iron, 3 forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstain from foods which God created to be received with thanksgiving by those who believe and know the truth.
4 For every creature of God is good, and nothing is to be refused if it is received with thanksgiving;
5 for it is sanctified by the word of God and prayer.

A Good Servant of Jesus Christ

6 If you instruct the brethren in these things, you will be a good minister of Jesus Christ, nourished in the words of faith and of the good doctrine which you have carefully followed.
7 But reject profane and old wives' fables, and exercise yourself toward godliness.
8 For bodily exercise profits a little, but godliness is profitable for all things, having promise of the life that now is and of that which is to come.
9 This is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptance.
10 For to this end we both labor and suffer reproach,[a] because we trust in the living God, who is the Savior of all men, especially of those who believe.
11 These things command and teach.

Take Heed to Your Ministry

12Let no one despise your youth, but be an example to the believers in word, in conduct, in love, in spirit,[b] in faith, in purity.

13Till I come, give attention to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine.

14Do not neglect the gift that is in you, which was given to you by prophecy with the laying on of the hands of the eldership.

15Meditate on these things; give yourself entirely to them, that your progress may be evident to all.

16Take heed to yourself and to the doctrine. Continue in them, for in doing this you will save both yourself and those who hear you.

1 Timothy 5

Treatment of Church Members

1 Do not rebuke an older man, but exhort him as a father, younger men as brothers,
2 older women as mothers, younger women as sisters, with all purity.

Honor True Widows

3 Honor widows who are really widows. Widows Effective Care for the Needy
4 But if any widow has children or grandchildren, let them first learn to show piety at home and to repay their parents; for this is good and[a] acceptable before God.
5 Now she who is really a widow, and left alone, trusts in God and continues in supplications and prayers night and day.
6 But she who lives in pleasure is dead while she lives.
7 And these things command, that they may be blameless.
8 But if anyone does not provide for his own, and especially for those of his household, he has denied the faith and is worse than an unbeliever.
9 Do not let a widow under sixty years old be taken into the number, and not unless she has been the wife of one man,
10 well reported for good works: if she has brought up children, if she has lodged strangers, if she has washed the saints' feet, if she has relieved the afflicted, if she has diligently followed every good work.
11 But refuse the younger widows; for when they have begun to grow wanton against Christ, they desire to marry, 12 having condemnation because they have cast off their first faith.

13 And besides they learn to be idle, wandering about from house to house, and not only idle but also gossips and busybodies, saying things which they ought not.
14 Therefore I desire that the younger widows marry, bear children, manage the house, give no opportunity to the adversary to speak reproachfully.
15 For some have already turned aside after Satan.
16 If any believing man or[b] woman has widows, let them relieve them, and do not let the church be burdened, that it may relieve those who are really widows.

Honor the Elders

17 Let the elders who rule well be counted worthy of double honor, especially those who labor in the word and doctrine.
18 For the Scripture says, "You shall not muzzle an ox while it treads out the grain,"[c] and, "The laborer is worthy of his wages."[d] 19 Do not receive an accusation against an elder except from two or three witnesses.
20 Those who are sinning rebuke in the presence of all, that the rest also may fear.
21 I charge you before God and the Lord Jesus Christ and the elect angels that you observe these things without prejudice, doing nothing with partiality.
22 Do not lay hands on anyone hastily, nor share in other people's sins; keep yourself pure.
23 No longer drink only water, but use a little wine for your stomach's sake and your frequent infirmities.
24 Some men's sins are clearly evident, preceding them to judgment, but those of some men follow later.

[25]Likewise, the good works of some are clearly evident, and those that are otherwise cannot be hidden.

1 Timothy 6

Honor Masters

1 Let as many bondservants as are under the yoke count their own masters worthy of all honor, so that the name of God and His doctrine may not be blasphemed.
2 And those who have believing masters, let them not despise them because they are brethren, but rather serve them because those who are benefited are believers and beloved. Teach and exhort these things.

Error and Greed

3 If anyone teaches otherwise and does not consent to wholesome words, even the words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine which accords with godliness, Giving to Get 4 he is proud, knowing nothing, but is obsessed with disputes and arguments over words, from which come envy, strife, reviling, evil suspicions, 5 useless wranglings[a] of men of corrupt minds and destitute of the truth, who suppose that godliness is a means of gain. From such withdraw yourself.[b] 6 Now godliness with contentment is great gain. Christians and Money
7 For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain[c] we can carry nothing out.
8 And having food and clothing, with these we shall be content.
9 But those who desire to be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and harmful lusts which drown men in destruction and perdition.
10 For the love of money is a root of all kinds of evil, for which some have strayed from the faith in their greediness, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows.

The Good Confession

11But you, O man of God, flee these things and pursue righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, gentleness.
12Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, to which you were also called and have confessed the good confession in the presence of many witnesses.
13I urge you in the sight of God who gives life to all things, and before Christ Jesus who witnessed the good confession before Pontius Pilate, 14that you keep this commandment without spot, blameless until our Lord Jesus Christ's appearing, 15which He will manifest in His own time, He who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings and Lord of lords,
16who alone has immortality, dwelling in unapproachable light, whom no man has seen or can see, to whom be honor and everlasting power. Amen.

Instructions to the Rich

17Command those who are rich in this present age not to be haughty, nor to trust in uncertain riches but in the living God, who gives us richly all things to enjoy.
18*Let them* do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to give, willing to share, 19storing up for themselves a good foundation for the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life.

Guard the Faith

20O Timothy! Guard what was committed to your trust, avoiding the profane and idle babblings and contradictions of what is falsely called knowledge—

[21]by professing it some have strayed concerning the faith. Grace be with you. Amen.

Questions for Sorting Out Truth

1 Tim. 1:3–20

Skepticism is wise when people make claims, spoken or unspoken, that they are God's special messengers. Paul warned young Timothy about deceptive teachers passing off false doctrines, myths, and endless genealogies (1 Tim. 1:3, 4). Here and elsewhere, the apostle gave guidelines for testing what people say about doctrine and practical issues of faith:

- Do the teachers call their listeners to authentic Christian love (1:5)?
- Are they self-centered, using their teaching to further their own ambitions (1:6, 7)?
- Does their message promote righteous behavior and high moral standards (1:8–10)?
- Has their relationship with Christ resulted in their own radical change for the better (1:12–14)?
- Do they humbly give credit to God for what they have received (1:15–17)?
- Do they consciously build on the wisdom of their predecessors (1:18–20)?

These guidelines are still relevant today, and we should continue to measure teachers against them. Some people dismiss anything that questions, doubts, or second-guesses people who claim to be spiritual authorities; but Scripture pushes us to carefully evaluate any teaching so that we can separate falsehoods from God's reliable and enduring truth.

Structuring the Church

1 Tim. 2:8–15

Ephesus was in many ways the church as God meant it to be. But the movement that began in a synagogue (Acts 19:8–10) and caused a riot (19:21–41) had grown to the point where it needed organizational structure in order to peaceably deal with growing conflict.

- The church attracted teachers who contradicted the gospel taught by Paul and Timothy, so it needed a clear statement of faith that could be regularly defended (1 Tim. 1:3, 4, 18–20; 4:1–16).
- The message of Christ had impacted Ephesian businesses, so the church needed to consider its role in the public sphere (2:1–7).
- The worship service needed order (2:8–15).
- Standards were necessary to appoint leaders (3:1–16) and hold them accountable (5:17–25).
- As members aged, there were more and more widows to look after, so the church needed to establish criteria for determining who should receive help (5:3–16).
- Masters and slaves, rich and poor, joined the church, so the gathering needed guidelines regarding income and lifestyle (6:1–19).

These realities should teach us that institutional structure is not the enemy of God's work. God Himself planned, and He taught us to plan. Many of the simplest ministries need organization to function well—or they won't function at all.

Ways to Worship

1 Tim. 2:8–15

Christians who had grown up in pagan religions needed to completely rework their behavior in worship. So Paul guided the men and women of the Ephesian church into new habits.

Ephesus (see the city's profile at Eph. 1:1; see also the introduction to Ephesians) was world-renowned for its magnificent Temple of Artemis. Pagan cults flourished alongside occult practices. In fact, books with magic recipes came to be known as "Ephesian books."

Despite this environment, the community of Christian believers grew rapidly (see "The Ephesus Approach: How the Gospel Transformed a Community" at Acts 19:8–41). Yet some new Christians imported their old styles of worship into the church and began teaching other doctrines (1 Tim. 1:3–7).

So Paul laid out the correct way to worship. The men were apparently prone to anger; they needed to stop bickering and start praying (2:8). Women were apparently caught up in clothing, jewelry, and hairstyles; they needed to focus on godliness and good works (2:9, 10). Some were apparently disruptive; they needed to practice restraint (2:11). Women likely participated in prayer and other expressive elements of worship (1 Cor. 11:5; Eph. 5:19), so we can surmise that Paul was prescribing not their total silence but "quiet" (as the word is translated in 2 Thess. 3:12) demeanor similar to the calm, prayerful behavior he prescribed for men (1 Tim. 2:8).

As Christ's message attracts people from a wide and sometimes wild variety of backgrounds, some followers will need to find new ways to worship. On the other hand, many different styles of worship can be pleasing to God. The important thing is that they meet biblical guidelines and are practiced with a sincere heart.

More: Christians owe much of their perspective on worship to the Old Testament. For more on parallels between Israelite and Christian understandings of worship, see "A Habit of Worship" at Num. 28:2.

The Legacy of Eve

1 Tim. 2:13, 14

When Paul wrote that Eve "fell into transgression," he was illustrating how easily we succumb to temptation and sin—and suffer catastrophic results. Yet Paul explicitly stateed that "Adam was not deceived," but Eve was, causing some to wonder if the apostle meant to make a statement about women in general.

But it's possible that Paul used Eve to make a point not about all women but about the women in the church at Ephesus.

Few first-century women were formally educated. In Greece, they led isolated lives at home and rarely engaged in public events or dialogue. Most of their learning was secondhand, which made them easy targets for deception, which might explain Paul's hesitation to allow Ephesian women to teach. He wanted them to avoid the mistake committed by Eve, who helped bring sin into the world by falling for the serpent's lies.

More: See Eve's profile at Gen. 3:20. John Milton explored the story of Adam and Eve in his epic poem Paradise Lost.

Qualifications for Leadership

1 Tim. 3:1–13

When Paul outlines the qualifications for leadership within the church, every checkpoint has to do with character.

God seems far more concerned with personal integrity than with education, eloquence, or personal charisma. Without question, the standards are high. But that does not imply that church leaders necessarily have better character than any other Christian. God calls all of us to these same measures of Christlikeness.

The point is not to create a class of spiritual elites but to urge the church to select leaders from among people who exhibit the fruit of the Spirit (1 Tim. 1:3–13; Gal. 5:22, 23).

The Wisdom of Experience
1 Tim. 4:1–16

Timothy was young and relatively untested as Paul's apprentice. His pastorate in Ephesus was his first solo assignment, so Paul equipped him with some valuable wisdom.

- Tough times come as no surprise in a broken world (1 Tim. 4:1–3).
- God's gifts are meant to be accepted with thanksgiving (4:4, 5).
- Truth is for sharing (4:6).
- Falsehoods are unworthy of attention (4:7).
- We should seek truth and make it our trademark (4:8–11).
- We can overcome skepticism with love, uplifting conversation, and purity (4:12).
- Skills improve with exercise (4:13, 14).

Widows
1 Tim. 5:3

Several dynamics in ancient societies combined to create large numbers of widows. Women were pressured to marry in their early teens, but the same pressure did not apply to men, and most men delayed marriage into their twenties and thirties because of the responsibilities that marriage incurred. The age disparity between husbands and wives—along with disease, wars, and other factors—made for many widows.

Jews regarded widows as a community responsibility (Deut. 24:19–21; see also "Protect the Widows and Orphans" at Ex. 22:22–24). A man who had a deceased brother would take his brother's widow as a wife to father an heir for his brother if no other male heirs had been born (Deut. 25:5). Widows who did not remarry were supported by family members or left to manage on their own as best they could. In many cases widows resorted to begging, prostitution, or slavery in order to survive.

Paul and other early church leaders refused to tolerate that possibility in the Christian community. Paul outlined clear instructions on caring for widows, knowing that conflict had surfaced in the Jerusalem church over ethnic tensions and providing equitably for widows (Acts 6:1–7).

Today, the care of widows who lack savings or adequate family support is often left to government or nonprofit agencies. But that is no reason why Christ's followers cannot step in and take up the responsibility, or at least supplement widows' care either financially or in other ways, such as running errands or visiting them. Widows and widowers are people who have experienced great loss. We can often bring great joy to their lives just by showing our care.

More: Widows who met Jesus found Him responsive to their needs. He offered hope (Luke 7:11–15) and frequently referred to them in lessons on depending on God and the need for justice (Mark 12:41–44; Luke 18:1–8; 21:1–4). Pandita Ramabai fought for social justice for widows and other destitute women in her home country of India.

Effective Care for the Needy

1 Tim. 5:3–16

Christ-followers have the potential to be among the world's most effective agents of social service. We possess Christ as our perfect example. We can count on congregational structure, community life, and pooled resources. And we can learn from the model of the early church, which standardized systematic, ongoing care (1 Tim. 5:3–22).

The principles that Paul laid out for Timothy and his congregation can help shape how we show care today.

- Care was ongoing for people "taken into the number" (5:9)—put on a list of regular recipients of support. The church presumably provided short-term aid to people who needed help until they could become self-sufficient. But the church did not give handouts to people who simply refused to support themselves by working (2 Thess. 3:10).

- The care was for "widows who are really widows" (1 Tim. 5:3). The Old Testament defined a widow as a woman who lacked outside support and therefore relied on the community's protection (Ex. 22:22–24; Deut. 14:28, 29; 24:17–22; 26:12, 13). If a widow had able-bodied children or grandchildren, she was to turn to them rather than to the church for provision (1 Tim. 5:4).
- A widow who was "taken into the number" incurred responsibilities to remain eligible for the church's charity. She needed to be frugal so that no one could criticize her extravagant lifestyle or the community that supported her (5:6, 7). She needed to meet specific criteria regarding her earlier life and character (5:9, 10). The point was not to exclude widows but to ensure that they respected and served their supporters in every way they could.
- Younger widows were expected to remarry and—as was common for that day—bear children who presumably would care for their parents in old age. The church chose not to offer long-term support to widows with other options of support, to avoid contributing to immorality, laziness, or gossip (5:11–14).

These instructions mirror principles of systematic aid detailed elsewhere in Scripture. Paul instructed the Corinthians, for example, to financially support only the truly poor (see "Who Are the Poor?" at 2 Cor. 9:9, 10). The aim of providing care is always to offer enough aid for survival and good health. It is not to give anyone a free ride, much less an extravagant lifestyle (8:13–15; 1 Tim. 6:6–10).

While 1 Timothy 5 specifically addresses caring for widows, its principles apply to a broad range of human need. This and other biblical texts provide a framework to effectively render care in a way that honors Christ and delivers real help to needy people.

Giving to Get

1 Tim. 6:3–6

A salesperson loses a major deal because she refuses to deceive a customer—should she expect God to bless her integrity with a bigger sale in the future?

A builder gathers a circle of people to pray for him to land a contract—should he anticipate that God will give him the job?

A couple gives a double tithe to their church—should they expect God to supply them with more money?

Some preach that God rewards godliness with material blessings, a teaching the apostle Paul calls "destitute of the truth." This "prosperity theology" or "giving to get" mentality denies biblical teaching on at least three levels:

1. It encourages corrupt motives. God wants us to seek Him for His own sake, not for a payoff of financial gain or physical well-being. A closer relationship to God is the reward of obedience (John 14:15–18, 21–23). The Lord wants us to be content with what He gives us, not greedy for more (1 Tim. 6:6).
2. It misinterprets God's deepest concerns for us. If God thinks that abundant material benefits are in our best interest, then we can trust Him to supply them. But God loves us too much to destroy us with what we don't need or can't handle.
3. It misrepresents God's promises. The Old Testament records ample promises made by God about material prosperity and blessing. But most of those benefits were offered to the nation of Israel rather than individuals.

God always offers His promises to those who truly love Him, seek His will, and obey Him with a pure heart. The Lord Himself should always be the end we seek, and any material benefits we may enjoy are simply side benefits.

It is true that God designed certain moral laws to benefit anyone who adheres to them. For example, paying taxes will make us avoid the punishment and public censure that result from nonpayment. In this sense, it pays to obey the law. But we should not expect extra blessings for doing what God requires us to do (Luke 17:7–10). The satisfaction of doing the right thing is reward enough.

More: As we read God's promises in the Old Testament to enrich Israel, there are important qualifications we must keep in mind. See "Success and Prosperity" at Josh. 1:8.

Christians and Money
1 Tim. 6:6–19

Paul ridicules the idea that God dispenses wealth in response to our obedience (1 Tim. 6:5). That notion launches him into a discussion of money worth careful study. He addresses three categories of people: those who want to get rich (6:6–10), those who want to honor God (6:11–16), and those who are already rich and want to honor God (6:17–19).

Those Who Want to Get Rich

Paul's loud warning against "the love of money" (6:10) has been misinterpreted from the moment he wrote it. He does not say that money itself is evil (nor does any other scripture). He never claims that money is the fundamental cause of evil or that money somehow lies behind every evil. Instead, the love of money (something inside people, not money) can be a root (not the only root) of all kinds of evil (not all evil).

But don't let those qualifications soften the blow: people who love money are vulnerable to all kinds of harm, including wandering away from the faith (see "Everyday Idolatry" at Col. 3:5). That danger alone should be enough to deter us from greed. Jesus gave the same unambiguous command, warning us to guard against our own insatiable appetites (see "Guard Against Greed" at Luke 12:15).

Paul says that the alternative to covetousness is contentment (1 Tim. 6:6–8). But his description of contentment—being satisfied with food and clothing—sounds akin to poverty to most modern readers. He reminds us of the defining line between our wants and our actual needs. Do we have food, clothing, and shelter adequate to survive where we live? If we possess these, we should be content. If not, we truly are destitute and can appeal to the charity of others. Scripture's definition of poverty is not a below-average income but an income so below average that one's very survival is threatened (see "Who Are the Poor?" at 2 Cor. 9:9, 10).

We might wonder if it is possible in our society to be happy with only the basics. But Paul knew what he was talking about. His prominence in the Jewish community and his Roman citizenship gave him firsthand experience with wealth and privilege. Yet his ministry caused him extraordinary hardships. Through it all he learned the secret of being content, and it was not money (see "Finding Contentment" at Phil. 4:10–13).

Those Who Want to Honor God

Paul's example was especially important to Timothy. The apostle challenged the young pastor to value character over wealth (1 Tim. 6:11), and his words apply to anyone who wants to honor God. Every Christian should guard against greed (see "Qualifications for Leadership" at 1 Tim. 3:1–13). One of Paul's main strategies for combating rampant materialism was to earn his living as a tentmaker rather than live off the generosity of others (see "I Have Not Coveted" at Acts 20:33–38).

Those Who Are Already Rich and Want to Honor God

Ephesus was extraordinarily prosperous. The city's tourism industry brought in so much revenue that the city's leaders opened the first world bank. Paul had penetrated this thriving economic zone with the gospel (see "The Ephesus Approach: How the Gospel Transformed a Community" at Acts 19:8–41), and Timothy's church apparently included members who were quite wealthy.

Paul taught that wealthy people who want to honor God should start by examining their attitudes. Money has an almost irresistible power to create feelings of pride, superiority, and self-sufficiency (1 Tim. 6:17). People of means must learn to look beyond their money to God, the real source of wealth.

But attitude is only half the battle. Sooner or later rich Christians need to consciously and decisively act with their wealth. They need to put it in play as a means to serve God and others (6:18).

Earthly Treasure v. Heavenly Treasure

As we consider these challenging teachings, God can make us aware of our deepest desires. If we want to be rich rather than righteous, then we should be aware that our longing for wealth can lead to dangers—even to death.

In his second letter to Timothy, Paul addresses his young apprentice as far more than a subordinate; he opens his heart as a mentor to the man who would succeed him. Again and again the apostle urges the young pastor to follow in Christ's footsteps, to repeat the truths "which you have heard from me" (2 Tim. 1:13; 2:2), to "continue in the things which you have learned and been assured of, knowing from whom you have learned them" (3:14). These are the words of a man who had done his best to prepare a path for those who would come after—and who had accepted the responsibility of passing the torch to a younger generation.

Paul knew that his own work was drawing to a close (4:6). He wrote from prison (1:8), mentioning his chains (1:16); it is possible that at the time of his writing, the apostle was awaiting execution in Rome. Yet his faith does not falter. Paul declares that he knows his God well and trusts Him to keep safe everything he has committed to Him (1:12). Paul also takes comfort in a life well-spent: "I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith" (4:7).

Nevertheless, this spiritual triumph is mixed with grief. Paul confides that he is alone except for Luke (4:11). He lists some who have moved on and others who have outright abandoned or harmed him (4:10, 12, 14), and he notes that no one showed up to defend him when he was on trial (4:16). He asks Timothy to bring parchments and a cloak, with a plaintive request to "do your utmost to come before winter" (4:13, 21).

It is Paul's deep emotional struggle that makes the Book of 2 Timothy truly remarkable. In spite of his personal struggles, the apostle managed to compose an epistle that not only ends with jubilant praise (4:18) but also provides compassionate, discerning advice for pastoral life. Paul instructs Timothy in many key lessons of leading a congregation—principles that continue to guide pastors today. Paul warns against false teaching and urges constant readiness to preach the Word (4:2), implying that pastors should be well-versed in Scripture. Paul also extols the many uses of Scripture and defends its divine inspiration (3:16, 17).

And significantly, Paul urges Timothy to complete the very task Paul had completed in him—to pass on his learning to others so that they may carry on the good work of bringing others up in the faith (2:2).

Paul's letters to Timothy take us back to one of the earliest cases of a church transitioning from one generation to the next. The exact dates of these letters are unknown, but they were probably written late in Paul's life, and 2 Timothy may have been Paul's last written work.

Key Verses in 2 Timothy

- "God has not given us a spirit of fear, but of power and of love and of a sound mind" (2 Tim. 1:7).
- "Be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus" (2 Tim. 2:1).
- "The things that you have heard from me among many witnesses, commit these to faithful men who will be able to teach others also" (2 Tim. 2:2).
- "Be diligent to present yourself approved to God, a worker who does not need to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth" (2 Tim. 2:15).

- “Flee also youthful lusts; but pursue righteousness, faith, love, peace with those who call on the Lord out of a pure heart” (2 Tim. 2:22).
- “All Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness, that the man of God may be complete, thoroughly equipped for every good work” (2 Tim. 3:16, 17).
- “Preach the word! Be ready in season and out of season. Convince, rebuke, exhort, with all longsuffering and teaching” (2 Tim. 4:2).

2 Timothy 1

Greeting

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ[a] by the will of God, according to the promise of life which is in Christ Jesus,
2 To Timothy, a beloved son:

Grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.

Timothy's Faith and Heritage

3 I thank God, whom I serve with a pure conscience, as my forefathers did, as without ceasing I remember you in my prayers night and day, Teacher of the Gentiles 4 greatly desiring to see you, being mindful of your tears, that I may be filled with joy, 5 when I call to remembrance the genuine faith that is in you, which dwelt first in your grandmother Lois and your mother Eunice, and I am persuaded is in you also. A Mother's Faith 6 Therefore I remind you to stir up the gift of God which is in you through the laying on of my hands.
7 For God has not given us a spirit of fear, but of power and of love and of a sound mind.

Not Ashamed of the Gospel

8 Therefore do not be ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me His prisoner, but share with me in the sufferings for the gospel according to the power of God, 9 who has saved us and called us with a holy calling, not according to our works, but according to His own purpose and grace which was given to us in Christ Jesus before time began,

10 but has now been revealed by the appearing of our Savior Jesus Christ, who has abolished death and brought life and immortality to light through the gospel,

11 to which I was appointed a preacher, an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles.[b]

12 For this reason I also suffer these things; nevertheless I am not ashamed, for I know whom I have believed and am persuaded that He is able to keep what I have committed to Him until that Day.

Be Loyal to the Faith

13 Hold fast the pattern of sound words which you have heard from me, in faith and love which are in Christ Jesus.

14 That good thing which was committed to you, keep by the Holy Spirit who dwells in us.

15 This you know, that all those in Asia have turned away from me, among whom are Phygellus and Hermogenes.

16 The Lord grant mercy to the household of Onesiphorus, for he often refreshed me, and was not ashamed of my chain;

17 but when he arrived in Rome, he sought me out very zealously and found me.

18 The Lord grant to him that he may find mercy from the Lord in that Day—and you know very well how many ways he ministered to me[c] at Ephesus.

2 Timothy 2

Be Strong in Grace

1 You therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus.
2 And the things that you have heard from me among many witnesses, commit these to faithful men who will be able to teach others also. Kingdom-Style Mentoring
3 You therefore must endure[a] hardship as a good soldier of Jesus Christ.
4 No one engaged in warfare entangles himself with the affairs of this life, that he may please him who enlisted him as a soldier.
5 And also if anyone competes in athletics, he is not crowned unless he competes according to the rules.
6 The hardworking farmer must be first to partake of the crops.
7 Consider what I say, and may[b] the Lord give you understanding in all things.
8 Remember that Jesus Christ, of the seed of David, was raised from the dead according to my gospel, 9 for which I suffer trouble as an evildoer, even to the point of chains; but the word of God is not chained.
10 Therefore I endure all things for the sake of the elect, that they also may obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory.
11 This is a faithful saying:

For if we died with Him,
We shall also live with Him.
12 If we endure,
We shall also reign with Him.

If we deny Him,
He also will deny us.
13If we are faithless,
He remains faithful;
He cannot deny Himself.

Approved and Disapproved Workers

14Remind them of these things, charging them before the Lord not to strive about words to no profit, to the ruin of the hearers.

16But shun profane and idle babblings, for they will increase to more ungodliness.

17And their message will spread like cancer. Hymenaeus and Philetus are of this sort, 18who have strayed concerning the truth, saying that the resurrection is already past; and they overthrow the faith of some.

19Nevertheless the solid foundation of God stands, having this seal: “The Lord knows those who are His,” and, “Let everyone who names the name of Christ[c] depart from iniquity.”

20But in a great house there are not only vessels of gold and silver, but also of wood and clay, some for honor and some for dishonor.

21Therefore if anyone cleanses himself from the latter, he will be a vessel for honor, sanctified and useful for the Master, prepared for every good work.

22Flee also youthful lusts; but pursue righteousness, faith, love, peace with those who call on the Lord out of a pure heart.

[23]But avoid foolish and ignorant disputes, knowing that they generate strife.
[24]And a servant of the Lord must not quarrel but be gentle to all, able to teach, patient, [25]in humility correcting those who are in opposition, if God perhaps will grant them repentance, so that they may know the truth, [26]and that they may come to their senses and escape the snare of the devil, having been taken captive by him to do his will.

2 Timothy 3

Perilous Times and Perilous Men

1 But know this, that in the last days perilous times will come:
2 For men will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy,
3 unloving, unforgiving, slanderers, without self-control, brutal, despisers of good, 4 traitors, headstrong, haughty, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God, 5 having a form of godliness but denying its power. And from such people turn away!
6 For of this sort are those who creep into households and make captives of gullible women loaded down with sins, led away by various lusts, 7 always learning and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth.
8 Now as Jannes and Jambres resisted Moses, so do these also resist the truth: men of corrupt minds, disapproved concerning the faith; Counterfeit Christianity 9 but they will progress no further, for their folly will be manifest to all, as theirs also was.

The Man of God and the Word of God

10 But you have carefully followed my doctrine, manner of life, purpose, faith, longsuffering, love, perseverance, 11 persecutions, afflictions, which happened to me at Antioch, at Iconium, at Lystra—what persecutions I endured. And out of them all the Lord delivered me.

12 Yes, and all who desire to live godly in Christ Jesus will suffer persecution.
13 But evil men and impostors will grow worse and worse, deceiving and being deceived.
14 But you must continue in the things which you have learned and been assured of, knowing from whom you have learned them,
15 and that from childhood you have known the Holy Scriptures, which are able to make you wise for salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus.
16 All Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness, 17 that the man of God may be complete, thoroughly equipped for every good work.

2 Timothy 4

Preach the Word

1 I charge you therefore before God and the Lord Jesus Christ, who will judge the living and the dead at[a] His appearing and His kingdom:
2 Preach the word! Be ready in season and out of season.
Convince, rebuke, exhort, with all longsuffering and teaching.
3 For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine, but according to their own desires, because they have itching ears, they will heap up for themselves teachers;
4 and they will turn their ears away from the truth, and be turned aside to fables.
5 But you be watchful in all things, endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, fulfill your ministry.

Paul's Valedictory

6 For I am already being poured out as a drink offering, and the time of my departure is at hand.
7 I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith.
8 Finally, there is laid up for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, will give to me on that Day, and not to me only but also to all who have loved His appearing.

The Abandoned Apostle

9 Be diligent to come to me quickly;
10 for Demas has forsaken me, having loved this present world, and has departed for Thessalonica—Crescens for Galatia, Titus for Dalmatia.

11 Only Luke is with me. Get Mark and bring him with you, for he is useful to me for ministry.

12 And Tychicus I have sent to Ephesus.

13 Bring the cloak that I left with Carpus at Troas when you come—and the books, especially the parchments.

14 Alexander the coppersmith did me much harm. May the Lord repay him according to his works.

15 You also must beware of him, for he has greatly resisted our words.

16 At my first defense no one stood with me, but all forsook me. May it not be charged against them.

The Lord Is Faithful

17 But the Lord stood with me and strengthened me, so that the message might be preached fully through me, and that all the Gentiles might hear. Also I was delivered out of the mouth of the lion.

18 And the Lord will deliver me from every evil work and preserve me for His heavenly kingdom. To Him be glory forever and ever. Amen!

Come Before Winter

19 Greet Prisca and Aquila, and the household of Onesiphorus.

20 Erastus stayed in Corinth, but Trophimus I have left in Miletus sick.

21 Do your utmost to come before winter. Eubulus greets you, as well as Pudens, Linus, Claudia, and all the brethren.

Farewell

22 The Lord Jesus Christ[b] be with your spirit. Grace be with you. Amen.

Teacher of the Gentiles

2 Tim. 1:3

Paul was proud of his ethnic heritage, openly embracing his Jewish background and connection to his "forefathers," people of faith such as Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph, Moses, and David.

At first this seems to contradict Paul's earlier words when he called that same background a "loss" and "rubbish" compared to the richness of knowing Christ (Phil. 3:4–8). At times he did harshly criticize his culture, but only at the points where it fostered self-righteous pride, exclusive attitudes, and belief in salvation through keeping rules rather than by faith in Christ. In reality Paul had a healthy perspective of his roots. He valued the positive aspects of his heritage while rejecting its negative sides.

This outlook might have made Paul particularly effective as a "teacher of the Gentiles" (2 Tim. 1:11), a remarkable calling given his training as a Pharisee (see "An Extremist Transformed" at Gal. 1:13–17). As God helped Paul reassess his own ethnicity, He also transformed his disdain for non-Jews. Once Paul understood his own identity, he no longer felt threatened by people of other cultures.

Paul had much to offer Timothy, who came from a mixed background of Jew and Gentile (Acts 16:1–3). He also helps us understand our own backgrounds and the spirit of acceptance we should adopt as members of a diverse culture where racial and ethnic tensions run high.

More: God never asks us to reject our roots. No matter how our culture regards our heritage, we can affirm it as a gift from Him. See "The Gift of an Ethnic Heritage" at Col. 4:10, 11.

A Mother's Faith

2 Tim. 1:5

Although Eunice was Jewish, her father apparently was not very orthodox. He violated the Law by arranging a match for his daughter with a Gentile (Acts 16:1). And because her son Timothy was not circumcised (16:3), it seems that Eunice's husband did not welcome Jewish customs into his household. Nevertheless, Eunice kept to her beliefs; Paul praised the "genuine faith" she shared with her mother Lois (2 Tim. 1:5). Eunice imparted that sense of faith to her son Timothy, and before anyone else she equipped him for a lifetime of serving God.

Eunice offers inspiration to every woman tasked with nurturing her children's spiritual lives, especially if she lacks the support of a husband or her children lack the support of a fatherly presence. Eunice may have had no formal religious education and little help apart from Lois. But she had two crucial advantages that we can still access today—the dynamic power of being a mother and the limitless power of a loving God.

More: Susanna Wesley dedicated herself to her children's spiritual upbringing, believing happiness is impossible without an experiential knowledge of God—actively loving and being loved by Him. Augustine's mother Monica was a devout Christian who pursued both her husband's and her son's conversions over many years. Her efforts were eventually rewarded, and her son went on to become one of Christianity's greatest thinkers.

Kingdom-Style Mentoring

2 Tim. 2:2

Paul had helped Timothy during a crucial stage in his development, and now he challenged Timothy to coach others who could in turn help more people. Modern Christians need to recover this culture of mentorship, of which the early church provides many examples:

- Barnabas with Saul/Paul. A wealthy landowner from Cyprus, Barnabas stood up for Saul, the persecutor-turned-convert, introducing him to church leaders and vouching for his transformation. Coached by Barnabas (Acts 4:36, 37; 9:26–30; 11:22–30), Paul became an essential leader in the Christian movement (see "Barnabas: A Model of Mentoring" at Acts 9:27).
- Barnabas with John Mark. In a dramatic split with Paul, Barnabas took John Mark home with him to Cyprus and rebuilt the young man's confidence (15:36–39). Paul later changed his opinion of John Mark, describing him as "useful to me for ministry" (2 Tim. 4:11).
- Priscilla and Aquila with Apollos. Priscilla and Aquila came alongside the gifted orator Apollos to tutor him in the faith and sponsor his ministry (Acts 18:1–3, 24–28).
- Paul with Timothy. Paul recruited Timothy and built on the spiritual foundation laid by the young man's mother and grandmother (2 Tim. 1:5). Paul enlisted Timothy as a fellow traveler, then guided him in his first major assignment, the new church at Ephesus (Acts 16:1–3; Phil. 2:19–23; 2 Tim. 1–4).
- Paul with Philemon. Paul helped this wealthy Colossian leader deal with a slave who broke the law by running away. Paul worked to procure full acceptance of the returned slave, with Philemon welcoming him as a brother in the faith rather than as a piece of property to be sold, punished, or even killed (see the introduction to Philemon).

Counterfeit Christianity

2 Tim. 3:8, 9

Wherever people hear and act on God's truth, counterfeits soon surface. It happened at Ephesus, prompting a warning from Paul to

Timothy.

The apostle mentioned two characters, Jannes (“Seducer”) and Jambres (“Opposer”). Neither name appears in the Old Testament, but Jewish legend holds that these were also the names of two Egyptian magicians who opposed Moses’ demand that Pharaoh free the Israelites. They attempted to duplicate Moses’ miracles to discredit him, but God showed that Moses’ authority exceeded theirs (Ex. 7:11, 12, 22).

Paul had a similar experience at Ephesus. For two years he taught the message of Christ in a culture steeped in idolatry and occultism. God confirmed Paul’s teaching through miraculous signs, including the release of many from demonic oppression. Local exorcists tried to duplicate the miracles, but when their scheme backfired, the gospel moved forward (Acts 19:8–20).

Spiritual fakes still exist, just as Paul predicted they would. Many of them are fakes because of how they act, rather than what they say. All the words may be in the right places, but their behavior doesn’t line up with truth or goodness. If we effectively communicate the gospel, we can count on competing worldviews to appear, including some that may take on the guise of Christianity through superficial imitation. Paul instructs us to “continue in the things which you have learned and been assured of,” basing our lives and witness on the firm foundation of Scripture (2 Tim. 3:14–17).

Some people assert that the details of faith are insignificant—that as long as we do the right thing, everything else will fall into place. But Paul's letter to Titus contradicts that reasoning. Paul taught that everything we do is shaped by what we believe, and that there is a "truth which accords with godliness" (Titus 1:1).

Paul urged his friend Titus, the pastor of a struggling church on the island of Crete, to "speak the things which are proper for sound doctrine" (2:1), for correct living is the product of correct belief. Heresy leads to sin. Only truth produces genuine Christlikeness.

In the modern world, many streams of thought lay claim to the truth. But nothing that goes against the Bible can stand up to the perfect character, integrity, and humility of Jesus. We should pay careful attention to the teaching we receive, evaluating whether it agrees with Scripture, honors God, and relies on the Cross.

Crete was home to an ancient culture that was notorious for its corruption. In this moral wasteland, Christians needed to stand out from their environment by speaking and living honestly. And more than anything else, the believers at Crete needed to exhibit a sincerity that spoke for the authenticity of their faith. Thus Paul urged Titus and his congregation to "adorn the doctrine of God" (2:10), making the truth about God attractive through their actions—something Christians are still called to do today.

The Book of Titus shares similarities with 1 and 2 Timothy not only in style and content but also in the circumstances of its production. Paul wrote this letter around the same time as 1 Timothy, likely not long after he visited Titus on the island of Crete (1:5). To learn more about Titus's work with Paul, see the introduction to 2 Corinthians.

Key Verses in Titus

- "The grace of God that brings salvation has appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly in the present age" (Titus 2:11, 12).
- "When the kindness and the love of God our Savior toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to His mercy He saved us . . . that having been justified by His grace we should become heirs according to the hope of eternal life" (Titus 3:4, 5, 7).
- "Those who have believed in God should be careful to maintain good works. These things are good and profitable to men" (Titus 3:8).

Titus 1

Greeting

1 Paul, a bondservant of God and an apostle of Jesus Christ, according to the faith of God's elect and the acknowledgment of the truth which accords with godliness, 2 in hope of eternal life which God, who cannot lie, promised before time began, God Cannot Lie 3 but has in due time manifested His word through preaching, which was committed to me according to the commandment of God our Savior;

4 To Titus, a true son in our common faith:

Grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ[a] our Savior.

Qualified Elders

5 For this reason I left you in Crete, that you should set in order the things that are lacking, and appoint elders in every city as I commanded you—6 if a man is blameless, the husband of one wife, having faithful children not accused of dissipation or insubordination.
7 For a bishop[b] must be blameless, as a steward of God, not self-willed, not quick-tempered, not given to wine, not violent, not greedy for money, 8 but hospitable, a lover of what is good, sober-minded, just, holy, self-controlled, 9 holding fast the faithful word as he has been taught, that he may be able, by sound doctrine, both to exhort and convict those who contradict.

The Elders' Task

10For there are many insubordinate, both idle talkers and deceivers, especially those of the circumcision, 11whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole households, teaching things which they ought not, for the sake of dishonest gain.
12One of them, a prophet of their own, said, "Cretans are always liars, evil beasts, lazy gluttons." 13This testimony is true. Therefore rebuke them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith, 14not giving heed to Jewish fables and commandments of men who turn from the truth.
15To the pure all things are pure, but to those who are defiled and unbelieving nothing is pure; but even their mind and conscience are defiled.
16They profess to know God, but in works they deny Him, being abominable, disobedient, and disqualified for every good work.

Titus 2

Qualities of a Sound Church

1But as for you, speak the things which are proper for sound doctrine:
2that the older men be sober, reverent, temperate, sound in faith, in love, in patience; 3the older women likewise, that they be reverent in behavior, not slanderers, not given to much wine, teachers of good things—4that they admonish the young women to love their husbands, to love their children, 5to be discreet, chaste, homemakers, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God may not be blasphemed.
6Likewise, exhort the young men to be sober-minded, 7in all things showing yourself to be a pattern of good works; in doctrine showing integrity, reverence, incorruptibility,[a] 8sound speech that cannot be condemned, that one who is an opponent may be ashamed, having nothing evil to say of you.[b]
9*Exhort* bondservants to be obedient to their own masters, to be well pleasing in all things, not answering back, Your Workstyle 10not pilfering, but showing all good fidelity, that they may adorn the doctrine of God our Savior in all things.

Trained by Saving Grace

11For the grace of God that brings salvation has appeared to all men, Changed by Salvation

12 teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly in the present age, 13 looking for the blessed hope and glorious appearing of our great God and Savior Jesus Christ, 14 who gave Himself for us, that He might redeem us from every lawless deed and purify for Himself His own special people, zealous for good works.
15 Speak these things, exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no one despise you.

Titus 3

Graces of the Heirs of Grace

1 Remind them to be subject to rulers and authorities, to obey, to be ready for every good work, 2 to speak evil of no one, to be peaceable, gentle, showing all humility to all men.
3 For we ourselves were also once foolish, disobedient, deceived, serving various lusts and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hateful and hating one another.
4 But when the kindness and the love of God our Savior toward man appeared, 5 not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to His mercy He saved us, through the washing of regeneration and renewing of the Holy Spirit, 6 whom He poured out on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Savior,
7 that having been justified by His grace we should become heirs according to the hope of eternal life.
8 This is a faithful saying, and these things I want you to affirm constantly, that those who have believed in God should be careful to maintain good works. These things are good and profitable to men.

Avoid Dissension

9 But avoid foolish disputes, genealogies, contentions, and strivings about the law; for they are unprofitable and useless.
10 Reject a divisive man after the first and second admonition, 11 knowing that such a person is warped and sinning, being self-condemned.

Final Messages

12When I send Artemas to you, or Tychicus, be diligent to come to me at Nicopolis, for I have decided to spend the winter there. United by God's Work 13Send Zenas the lawyer and Apollos on their journey with haste, that they may lack nothing.
14And let our people also learn to maintain good works, to meet urgent needs, that they may not be unfruitful.

Farewell

15All who are with me greet you. Greet those who love us in the faith. Grace be with you all. Amen.

God Cannot Lie

Titus 1:2

Paul sent Titus to the island of Crete with instructions to "set in order the things that are lacking, and appoint elders in every city" (Titus 1:5). As the apostle wrote this job description for his young trainee, he emphasized that God does not lie (1:2). That would have been quite a contrast to the Cretans, who were famous across the Mediterranean for their dishonesty. One of their own poets, Epimenides, had remarked centuries earlier that "Cretans are always liars, evil beasts, lazy gluttons," and it seems that this assessment still applied in Paul and Titus's day (1:12, 13).

If the Christians at Crete were ever going to be faithful to their truth-speaking God, they would need to break the patterns they had learned all too well from their culture. Paul therefore directed Titus to . . .

- Develop a team of trustworthy leaders (1:6–9).
- Train all Christians—young and old, male and female, slave and free—to pursue changed lives that demonstrated integrity, self-control, and purity (2:1–15).
- Call every follower of Christ not merely to words but to action (1:16; 2:7, 14; 3:8, 9, 14; Matt. 7:21–23; James 1:19–27).

By pursuing these strategies, Titus and the Cretan Christians would silence their critics (Titus 2:5, 8, 15).

God never lies. And as His people, we should be known for our honest words and deeds—in contrast to our past dishonesty, impurity, and malice (3:1–3). Like the believers on the island of Crete, we have been made into new creations.

Your Workstyle

Titus 2:9–11

If Jesus is Lord of all parts of life, then He is certainly Lord over our jobs. And just as we should endeavor to represent Jesus well in other areas of life, our attitudes, words, and behaviors all add up to a "workstyle" that either attracts people to God or drives them away. Our goal should be to "adorn the doctrine of God our Savior in all things," including our workstyle. Paul highlights five key categories of Christlike living that we are to pursue.

Five Workstyle Categories

Description	Issue	Application
"obedient to their own masters"	Authority	Do you . . . • follow instructions? • comply with standards? • pay your fair share of taxes?
"well pleasing in all things"	Excellence	Do you . . . • take pride in your work? • do your job the right way for the best results? • work hard even when the boss isn't around?
"not answering back"	Conflict	Do you . . . • resolve conflicts constructively? • treat others honestly and courteously? • promote cooperation rather than unhealthy competition?
"not pilfering"	Honesty & Integrity	Do you . . . • track your hours honestly? • pay personal expenses rather than charging them to an expense account? • refrain from using company supplies for personal use?
"showing all good fidelity"	Loyalty & Dependability	Do you . . . • keep your word?

- do what it takes to meet deadlines?
- honor what your company stands for?

Changed by Salvation
Titus 2:11–14

Titus gave the unruly people of Crete a new vision of life when he held them accountable to sobriety, righteousness, and godliness. But God did not expect these new Christians to transform themselves on their own. The Lord had saved them, and His salvation would teach them to relinquish old habits and discover a new, better way of life. To learn more, see "Salvation: Past, Present, and Future" at Romans 5:6–11.

United by God's Work
Titus 3:12–15

The job of spreading the gospel in the face of heated opposition formed deep bonds between early Christians. It is obvious that they planned their travels not only around ministry opportunities but also around their relationships with each other. Paul encouraged Titus to come to him at Nicopolis, for example, during a seasonal break (Titus 3:12). Scripture also indicates that early Christians such as Paul and the Christians at Ephesus exchanged gifts as well as letters (Phil. 4:18).

Modern Christians enjoy many conveniences through the advancement of technology, but it still takes just as much work as it ever did to build and maintain meaningful relationships. And when we are truly united in God's work, the cause of Christ will move forward no matter what obstacles we face.

b 2:8 NU-Text and M-Text read us.

The Book of Philemon offers indisputable evidence that Christ transforms people, heals old grievances, and overcomes disparities in social and economic status.

The story actually begins in the Book of Acts, with Paul's arrival in Ephesus (Acts 19:1). His work there over a period of more than two years produced spectacular results, so that "all who dwelt in Asia [Minor] heard the word of the Lord Jesus, both Jews and Greeks" (19:10).

Among those who responded to the gospel was Philemon, a wealthy man from Colosse, possibly a merchant traveling on business to Ephesus. Philemon took his new faith back with him to Colosse, where he founded or at least hosted a church in his home. In fact, it was perhaps this same church community to whom Paul's letter to the Colossians was written (Col. 4:7–9).

Like most wealthy citizens of the Roman world, Philemon owned slaves. Scholars estimate that up to half of the population in parts of the Roman empire lived in some form of servitude. One of Philemon's slaves, Onesimus, ran away. Years later and nearly a thousand miles away in the city of Rome, Onesimus happened upon Paul, the very man who had led his former master to Christ. After Onesimus also turned to Christ and began growing in the faith, Paul came to regard him as "my son . . . whom I have begotten while in my chains" (Philem. 10).

But now Paul faced a dilemma. Should he keep Onesimus with him? That's what Paul wanted to do (v. 13). But by law he was required to send the fugitive slave back to his master or turn him over to authorities. Yet what would happen to this new believer, so cherished by Paul that he called him “my own heart” (v. 12)? Onesimus could be sold, punished, or even killed. Could Paul live with himself, knowing that he had led his friend to bondage and destruction?

The apostle resolved to send Onesimus back to Philemon—but not without protection. He assigned an associate named Tychicus to escort the slave back to Colosse and to transport three documents—letters to the churches in Colosse and Laodicea (Col. 4:16) and a personal message to Philemon.

Paul leaned heavily on his history with Philemon in order to persuade him to act with mercy. He counted on the master to demonstrate spiritual maturity by forgiving the slave and accepting him as a brother in Christ. No doubt Philemon’s standing in the Christian community at Colosse would add further leverage, as people would be closely watching his response.

Paul wrote this letter from prison, likely in Rome (4:18; Philem. 9), where he gained a deep understanding of what it is to yearn for freedom. The letter was probably composed in the late 50s or early 60s A.D.

Philemon 1

Greeting

1 Paul, a prisoner of Christ Jesus, and Timothy our brother,
To Philemon our beloved friend and fellow laborer, Philemon

2 to the beloved[a] Apphia, Archippus our fellow soldier, and to the church in your house:

3 Grace to you and peace from God our Father
and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Philemon's Love and Faith

4 I thank my God, making mention of you always in my prayers,
5 hearing of your love and faith which you have toward the Lord Jesus and toward all the saints,
6 that the sharing of your faith may become effective by the acknowledgment of every good thing which is in you[b] in Christ Jesus.
7 For we have[c] great joy[d] and consolation in your love, because the hearts of the saints have been refreshed by you, brother.

The Plea for Onesimus

8 Therefore, though I might be very bold in Christ to command you what is fitting,
9 yet for love's sake I rather appeal to you—being such a one as Paul, the aged, and now also a prisoner of Jesus Christ—
10 I appeal to you for my son Onesimus, whom I have begotten while in my chains,

11 who once was unprofitable to you, but now is profitable to you and to me.
12 I am sending him back.[e] You therefore receive him, that is, my own heart, 13 whom I wished to keep with me, that on your behalf he might minister to me in my chains for the gospel.
14 But without your consent I wanted to do nothing, that your good deed might not be by compulsion, as it were, but voluntary.
15 For perhaps he departed for a while for this purpose, that you might receive him forever, Asking Why 16 no longer as a slave but more than a slave—a beloved brother, especially to me but how much more to you, both in the flesh and in the Lord. Challenging Slavery

Philemon's Obedience Encouraged

17 If then you count me as a partner, receive him as you would me.
18 But if he has wronged you or owes anything, put that on my account.
19 I, Paul, am writing with my own hand. I will repay—not to mention to you that you owe me even your own self besides.
20 Yes, brother, let me have joy from you in the Lord;
refresh my heart in the Lord.
21 Having confidence in your obedience, I write to you, knowing that you will do even more than I say.
22 But, meanwhile, also prepare a guest room for me, for I trust that through your prayers I shall be granted to you.

Farewell

23 Epaphras, my fellow prisoner in Christ Jesus, greets you, The Rest of the Story

[24]as do Mark, Aristarchus, Demas, Luke, my fellow laborers.
[25]The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

Asking Why

Philem. 15, 16

Who hasn't wondered why God allowed a particular event to happen? It's a question we ask both under our breath and out loud. In a world of mysteries and uncertainties, we cannot help but wonder why?

Some consider it futile, harmful, or irreverent to ponder why things happen or to question God's ways. "God has His reasons," they say. "It is not our place to know why." Or, "We shouldn't question God's purposes. There are things we won't know until we get to heaven, so why bother wondering about them now?"

Paul's words to Philemon, however, indicate that contemplating what God may be up to is useful. Paul had no Scripture that would explain why Onesimus had come to faith and was prepared to return to Philemon. So he offered Philemon his own opinion, based on what some call "theological reflection."

God encourages us to reflect on our circumstances. We should consider what He may want to teach us. We should pay close attention to the unusual, unexpected, and undesirable events that come our way. Thinking hard about these things will help us bring God and His Word into everyday life. We will never find all the answers, but we will always discover more of God in our lives by wondering why?

More: For more on the process of theological reflection, see "Discovering God's Purpose for You" at Gen. 45:5–8.

Challenging Slavery

Philem. 16

Paul wrote to the Colossians, "There is neither . . . slave nor free, but Christ is all and in all" (Col. 3:11). He wrote to the Galatians, "There is neither slave nor free . . . for you are all one in Christ Jesus" (Gal. 3:28).

Christ made social divisions and distinctions immaterial, and His followers rightly condemn practices that degrade people. Yet it seems that first-century Christians did not actively campaign against slavery. As far as we know, they never urged slaves to rebel or petitioned the government for change. Yet in Philemon we clearly observe Paul asking a believing slave-owner to reject the practice of slavery and instead put the Christian ideals of Colossians 3:11 and Galatians 3:28 into action. Philemon and Onesimus had a unique opportunity to prove the gospel's power over slavery.

Slavery was just one of several cultural divisions that early Christians began to break down. Some others include:

- Hellenists and Hebrews (Acts 6:1–7).
- Samaritans and Jews (8:5–8).
- Jews and Gentiles (8:26–40; 10:1–48).
- Men and women (16:14, 15; 18:1–4, 24–28).

Slavery still persists in the world today, including in nations that have formally outlawed it. When considering social justice, we should ask not whether a certain practice is legal but whether it allows people to be treated with dignity in the way that God desires. And the more we further the gospel, the more common ground we will have to put an end to other conflicts that divide us.

More: Christians are all in the same family, no longer divided by ethnicity, social status, or gender. See "We Are Family" at Gal. 3:28.

The Rest of the Story

Philem. 23–25

The letter to Philemon offers only a small part of the conversation between Paul and Philemon, and gives no details about what happened next—how Philemon responded and how Onesimus was treated upon his return. However, the name Onesimus appears in letters written by Ignatius of Antioch. The bishop was arrested around A.D. 110 and taken to Rome for trial. During the journey he wrote to the church at Ephesus, addressing a new bishop there named Onesimus. Many believe that this was the same Onesimus who ran away from Philemon but later came to faith and returned. Whatever the case, the story of Onesimus and Philemon holds a number of significant lessons for modern readers to take away:

- It shows that in Christ there is always room for reconciliation and second chances.
- It illustrates how God works behind the scenes to bring people to faith and restore relationships.
- It shows the power of the gospel to work at a distance and effect change from city to city, coast to coast, continent to continent.

- It demonstrates the value of mentorships.
- It appeals to our sense of humanity and brotherhood in Christ, inspiring us to aid the oppressed and relinquish old prejudices.
- It shows that in Christ, people can change and this change comes with demonstratable differences.

One of the most divisive issues of the early church was whether non-Jews could become Christians—and if they could, to what extent they had to adopt Jewish practices. The Christian movement largely began among the Jewish followers of Jesus, and because the earliest Christians shared much the same religious, ethnic, and cultural background, there was little discord over inclusiveness. But as the gospel spread to other groups—such as the Hellenists (Jews born outside of Palestine who spoke Greek), the Samaritans (the Jews' despised cousins), and the Gentiles (non-Jews)—it did not take long for conflict to break out (Acts 6:1; 11:1, 2; 15:1, 2).

Some Jewish believers stringently opposed welcoming Gentiles into the faith. They argued that being circumcised according to the Law of Moses was the only way Gentiles could become acceptable to God. In essence, Gentiles would have to become Jews before they could become Christians.

This issue was first raised by Stephen, who charged the Jewish Council with using Judaism as an excuse for rejecting Jesus (7:2–53). Before long, the issue of circumcision was in fierce debate among church leaders in Jerusalem (11:1–18; 15:1–29; Gal. 2:1–10) and Antioch (2:11–16). The Jerusalem church eventually declared that Christ alone was necessary for salvation.

Nevertheless, false teachers traveled in the wake of the apostles, spreading dissension. Some arrived in Galatia and upset Gentiles there with a "different gospel" (1:6, 7). An indignant Paul quickly sent a letter to the Galatians insisting that salvation depends on Christ alone. Similar messages were sent to believers in Ephesus (Eph. 2:11–22), Philippi (Phil. 3:2–16), and Rome (Rom. 2:1–3:30; 11:11–32; 15:7–13).

The gospel of "Christ alone" prevailed. And before long, Gentiles outnumbered Jews in the church, and sentiments swung to the other extreme. "There is neither Jew nor Greek," Paul wrote (Gal. 3:28; Eph. 2:14–18; Col. 3:11). So what value was there in Judaism if Christ alone was necessary for salvation? Why bother with an outdated system?

The Book of Hebrews answers these questions by demonstrating the value of the Old Testament sacrifices and rituals that led up to Christ. All Christians, in every time and place, share a spiritual Jewish heritage.

The author of Hebrews writes as if the original readers of the letter already knew his or her identity (Heb. 13:22). Unfortunately, modern readers do not. Hebrews is one of only two letters in the New Testament that lacks a greeting or identification of its author (the other is 1 John). The King James Version calls the letter "The Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Hebrews." But the earliest manuscripts make no such claim, and many people doubt that Paul wrote the book. Their reasons include:

- The language, vocabulary, and style differ in certain respects from Paul's known letters.
- Some of Paul's frequent expressions—"Christ Jesus," "in Christ," "the resurrection"—are all but absent.
- Hebrews treats subjects like the Law and the nature of faith somewhat differently from Paul's known writings.
- Early church sources mention other possible authors.

No one has conclusively demonstrated that Paul was the author of Hebrews. But if he did not write the letter, then who did? There has been no shortage of suggestions: Luke,

Priscilla, Aquila, Clement of Rome, Silvanus (Silas), Philip the evangelist, Apollos, and Barnabas are a few. In the end, we cannot be sure who composed the letter to the Hebrews. But the author's anonymity in no way diminishes the work's integrity, nor has it caused anyone to question its place in Scripture.

Key Verses in Hebrews

- "The word of God is living and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword" (Heb. 4:12).
- "We do not have a High Priest who cannot sympathize with our weaknesses, but was in all points tempted as we are, yet without sin" (Heb. 4:15).
- "Let us therefore come boldly to the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy and find grace to help in time of need" (Heb. 4:16).
- "With His own blood He entered the Most Holy Place once for all, having obtained eternal redemption" (Heb. 9:12).
- "It is appointed for men to die once, but after this the judgment" (Heb. 9:27).
- "Let us consider one another in order to stir up love and good works, not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as is the manner of some, but exhorting one another" (Heb. 10:24, 25).
- "Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen" (Heb. 11:1).
- "Let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which so easily ensnares us . . . looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith, who for the joy that was set before Him endured the cross, despising the shame" (Heb. 12:1, 2).

- “Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever” (Heb. 13:8).

Hebrews 1

God's Supreme Revelation

1 God, who at various times and in various ways spoke in time past to the fathers by the prophets, Our Hebrew Heritage 2 has in these last days spoken to us by His Son, whom He has appointed heir of all things, through whom also He made the worlds;
3 who being the brightness of His glory and the express image of His person, and upholding all things by the word of His power, when He had by Himself[a] purged our[b] sins, sat down at the right hand of the Majesty on high, 4 having become so much better than the angels, as He has by inheritance obtained a more excellent name than they.

The Son Exalted Above Angels

5 For to which of the angels did He ever say:

> "You are My Son,
> Today I have begotten You"?[c]

And again:

> "I will be to Him a Father,
> And He shall be to Me a Son"?[d] Jesus Christ Is Supreme

6 But when He again brings the firstborn into the world,
He says:

> "Let all the angels of God worship Him."[e]

7 And of the angels He says:

“Who makes His angels spirits
And His ministers a flame of fire.”[f]

8 But to the Son He says:

“Your throne, O God, is forever and ever;
A scepter of righteousness is the scepter of Your kingdom.
9 You have loved righteousness and hated lawlessness;
Therefore God, Your God, has anointed You With the oil of gladness more than Your companions.”[g]

10 And:

“You, LORD, in the beginning laid the foundation of the earth,
And the heavens are the work of Your hands.
11 They will perish, but You remain;
And they will all grow old like a garment;
12 Like a cloak You will fold them up,
And they will be changed.
But You are the same,
And Your years will not fail.”[h]

13 But to which of the angels has He ever said:

“Sit at My right hand,
Till I make Your enemies Your footstool”?[i]

14 Are they not all ministering spirits sent forth to minister for those who will inherit salvation?

Hebrews 2

Do Not Neglect Salvation

1 Therefore we must give the more earnest heed to the things we have heard, lest we drift away.
2 For if the word spoken through angels proved steadfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just reward,
3 how shall we escape if we neglect so great a salvation, which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed to us by those who heard Him, 4 God also bearing witness both with signs and wonders, with various miracles, and gifts of the Holy Spirit, according to His own will?

The Son Made Lower than Angels

5 For He has not put the world to come, of which we speak, in subjection to angels.
6 But one testified in a certain place, saying:

> "What is man that You are mindful of him,
> Or the son of man that You take care of him?
> 7 You have made him a little lower than the > angels;
> You have crowned him with glory and honor,[a]
> And set him over the works of Your hands.
> 8 You have put all things in subjection under > his feet."[b]

For in that He put all in subjection under him, He left nothing that is not put under him. But now we do not yet see all things put under him.

9 But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels, for the suffering of death crowned with glory and honor, that He, by the grace of God, might taste death for everyone.

Bringing Many Sons to Glory

10 For it was fitting for Him, for whom are all things and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons to glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings.
11 For both He who sanctifies and those who are being sanctified are all of one, for which reason He is not ashamed to call them brethren, 12 saying:

> "I will declare Your name to My brethren;
> In the midst of the assembly I will sing > praise to You."[c]

13 And again:

> "I will put My trust in Him."[d]

And again:

> "Here am I and the children whom God has > given Me."[e]

14 Inasmuch then as the children have partaken of flesh and blood, He Himself likewise shared in the same, that through death He might destroy him who had the power of death, that is, the devil, 15 and release those who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage.

16For indeed He does not give aid to angels, but He does give aid to the seed of Abraham.
17Therefore, in all things He had to be made like His brethren, that He might be a merciful and faithful High Priest in things pertaining to God, to make propitiation for the sins of the people.
18For in that He Himself has suffered, being tempted, He is able to aid those who are tempted.

Hebrews 3

The Son Was Faithful

1 Therefore, holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest of our confession, Christ Jesus, The Christian's Calling 2 who was faithful to Him who appointed Him, as Moses also was faithful in all His house.
3 For this One has been counted worthy of more glory than Moses, inasmuch as He who built the house has more honor than the house.
4 For every house is built by someone, but He who built all things is God.
5 And Moses indeed was faithful in all His house as a servant, for a testimony of those things which would be spoken afterward,
6 but Christ as a Son over His own house, whose house we are if we hold fast the confidence and the rejoicing of the hope firm to the end.[a]

Be Faithful

7 Therefore, as the Holy Spirit says:

> "Today, if you will hear His voice,
> 8 Do not harden your hearts as in the rebellion,
> In the day of trial in the wilderness,
> 9 Where your fathers tested Me, tried Me,
> And saw My works forty years.
> 10 Therefore I was angry with that generation,

And said, 'They always go astray in their heart,
And they have not known My ways.'
11 So I swore in My wrath,
'They shall not enter My rest.' "[b]

12 Beware, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief in departing from the living God;
13 but exhort one another daily, while it is called "Today," lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin.
14 For we have become partakers of Christ if we hold the beginning of our confidence steadfast to the end, 15 while it is said:

"Today, if you will hear His voice,
Do not harden your hearts as in the rebellion."[c]

Failure of the Wilderness Wanderers

16 For who, having heard, rebelled? Indeed, was it not all who came out of Egypt, led by Moses?
17 Now with whom was He angry forty years? Was it not with those who sinned, whose corpses fell in the wilderness?
18 And to whom did He swear that they would not enter His rest, but to those who did not obey?
19 So we see that they could not enter in because of unbelief.

Hebrews 4

The Promise of Rest

1 Therefore, since a promise remains of entering His rest, let us fear lest any of you seem to have come short of it.
2 For indeed the gospel was preached to us as well as to them; but the word which they heard did not profit them,[a] not being mixed with faith in those who heard it.
3 For we who have believed do enter that rest, as He has said:

> "So I swore in My wrath,
> 'They shall not enter My rest,' "[b]

although the works were finished from the foundation of the world.
4 For He has spoken in a certain place of the seventh day in this way: "And God rested on the seventh day from all His works";[c]
5 and again in this place: "They shall not enter My rest."[d] 6 Since therefore it remains that some must enter it, and those to whom it was first preached did not enter because of disobedience,
7 again He designates a certain day, saying in David,
"Today," after such a long time, as it has been said:

> "Today, if you will hear His voice,
> Do not harden your hearts."[e]

8 For if Joshua had given them rest, then He would not afterward have spoken of another day.
9 There remains therefore a rest for the people of God.

10For he who has entered His rest has himself also ceased from his works as God did from His.

The Word Discovers Our Condition

11Let us therefore be diligent to enter that rest, lest anyone fall according to the same example of disobedience.
12For the word of God is living and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the division of soul and spirit, and of joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart.
13And there is no creature hidden from His sight, but all things are naked and open to the eyes of Him to whom we must give account.

Our Compassionate High Priest

14Seeing then that we have a great High Priest who has passed through the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our confession. Cocooning
15For we do not have a High Priest who cannot sympathize with our weaknesses, but was in all points tempted as we are, yet without sin.
16Let us therefore come boldly to the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy and find grace to help in time of need.

Hebrews 5

Qualifications for High Priesthood

1For every high priest taken from among men is appointed for men in things pertaining to God, that he may offer both gifts and sacrifices for sins. Lessons in Leadership 2He can have compassion on those who are ignorant and going astray, since he himself is also subject to weakness.
3Because of this he is required as for the people, so also for himself, to offer sacrifices for sins.
4And no man takes this honor to himself, but he who is called by God, just as Aaron was.

A Priest Forever

5So also Christ did not glorify Himself to become High Priest, but it was He who said to Him:

> "You are My Son,
> Today I have begotten You."[a]

6As He also says in another place:

> "You are a priest forever
> According to the order of Melchizedek";[b]

7who, in the days of His flesh, when He had offered up prayers and supplications, with vehement cries and tears to Him who was able to save Him from death, and was heard because of His godly fear, 8though He was a Son, yet He learned obedience by the things which He suffered.
9And having been perfected, He became the author of eternal salvation to all who obey Him,

10 called by God as High Priest “according to the order of Melchizedek,”

11 of whom we have much to say, and hard to explain, since you have become dull of hearing.

Spiritual Immaturity

12 For though by this time you ought to be teachers, you need someone to teach you again the first principles of the oracles of God; and you have come to need milk and not solid food.

13 For everyone who partakes only of milk is unskilled in the word of righteousness, for he is a babe.

14 But solid food belongs to those who are of full age, that is, those who by reason of use have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil.

Hebrews 6

The Peril of Not Progressing

1Therefore, leaving the discussion of the elementary principles of Christ, let us go on to perfection, not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works and of faith toward God, Knowing About God

2of the doctrine of baptisms, of laying on of hands, of resurrection of the dead, and of eternal judgment.

3And this we will[a] do if God permits.

4For it is impossible for those who were once enlightened, and have tasted the heavenly gift, and have become partakers of the Holy Spirit,

5and have tasted the good word of God and the powers of the age to come,

6if they fall away,[b] to renew them again to repentance, since they crucify again for themselves the Son of God, and put Him to an open shame.

7For the earth which drinks in the rain that often comes upon it, and bears herbs useful for those by whom it is cultivated, receives blessing from God;

8but if it bears thorns and briers, it is rejected and near to being cursed, whose end is to be burned.

A Better Estimate

9But, beloved, we are confident of better things concerning you, yes, things that accompany salvation, though we speak in this manner.

10For God is not unjust to forget your work and labor of[c] love which you have shown toward His name, in that you have ministered to the saints, and do minister.

11 And we desire that each one of you show the same diligence to the full assurance of hope until the end, 12 that you do not become sluggish, but imitate those who through faith and patience inherit the promises.

God's Infallible Purpose in Christ

13 For when God made a promise to Abraham, because He could swear by no one greater, He swore by Himself, 14 saying, "Surely blessing I will bless you, and multiplying I will multiply you."[d] 15 And so, after he had patiently endured, he obtained the promise.
16 For men indeed swear by the greater, and an oath for confirmation is for them an end of all dispute.
17 Thus God, determining to show more abundantly to the heirs of promise the immutability of His counsel, confirmed it by an oath,
18 that by two immutable things, in which it is impossible for God to lie, we might[e] have strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold of the hope set before us.
19 This hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and steadfast, and which enters the Presence behind the veil,
20 where the forerunner has entered for us, even Jesus, having become High Priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek.

Hebrews 7

The King of Righteousness

1For this Melchizedek, king of Salem, priest of the Most High God, who met Abraham returning from the slaughter of the kings and blessed him, 2to whom also Abraham gave a tenth part of all, first being translated “king of righteousness,” and then also king of Salem, meaning “king of peace,” 3without father, without mother, without genealogy, having neither beginning of days nor end of life, but made like the Son of God, remains a priest continually.
4Now consider how great this man was, to whom even the patriarch Abraham gave a tenth of the spoils.
5And indeed those who are of the sons of Levi, who receive the priesthood, have a commandment to receive tithes from the people according to the law, that is, from their brethren, though they have come from the loins of Abraham;
6but he whose genealogy is not derived from them received tithes from Abraham and blessed him who had the promises.
7Now beyond all contradiction the lesser is blessed by the better.
8Here mortal men receive tithes, but there he receives them, of whom it is witnessed that he lives.
9Even Levi, who receives tithes, paid tithes through Abraham, so to speak, 10for he was still in the loins of his father when Melchizedek met him.

Need for a New Priesthood

11Therefore, if perfection were through the Levitical priesthood (for under it the people received the law), what further need was there that another priest should rise according to the order of Melchizedek, and not be called according to the order of Aaron?
12For the priesthood being changed, of necessity there is also a change of the law.
13For He of whom these things are spoken belongs to another tribe, from which no man has officiated at the altar.
14For it is evident that our Lord arose from Judah, of which tribe Moses spoke nothing concerning priesthood.[a] 15And it is yet far more evident if, in the likeness of Melchizedek, there arises another priest 16who has come, not according to the law of a fleshly commandment, but according to the power of an endless life.
17For He testifies:[b]

> "You are a priest forever
> According to the order of Melchizedek."[c]

18For on the one hand there is an annulling of the former commandment because of its weakness and unprofitableness, 19for the law made nothing perfect; on the other hand, there is the bringing in of a better hope, through which we draw near to God. Better Than Before

Greatness of the New Priest

20And inasmuch as He was not made priest without an oath 21(for they have become priests without an oath, but He with an oath by Him who said to Him:

“The LORD has sworn
And will not relent,
‘You are a priest forever[d]
According to the order of Melchizedek’ ”),[e]

22by so much more Jesus has become a surety of a better covenant.

23Also there were many priests, because they were prevented by death from continuing.

24But He, because He continues forever, has an unchangeable priesthood.

25Therefore He is also able to save to the uttermost those who come to God through Him, since He always lives to make intercession for them.

26For such a High Priest was fitting for us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and has become higher than the heavens;

27who does not need daily, as those high priests, to offer up sacrifices, first for His own sins and then for the people’s, for this He did once for all when He offered up Himself.

28For the law appoints as high priests men who have weakness, but the word of the oath, which came after the law, appoints the Son who has been perfected forever.

Hebrews 8

The New Priestly Service

1 Now this is the main point of the things we are saying: We have such a High Priest, who is seated at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens, 2 a Minister of the sanctuary and of the true tabernacle which the Lord erected, and not man.
3 For every high priest is appointed to offer both gifts and sacrifices. Therefore it is necessary that this One also have something to offer.
4 For if He were on earth, He would not be a priest, since there are priests who offer the gifts according to the law;
5 who serve the copy and shadow of the heavenly things, as Moses was divinely instructed when he was about to make the tabernacle. For He said, "See that you make all things according to the pattern shown you on the mountain."[a] 6 But now He has obtained a more excellent ministry, inasmuch as He is also Mediator of a better covenant, which was established on better promises.

A New Covenant

7 For if that first covenant had been faultless, then no place would have been sought for a second.
8 Because finding fault with them, He says: "Behold, the days are coming, says the LORD, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah—
9 "not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day when I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt; because they did not continue in My covenant, and I disregarded them, says the LORD.

10 “For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, says the LORD: I will put My laws in their mind and write them on their hearts; and I will be their God, and they shall be My people.

11 “None of them shall teach his neighbor, and none his brother, saying, ‘Know the LORD,’ for all shall know Me, from the least of them to the greatest of them.

12 “For I will be merciful to their unrighteousness, and their sins and their lawless deeds[b] I will remember no more.”[c]

13 In that He says, “A new covenant,” He has made the first obsolete. Now what is becoming obsolete and growing old is ready to vanish away.

Hebrews 9

The Earthly Sanctuary

1 Then indeed, even the first covenant had ordinances of divine service and the earthly sanctuary.
2 For a tabernacle was prepared: the first part, in which was the lampstand, the table, and the showbread, which is called the sanctuary;
3 and behind the second veil, the part of the tabernacle which is called the Holiest of All, 4 which had the golden censer and the ark of the covenant overlaid on all sides with gold, in which were the golden pot that had the manna, Aaron's rod that budded, and the tablets of the covenant;
5 and above it were the cherubim of glory overshadowing the mercy seat. Of these things we cannot now speak in detail.

Limitations of the Earthly Service

6 Now when these things had been thus prepared, the priests always went into the first part of the tabernacle, performing the services.
7 But into the second part the high priest went alone once a year, not without blood, which he offered for himself and for the people's sins committed in ignorance; 8 the Holy Spirit indicating this, that the way into the Holiest of All was not yet made manifest while the first tabernacle was still standing.
9 It was symbolic for the present time in which both gifts and sacrifices are offered which cannot make him who performed the service perfect in regard to the conscience—

10 concerned only with foods and drinks, various washings, and fleshly ordinances imposed until the time of reformation.

The Heavenly Sanctuary

11 But Christ came as High Priest of the good things to come,[a] with the greater and more perfect tabernacle not made with hands, that is, not of this creation.
12 Not with the blood of goats and calves, but with His own blood He entered the Most Holy Place once for all, having obtained eternal redemption.
13 For if the blood of bulls and goats and the ashes of a heifer, sprinkling the unclean, sanctifies for the purifying of the flesh,
14 how much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered Himself without spot to God, cleanse your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?
15 And for this reason He is the Mediator of the new covenant, by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions under the first covenant, that those who are called may receive the promise of the eternal inheritance.

The Mediator's Death Necessary

16 For where there is a testament, there must also of necessity be the death of the testator.
17 For a testament is in force after men are dead, since it has no power at all while the testator lives.
18 Therefore not even the first covenant was dedicated without blood.
19 For when Moses had spoken every precept to all the people according to the law, he took the blood of calves and goats, with water, scarlet wool, and hyssop, and sprinkled both the book itself and all the people,

20 saying, “This is the blood of the covenant which God has commanded you.”[b]
21 Then likewise he sprinkled with blood both the tabernacle and all the vessels of the ministry.
22 And according to the law almost all things are purified with blood, and without shedding of blood there is no remission.

Greatness of Christ’s Sacrifice

23 Therefore it was necessary that the copies of the things in the heavens should be purified with these, but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these.
24 For Christ has not entered the holy places made with hands, which are copies of the true, but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us;
25 not that He should offer Himself often, as the high priest enters the Most Holy Place every year with blood of another—26 He then would have had to suffer often since the foundation of the world; but now, once at the end of the ages, He has appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of Himself.
27 And as it is appointed for men to die once, but after this the judgment, 28 so Christ was offered once to bear the sins of many. To those who eagerly wait for Him He will appear a second time, apart from sin, for salvation.

Hebrews 10

Animal Sacrifices Insufficient

1For the law, having a shadow of the good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with these same sacrifices, which they offer continually year by year, make those who approach perfect.
2For then would they not have ceased to be offered? For the worshipers, once purified, would have had no more consciousness of sins.
3But in those sacrifices there is a reminder of sins every year.
4For it is not possible that the blood of bulls and goats could take away sins.

Christ's Death Fulfills God's Will

5Therefore, when He came into the world, He said:

> "Sacrifice and offering You did not desire,
> But a body You have prepared for Me.
> 6*In burnt offerings and sacrifices for sin*
> You had no pleasure.
> 7*Then I said, 'Behold, I have come—*
> In the volume of the book it is written of Me
> To do Your will, O God.' "[a]

8Previously saying, "Sacrifice and offering, burnt offerings, and offerings for sin You did not desire, nor had pleasure in them" (which are offered according to the law), 9then He said, "Behold, I have come to do Your will, O God."[b] He takes away the first that He may establish the second.

10 By that will we have been sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all.

Christ's Death Perfects the Sanctified

11 And every priest stands ministering daily and offering repeatedly the same sacrifices, which can never take away sins.

12 But this Man, after He had offered one sacrifice for sins forever, sat down at the right hand of God, 13 from that time waiting till His enemies are made His footstool.

14 For by one offering He has perfected forever those who are being sanctified.

15 But the Holy Spirit also witnesses to us; for after He had said before,

16 "This is the covenant that I will make with them after those days, says the LORD: I will put My laws into their hearts, and in their minds I will write them,"[c]

17 then He adds, "Their sins and their lawless deeds I will remember no more."[d]

18 Now where there is remission of these, there is no longer an offering for sin.

Hold Fast Your Confession

19 Therefore, brethren, having boldness to enter the Holiest by the blood of Jesus, Toughen Up and Open Up

20 by a new and living way which He consecrated for us, through the veil, that is, His flesh,

21 and having a High Priest over the house of God,

22 let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience and our bodies washed with pure water.

23 Let us hold fast the confession of our hope without wavering, for He who promised is faithful.
24 And let us consider one another in order to stir up love and good works, 25 not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as is the manner of some, but exhorting one another, and so much the more as you see the Day approaching.

The Just Live by Faith

26 For if we sin willfully after we have received the knowledge of the truth, there no longer remains a sacrifice for sins,
27 but a certain fearful expectation of judgment, and fiery indignation which will devour the adversaries.
28 Anyone who has rejected Moses' law dies without mercy on the testimony of two or three witnesses.
29 Of how much worse punishment, do you suppose, will he be thought worthy who has trampled the Son of God underfoot, counted the blood of the covenant by which he was sanctified a common thing, and insulted the Spirit of grace?
30 For we know Him who said, "Vengeance is Mine, I will repay,"[e] says the Lord.[f] And again, *"The LORD will judge
His people."*[g]
31 It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living
God.
32 But recall the former days in which, after you were illuminated, you endured a great struggle with sufferings:
33 partly while you were made a spectacle both by reproaches and tribulations, and partly while you became companions of those who were so treated; 34 for you had compassion on me[h] in my chains, and joyfully accepted the plundering of your goods, knowing that you have a better and an enduring possession for yourselves in heaven.[i]

35 Therefore do not cast away your confidence, which has great reward.

36 For you have need of endurance, so that after you have done the will of God, you may receive the promise:

> 37 "For yet a little while,
> And He[j] who is coming will come and will not tarry.
> 38 Now the[k] just shall live by faith;
> But if anyone draws back,
> My soul has no pleasure in him."[l]

39 But we are not of those who draw back to perdition, but of those who believe to the saving of the soul.

Hebrews 11

By Faith We Understand

1 Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. Our Race Is Not a Solo Event
2 For by it the elders obtained a good testimony.
3 By faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that the things which are seen were not made of things which are visible. The Weight of the World

Faith at the Dawn of History

4 By faith Abel offered to God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, through which he obtained witness that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts; and through it he being dead still speaks.
5 By faith Enoch was taken away so that he did not see death, "and was not found, because God had taken him";[a] for before he was taken he had this testimony, that he pleased God.
6 But without faith it is impossible to please Him, for he who comes to God must believe that He is, and that He is a rewarder of those who diligently seek Him.
7 By faith Noah, being divinely warned of things not yet seen, moved with godly fear, prepared an ark for the saving of his household, by which he condemned the world and became heir of the righteousness which is according to faith.

Faithful Abraham

8 By faith Abraham obeyed when he was called to go out to the place which he would receive as an inheritance. And he went out, not knowing where he was going.

9 By faith he dwelt in the land of promise as in a foreign country, dwelling in tents with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise; 10 for he waited for the city which has foundations, whose builder and maker is God.
11 By faith Sarah herself also received strength to conceive seed, and she bore a child[b] when she was past the age, because she judged Him faithful who had promised.
12 Therefore from one man, and him as good as dead, were born as many as the stars of the sky in multitude—innumerable as the sand which is by the seashore.

The Heavenly Hope

13 These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off were assured of them,[c] embraced them and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth.
14 For those who say such things declare plainly that they seek a homeland.
15 And truly if they had called to mind that country from which they had come out, they would have had opportunity to return.
16 But now they desire a better, that is, a heavenly country. Therefore God is not ashamed to be called their God, for He has prepared a city for them.

The Faith of the Patriarchs

17 By faith Abraham, when he was tested, offered up Isaac, and he who had received the promises offered up his only begotten son, 18 of whom it was said, "In Isaac your seed shall be called,"[d]
19 concluding that God was able to raise him up, even from the dead, from which he also received him in a figurative sense.

20 By faith Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau concerning things to come.

21 By faith Jacob, when he was dying, blessed each of the sons of Joseph, and worshiped, leaning on the top of his staff.

22 By faith Joseph, when he was dying, made mention of the departure of the children of Israel, and gave instructions concerning his bones.

The Faith of Moses

23 By faith Moses, when he was born, was hidden three months by his parents, because they saw he was a beautiful child; and they were not afraid of the king's command.

24 By faith Moses, when he became of age, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter,

25 choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God than to enjoy the passing pleasures of sin,

26 esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures in[e] Egypt; for he looked to the reward.

27 By faith he forsook Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the king; for he endured as seeing Him who is invisible.

28 By faith he kept the Passover and the sprinkling of blood, lest he who destroyed the firstborn should touch them.

29 By faith they passed through the Red Sea as by dry land, whereas the Egyptians, attempting to do so, were drowned.

By Faith They Overcame

30 By faith the walls of Jericho fell down after they were encircled for seven days.

31 By faith the harlot Rahab did not perish with those who did not believe, when she had received the spies with peace. Rahab Offered a Safe Haven 32 And what more shall I say? For the time would fail me to tell of Gideon and Barak and Samson and Jephthah, also of David and Samuel and the prophets: 33 who through faith subdued kingdoms, worked righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions, 34 quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, out of weakness were made strong, became valiant in battle, turned to flight the armies of the aliens.
35 Women received their dead raised to life again. Others were tortured, not accepting deliverance, that they might obtain a better resurrection.
36 Still others had trial of mockings and scourgings, yes, and of chains and imprisonment.
37 They were stoned, they were sawn in two, were tempted,[f] were slain with the sword. They wandered about in sheepskins and goatskins, being destitute, afflicted, tormented—38 of whom the world was not worthy. They wandered in deserts and mountains, in dens and caves of the earth.
39 And all these, having obtained a good testimony through faith, did not receive the promise, 40 God having provided something better for us, that they should not be made perfect apart from us.

Hebrews 12

The Race of Faith

1 Therefore we also, since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which so easily ensnares us, and let us run with endurance the race that is set before us, 2 looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith, who for the joy that was set before Him endured the cross, despising the shame, and has sat down at the right hand of the throne of God.

The Discipline of God

3 For consider Him who endured such hostility from sinners against Himself, lest you become weary and discouraged in your souls. Help for Families 4 You have not yet resisted to bloodshed, striving against sin.
5 And you have forgotten the exhortation which speaks to you as to sons:

> "My son, do not despise the chastening of
> the LORD,
> Nor be discouraged when you are rebuked
> by Him;
> 6 For whom the LORD loves He chastens,
> And scourges every son whom He receives."[a]

7 If[b] you endure chastening, God deals with you as with sons; for what son is there whom a father does not chasten?

[8]But if you are without chastening, of which all have become partakers, then you are illegitimate and not sons.
[9]Furthermore, we have had human fathers who corrected us, and we paid them respect. Shall we not much more readily be in subjection to the Father of spirits and live?
[10]For they indeed for a few days chastened us as seemed best to them, but He for our profit, that we may be partakers of His holiness.
[11]Now no chastening seems to be joyful for the present, but painful; nevertheless, afterward it yields the peaceable fruit of righteousness to those who have been trained by it.

Renew Your Spiritual Vitality

12Therefore strengthen the hands which hang down, and the feeble knees, [13]and make straight paths for your feet, so that what is lame may not be dislocated, but rather be healed.
[14]Pursue peace with all people, and holiness, without which no one will see the Lord: Spiritual Checkpoints [15]looking carefully lest anyone fall short of the grace of God; lest any root of bitterness springing up cause trouble, and by this many become defiled;
[16]lest there be any fornicator or profane person like Esau, who for one morsel of food sold his birthright.
[17]For you know that afterward, when he wanted to inherit the blessing, he was rejected, for he found no place for repentance, though he sought it diligently with tears.

The Glorious Company

18For you have not come to the mountain that[c] may be touched and that burned with fire, and to blackness and darkness[d] and tempest,

19 and the sound of a trumpet and the voice of words, so that those who heard it begged that the word should not be spoken to them anymore.
20 (For they could not endure what was commanded: "And if so much as a beast touches the mountain, it shall be stoned[e] or shot with an arrow."[f] 21 And so terrifying was the sight that Moses said, "I am exceedingly afraid and trembling."[g]) 22 But you have come to Mount Zion and to the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, to an innumerable company of angels,
23 to the general assembly and church of the firstborn who are registered in heaven, to God the Judge of all, to the spirits of just men made perfect, 24 to Jesus the Mediator of the new covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling that speaks better things than that of Abel.

Hear the Heavenly Voice

25 See that you do not refuse Him who speaks. For if they did not escape who refused Him who spoke on earth, much more shall we not escape if we turn away from Him who speaks from heaven, 26 whose voice then shook the earth; but now He has promised, saying, "Yet once more I shake[h] not only the earth, but also heaven."[i] 27 Now this, "Yet once more," indicates the removal of those things that are being shaken, as of things that are made, that the things which cannot be shaken may remain.
28 Therefore, since we are receiving a kingdom which cannot be shaken, let us have grace, by which we may[j] serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear.
29 For our God is a consuming fire.

Hebrews 13

Concluding Moral Directions

1 Let brotherly love continue. Love Shows in Action

2 Do not forget to entertain strangers, for by so doing some have unwittingly entertained angels.

3 Remember the prisoners as if chained with them—those who are mistreated—since you yourselves are in the body also.

4 Marriage is honorable among all, and the bed undefiled;
but fornicators and adulterers God will judge.

5 Let your conduct be without covetousness; be content with such things as you have. For He Himself has said, "I will never leave you nor forsake you."[a]

6 So we may boldly say:

> "The LORD is my helper;
> I will not fear.
> What can man do to me?"[b]

Concluding Religious Directions

7 Remember those who rule over you, who have spoken the word of God to you, whose faith follow, considering the outcome of their conduct.

8 Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever.

9 Do not be carried about[c] with various and strange doctrines. For it is good that the heart be established by grace, not with foods which have not profited those who have been occupied with them.

10 We have an altar from which those who serve the tabernacle have no right to eat.

11For the bodies of those animals, whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high priest for sin, are burned outside the camp.
12Therefore Jesus also, that He might sanctify the people with His own blood, suffered outside the gate.
13Therefore let us go forth to Him, outside the camp, bearing His reproach.
14For here we have no continuing city, but we seek the one to come.
15Therefore by Him let us continually offer the sacrifice of praise to God, that is, the fruit of our lips, giving thanks to His name.
16But do not forget to do good and to share, for with such sacrifices God is well pleased.
17Obey those who rule over you, and be submissive, for they watch out for your souls, as those who must give account. Let them do so with joy and not with grief, for that would be unprofitable for you.

Prayer Requested

18Pray for us; for we are confident that we have a good conscience, in all things desiring to live honorably.
19But I especially urge you to do this, that I may be restored to you the sooner.

Benediction, Final Exhortation, Farewell

20Now may the God of peace who brought up our Lord Jesus from the dead, that great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant, 21make you complete in every good work to do His will, working in you[d] what is well pleasing in His sight, through Jesus Christ, to whom be glory forever and ever. Amen.

[22]And I appeal to you, brethren, bear with the word of exhortation, for I have written to you in few words.

[23]Know that our brother Timothy has been set free, with whom I shall see you if he comes shortly.

[24]Greet all those who rule over you, and all the saints. Those from Italy greet you. Researching Your Religious Roots

[25]Grace be with you all. Amen.

Our Hebrew Heritage

Heb. 1:1–3

The early Christians understood that the arrival of the Son of God had done away with Old Testament sacrifices and rituals. His death and resurrection were at the heart of a new covenant between God and humankind. As the Christian movement spread beyond its home turf in Palestine, Jews scattered throughout the empire were added to its numbers. However, Jews soon became a minority among believers. And the unsettled relationship between their Jewish background and their new faith in Jesus created tension within their own community and with non-Jewish Christians. What would become of their heritage? Were the centuries of spiritual history before Jesus now rendered irrelevant? Would Christianity prove to be one more episode in the inevitable assimilation of Jews into a Gentile world?

The letter to the Hebrews (along with Paul's statements in Romans 9–11) relieved these fears by affirming the Jews' heritage and its essential role in God's redemptive plan (Heb. 6:13–20). The Book of Hebrews . . .

- Celebrates the richness of God's special relationship with Israel (1:1; 6:13–15).
- Examines God's work in Jewish history and the fulfillment of His plans for the nation in Christ (8:7–13; 10:15–17).
- Reveals significant parallels between Old Testament details—such as smells, sounds, traditions, and names—and the new way of Christ (6:20–7:28; 9:1–10:14; 13:10–13).
- Recalls heroes of Israel's history, including Abraham (6:13–7:6; 11:8–19), Moses (2:2–6; 11:23–28), Aaron (4:14–5:10), Joshua (7:8–10), David (7:6, 7), and others (11:4–40).

God's partnership with Israel was a meaningful part of His plan for the world, and Jewish Christians could treasure their spiritual heritage. There was no need for them to be swallowed up by the Gentile cultures surrounding them. They could embrace Christ while still holding on to their history (6:13–19).

Hebrews was written to Jewish believers (1:1; 2:14–18; 3:1–6), but it encourages each of us to examine, accept, and affirm our roots. Some pieces of our past may not honor God or be worth preserving

—we may need to repudiate certain beliefs, traditions, or behaviors that go against biblical truth. But part of identifying ourselves with Christ involves recognizing how God has made us into what we are. By tracing the paths He used to prepare us to hear and respond to the gospel, we can discover new insights into His wisdom, sovereignty, and grace.

Jesus Christ Is Supreme
Heb. 1:5–14

Extraordinary people have walked the earth, but none are equal to Jesus, the Son of God. The author of Hebrews shows that Christ is superior to . . .

- Angels—Israel's divinely appointed guardians (Heb. 1:4–2:18).
- Moses—Israel's great leader (3:1–4:7).
- Joshua—Israel's celebrated general (4:8–13).
- Aaron—Israel's first high priest (4:14–7:28).

Later, Hebrews parades a lineup of saints who demonstrated profound faith as they looked ahead to Christ's coming (2:11–13; 11:1–40). These people of faith relied on God's promises.

Christ is the full disclosure of God. He is the one fixed point in history's chaos, from the "time past" of the Old Testament (1:1) to the difficult years endured by the readers of Hebrews (12:4–13) to the modern era of battles against spiritually hostile forces (see "The Enemy" at Eph. 6:10–13) to the days yet to come. If we feel tempted to doubt God or give up on our quest to become like Him, this letter assures us that Christ is our key resource. He is . . .

- God's communication to us (Heb. 1:2).
- The heir of all things (1:2).
- Creator of the worlds (1:3).
- A full reflection of God's glory (1:3).
- Sustainer of all things (1:3).
- The One who purged our sins (1:3).
- Our representative before God (1:3).

- The Son exalted above the angels (1:4).
- The possessor of "a more excellent name" (1:4).

Hebrews invites us to get to know this incomparable Savior, our Lord and friend Jesus Christ.

More: Yet another reason to get to know Jesus is that He faced the temptations we face—and won. See "Real Temptation" at Matt. 4:3 and "Cocooning" at Heb. 4:14–16.

The Christian's Calling
Heb. 3:1

The common use of the word calling often implies a lifelong passion and deep commitment for one's vocation. The Book of Hebrews informs us that every Christian plays a part in "the heavenly calling." The word translated here as calling comes from the Greek root kaleō, meaning "to call, invite, or summon." This root and its derivatives show up frequently in the New Testament. While Scripture does not offer one single definition of calling, we can gain a fuller understanding by looking at some of the different ways in which the word is used. It appears in connection with . . .

- Invitations to various groups of people for salvation (Mark 2:17; 1 Cor. 1:9, 24; 2 Thess. 2:13, 14).
- Invitations to individuals for salvation (Gal. 1:15, 16; 2 Tim. 1:9).
- Summonses to a Christlike lifestyle (Eph. 4:1; 1 Thess. 2:12).
- Designations of a Christian's position with God (1 Pet. 2:9; 1 John 3:1) or identity with Christ, especially in the context of suffering (1 Pet. 2:21; James 2:7).

When the Book of Hebrews describes believers as "holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling," it highlights our identification with Christ and with other Christians (Heb. 3:1). Christ became human like us (2:14, 17) so that we might become like Him—alive, holy, and free from sin.

Equal Callings

Calling became connected with vocation based on instances of God calling individuals to particular tasks. Paul, for example, said he was "called" to be an apostle (Rom. 1:1; 1 Cor. 1:1). Some conclude that there is a "general call" extended to all Christians and a "special call" or "higher call" extended to a select few, instructing them to take on specific assignments such as full-time ministry.

Paul, however, did not regard his work as that of a "higher" calling. He grouped himself with every other Christian, summoned by God to salvation and obedience. Paul's opening words to the Romans show that every Christian shares that same calling. As he often did, Paul began with the greeting "Paul, a bondservant of Jesus Christ, called to be an apostle, separated to the gospel of God" (Rom. 1:1). The opening sentence (an unbroken phrase in the original Greek) goes on to say "among whom you also are the called of Jesus Christ" (1:6). The word also indicates that the call experienced by the Roman Christians was essentially the same as Paul's. Not all were apostles, but all were "called of Jesus Christ."

Like Paul and his New Testament brothers and sisters, we are summoned with the same call and therefore stand as equals before God.

Calling and Careers

Although the Bible's definition of calling is much broader than the definition we use when referring to our careers, it is still relevant to daily life. Our calling means we have a new boss; as God's children, Christ is our ultimate supervisor (see "The Lord's Employees" at Col. 3:22–24). Our calling requires a transformation of our internal character and external conduct; as Christ's followers, we are to pursue Christlike work habits (see "Your Workstyle" at Titus 2:9–11). And our calling rearranges what we do with our paychecks; we work not only to meet our own needs but to meet the needs of others (see "Christians and Money" at 1 Tim. 6:6–19).

What our calling does not necessarily do is alter our choice of career. Paul instructed the Corinthians to remain as they were when they came to faith in Christ (1 Cor. 7:17–24). His main point was that becoming a Christian did not require them to look for new jobs. On the other hand, their relationship with Christ didn't prevent them from changing jobs if they chose to do so. They were to act as Christ's followers wherever they happened to be. No matter what we consider our professional calling, we are all called to serve God.

More: Find out more about how God views our everyday careers in "People at Work" at Ps. 8:6. Many callings in Scripture are not as dramatic as we might imagine but are no less significant. See "All Christians Are Called, in All of Life" at 1 Sam. 3:1–21 and "Different Callings, Same Purpose" at Ezek. 2:1–5.

Cocooning
Heb. 4:14–16

The modern world includes an increasing number of people who want nothing more than to isolate themselves from the world and its concerns. They care only about what happens inside their bubble of comfort and safety, and they do their utmost to arrange their environment to control exactly who and what they let inside.

This tendency to turn inward shows up among Christians when we distance ourselves from people we consider too sinful or too disrespectful of our beliefs. It can also show up when we overemphasize personal relationships with Christ to the exclusion of what God wants to do among groups of His people and in our society at large.

The Book of Hebrews shows how Christ dared to live an outwardly-focused life as He accomplished His work on our behalf:

- Christ got involved. He left His privileged position with the Father and "passed through the heavens" to come to earth, becoming poor to make us spiritually rich. The cost of His leaving heaven and taking on flesh is beyond our comprehension (see "Christ Became Poor" at 2 Cor. 8:8, 9).
- Christ faced reality. He was no stranger to the gritty details of real life. He refused to wall Himself off from the struggles of everyday people (Heb. 4:15; see "Real Temptation" at Matt. 4:3).
- Christ empowers people. We turn inward when we think we have too many issues of our own to be bothered with anyone else's problems. But when it is part of His plan, Christ will give us what it takes to meet needs that seem beyond our reach.

Hebrews 4:16 challenges us to "come boldly to the throne of grace" in order to "obtain mercy and find grace to help in time of need."

Lessons in Leadership

Heb. 5:1–14

Business literature is cluttered with how-to books profiling famous people who achieved success through power, ambition, and manipulation. The Roman empire was similarly dominated by dynasties guilty of tyranny, greed, and violence.

Jesus modeled a style of leadership that was entirely unique in both His time and ours. His methods are free of distortion and abuse. He is a true leader, a priest who . . .

- Focused on people and their connection with God (Heb. 5:1).
- Showed compassion to the weak and ignorant (5:2).
- Faced sin head-on (5:3).
- Refused to promote Himself but let God call Him into His role (5:4).

Jesus was the perfect priest (5:5–10)—a portrait that the writer admits may be difficult to grasp (5:11–14). But those who seek to grow into Christlike maturity need to consider it carefully. Jesus provides for all who seek His help. All we need to do is ask (4:14–16).

More: First-century rulers and their families were notorious for their crimes. See Nero's profile at Acts 25:12.

Knowing About God

Heb. 6:1–20

Knowing about religion, Christianity, and the Bible should not be mistaken for having a personal relationship with God. Knowing God involves far more than knowing about Him.

The recipients of this letter had basic knowledge of the Christian faith—the essentials about Christ, the need for repentance and faith, and the meaning of baptism, ordination, resurrection, and judgment. But without constant cultivation, spiritual weeds would sprout and take over their lives, producing a field of thorns rather than a bountiful crop (Heb. 6:7, 8). Without diligent care, the harvest would be worthless (6:11, 12). Without perseverance, it would be destined for destruction (6:8).

This stern warning calls for fresh dedication to Christ. It might provoke us to consider new disciplines to keep our faith growing. We might . . .

- Meet with fellow believers to pray and discuss how to bring Christ into everyday situations.
- Serve the needy through a church or community service agency.
- Speak up about workplace policies, decisions, or practices that are harmful to people or the environment.
- Make a habit of reading and studying the Bible to discover ways to apply God's Word to our lives.
- Get involved in missions, nearby or faraway.
- Act on our faith as citizens of a community, state, or nation.
- Establish patterns of prayer: prayers asking for God's help in our lives and in the lives of others; prayers of thanksgiving for what God does for us and the responsibilities He has given us; prayers of confession and repentance for our sins; prayers of meditation on God and His Word; prayers of expression, sharing our innermost thoughts and feelings with God.
- Challenge ourselves to use a God-given ability no one knows about.
- Apologize to people we have ignored, offended, or hurt.

Christ must never be a concept we acknowledge in the abstract. We must allow Him to reign over every area of life (see "Lord of the Sacred and the Secular" at Luke 6:1–5). Hebrews 6 can encourage us to get started on taking our faith beyond simply knowing about God to truly having a relationship with Him.

Better Than Before

Heb. 7:19–22

Christ's New Testament followers enjoy the benefits of a "better hope" and a "better covenant" than what the Old Testament Mosaic law and sacrificial system offered.

The Mosaic law . . .

- Came from God.
- Prepared the way for Christ (Matt. 5:17; Rom. 5:20; Gal. 3:19–25).
- Set the standard for holiness not just in religious expression but in every area of life (1 John 3:4).
- Helped people recognize their need for God by exposing their bondage to sin (Rom. 7:7, 12, 14–25).

The Levitical priests . . .

- Came from the tribe of Levi (Deut. 18:1).
- Administered the Law to Israel (Mal. 2:6, 7), represented the people before God by offering sacrifices (Lev. 4:20, 26, 31), and acted as a supreme court (Deut. 17:8–13).
- Preserved copies of the Law (31:24–26).
- Cared for the temple after it was built.
- Foreshadowed the priesthood of Christ's followers (1 Pet. 2:9).

The author of Hebrews shows that Christ is superior to the Law and the Levitical priests. He is God's way of uniting people directly to Him.

Christ . . .

- Offers a better hope than the Law (Heb. 7:18–20, 22).
- Exists as a permanent priest, no longer vulnerable to death (7:23–25).
- Always intercedes for us (7:25).
- Is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and has become higher than the heavens (7:26).
- Offered Himself as the final sacrifice for our sins (7:27).

We are called to submit to Christ and follow Him (10:19–22). He is our Priest and our Sacrifice, restoring us to God as beloved children.

More: By asserting that salvation in Christ is superior to Old Testament sacrifices, the Book of Hebrews does not diminish the Law's significance. See "A Habit of Worship" at Num. 28:2. For more on the advantages of the new covenant, see "Written on Their Hearts" at Jer. 31:31–34.

Toughen Up and Open Up
Heb. 10:19–39

Some followers of Christ timidly stash their faith out of sight, as if it cannot stand up to any kind of danger. We do live in a world where Satan wants to ravage our faith (1 Pet. 5:8), and we must therefore be on guard. But the safest way to live in this spiritually dangerous world is not to hide our faith but to build up our strength. Hebrews lists ways we can toughen up so that we can open up:

- We can keep a firm grip on the basics of our faith, which are grounded in the integrity of Christ (10:23).
- We can stir each other up to loving, active faith (10:24).
- We can show compassion to people in need (10:32, 33).
- We can meet with other believers regularly for encouragement, accountability, worship, and prayer (10:25).

- We can leave judgment and repayment up to God (10:29–31).
- We can condition ourselves so that we will finish life well (10:35–39).

Spiritual strength comes from integrating what we believe into every facet of life. Our faith is not just one more thing on a list of things to do but rather the foundation of who we are. If our daily relationship with Christ is authentic, it will be evident to others (James 2:14, 26; 3:13). Faith that grows strong is a faith we live by.

Our Race Is Not a Solo Event

Heb. 11:1–40

Hebrews 11 contains what some might call the Bible's "Hall of Faith," a tribute to Old Testament saints who "obtained a good testimony" by exhibiting trust in God's promises (Heb. 11:2, 39). Many are well-known, while others go unnamed. This remarkable collection of people recognized that "without faith it is impossible to please Him, for he who comes to God must believe that He is, and that He is a rewarder of those who diligently seek Him" (11:6).

The faith of these believers guided them through extreme triumph and hardship. By faith they "subdued kingdoms . . . stopped the mouths of lions . . . escaped the edge of the sword . . . turned to flight the armies of the aliens" (11:33, 34). By faith "women received their dead raised to life again" (11:35). By faith others "were tortured . . . had trial of mockings and scourgings. . . . They were stoned, they were sawn in two, were tempted, were slain with the sword" (11:35–37).

The faith modeled by these men and women is worth imitating in our lives today. They in turn fill a stadium to watch us run the race of life (11:39–12:1). Our race is not a solo event. It is a relay in which we have received the handoff from those who have preceded us. It is now our turn to run.

The Weight of the World
Heb. 11:3

God made the world and declared it "very good" (Gen. 1:31). His statement should tell us something about its value and importance. But being "very good" is a far cry from being divine. God made the universe and its natural systems out of nothing, and no part of creation is self-sustaining, as He is. Its continued existence comes from God (Col. 1:17; Heb. 1:3). This means that . . .

- People can work only within the bounds of an existing physical reality. Humans are not God, and cannot bring things into existence from nothing. They can discover but not determine the nature of the universe.
- The universe is not God. Some religions teach that the material universe and all that it contains are a form of God or that every part of creation contains a piece of God. But God is separate and distinct from His creation.
- The earth is not sacred. Creation is holy in the sense that God created it and therefore owns it, but this planet and its living things are not sacred in and of themselves.
- The earth is a resource that God has given us to manage. God called His creation "very good" and placed it under our dominion for His glory and our benefit (Gen. 1:26–30). We are to prudently tend it, cultivate it, use it, reshape it, and conserve it with certainty that God holds each of us accountable for how we treat His world (Rom. 14:11, 12; 1 Cor. 4:5).

More: The fact that God's work was "very good" means that human effort has value. See "God: The Original Worker" at John 5:17.

Rahab Offered a Safe Haven
Heb. 11:31

The early church must have treasured Rahab as an ancient example of a Gentile whose faith was accepted by God. This Canaanite prostitute of Jericho likely grew up worshiping many gods, but she somehow recognized the uniqueness of Israel's God (Josh. 2:11).

By offering a safe haven to Israel's spies, Rahab made peace with their God (2:1–24). Rahab is thus a model for how to approach God with faith that He rewards those who seek Him (Heb. 11:6).

More: Rahab was the great-great-grandmother of King David and an ancestor of Jesus Christ. Find out more about her in her profile at Josh. 2:3 and "The Women in Jesus' Genealogy" at Matt. 1:3–6.

Help for Families
Heb. 12:3–13

Many early Christians found themselves in problematic relationships. Their new commitment to Christ challenged old habits and connections. The New Testament forthrightly discusses these family issues. The writer of Hebrews, for example, describes the fatherly discipline that God uses to shape His children, an example from which we can glean several parenting principles. Other passages raise issues that are also relevant to parents today:

Texts	Issue	Summary
Rom. 9:6–11:36	Ethnic attitudes	Paul reviews attitudes that had existed since the time of the patriarchs and appeals for humility and acceptance.
Rom. 14:1–15:6	Differences in spiritual	Christians must practice grace and tolerance toward each other.

	maturity and convictions
1 Cor. 5:1–13; 2 Cor. 2:1–11	Sexual immorality within families	Paul deals with a case of ongoing abuse within a Christian family.
1 Cor. 6:15–20; 1 Thess. 4:1–12	Temptation to sexual immorality	The body is God's temple; Christians are to flee from sexual sins.
1 Cor. 7:1–7	Sexuality within marriage	Intimacy is essential to marital relationships.
1 Cor. 7:8–20, 25–38	Singles and marriage	Paul states his preference for singleness over marriage.
1 Cor. 7:39, 40	Remarriage of widows	Remarriage to a fellow Christian is completely permissible.
Eph. 5:21–33; Col. 3:18, 19; 1 Pet. 3:1–7	Spousal relationships	Paul and Peter challenge husbands and wives to mutual love and support.
Eph. 6:1–4; Col. 3:20, 21	Child-parent relationships	Homes should be characterized by obedient children and nurturing parents.
1 Tim. 3:1–13; Titus 1:5–16	Character	Spiritual leaders should be evaluated by their faithfulness at home.
1 Tim. 5:3–16; James 1:27	Widows	Paul offers guidelines for caring for widows; James urges Christians to meet the needs of widows and orphans.

Spiritual Checkpoints

Heb. 12:14–29

The writer of Hebrews twice pushed readers to undertake a spiritual checkup, warning them to pay attention to their spiritual condition (Heb. 6:1–20; 12:14–29). The strong language of Hebrews 12 describes what can happen if we neglect our relationship with Christ:

- We might fall short of God's grace (12:15).
- Bitterness can take root, sprout, and cause trouble (12:15).
- We can become corrupt (12:15).
- We become prone to foolish or catastrophic mistakes (12:16, 17; Gen. 25:27–34; 27:1–45).
- We may reject God's voice (Heb. 12:25).
- God's judgment may consume us (12:29).

Those are dire consequences. But the writer of Hebrews also offers checkpoints for our spirituality and corrections we can make when we detect trouble:

- Do we pursue peace (12:14)? For example, how do we respond to conflicts at home, work, or school?
- Do we work at holiness (12:14)? For example, do we focus our thoughts on pure things (compare Phil. 2:1–13; 4:8, 9; 1 Thess. 4:1–8)?
- Do we listen carefully to God (Heb. 12:25)? For example, do we make a habit of allowing Scripture to challenge us and keep us accountable?
- Do we live in grace, serving God reverently (12:28)? For example, do we see growth in our appreciation of God, salvation, and other Christians? Would others describe us as thankful (compare 1 Tim. 4:4; Col. 3:17)?

What is your spiritual condition? Do you see symptoms that merit attention? Is any part of your faith weak or failing? What changes would make your faith grow healthy and strong?

Love Shows in Action

Heb. 13:1–6

Jesus gave a simple command that applies to every situation: Do unto others as you would have them do unto you (Matt. 7:12). The Golden Rule sums up love as an ethical cornerstone for life and puts into practice God's highest command to love Him with all of our heart, soul, and mind, and to love our neighbors as ourselves (22:37–39).

James called love the "royal law" (James 2:8), and Paul wrote that love was the supreme virtue of faith, hope, and love; it never fails (1 Cor. 13:8, 13). Love is only love if it matches God's definition and descriptions of love.

A similar theme appears in the Book of Hebrews. Having detailed the vast changes brought about by Christ's arrival, the author begins the book's last chapter by noting one thing that always stays the same: love. Our care for each other must continue (Heb. 13:1). Here are several ways we can make that happen:

- Show hospitality to strangers. Today this might include immigrants, the homeless, and people of a different ethnicity (13:2).
- Remember prisoners. Prisoners fall into a class of people who are easy to forget, but the principle of love says we should treat them as if we were chained with them (13:3).
- Be faithful in marriage. This goes beyond sexual fidelity to actively enriching one's marital relationship and building up one's partner (13:4).
- Be content. This is a steep challenge to members of a modern culture but with practice we can exercise the right attitudes to money and possessions (13:5, 6; see also "Guard Against Greed" at Luke 12:15 and "Finding Contentment" at Phil. 4:10–13).

Christlike love is intensely practical. We can never claim that love is real in our lives if we do not see its concrete expressions.

Researching Your Religious Roots

Heb. 13:24

God is at work in human history to achieve His purposes in bringing people to Himself. In the case of the Jews, God used many generations of people and many centuries of political events and religious symbolism to prepare the way for Christ. Jews have reason to celebrate God's sovereignty and grace in using their ancestors to bless "all the families of the earth" (Gen. 12:3; 22:18; Acts 3:25, 26; Gal. 3:8). But God's participation in history extends far beyond the Jews. As Christians all of us are indebted to God for supervising the circumstances that brought the gospel into our lives.

Have you ever traced the path between Jesus' proclamation of the gospel and your moment of salvation? Do you know anything about the religious roots of your family? Studying your spiritual heritage can aid your growth in the faith. Here are some suggestions for getting started.

Gathering Data

Begin by collecting as much information as you can about your genealogy. Your parents, grandparents, or other relatives may have ample information about your family. Many websites, databases, institutions, seminars, books, libraries, and other resources can also help you. As you carry out your search, consider these questions:

- When and where did your ancestors live?
- What were the dominant characteristics of their culture?
- What historical or political events or technological developments happened during their lifetimes? How were people impacted?
- What was the religious climate of the time and place your ancestors lived? What did their society think about God, evil, the origins of the world, and the afterlife? Was one religion dominant, or were there many alternatives? How did religion affect people's daily lives?
- When was the gospel first introduced to your ancestors' society? How was it received? How has it fared since?
- Are there notable religious figures or movements connected with your history?
- How has your family responded to the message of Christ?
- What part has religion played in your immediate family? Where did its religious views come from? Are there any surviving religious symbols that might give clues (family Bibles or other books, letters or other documents, photos, videos, clothing)?

- When, where, and how did you first hear about Jesus?

Drawing Conclusions

As you learn more about your ancestry, you can begin to put together a picture of your religious heritage. Be careful not to jump to conclusions or make too much of vague information. Have you gained a deeper appreciation for how God has worked in your past and what it took for Him to bring you to faith? Of course, you might unearth elements of your family's religious history that go against the gospel. In that case, how was God able to overcome or work through those things to reach you? As you evaluate your history, consider these questions:

- How long has your family participated in the faith?
- What distinguishes your family's expression of Christianity from other traditions within the faith?
- Where did your family's traditions originate, and how and why did your family identify with them?
- What beliefs and practices among your religious roots do you disagree with or outright reject? Why?
- How has your immediate family responded to your faith in Christ? Why? How does family history affect their response?
- How might your understanding of the past affect how you present the gospel to non-Christian relatives?
- What is the story of how the gospel traveled from the first-century apostles to your life today? How can you thank God for writing that story?

James's hard-hitting epistle was written to people whose lives were much like those of many present-day Christians. The gospel had lifted them to a better life, and their faith had prospered alongside their improved circumstances. But James warns his readers not to forget those who still struggle and not to be discouraged when their own situation takes a turn for the worse.

Our obedience to God, James argues, should neither fade in times of prosperity nor waver in times of hardship.

Whenever we find ourselves substituting theory for practice, James jolts us into action. He insists that we put our faith into action, instructing us to "be doers of the word, and not hearers only" (James 1:22).

"Pure and undefiled religion before God and the Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their trouble, and to keep oneself unspotted from the world," he adds (1:27).

Throughout his letter, James urges us to grasp a truth taught by Jesus: "A tree is known by its fruit" (Matt. 12:33; compare James 1:9–11, 18; 3:12–18; 5:7, 8, 17, 18).

Some Bible readers focus on what they perceive as a theological debate between Paul (advocating for justification by faith; Rom. 3:21–26) and James (arguing for faith that is proven by works; James 1:14–25). But both writers maintain that authentic faith results in action. If our relationship with Christ does not result in changed behavior, we should question the reality of that bond.

Apart from a brief introduction, the Book of James bears none of the traits of an ancient letter, reading instead much like a collection of sermons. Pointed illustrations pack its five chapters, each designed to motivate the wills and hearts of believers who perhaps had grown too comfortable and allowed their faith to lie dormant, making them spiritually immature, prejudiced, and insensitive to others' pressing needs.

The author of this letter identifies himself as James (1:1), but at least five men in the New Testament were known by that name. Traditionally James the brother of Jesus is considered to be the author.

James was probably the eldest of Jesus' four younger brothers (Mark 6:3). Apparently he was at first skeptical about his brother's claims and ministry (Matt. 12:46–50; Mark 3:31–35; Luke 8:19–21; John 7:5). But after meeting the resurrected Lord (1 Cor. 15:7), he became a strong believer and leader in the early church, and was counted among the apostles (though he identifies himself simply as a bondservant; James 1:1). He oversaw the Jerusalem church and helped settle the dispute over Gentiles having to keep the Law (Acts 15:13–21).

James gives few hints by which his letter might be dated. Assuming that James the brother of Jesus wrote it, it must have been produced before around A.D. 62, the approximate year of his death. Internal characteristics suggest that the letter might have been written very early, maybe even in the late 40s.

Key Verses in James

- "Count it all joy when you fall into various trials" (James 1:2).
- "If any of you lacks wisdom, let him ask of God, who gives to all liberally and without reproach" (James 1:5).
- "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and comes down from the Father of lights, with whom there is no variation or shadow of turning" (James 1:17).

- "Let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath; for the wrath of man does not produce the righteousness of God" (James 1:19, 20).
- "Be doers of the word, and not hearers only" (James 1:22).
- "Faith without works is dead" (James 2:20).
- "You do not have because you do not ask. You ask and do not receive, because you ask amiss, that you may spend it on your pleasures" (James 4:2, 3).
- "God resists the proud, but gives grace to the humble" (James 4:6).
- "Resist the devil and he will flee from you. Draw near to God and He will draw near to you" (James 4:7).
- "To him who knows to do good and does not do it, to him it is sin" (James 4:17).
- "The effective, fervent prayer of a righteous man avails much" (James 5:16).

James 1

Greeting to the Twelve Tribes

1 James, a bondservant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ,
To the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad:

Greetings.

Profiting from Trials

2 My brethren, count it all joy when you fall into various 3 trials, knowing that the testing of your faith produces patience.
4 But let patience have its perfect work, that you may be perfect and complete, lacking nothing.
5 If any of you lacks wisdom, let him ask of God, who gives to all liberally and without reproach, and it will be given to him.
6 But let him ask in faith, with no doubting, for he who doubts is like a wave of the sea driven and tossed by the wind.
7 For let not that man suppose that he will receive anything from the Lord;
8 he is a double-minded man, unstable in all his ways.

The Perspective of Rich and Poor

9 Let the lowly brother glory in his exaltation, You Can't Rush It 10 but the rich in his humiliation, because as a flower of the field he will pass away.
11 For no sooner has the sun risen with a burning heat than it withers the grass; its flower falls, and its beautiful appearance perishes. So the rich man also will fade away in his pursuits.

Loving God Under Trials

12Blessed is the man who endures temptation; for when he has been approved, he will receive the crown of life which the Lord has promised to those who love Him.

13Let no one say when he is tempted, “I am tempted by God”; for God cannot be tempted by evil, nor does He Himself tempt anyone. The Roots of Sin

14But each one is tempted when he is drawn away by his own desires and enticed.

15Then, when desire has conceived, it gives birth to sin; and sin, when it is full-grown, brings forth death.

16Do not be deceived, my beloved brethren.

17Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and comes down from the Father of lights, with whom there is no variation or shadow of turning.

18Of His own will He brought us forth by the word of truth, that we might be a kind of firstfruits of His creatures.

Qualities Needed in Trials

19So then,[a] my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath;

20for the wrath of man does not produce the righteousness of God.

Doers—Not Hearers Only

21Therefore lay aside all filthiness and overflow of wickedness, and receive with meekness the implanted word, which is able to save your souls.

22But be doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving yourselves.

[23]For if anyone is a hearer of the word and not a doer, he is like a man observing his natural face in a mirror;
[24]for he observes himself, goes away, and immediately forgets what kind of man he was.
[25]But he who looks into the perfect law of liberty and continues in it, and is not a forgetful hearer but a doer of the work, this one will be blessed in what he does.
[26]If anyone among[b] you thinks he is religious, and does not bridle his tongue but deceives his own heart, this one's religion is useless.
[27]Pure and undefiled religion before God and the Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their trouble, and to keep oneself unspotted from the world.

James 2

Beware of Personal Favoritism

1 My brethren, do not hold the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord of glory, with partiality. Playing Favorites
2 For if there should come into your assembly a man with gold rings, in fine apparel, and there should also come in a poor man in filthy clothes, 3 and you pay attention to the one wearing the fine clothes and say to him, "You sit here in a good place," and say to the poor man, "You stand there," or, "Sit here at my footstool," 4 have you not shown partiality among yourselves, and become judges with evil thoughts?
5 Listen, my beloved brethren: Has God not chosen the poor of this world to be rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom which He promised to those who love Him?
6 But you have dishonored the poor man. Do not the rich oppress you and drag you into the courts?
7 Do they not blaspheme that noble name by which you are called?
8 If you really fulfill the royal law according to the Scripture, "You shall love your neighbor as yourself,"[a] you do well; Ten Practical Commandments 9 but if you show partiality, you commit sin, and are convicted by the law as transgressors.
10 For whoever shall keep the whole law, and yet stumble in one point, he is guilty of all.
11 For He who said, "Do not commit adultery,"[b] also said,
"Do not murder."[c] Now if you do not commit adultery, but you do murder, you have become a transgressor of the law.

12 So speak and so do as those who will be judged by the law of liberty.
13 For judgment is without mercy to the one who has shown no mercy. Mercy triumphs over judgment.

Faith Without Works Is Dead

14 What does it profit, my brethren, if someone says he has faith but does not have works? Can faith save him?
15 If a brother or sister is naked and destitute of daily food, 16 and one of you says to them, "Depart in peace, be warmed and filled," but you do not give them the things which are needed for the body, what does it profit?
17 Thus also faith by itself, if it does not have works, is dead.
18 But someone will say, "You have faith, and I have works." Show me your faith without your[d] works, and I will show you my faith by my[e] works.
19 You believe that there is one God. You do well. Even the demons believe—and tremble!
20 But do you want to know, O foolish man, that faith without works is dead?[f] 21 Was not Abraham our father justified by works when he offered Isaac his son on the altar?
22 Do you see that faith was working together with his works, and by works faith was made perfect?
23 And the Scripture was fulfilled which says, "Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness."[g] And he was called the friend of God.
24 You see then that a man is justified by works, and not by faith only.
25 Likewise, was not Rahab the harlot also justified by works when she received the messengers and sent them out another way? Proof of Faith

26For as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also.

James 3

The Untamable Tongue

1 My brethren, let not many of you become teachers, knowing that we shall receive a stricter judgment.
2 For we all stumble in many things. If anyone does not stumble in word, he is a perfect man, able also to bridle the whole body.
3 Indeed,[a] we put bits in horses' mouths that they may obey us, and we turn their whole body.
4 Look also at ships: although they are so large and are driven by fierce winds, they are turned by a very small rudder wherever the pilot desires.
5 Even so the tongue is a little member and boasts great things. See how great a forest a little fire kindles!
6 And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity. The tongue is so set among our members that it defiles the whole body, and sets on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire by hell.
7 For every kind of beast and bird, of reptile and creature of the sea, is tamed and has been tamed by mankind.
8 But no man can tame the tongue. It is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.
9 With it we bless our God and Father, and with it we curse men, who have been made in the similitude of God.
10 Out of the same mouth proceed blessing and cursing.
My brethren, these things ought not to be so.
11 Does a spring send forth fresh water and bitter from the same opening?
12 Can a fig tree, my brethren, bear olives, or a grapevine bear figs? Thus no spring yields both salt water and fresh.[b]

Heavenly Versus Demonic Wisdom

13Who is wise and understanding among you? Let him show by good conduct that his works are done in the meekness of wisdom.
14But if you have bitter envy and self-seeking in your hearts, do not boast and lie against the truth.
15This wisdom does not descend from above, but is earthly, sensual, demonic.
16For where envy and self-seeking exist, confusion and every evil thing are there.
17But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, willing to yield, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality and without hypocrisy.
18Now the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace by those who make peace.

James 4

Pride Promotes Strife

1 Where do wars and fights come from among you? Do they not come from your desires for pleasure that war in your members? Voluntary Yielding in Love

2 You lust and do not have. You murder and covet and cannot obtain. You fight and war. Yet[a] you do not have because you do not ask.

3 You ask and do not receive, because you ask amiss, that you may spend it on your pleasures.

4 Adulterers and[b] adulteresses! Do you not know that friendship with the world is enmity with God? Whoever therefore wants to be a friend of the world makes himself an enemy of God.

5 Or do you think that the Scripture says in vain, “The Spirit who dwells in us yearns jealously”?

6 But He gives more grace. Therefore He says:

> “God resists the proud,
> But gives grace to the humble.”[c]

Humility Cures Worldliness

7 Therefore submit to God. Resist the devil and he will flee from you.

8 Draw near to God and He will draw near to you. Cleanse your hands, you sinners; and purify your hearts, you double-minded.

9 Lament and mourn and weep! Let your laughter be turned to mourning and your joy to gloom.

10 Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and He will lift you up.

Do Not Judge a Brother

11Do not speak evil of one another, brethren. He who speaks evil of a brother and judges his brother, speaks evil of the law and judges the law. But if you judge the law, you are not a doer of the law but a judge.

12There is one Lawgiver,[d] who is able to save and to destroy. Who[e] are you to judge another?[f]

Do Not Boast About Tomorrow

13Come now, you who say, “Today or tomorrow we will[g] go to such and such a city, spend a year there, buy and sell, and make a profit”;

14whereas you do not know what will happen tomorrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapor that appears for a little time and then vanishes away.

15Instead you ought to say, “If the Lord wills, we shall live and do this or that.”

16But now you boast in your arrogance. All such boasting is evil.

17Therefore, to him who knows to do good and does not do it, to him it is sin.

James 5

Rich Oppressors Will Be Judged

1 Come now, you rich, weep and howl for your miseries that are coming upon you! The Price of Fraud 2 Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth-eaten.
3 Your gold and silver are corroded, and their corrosion will be a witness against you and will eat your flesh like fire. You have heaped up treasure in the last days.
4 Indeed the wages of the laborers who mowed your fields, which you kept back by fraud, cry out; and the cries of the reapers have reached the ears of the Lord of Sabaoth.[a]
5 You have lived on the earth in pleasure and luxury; you have fattened your hearts as[b] in a day of slaughter.
6 You have condemned, you have murdered the just; he does not resist you.

Be Patient and Persevering

7 Therefore be patient, brethren, until the coming of the Lord. See how the farmer waits for the precious fruit of the earth, waiting patiently for it until it receives the early and latter rain.
8 You also be patient. Establish your hearts, for the coming of the Lord is at hand.
9 Do not grumble against one another, brethren, lest you be condemned.[c] Behold, the Judge is standing at the door!
10 My brethren, take the prophets, who spoke in the name of the Lord, as an example of suffering and patience.
11 Indeed we count them blessed who endure. You have heard of the perseverance of Job and seen the end intended by the Lord—that the Lord is very compassionate and merciful.

12 But above all, my brethren, do not swear, either by heaven or by earth or with any other oath. But let your "Yes" be "Yes," and your "No," "No," lest you fall into judgment.[d]

Meeting Specific Needs

13 Is anyone among you suffering? Let him pray. Is anyone cheerful? Let him sing psalms. Christians Should Have the Best Celebrations

14 Is anyone among you sick? Let him call for the elders of the church, and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord.

15 And the prayer of faith will save the sick, and the Lord will raise him up. And if he has committed sins, he will be forgiven.

16 Confess your trespasses[e] to one another, and pray for one another, that you may be healed. The effective, fervent prayer of a righteous man avails much.

17 Elijah was a man with a nature like ours, and he prayed earnestly that it would not rain; and it did not rain on the land for three years and six months. Elijah: A Model of Prayer

18 And he prayed again, and the heaven gave rain, and the earth produced its fruit.

Bring Back the Erring One

19 Brethren, if anyone among you wanders from the truth, and someone turns him back, 20 let him know that he who turns a sinner from the error of his way will save a soul[f] from death and cover a multitude of sins.

You Can't Rush It
James 1:9–11

God is more interested in us being someone than getting somewhere. Instead of measuring our worth by what we achieve and acquire, the Lord wants to see us develop virtues such as peace, truth, and integrity. He intends for us to . . .

- Endure trials (James 1:4).
- Trust Him to meet our needs, freely asking for His help (1:5–9).
- Discern between good and bad to make wise decisions (1:12–16).
- Give generously to others just as He gives generously to us (1:17, 18).
- Listen well and respond thoughtfully (1:19–21).
- Act instead of merely talking about doing good (1:22–25).
- Show compassion to every person, including the needy and forgotten (1:26, 27).

Character never develops instantaneously. And God walks with us during the entire process.

The Roots of Sin
James 1:13–18

Some people blame God for their sin, as if He puts them in situations more tempting than they can handle. But sin never starts outside us;

it always begins within, often because we want something God has not given us (1 Cor. 10:6; James 4:1–3).

Sin comes from our own covetousness or discontent, a feeling that we deserve more than we have. This close tie between sin and pride should alert us to the fact that God resists the proud but gives grace to the humble (4:6). The surest path to overcoming temptation is to develop humility, a character trait that leads to contentment (see "Humility: The Scandalous Virtue" at Phil. 2:3).

Playing Favorites

James 2:1–9

In James 2, a congregation is put on trial for giving good seats to the wealthy and forcing poor people to stand in the back. James calls on God's "royal law" to condemn this favoritism toward the rich, and prejudice against the poor. People who discriminate against others based on socio-economic status violate the core of God's law.

The same biases continue today. Our churches might consider only the wealthy for church leadership. Or we may respond coldly or even cruelly to people who appear poor, whether visitors at church, customers at work, or strangers on the street.

This warning does not imply that we should favor the poor and dishonor the rich. We are guilty of reverse discrimination when we assume that people have gained wealth through dishonesty and oppression rather than honesty and hard work.

James asserts that favoritism is as much a transgression of the Law as adultery or murder (James 2:10, 11). The behavior of Christians in James 2 shows how faith that is not reflected in our actions fails to welcome all into God's household as equals. Similar prejudice against Gentiles, slaves, and women led Paul to affirm that in Christ "we are all one" (see "We Are Family" at Gal. 3:28).

Ten Practical Commandments

James 2:8–13

The Ten Commandments (Ex. 20:1–17) touched on by James are just as relevant to modern life as they were during ancient times. Jesus commanded His followers to honor these laws (see "You Have Heard That It Was Said" at Matt. 5:17–48). Here are some suggestions for ways to fulfill these commandments in today's world:

	Original Commandment	Modern Application
1	"You shall have no other gods before Me" (Ex. 20:3).	Treat your relationship with God as your first priority.
2	"You shall not make for yourself a carved image" (Ex. 20:4).	Do not build all of your life around any person, place, thing, cause, or idea. God's place is at the center of our existence.
3	"You shall not take the name of the LORD your God in vain" (Ex. 20:7).	Do nothing in God's name that is contrary to biblical principles.
4	"Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy" (Ex. 20:8).	Pause for worship and rest, thanking God for meeting your daily needs.
5	"Honor your father and your mother" (Ex. 20:12).	Treat parents and other elders how you would want to be treated at their age and stage of life.
6	"You shall not murder" (Ex. 20:13).	Honor life and promote human rights. Do not harbor hateful thoughts against others.
7	"You shall not commit adultery" (Ex. 20:14).	Maintain the physical and emotional faithfulness necessary to keep your family—or your future family—healthy and intact.
8	"You shall not steal"	Do not take others' belongings or claim

	(Ex. 20:15).	others' ideas as your own.
9	"You shall not bear false witness" (Ex. 20:16).	Practice total integrity and honesty. Make your yes mean yes and your no mean no.
10	"You shall not covet" (Ex. 20:17).	Do not allow yourself to crave others' possessions, abilities, or relationships.

Proof of Faith

James 2:25

By offering the Israelite spies a safe haven in Jericho, Rahab the prostitute demonstrated faith in Israel's God. Her simple but brave act was a bold move toward Him, and evidence that she believed He rewards people who seek Him. Find out more about this remarkable woman in her profile at Joshua 2:3 and "Rahab Offered a Safe Haven" at Hebrews 11:31.

Voluntary Yielding in Love

James 4:1–7

Nations, organizations, and individuals usually think it wise to pursue peace through strength. But James challenges us to secure peace through humility. He argues that the source of wars and fights are internal "desires for pleasure," which align us with a world system that is opposed to God. Peace between people is achieved when we first find peace with the Lord, and peace with Him only occurs as we pursue humility. We demonstrate humility not only by submitting to Him but by ordering our lives around other appropriate forms of submission:

Who Submits?	To Whom?	Supporting Text
All Christians	Governing authorities	Rom. 13:1, 5; Titus 3:1; 1 Pet. 2:13
Women	The church	1 Cor. 14:34
Corinthian Christians	Paul's coworkers	1 Cor. 16:16
All Christians	One another	Eph. 5:21
Wives	Their husbands	Eph. 5:22, 24; Col. 3:18; Titus 2:5; 1 Pet. 3:1, 5
The church	Christ	Eph. 5:24
Slaves	Their masters	Titus 2:9; 1 Pet. 2:18
All Christians	God	Heb. 12:9; James 4:7
Young people	Elders	1 Pet. 5:5

The New Testament shows other relationships of submission as well:

Who/What Submits?	To Whom?	Supporting Text
Jesus	His parents	Luke 2:51
Demons	The seventy disciples	Luke 10:17, 20
Creation	God	Rom. 8:20
Everything	Christ	1 Cor. 15:27, 28; Phil. 3:21
Christ	God the Father	1 Cor. 15:28
The world to come	Christ and His church	Heb. 2:5–8
Angels, authorities,	Christ	1 Pet. 3:22

powers

Note these two examples of a lack of submission:

Who Fails to Submit?	To Whom/What?	Text
The sinful mind	God and His law	Rom. 8:7
Israel	God's righteousness	Rom. 10:3

Christ's submission to His Father demonstrates that deference does not necessarily imply inferiority. Biblical submission is a Christlike behavior that deserves honor (Phil. 2:1–11). It is also worth noting that submission is only one side of the relationships listed above. The church is called to submit to Christ, for example, but Christ also has responsibilities toward the church: He is to love her, to give Himself up for her, to make her pure, to nourish and cherish her, and to present her to Himself in her perfect and holy state (Eph. 5:25–33).

The Price of Fraud

James 5:1–6

When James condemns the rich, he does not condemn possessions or money as inherently evil. He issues his warning to people who acquire their wealth unjustly and live lavishly while ignoring their neighbors' obvious needs. The rich who fail to use their resources to do good can expect fierce judgment. When God asks you to explain how you earned and spent your money, what will you say?

More: James's warning aligns with other Scriptures on the use and abuse of wealth. See "Christians and Money" at 1 Tim. 6:6–19.

Christians Should Have the Best Celebrations

James 5:13

Christians have ample reason to enjoy life—a truth that James hints at when he urges us to sing praises with those who are happy. Paul too said to "rejoice in the Lord" (Phil. 3:1; 4:4). Even Jesus challenged a gloomy attitude. He was indeed "a Man of sorrows and acquainted with grief" (Is. 53:3). But His enemies called Him a "winebibber" (Matt. 11:19). He attended a "great feast" with a converted tax collector and his friends (Luke 5:27–29).

The Bible begins with celebration. God created the world, then set aside a day to commemorate what He had done (Gen. 2:1–3). He told the Israelites to repeat that same pattern weekly and annually (Ex. 20:8–11; Lev. 23:1–44). And at the opposite end of the Bible, we find a wedding-like celebration in heaven as God removes all pain and suffering (Rev. 19:1–10).

Scripture encourages the people of God to cultivate joy, hope, and celebration in many ways and on many occasions. Some examples include:

Weddings

Weddings are cause for celebration because families are the institution in which children learn how to love God (Deut. 6:4–8). The "one flesh" (Gen. 2:24) union of a man and a woman reflects God's image on earth. The Song of Solomon is a love poem dedicated to celebrating this theme.

Artistic Expressions of Thankfulness

Major accomplishments or events call for song, dance, poetry, and other arts. Scripture memorializes God's work among His people in songs by Deborah (Judg. 5), Moses and Miriam (Ex. 15:1–21), Hannah (1 Sam. 2:1–10), David (Ps. 18), and Mary (Luke 1:46–55). We do not have the words to the songs of Jephthah's daughter (Judg. 11:34), David's followers (1 Sam. 18:6, 7), or Paul and Silas (Acts 16:25, 26), but their songs of deliverance set a joyous pattern for us to follow.

Harvest Festivals

Israel's agricultural economy was marked by harvest celebrations that included parading samples of produce and honoring God with joyful songs (Ps. 126:5, 6; Is. 9:3). Other feasts included the week-long festivals of Unleavened Bread, Weeks, and Tabernacles (Ex. 23:16; Lev. 23; Num. 28–29; Deut. 16:9–17). The Sabbath year festival (held every seven years; Lev. 25:1–7) and the Jubilee celebrations (held every fiftieth year; 25:8–55) linked national worship with social policy. Any time a good work has been brought to completion, joy and thanksgiving naturally abound.

The Sabbath

God completed His work and established a day each week to remind His people that all of creation belongs to Him, that work is not endless, and that His people must depend on Him to meet their needs (Gen. 2:1–3; Ex. 20:8–11). Early Christians moved their weekly observance from the last day of the week to the first day of the week, to commemorate "Resurrection Day" or "the Lord's Day." This was the day that Jesus proved He was "Lord of the Sabbath" (Matt. 12:1–14) by rising from the dead. As with the Sabbath, the Lord's Day is set aside for worship, celebration, rest, and renewal.

Other Special Occasions

Scripture records other scenes that called for spontaneous celebrations, including escape from captivity (Ps. 126:1–3), conversion from sin (Acts 2:40–47; 16:25–34), and miraculous deliverance (Ex. 14:30–15:21). On occasions like these we need to pause to enjoy God's good gifts and give thanks for everything He has done for us.

Elijah: A Model of Prayer

James 5:17, 18

James presents Elijah as an example of a person of effective prayer. Many people may find James's choice intimidating; Elijah was one of Israel's greatest prophets. He took on the outrageously evil King Ahab and Queen Jezebel, brought a punishing drought upon the land, called down fire from heaven, and was swept up to heaven in a whirlwind accompanied by fiery chariots (1 Kin. 17–22; 2 Kin. 1–2).

Yet James insists that "Elijah was a man with a nature like ours" (James 5:17). And it is true that while the prophet experienced many victories, he also endured painful emotional struggles (1 Kin. 19:1–4)—yet Scripture records that even in Elijah's darkest hour, he reached out to God in prayer and was comforted (19:5–18). According to James, Elijah apparently did not pray because he was a great man; but perhaps he became a great man because he prayed. James offers some reasons why Elijah's prayers were so effective:

- He prayed. He didn't just hope or wish; he actually talked with God.
- He prayed fervently. He prayed with discipline and perseverance.
- He prayed effectively. He expected results.
- He prayed righteously. He did not allow sin to muddy his conversation with God.
- He prayed specifically. He asked first for drought and then for rain, in keeping with God's Word (for example, Deut. 28:12, 24). He prayed according to Scripture.

More: For more on this exemplary man of faith, see Elijah's profile at 1 Kin. 17:1; "God Places Value on You" at 1 Kin. 18:37–19:14; and "Mapping the Life of Elijah" at 1 Kin. 18:1.

Peter knew well the struggles that lay siege to faith. He wrote to believers who were "grieved by various trials" (1 Pet. 1:6)—suffering mistreatment because of their faithful actions.

While the most severe persecution of Christians would not occur until a few decades into the future during the reigns of Domitian (A.D. 81–96) and Trajan (A.D. 98–117), Christ's followers had suffered oppression since the earliest days of the church. Soon after his persuasive Pentecost sermon (Acts 2:14–39), Peter was arrested, beaten, and threatened with death (5:33–40). Paul's pre-conversion campaign against the church included dragging believers from their houses to throw them in prison (8:1–3; 1 Tim. 1:13). And the emperor Nero (A.D. 64–68) intensified the violence, throwing Christians to the lions.

Peter offers suffering Christians a hope based on the power of Jesus' triumph over death (1 Pet. 1:3, 21) and the certainty of His return (1:13). He explains how that hope makes a practical difference in our lives: instead of crumbling under pressure, we act as people of hope, responding with Christlike dignity and moral integrity. Trials have the effect not only of testing but also confirming our faith and spurring us to spiritual growth (1:6–9).

One of the great comforts of 1 and 2 Peter is that we are not alone when we encounter disappointment, pain, or persecution. Jesus suffered the same kind of trials as we do, and He stands with us in times of trouble. Best of all, He gave us an example of how to face the fires of adversity. Peter's letters invite us to "follow [in] His steps" (2:21).

First Peter identifies its author as Peter the apostle (1:1), and many details of the letter support this claim. The emphasis on the sufferings of Christ (2:21–24; 3:18; 4:1; 5:1) strongly evokes Peter's understanding of the faith, and his affectionate reference to Mark as his "son" (5:13) is consistent with the relationship known to have existed between the two men (see the introduction to Mark).

Peter was aided in his writing by Silvanus (1 Pet. 5:12; also called Silas; see his profile at Acts 15:34). Silvanus helped Paul write some of his letters and might have been responsible for the fine Greek of this letter. Peter's background as a Galilean fisherman would hardly have prepared him to write so well.

The reference to Babylon (1 Pet. 5:13) indicates that the letter was probably written from Rome. It was addressed to Christians living in northern and western parts of Asia Minor, and was written sometime before Peter's martyrdom (c. A.D. 65) during the reign of Nero.

Key Verses in 1 Peter

- "You were not redeemed with corruptible things, like silver or gold . . . but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot" (1 Pet. 1:18, 19).
- "As newborn babes, desire the pure milk of the word, that you may grow thereby" (1 Pet. 2:2).
- "You are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, His own special people" (1 Pet. 2:9).
- "Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that you should follow His steps" (1 Pet. 2:21).
- "Love will cover a multitude of sins" (1 Pet. 4:8).
- "Casting all your care upon Him, for He cares for you" (1 Pet. 5:7).

- “Your adversary the devil walks about like a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour” (1 Pet. 5:8).

1 Peter 1

Greeting to the Elect Pilgrims

1 Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ,

To the pilgrims of the Dispersion in Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia, Mapping the Life of Peter

2 elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, in sanctification of the Spirit, for obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ:

Grace to you and peace be multiplied.

A Heavenly Inheritance

3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who according to His abundant mercy has begotten us again to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead,

4 to an inheritance incorruptible and undefiled and that does not fade away, reserved in heaven for you,

5 who are kept by the power of God through faith for salvation ready to be revealed in the last time.

6 In this you greatly rejoice, though now for a little while, if need be, you have been grieved by various trials,

7 that the genuineness of your faith, being much more precious than gold that perishes, though it is tested by fire, may be found to praise, honor, and glory at the revelation of Jesus Christ,

8 whom having not seen[a] you love. Though now you do not see Him, yet believing, you rejoice with joy inexpressible and full of glory,

9 receiving the end of your faith—the salvation of your souls.

10 Of this salvation the prophets have inquired and searched carefully, who prophesied of the grace that would come to you,

11 searching what, or what manner of time, the Spirit of Christ who was in them was indicating when He testified beforehand the sufferings of Christ and the glories that would follow.

12 To them it was revealed that, not to themselves, but to us[b] they were ministering the things which now have been reported to you through those who have preached the gospel to you by the Holy Spirit sent from heaven—things which angels desire to look into.

Living Before God Our Father

13 Therefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and rest your hope fully upon the grace that is to be brought to you at the revelation of Jesus Christ;

14 as obedient children, not conforming yourselves to the former lusts, as in your ignorance;

15 but as He who called you is holy, you also be holy in all your conduct,

16 because it is written, "Be holy, for I am holy."[c]

17 And if you call on the Father, who without partiality judges according to each one's work, conduct yourselves throughout the time of your stay here in fear;

18 knowing that you were not redeemed with corruptible things, like silver or gold, from your aimless conduct received by tradition from your fathers,

19 but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot.

20 He indeed was foreordained before the foundation of the world, but was manifest in these last times for you

21 who through Him believe in God, who raised Him from the dead and gave Him glory, so that your faith and hope are in God.

The Enduring Word

22 Since you have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit[d] in sincere love of the brethren, love one another fervently with a pure heart, 23 having been born again, not of corruptible seed but incorruptible, through the word of God which lives and abides forever,[e] 24 because

> "All flesh is as grass,
> And all the glory of man[f] as the flower of the > grass.
> The grass withers,
> And its flower falls away,
> 25 But the word of the LORD endures > forever."[g]

Now this is the word which by the gospel was preached to you.

1 Peter 2

1 Therefore, laying aside all malice, all deceit, hypocrisy, envy, and all evil speaking, 2 as newborn babes, desire the pure milk of the word, that you may grow thereby,[a] 3 if indeed you have tasted that the Lord is gracious.

The Chosen Stone and His Chosen People

4 Coming to Him as to a living stone, rejected indeed by men, but chosen by God and precious, 5 you also, as living stones, are being built up a spiritual house, a holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ.
6 Therefore it is also contained in the Scripture,

> "Behold, I lay in Zion
> A chief cornerstone, elect, precious,
> And he who believes on Him will by no > means be put to shame."[b]

7 Therefore, to you who believe, He is precious; but to those who are disobedient,[c]

> "The stone which the builders rejected
> Has become the chief cornerstone,"[d]

8 and

> "A stone of stumbling
> And a rock of offense."[e]

They stumble, being disobedient to the word, to which they also were appointed.

9 But you are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, His own special people, that you may proclaim the praises of Him who called you out of darkness into His marvelous light; From Refugee to Royalty

10 who once were not a people but are now the people of God, who had not obtained mercy but now have obtained mercy.

Living Before the World

11 Beloved, I beg you as sojourners and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts which war against the soul,

12 having your conduct honorable among the Gentiles, that when they speak against you as evildoers, they may, by your good works which they observe, glorify God in the day of visitation.

Submission to Government

13 Therefore submit yourselves to every ordinance of man for the Lord's sake, whether to the king as supreme,

14 or to governors, as to those who are sent by him for the punishment of evildoers and for the praise of those who do good.

15 For this is the will of God, that by doing good you may put to silence the ignorance of foolish men—

16 as free, yet not using liberty as a cloak for vice, but as bondservants of God.

17 Honor all people. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the king.

Submission to Masters

18 Servants, be submissive to your masters with all fear, not only to the good and gentle, but also to the harsh.

19For this is commendable, if because of conscience toward God one endures grief, suffering wrongfully.
20For what credit is it if, when you are beaten for your faults, you take it patiently? But when you do good and suffer, if you take it patiently, this is commendable before God.
21For to this you were called, because Christ also suffered for us,[f] leaving us[g] an example, that you should follow His steps:

> 22 "Who committed no sin,
> Nor was deceit found in His mouth";[h]

23who, when He was reviled, did not revile in return;
when He suffered, He did not threaten, but committed Himself to Him who judges righteously; 24who Himself bore our sins in His own body on the tree, that we, having died to sins, might live for righteousness—by whose stripes you were healed.
25For you were like sheep going astray, but have now returned to the Shepherd and Overseer[i] of your souls.

1 Peter 3

Submission to Husbands

1 Wives, likewise, be submissive to your own husbands, that even if some do not obey the word, they, without a word, may be won by the conduct of their wives, 2 when they observe your chaste conduct accompanied by fear.
3 Do not let your adornment be merely outward—arranging the hair, wearing gold, or putting on fine apparel
4 rather let it be the hidden person of the heart, with the incorruptible beauty of a gentle and quiet spirit, which is very precious in the sight of God.
5 For in this manner, in former times, the holy women who trusted in God also adorned themselves, being submissive to their own husbands, 6 as Sarah obeyed Abraham, calling him lord, whose daughters you are if you do good and are not afraid with any terror.

A Word to Husbands

7 Husbands, likewise, dwell with them with understanding, giving honor to the wife, as to the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life, that your prayers may not be hindered.

Called to Blessing

8 Finally, all of you be of one mind, having compassion for one another; love as brothers, be tenderhearted, be courteous;[a]

9 not returning evil for evil or reviling for reviling, but on the contrary blessing, knowing that you were called to this, that you may inherit a blessing.

10 For

> “He who would love life
> And see good days,
> Let him refrain his tongue from evil,
> And his lips from speaking deceit.
> 11 Let him turn away from evil and do good;
> Let him seek peace and pursue it.
> 12 For the eyes of the LORD are on the righteous,
> And His ears are open to their prayers;
> But the face of the LORD is against those who do evil.”[b]

Suffering for Right and Wrong

13 And who is he who will harm you if you become followers of what is good?

14 But even if you should suffer for righteousness’ sake, you are blessed. “And do not be afraid of their threats, nor be troubled.”[c]

15 But sanctify the Lord God[d] in your hearts, and always be ready to give a defense to everyone who asks you a reason for the hope that is in you, with meekness and fear;

16 having a good conscience, that when they defame you as evildoers, those who revile your good conduct in Christ may be ashamed.

17 For it is better, if it is the will of God, to suffer for doing good than for doing evil.

Christ’s Suffering and Ours

18For Christ also suffered once for sins, the just for the unjust, that He might bring us[e] to God, being put to death in the flesh but made alive by the Spirit,

19by whom also He went and preached to the spirits in prison,

20who formerly were disobedient, when once the Divine longsuffering waited[f] in the days of Noah, while the ark was being prepared, in which a few, that is, eight souls, were saved through water.

21There is also an antitype which now saves us—baptism (not the removal of the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience toward God), through the resurrection of Jesus Christ,

22who has gone into heaven and is at the right hand of God, angels and authorities and powers having been made subject to Him.

1 Peter 4

1 Therefore, since Christ suffered for us[a] in the flesh, arm yourselves also with the same mind, for he who has suffered in the flesh has ceased from sin, 2 that he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh for the lusts of men, but for the will of God.
3 For we have spent enough of our past lifetime[b] in doing the will of the Gentiles—when we walked in lewdness, lusts, drunkenness, revelries, drinking parties, and abominable idolatries.
4 In regard to these, they think it strange that you do not run with them in the same flood of dissipation, speaking evil of you.
5 They will give an account to Him who is ready to judge the living and the dead.
6 For this reason the gospel was preached also to those who are dead, that they might be judged according to men in the flesh, but live according to God in the spirit.

Serving for God's Glory

7 But the end of all things is at hand; therefore be serious and watchful in your prayers.
8 And above all things have fervent love for one another, for "love will cover a multitude of sins."[c]
9 Be hospitable to one another without grumbling.
10 As each one has received a gift, minister it to one another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God.
11 If anyone speaks, let him speak as the oracles of God. If anyone ministers, let him do it as with the ability which God supplies, that in all things God may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom belong the glory and the dominion forever and ever. Amen.

Suffering for God's Glory

12 Beloved, do not think it strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened to you;
13 but rejoice to the extent that you partake of Christ's sufferings, that when His glory is revealed, you may also be glad with exceeding joy.
14 If you are reproached for the name of Christ, blessed are you, for the Spirit of glory and of God rests upon you.[d] On their part He is blasphemed, but on your part He is glorified.
15 But let none of you suffer as a murderer, a thief, an evildoer, or as a busybody in other people's matters.
16 Yet if anyone suffers as a Christian, let him not be ashamed, but let him glorify God in this matter.[e] 17 For the time has come for judgment to begin at the house of God; and if it begins with us first, what will be the end of those who do not obey the gospel of God?
18 Now

> "If the righteous one is scarcely saved,
> Where will the ungodly and the sinner > appear?"[f]

19 Therefore let those who suffer according to the will of God commit their souls to Him in doing good, as to a faithful Creator.

1 Peter 5

Shepherd the Flock

1The elders who are among you I exhort, I who am a fellow elder and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that will be revealed: 2Shepherd the flock of God which is among you, serving as overseers, not by compulsion but willingly,[a] not for dishonest gain but eagerly; Fleecing the Flock 3nor as being lords over those entrusted to you, but being examples to the flock; 4and when the Chief Shepherd appears, you will receive the crown of glory that does not fade away.

Submit to God, Resist the Devil

5Likewise you younger people, submit yourselves to your elders. Yes, all of you be submissive to one another, and be clothed with humility, for

> "God resists the proud,
> But gives grace to the humble."[b]

6Therefore humble yourselves under the mighty hand of God, that He may exalt you in due time, 7casting all your care upon Him, for He cares for you.
8Be sober, be vigilant; because[c] your adversary the devil walks about like a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour. A Hungry Lion 9Resist him, steadfast in the faith, knowing that the same sufferings are experienced by your brotherhood in the world.

10 But may[d] the God of all grace, who called us[e] to His eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after you have suffered a while, perfect, establish, strengthen, and settle you.
11 To Him be the glory and the dominion forever and ever.
Amen.

Farewell and Peace

12 By Silvanus, our faithful brother as I consider him, I have written to you briefly, exhorting and testifying that this is the true grace of God in which you stand.
13 She who is in Babylon, elect together with you, greets you; and so does Mark my son. Christians Against the System 14 Greet one another with a kiss of love. Peace to you all who are in Christ Jesus. Amen.

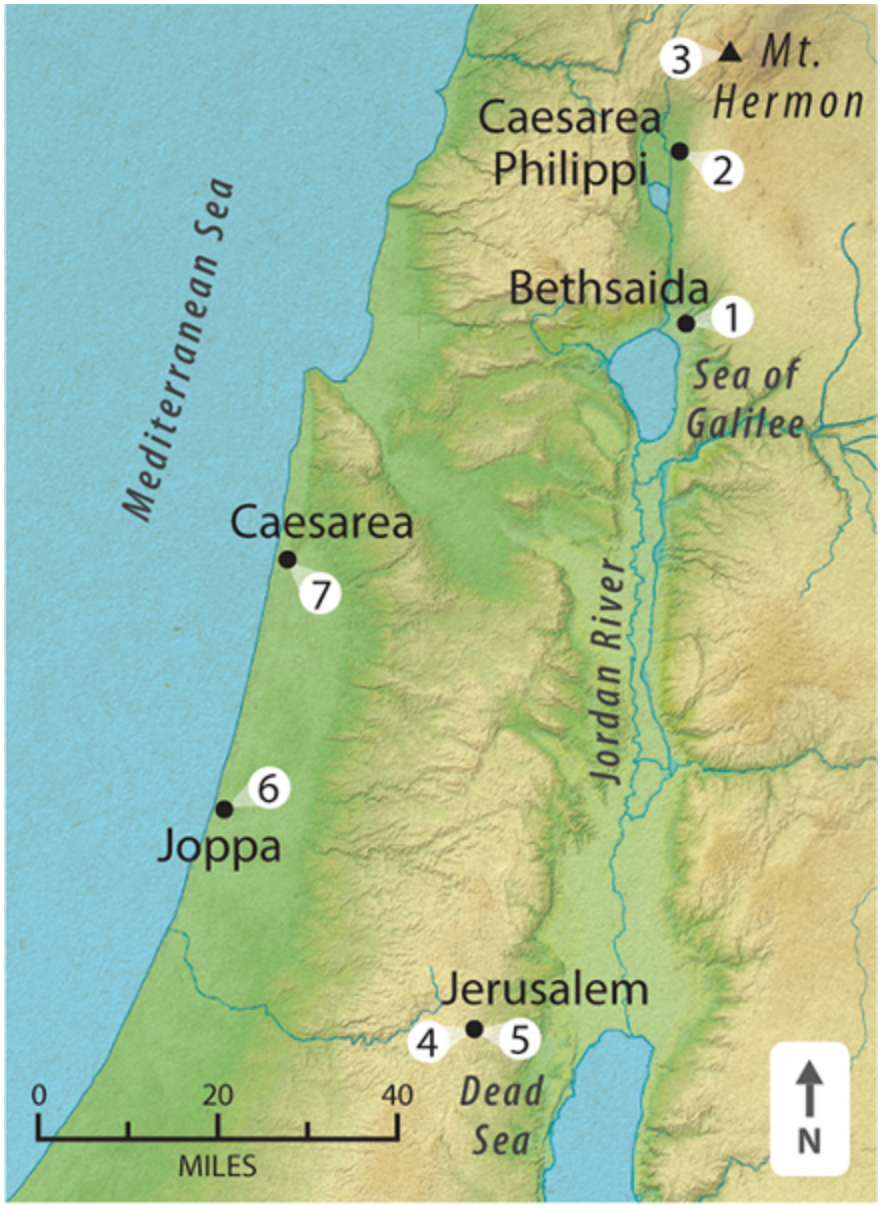
Mapping the Life of Peter

1 Pet. 1:1



1. Born at Bethsaida, Peter is called from his fishing nets on the Sea of Galilee to become Jesus' disciple (John 1:44; Luke 5:1–11).
2. In the region of Caesarea Philippi, Peter acknowledges Jesus as the Messiah (Matt. 16:13–16).
3. Peter, James, and John witness the transfiguration of Jesus on a mountain, perhaps Mt. Hermon, in this region (Matt. 17:1–9).
4. Peter denies Jesus three times on the night before His crucifixion in Jerusalem (Matt. 26:69–75).
5. After His resurrection, Jesus appears to Peter and the other disciples in the Upper Room at Jerusalem (Luke 24:33–43).
6. A leader in the early church at Jerusalem (Acts 2:14–41), Peter broadens his witness to include the Gentiles following a vision on the rooftop of the home of Simon the tanner in Joppa (10:9–23).
7. Beginning at Caesarea, Peter travels through Judea and Samaria, proclaiming Christ and witnessing to the Gentiles (Acts 10:24–11:18).
8. Peter makes a bold appeal to the church leaders at Jerusalem to stop impeding Gentiles from coming into the faith (Acts 15:6–11). Yet on another occasion, at Antioch, Paul opposes Peter for distancing himself from Gentile Christians in order to save face with Jewish Christians (Gal. 2:11–14).
9. According to early church tradition, Peter is executed in Rome.

More: Peter, also known as Simon Peter, consistently appears first among those whom Jesus called as His disciples.

From Refugee to Royalty

1 Pet. 2:9–12

The mostly Jewish followers of Christ who first read this book were scattered throughout the Roman empire. They faced harassment from both the Roman government and local synagogue leaders. As society turned against them, they suffered as persecuted refugees (1 Pet. 1:6; 2:11, 12; 4:12), likely dealing with doubts about their worth and significance.

Called into the Light

In the midst of these mounting troubles, Peter reminded his readers what it means to belong to Jesus Christ. They felt like outcasts in a hostile society, but to Christ they couldn't be more important. He had called them out of darkness into light (2:9). These believers were . . .

- A chosen generation. They were among God's elect, selected based on His foreknowledge and born again to a living hope (1:2–5). God had called each person out of sin to be among His rescued people.
- A royal priesthood. They were a part of God's plan to build a kingdom of priests (Ex. 19:6; Is. 61:6; Rev. 1:6). Each would serve and worship not by offering up the bodies of animals but by presenting their own bodies as living sacrifices available for His purposes (Rom. 12:1).
- A holy nation. They were to be holy, like the God who called them (1 Pet. 1:16; Ex. 19:6). Their lifestyles were to reflect His character and publicize their identity as His people.
- A special people. They were invited to step into a unique relationship with God and with each other. As God's people, their community enjoyed unique access to Him (Eph. 2:18).

A Timely Message

Those early Christians needed encouragement as they struggled to stand strong in a world where most lacked citizenship, recognition, respect, or privileges. Today, as we strive to find our own places in society and in the church, these affirmations can raise our confidence about our God-given significance and capabilities. Our self-doubt often comes out in how we speak:

- We talk about ministry as if it belongs only to professional church staff. Yet Scripture describes ministry as the calling and responsibility of every Christian (see "The True Meaning of Ministry" at Eph. 4:12).
- We speak of calling as if it pertains to a select few chosen by God for special assignments. But most instances of calling in Scripture are an invitation from God to all sinners to come to Him (see "All Christians Are Called, in All of Life" at 1 Sam. 3:1–21).
- We use words like laity and laypeople as if they imply second-class citizenship in Christ's body. But the Lord equips all Christians to accomplish His work (Rom. 12:6; 1 Cor. 12:7; Eph. 4:12; 1 Pet. 4:10, 11; see also "The Christian's Calling" at Heb. 3:1).

Our True Identity

The descriptions that Peter uses to describe Christians reveal our true identity. We belong to God and have received His call, mercy, and claim on our lives. We can therefore commit ourselves to each other and work together toward God's goals. We know who we are because we know whose we are.

Unless we recover a biblical understanding of words such as ministry, calling, and laypeople, we will never grow into all that God has planned for us. We will remain spectators of God's work in the world, watching from the sidelines, unable to share in the victory of carrying out God's will.

God has given us citizenship in His eternal kingdom, completely equipped us for His service, opened up opportunities for us to work on His behalf, and welcomed us into friendship with Him. We are no longer refugees but sons and daughters of the King, with all the rights and blessings of family membership.

Fleecing the Flock
1 Pet. 5:2

Our culture's general distrust of Christian ministers and ministries—especially when it comes to raising and spending money—makes Peter's instructions to overseers essential for anyone involved in paid Christian work. Peter condemned "dishonest gain," literally "filthy" or "shameful" money. What brings shame is not money in and of itself but greed, which amounts to idolatry (Col. 3:5). No wonder Paul emphatically warned church leaders not to use ministry as a pretext for financial gain (1 Tim. 3:3, 8; 6:3–5; Titus 1:7).

Ministers do not all fall into greed. Peter refused a bribe in exchange for the Holy Spirit's power (Acts 8:18–20). Paul frequently refused the financial support he was entitled to as an apostle (1 Cor. 9:7–15).

But all who make their living through ministry need to take special care to maintain the utmost integrity when it comes to finances. If they cannot do that willingly, they should not be in ministry.

More: Paul did everything he could to avoid any hint of financial impropriety. See "I Have Not Coveted" at Acts 20:33–38.

Christians Against the System
1 Pet. 5:13

When Peter referred to "she who is in Babylon," he may have meant a group of Christians rather than a particular individual. And the term Babylon was code in the early church not only for Rome but for a world system rebelling against God. It embodied the hostility Christians faced at the local level and eventually from Rome itself.

Early Christians were increasingly harassed, threatened, arrested, beaten, and killed for refusing to back down from their commitment to Christ. During Domitian's reign as emperor (A.D. 81–96), official persecution intensified, turning many Christians into refugees and driving some living in Rome to flee to the catacombs beneath the city.

First Peter speaks to Christians enduring the "fiery trial" (1 Pet. 4:12). Second Peter addresses Christians whose faith may have wavered during long years of suffering and waiting for the Lord's return and for deliverance from their oppressors. Both letters highlight themes relevant to suffering Christians:

- The source of trouble. Early Christians were opponents of Rome because the system defined them as enemies, not the other way around. Peter urged Christians to submit to authorities, persevere despite injustice, and love rather than retaliate (2:13–20; 3:13–17; 4:12–16).
- The identity and worth of the believers. Some regarded Christians as evildoers (2:12; 3:16; 4:4). But Peter gave believers names and titles affirming their value to God (2:9).
- The value of community. Peter urged suffering saints to stick together, care for each other, and identify with other Christians facing tough times (3:8, 9).
- The importance of character. Peter challenged his readers not to use persecution as an excuse to stop growing. They were to stand firm in their faith and let suffering build Christlike virtues in them (1:13–16; 2:1, 2, 11, 12; 2 Pet. 1:5–9; 3:17, 18).
- The centrality of sound doctrine. Second Peter forcefully warns against false teachers who exploit suffering in order to advance a counterfeit faith (2:1–22; 3:17, 18). These enemies work their way into the Christian community, compromising truth and accommodating evil. God deals harshly with false teachers (2:4–10).

- The necessity of perseverance. Peter's letters show Christians how to endure when they have no control over their circumstances or their outcome. Coping may be their only alternative to capitulating—but it is coping to God's glory by never losing hope, never giving up their dignity, never letting their spirit be crushed.

The Book of 2 Peter focuses on the hope that comes from relying on God for our every need. His divine power, Peter writes, provides "all things that pertain to life and godliness" (2 Pet. 1:3). We can trust the Scriptures to guide us in the way of truth (1:16–21) and help us avoid error (2:1–3:7). We can also count on Jesus to return just as He said He would (3:8–18).

Even when the world feeds lies to the spiritually hungry, we can take comfort that God will show us truth. Peter warns his readers of false teachers inside the church, who "will exploit you with deceptive words" (2:3). Though "many will follow their destructive ways" (2:2) because they dress their false prophecies in the guise of truth, the Lord does not idly tolerate blasphemers; they can expect His righteous judgment.

The apostle also warns of those who scoff at the Second Coming. Like many Christians today, Peter's readers were impatient for Jesus to fulfill His promise to return. They had expected Him to have already arrived, and they now wondered if He would come back at all. Peter tells these skeptics that any delay is God's way of giving all people an opportunity to turn back to Him: "The Lord is not slack concerning His promise . . . but is longsuffering toward us, not willing that any should perish but that all should come to repentance" (3:9).

Like 1 Peter, this second letter is claimed to have been written by Peter the apostle (1:1; 3:1, 2), but his authorship has been questioned. There are ways in which the style and language of 2 Peter do not coincide with those of 1 Peter. Furthermore, Peter's inclusion of Paul's writings among "the Scriptures" (3:16) suggests to some that the letter could not have been produced during Peter's lifetime. However, none of these objections is insurmountable, and no other author has been identified.

Since the letter makes no mention of its recipients, 2 Peter was probably intended for a general readership. Assuming the apostle Peter's involvement, the epistle must have been written prior to his death around A.D. 65.

Key Verses in 2 Peter

- "No prophecy of Scripture is of any private interpretation, for prophecy never came by the will of man, but holy men of God spoke as they were moved by the Holy Spirit" (2 Pet. 1:20, 21).
- "If God did not spare the angels who sinned, but cast them down to hell and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved for judgment . . . then the Lord knows how to deliver the godly out of temptations and to reserve the unjust under punishment for the day of judgment" (2 Pet. 2:4, 9).
- "The Lord is not slack concerning His promise, as some count slackness, but is longsuffering toward us, not willing that any should perish but that all should come to repentance" (2 Pet. 3:9).
- "The day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night" (2 Pet. 3:10).

2 Peter 1

Greeting the Faithful

1 Simon Peter, a bondservant and apostle of Jesus Christ,
To those who have obtained like precious faith with us by the righteousness of our God and Savior Jesus Christ:

2 Grace and peace be multiplied to you in the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord,

3 as His divine power has given to us all things that pertain to life and godliness, through the knowledge of Him who called us by glory and virtue,
4 by which have been given to us exceedingly great and precious promises, that through these you may be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust.

Fruitful Growth in the Faith

5 But also for this very reason, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue, to virtue knowledge, 6 to knowledge self-control, to self-control perseverance, to perseverance godliness,
7 to godliness brotherly kindness, and to brotherly kindness love.
8 For if these things are yours and abound, you will be neither barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.
9 For he who lacks these things is shortsighted, even to blindness, and has forgotten that he was cleansed from his old sins.

10 Therefore, brethren, be even more diligent to make your call and election sure, for if you do these things you will never stumble;
11 for so an entrance will be supplied to you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

Peter's Approaching Death

12 For this reason I will not be negligent to remind you always of these things, though you know and are established in the present truth.
13 Yes, I think it is right, as long as I am in this tent, to stir you up by reminding you, 14 knowing that shortly I must put off my tent, just as our Lord Jesus Christ showed me.
15 Moreover I will be careful to ensure that you always have a reminder of these things after my decease.

The Trustworthy Prophetic Word

16 For we did not follow cunningly devised fables when we made known to you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eyewitnesses of His majesty. God's Trustworthy Word
17 For He received from God the Father honor and glory when such a voice came to Him from the Excellent Glory:
"This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased." 18 And we heard this voice which came from heaven when we were with Him on the holy mountain.
19 And so we have the prophetic word confirmed,[a] which you do well to heed as a light that shines in a dark place, until the day dawns and the morning star rises in your hearts;

[20]knowing this first, that no prophecy of Scripture is of any private interpretation,[b]
[21]for prophecy never came by the will of man, but holy men of God[c] spoke as they were moved by the Holy Spirit.

2 Peter 2

Destructive Doctrines

1 But there were also false prophets among the people, even as there will be false teachers among you, who will secretly bring in destructive heresies, even denying the Lord who bought them, and bring on themselves swift destruction.
2 And many will follow their destructive ways, because of whom the way of truth will be blasphemed.
3 By covetousness they will exploit you with deceptive words; for a long time their judgment has not been idle, and their destruction does[a] not slumber.

Doom of False Teachers

4 For if God did not spare the angels who sinned, but cast them down to hell and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved for judgment; 5 and did not spare the ancient world, but saved Noah, one of eight people, a preacher of righteousness, bringing in the flood on the world of the ungodly; 6 and turning the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into ashes, condemned them to destruction, making them an example to those who afterward would live ungodly; 7 and delivered righteous Lot, who was oppressed by the filthy conduct of the wicked 8 (for that righteous man, dwelling among them, tormented his righteous soul from day to day by seeing and hearing their lawless deeds)— 9 then the Lord knows how to deliver the godly out of temptations and to reserve the unjust under punishment for the day of judgment,

10 and especially those who walk according to the flesh in the lust of uncleanness and despise authority. They are presumptuous, self-willed. They are not afraid to speak evil of dignitaries, 11 whereas angels, who are greater in power and might, do not bring a reviling accusation against them before the Lord.

Depravity of False Teachers

12 But these, like natural brute beasts made to be caught and destroyed, speak evil of the things they do not understand, and will utterly perish in their own corruption, 13 and will receive the wages of unrighteousness, as those who count it pleasure to carouse in the daytime. They are spots and blemishes, carousing in their own deceptions while they feast with you, 14 having eyes full of adultery and that cannot cease from sin, enticing unstable souls. They have a heart trained in covetous practices, and are accursed children.
15 They have forsaken the right way and gone astray, following the way of Balaam the son of Beor, who loved the wages of unrighteousness;
16 but he was rebuked for his iniquity: a dumb donkey speaking with a man's voice restrained the madness of the prophet.
17 These are wells without water, clouds[b] carried by a tempest, for whom is reserved the blackness of darkness forever.[c]

Deceptions of False Teachers

18 For when they speak great swelling words of emptiness, they allure through the lusts of the flesh, through lewdness, the ones who have actually escaped[d] from those who live in error.

19 While they promise them liberty, they themselves are slaves of corruption; for by whom a person is overcome, by him also he is brought into bondage.
20 For if, after they have escaped the pollutions of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, they are again entangled in them and overcome, the latter end is worse for them than the beginning.
21 For it would have been better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, than having known it, to turn from the holy commandment delivered to them.
22 But it has happened to them according to the true proverb: "A dog returns to his own vomit,"[e] and, "a sow, having washed, to her wallowing in the mire."

2 Peter 3

God's Promise Is Not Slack

1 Beloved, I now write to you this second epistle (in both of which I stir up your pure minds by way of reminder),
2 that you may be mindful of the words which were spoken before by the holy prophets, and of the commandment of us,[a] the apostles of the Lord and Savior,
3 knowing this first: that scoffers will come in the last days, walking according to their own lusts,
4 and saying, "Where is the promise of His coming? For since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of creation."
5 For this they willfully forget: that by the word of God the heavens were of old, and the earth standing out of water and in the water,
6 by which the world that then existed perished, being flooded with water.
7 But the heavens and the earth which are now preserved by the same word, are reserved for fire until the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men.
8 But, beloved, do not forget this one thing, that with the Lord one day is as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day.
9 The Lord is not slack concerning His promise, as some count slackness, but is longsuffering toward us,[b] not willing that any should perish but that all should come to repentance.

The Day of the Lord

10 But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night, in which the heavens will pass away with a great noise, and the elements will melt with fervent heat; both the earth and the works that are in it will be burned up.[c]

11 Therefore, since all these things will be dissolved, what manner of persons ought you to be in holy conduct and godliness,

12 looking for and hastening the coming of the day of God, because of which the heavens will be dissolved, being on fire, and the elements will melt with fervent heat?

13 Nevertheless we, according to His promise, look for new heavens and a new earth in which righteousness dwells.

Be Steadfast

14 Therefore, beloved, looking forward to these things, be diligent to be found by Him in peace, without spot and blameless;

15 and consider that the longsuffering of our Lord is salvation—as also our beloved brother Paul, according to the wisdom given to him, has written to you,

16 as also in all his epistles, speaking in them of these things, in which are some things hard to understand, which untaught and unstable people twist to their own destruction, as they do also the rest of the Scriptures.

17 You therefore, beloved, since you know this beforehand, beware lest you also fall from your own steadfastness, being led away with the error of the wicked;

18 but grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. To Him be the glory both now and forever. Amen.

God's Trustworthy Word

2 Pet. 1:16

Some people sense the Bible's uniqueness from the first time they open its pages. They read of God's power in creation. They hear His cry for humankind to enjoy His love. They look and listen as Jesus becomes flesh, lives, dies, and rises. They conclude that no one like Him has ever walked the earth.

Meanwhile, others regard the Bible as nothing more than a book of myths. Its pages might convey some sort of truth, but its histories have little basis in fact. They believe that whatever wisdom the Bible might contain comes not from God but from the imagination and experience of ordinary human beings.

People must have raised similar issues as Peter and the early Christians spread the good news about Christ. Peter had to defend himself against the charge that he was passing along "cunningly devised fables." His rebuttal demonstrates that skepticism regarding God and His words is nothing new. But Peter countered the world's cynicism by declaring he had seen firsthand "the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ." He and others were "eyewitnesses of His majesty." Christians hold that the Bible is a reliable record of this eyewitness account not only of the acts and teachings of Jesus but of all of God's actions to reveal Himself throughout human history.

Many who attack Scripture fail to adequately investigate its background. The Bible is not a single piece of writing but a compilation of sixty-six books brought together over millennia by authors from every walk of life. These writers hailed from three continents—Asia, Africa, and Europe—and wrote in three languages —Hebrew, Greek, and Aramaic. Yet this wide diversity of sources nevertheless records an astonishingly cohesive story punctuated by three essential truths:

- There is one true God of unfathomable power and matchless character. He is all-knowing, all-powerful, all-present, and utterly good. His actions prove Him to be both loving and just.
- God made human beings in His image, but they rejected His kindness and set themselves up as His enemies. The relationship between God and mankind is broken but not destroyed. It is beyond human ability to repair and requires a divine solution.

- God revealed Himself throughout history to His chosen people, the Israelites. Their special relationship with God prepared the way for the arrival of Jesus Christ, who is both fully divine and fully human. In Jesus we see God on full display, and faith in His death and resurrection makes it possible for all people to be reconciled with God.

The marvelous coherence of this message provides unique internal evidence that the Bible is not the product of human invention but originated with God.

External evidence also demonstrates the Bible's reliability as a historical document. Thousands of ancient biblical manuscripts verify that the Bible we read today accurately conveys the words of its original authors. Moreover, sources outside the Bible confirm the reliability of its content. Archaeological findings from across the Mediterranean and the Middle East back up the Bible's account of history, confirming specific places, events, people, and dates. Roman sources outside of Scripture—such as works by Tacitus (Annals 15.44) and Pliny the Younger (Letters 19.96)—assure us that Jesus was a real person who began a movement that spread across the known world.

All of this evidence demonstrates that Scripture is more than "cunningly devised fables" (2 Pet. 1:16). It pushes us to see for ourselves whether or not the Bible's message proves true in everyday life. As Jesus said, "If you abide in My word, you are My disciples indeed. And you shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free" (John 8:31, 32).

As the first century drew to a close, some Christians began drifting from the truth about Christ. Founders of the church began to die off, and believers were losing touch with those who had known Jesus in the flesh.

Many were also being seduced by competing doctrines, especially early forms of gnosticism. Second- and third-generation believers grew cold in their love for each other and in their commitment to truth. They had, as the Lord put it to the Ephesians, “left [their] first love” (Rev. 2:4).

The books we call 1, 2, and 3 John were written in response to this trend. These short letters call Christians back to the basics of the faith: truth and love. Their author is often described as the apostle of love, and 1, 2, and 3 John are commonly referred to as the love letters of the New Testament.

But these writings are hardly sentimental. They’re infused with a tough love, a love that speaks up even when it hurts, because it truly cares. At many points the tone of these letters suggests an older believer pleading with someone younger in the faith. Nine times in 1 John the writer addresses his readers as his “little children,” and nine times among the three letters as “beloved.” He refers to himself as “the elder” (2 John 1; 3 John 1). His writing is reflective and loosely structured, using some of the simplest Greek in the New Testament.

One of 1 John’s most notable features is the author’s presentation of material in formulaic expressions (1 John 2:12–14; 5:6–8). These may be the beginnings of creedal statements and catechisms, which package truth in a memorable way for the purpose of instruction.

Such a strategy would have been important in countering false teachers who denied Jesus' physical reality. Claiming special knowledge, they taught that God could not have become flesh. No wonder John opens his first letter with the powerful declaration, "That . . . which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we have looked upon, and our hands have handled, concerning the Word of life . . . that which we have seen and heard we declare to you" (1:1, 3). Here was a man—perhaps the last person in the early church—who had actually walked and talked with Jesus.

John writes that in genuine Christianity there is a core truth one must believe—that Jesus has come in the flesh—and that the practice of love and righteousness is the test of whether we truly believe in and follow Jesus. His message is similar to Paul's word to the Ephesians that true spirituality involves "speaking the truth in love" (Eph. 4:15).

The books of 1, 2, and 3 John are generally believed to have been written by the same person. Traditionally this author has been understood to be John the apostle of Jesus. It is worth noting, however, that one early church historian identified the writer as another John, called the Elder (compare 2 John 1; 3 John 1), a disciple of John the apostle in Ephesus. It is likewise possible that John the Elder wrote 1, 2, and 3 John on behalf of John the apostle or under his supervision. Exact dates of writing have not been determined, but all three letters were likely produced toward the close of the first century A.D.

Key Verses in 1 John

- "If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us. If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (1 John 1:8, 9).

- "Do not marvel, my brethren, if the world hates you" (1 John 3:13).
- "My little children, let us not love in word or in tongue, but in deed and in truth" (1 John 3:18).
- "Beloved, let us love one another, for love is of God; and everyone who loves is born of God and knows God" (1 John 4:7).
- "In this is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us" (1 John 4:10).
- "Perfect love casts out fear" (1 John 4:18).
- "This is the victory that has overcome the world—our faith" (1 John 5:4).
- "He who has the Son has life; he who does not have the Son of God does not have life" (1 John 5:12).

1 John 1

What Was Heard, Seen, and Touched

1 That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we have looked upon, and our hands have handled, concerning the Word of life— Mapping the Life of John Authentic Witness 2 the life was manifested, and we have seen, and bear witness, and declare to you that eternal life which was with the Father and was manifested to us—3 that which we have seen and heard we declare to you, that you also may have fellowship with us; and truly our fellowship is with the Father and with His Son Jesus Christ.
4 And these things we write to you that your[a] joy may be full.

Fellowship with Him and One Another

5 This is the message which we have heard from Him and declare to you, that God is light and in Him is no darkness at all. Either/Or Faith 6 If we say that we have fellowship with Him, and walk in darkness, we lie and do not practice the truth.
7 But if we walk in the light as He is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus Christ
His Son cleanses us from all sin.
8 If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us.
9 If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.
10 If we say that we have not sinned, we make Him a liar, and His word is not in us.

1 John 2

1 My little children, these things I write to you, so that you may not sin. And if anyone sins, we have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous.
2 And He Himself is the propitiation for our sins, and not for ours only but also for the whole world.

The Test of Knowing Him

3 Now by this we know that we know Him, if we keep His commandments. Obedience Leads to Freedom 4 He who says, “I know Him,” and does not keep His commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him.
5 But whoever keeps His word, truly the love of God is perfected in him. By this we know that we are in Him.
6 He who says he abides in Him ought himself also to walk just as He walked.
7 Brethren,[a] I write no new commandment to you, but an old commandment which you have had from the beginning.
The old commandment is the word which you heard from the beginning.[b]
8 Again, a new commandment I write to you, which thing is true in Him and in you, because the darkness is passing away, and the true light is already shining.
9 He who says he is in the light, and hates his brother, is in darkness until now.
10 He who loves his brother abides in the light, and there is no cause for stumbling in him.
11 But he who hates his brother is in darkness and walks in darkness, and does not know where he is going, because the darkness has blinded his eyes.

Their Spiritual State

12I write to you, little children,
Because your sins are forgiven you for His name's sake.
13I write to you, fathers,
Because you have known Him who is from the beginning.
I write to you, young men,
Because you have overcome the wicked one.
I write to you, little children,
Because you have known the Father.
14I have written to you, fathers,
Because you have known Him who is from the beginning.
I have written to you, young men,
Because you are strong, and the word of God abides in you,
And you have overcome the wicked one.

Do Not Love the World

15Do not love the world or the things in the world. If anyone loves the world, the love of the Father is not in him.
16For all that is in the world—the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life—is not of the Father but is of the world.
17And the world is passing away, and the lust of it; but he who does the will of God abides forever.

Deceptions of the Last Hour

18Little children, it is the last hour; and as you have heard that the[c] Antichrist is coming, even now many antichrists have come, by which we know that it is the last hour.

19 They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would have continued with us; but they went out that they might be made manifest, that none of them were of us.
20 But you have an anointing from the Holy One, and you know all things.[d] 21 I have not written to you because you do not know the truth, but because you know it, and that no lie is of the truth.
22 Who is a liar but he who denies that Jesus is the Christ?
He is antichrist who denies the Father and the Son.
23 Whoever denies the Son does not have the Father either; he who acknowledges the Son has the Father also.

Let Truth Abide in You

24 Therefore let that abide in you which you heard from the beginning. If what you heard from the beginning abides in you, you also will abide in the Son and in the Father.
25 And this is the promise that He has promised us—eternal life.
26 These things I have written to you concerning those who try to deceive you.
27 But the anointing which you have received from Him abides in you, and you do not need that anyone teach you; but as the same anointing teaches you concerning all things, and is true, and is not a lie, and just as it has taught you, you will[e] abide in Him.

The Children of God

28 And now, little children, abide in Him, that when[f] He appears, we may have confidence and not be ashamed before Him at His coming.
29 If you know that He is righteous, you know that everyone who practices righteousness is born of Him.

1 John 3

[1]Behold what manner of love the Father has bestowed on us, that we should be called children of God![a] Therefore the world does not know us,[b] because it did not know Him.

[2]Beloved, now we are children of God; and it has not yet been revealed what we shall be, but we know that when He is revealed, we shall be like Him, for we shall see Him as He is.

[3]And everyone who has this hope in Him purifies himself, just as He is pure.

Sin and the Child of God

4Whoever commits sin also commits lawlessness, and sin is lawlessness.

[5]And you know that He was manifested to take away our sins, and in Him there is no sin.

[6]Whoever abides in Him does not sin. Whoever sins has neither seen Him nor known Him.

[7]Little children, let no one deceive you. He who practices righteousness is righteous, just as He is righteous.

[8]He who sins is of the devil, for the devil has sinned from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that He might destroy the works of the devil.

[9]Whoever has been born of God does not sin, for His seed remains in him; and he cannot sin, because he has been born of God.

The Imperative of Love

10In this the children of God and the children of the devil are manifest: Whoever does not practice righteousness is not of God, nor is he who does not love his brother.

11For this is the message that you heard from the beginning, that we should love one another, Murder on the Job

12not as Cain who was of the wicked one and murdered his brother. And why did he murder him? Because his works were evil and his brother's righteous.

13Do not marvel, my brethren, if the world hates you.

14We know that we have passed from death to life, because we love the brethren. He who does not love his brother[c] abides in death.

15Whoever hates his brother is a murderer, and you know that no murderer has eternal life abiding in him.

The Outworking of Love

16By this we know love, because He laid down His life for us. And we also ought to lay down our lives for the brethren.

17But whoever has this world's goods, and sees his brother in need, and shuts up his heart from him, how does the love of God abide in him?

18My little children, let us not love in word or in tongue, but in deed and in truth.

19And by this we know[d] that we are of the truth, and shall assure our hearts before Him.

20For if our heart condemns us, God is greater than our heart, and knows all things.

21Beloved, if our heart does not condemn us, we have confidence toward God.

22And whatever we ask we receive from Him, because we keep His commandments and do those things that are pleasing in His sight.

23And this is His commandment: that we should believe on the name of His Son Jesus Christ and love one another, as He gave us[e] commandment.

The Spirit of Truth and the Spirit of Error

24Now he who keeps His commandments abides in Him, and He in him. And by this we know that He abides in us, by the Spirit whom He has given us.

1 John 4

1 Beloved, do not believe every spirit, but test the spirits, whether they are of God; because many false prophets have gone out into the world. Test the Spirits
2 By this you know the Spirit of God: Every spirit that confesses that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is of God, 3 and every spirit that does not confess that[a] Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is not of God. And this is the spirit of the Antichrist, which you have heard was coming, and is now already in the world.
4 You are of God, little children, and have overcome them, because He who is in you is greater than he who is in the world.
5 They are of the world. Therefore they speak as of the world, and the world hears them.
6 We are of God. He who knows God hears us; he who is not of God does not hear us. By this we know the spirit of truth and the spirit of error.

Knowing God Through Love

7 Beloved, let us love one another, for love is of God; and everyone who loves is born of God and knows God.
8 He who does not love does not know God, for God is love.
9 In this the love of God was manifested toward us, that God has sent His only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through Him.
10 In this is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sins.
11 Beloved, if God so loved us, we also ought to love one another.

Seeing God Through Love

12No one has seen God at any time. If we love one another, God abides in us, and His love has been perfected in us.
13By this we know that we abide in Him, and He in us, because He has given us of His Spirit.
14And we have seen and testify that the Father has sent the Son as Savior of the world.
15Whoever confesses that Jesus is the Son of God, God abides in him, and he in God.
16And we have known and believed the love that God has for us. God is love, and he who abides in love abides in God, and God in him.

The Consummation of Love

17Love has been perfected among us in this: that we may have boldness in the day of judgment; because as He is, so are we in this world.
18There is no fear in love; but perfect love casts out fear, because fear involves torment. But he who fears has not been made perfect in love.
19We love Him[b] because He first loved us.

Obedience by Faith

20If someone says, “I love God,” and hates his brother, he is a liar; for he who does not love his brother whom he has seen, how can[c] he love God whom he has not seen?
21And this commandment we have from Him: that he who loves God must love his brother also.

1 John 5

1 Whoever believes that Jesus is the Christ is born of God, and everyone who loves Him who begot also loves him who is begotten of Him. Apostles of Love 2 By this we know that we love the children of God, when we love God and keep His commandments.
3 For this is the love of God, that we keep His commandments. And His commandments are not burdensome.
4 For whatever is born of God overcomes the world. And this is the victory that has overcome the world—our[a] faith.
5 Who is he who overcomes the world, but he who believes that Jesus is the Son of God?

The Certainty of God's Witness

6 This is He who came by water and blood—Jesus Christ; not only by water, but by water and blood. And it is the Spirit who bears witness, because the Spirit is truth.
7 For there are three that bear witness in heaven: the Father, the Word, and the Holy Spirit; and these three are one.
8 And there are three that bear witness on earth:[b] the Spirit, the water, and the blood; and these three agree as one.
9 If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater; for this is the witness of God which[c] He has testified of His Son.
10 He who believes in the Son of God has the witness in himself; he who does not believe God has made Him a liar, because he has not believed the testimony that God has given of His Son.

11 And this is the testimony: that God has given us eternal life, and this life is in His Son.
12 He who has the Son has life; he who does not have the Son of God does not have life.
13 These things I have written to you who believe in the name of the Son of God, that you may know that you have eternal life,[d] and that you may continue to believe in the name of the Son of God.

Confidence and Compassion in Prayer

14 Now this is the confidence that we have in Him, that if we ask anything according to His will, He hears us.
15 And if we know that He hears us, whatever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we have asked of Him.
16 If anyone sees his brother sinning a sin which does not lead to death, he will ask, and He will give him life for those who commit sin not leading to death. There is sin leading to death. I do not say that he should pray about that.
17 All unrighteousness is sin, and there is sin not leading to death.

Knowing the True—Rejecting the False

18 We know that whoever is born of God does not sin; but he who has been born of God keeps himself,[e] and the wicked one does not touch him.
19 We know that we are of God, and the whole world lies under the sway of the wicked one.
20 And we know that the Son of God has come and has given us an understanding, that we may know Him who is true; and we are in Him who is true, in His Son Jesus Christ. This is the true God and eternal life.
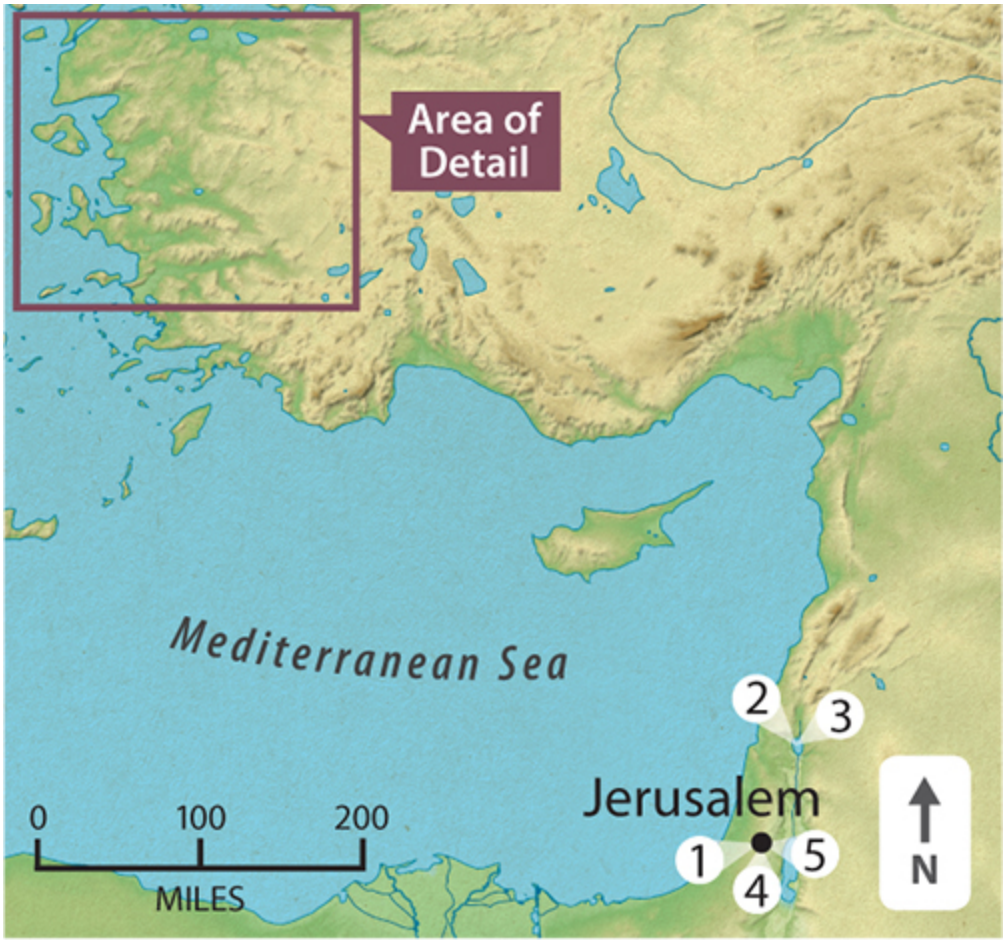
21 Little children, keep yourselves from idols. Amen.

Mapping the Life of John

1 John 1:1



1. John and his brother James apparently meet Jesus through the preaching of John the Baptist (John 1:35–37).
2. John leaves his fishing nets on the Sea of Galilee to follow Jesus (Matt. 4:21, 22). He and his brother James are called "Sons of Thunder" (Mark 3:17).
3. The disciple travels with Jesus during His public ministry, hears His teachings, sees His miracles, and witnesses His transfiguration (Matt. 17:1–9).
4. John remains with Jesus during the final week of His life. He is present for the events of the Triumphal Entry, rejection, Last Supper, Garden of Gethsemane, trial, and Crucifixion, where he and Mary are instructed by Jesus to love each other as mother and son (John 19:25–27).
5. The apostle works with Simon Peter as a leader of the early church at Jerusalem (Acts 3–4); he is not heard from in Acts after the death of his brother James (12:1, 2).
6. John is banished for a time to the island of Patmos, where he writes the Book of Revelation (Rev. 1:9).
7. According to tradition, John spends most of his later years in Ephesus, where he probably writes the Gospel of John and his New Testament letters.

Authentic Witness
1 John 1:1–10

John said he was bearing "witness" (1 John 1:2), a word that many people associate with pushy evangelists. But speaking as someone who saw Jesus up close, John lauds some basic elements of authentically communicating Christ to others:

- We know and experience Christ directly (1:1–4).
- We pass along what we have learned from Christ (1:5).
- We act on our faith at all times, avoiding anything that contradicts our message (1:6, 7).
- We own up to our shortcomings, not deceiving ourselves or God about our true state (1:8–10).

Truthfulness, clarity, consistency, and honesty should mark us as Christ's followers. All of these things matter to people evaluating the faith, and we can offer nothing less.

Either/Or Faith
1 John 1:5

John often writes in either/or terms. Unlike the moral relativism that defines the modern world, John sees spiritual issues in black and white, leaving no room for gray areas. Watch for these strong contrasts in 1 John:

Either . . .	Or . . .	Texts
Light	Darkness	1:5–7; 2:9–11
Truth	Deception	1:8–10
Keeping God's commandments	Not keeping God's commandments	2:3–6

Obedience Leads to Freedom
1 John 2:3–6

We inhabit a broken world of sinners. We need moral safeguards to protect human rights, enforce commitments, define relationships, ensure privacy, and respect the sanctity of life. We can be thankful that God stepped in to define moral absolutes, because we faulty human beings cannot be trusted to define goodness or justice. Without God's rules and standards as boundaries, we would experience not freedom but chaos.

God intended for humans to exercise authority over all creation (Gen. 1:26–31), but sin and rebellion has made us incapable of carrying out that responsibility (3:22–24; Rom. 1:18–32). Fortunately, Christ opened the way for us to reestablish our relationship with God and once again take up the responsibilities for which He designed us. Christ . . .

- provides for the forgiveness of our sins (John 3:16–19),
- renews all of life (2 Cor. 5:16–21),
- empowers us to do rightly (Acts 1:6–8), and
- guides our conduct (1 John 2:7–17).

Parents interpret obedience from their children as a sign of loyalty and trust. God similarly expects His children to follow His commandments. When we obey God and imitate Him, we demonstrate that we belong to Him. And following His commands brings true liberty. As His obedient children we can experience fulfillment, effectiveness, and joy as we look forward to the promise of eternal life (2:17).

Murder on the Job
1 John 3:11–13

Lazy workers often resent conscientious workers. People who steal from their employers dislike honest officemates. The person who cuts corners feels awkward around others who give an honest day's work. Why? Because seeing the light of integrity in someone else makes them painfully aware of their own moral darkness.

John's reference to Cain is sobering. Resentment made him kill his brother Abel (Gen. 4:3–8; Heb. 11:4). When an employee with a bad attitude and poor work ethic resents a coworker whose performance makes him look bad, he may "murder" his nemesis in his mind and try to damage his reputation. We should be on alert against our own dislike of people who outperform us. If we find ourselves mentally emulating Cain, we are on the wrong side of the equation.

More: One group of workers so resented a coworker's integrity that they rigged political policy to kill him. See "Integrity Incites Jealousy, and Respect" at Dan. 6:1–5.

Test the Spirits

1 John 4:1

Love does not require us to unquestioningly accept ideas or values. God never commands us to shut off our minds in matters of faith. While John repeatedly appeals for love (1 John 2:10; 3:3, 10–24; 4:7–12, 16–21), he also prizes truth—the absolute and eternal truth of God's Word.

John challenges us to "test the spirits" (4:1) to discern between truth and falsehood (4:6). He tells us to avoid sin, which requires us to tell good and evil apart (2:1; 3:4–10). He instructs us to distinguish between worldly things and God's will (2:15–17). And he teaches us to identify liars and shun them (2:18–29; 3:7).

Paul likewise wants us to be tough-minded about faith. To be spiritual means to be able to "judge" ("discern" or "test") all things (1 Cor. 2:15). We are to have the mind of Christ: tough in discernment, loving toward all, and fearless in the face of judgment (Phil. 2:5–11, 17, 18).

The ultimate acid test of truth is God's Word. When we regular engage in the study of Scripture, we are better equipped to discern between right and wrong.

Apostles of Love
1 John 5:1–3

John has been called the apostle of love, and 1 John offers plenty of evidence for that epithet. For example, John writes that we can be sure that we are born of God because we love Him and keep His commandments. But John invests much more meaning in the word love than we often do. In fact, all of Scripture defines love against the standard of God's love. His love is . . .

- Lasting (Ps. 136; Rom. 8:28–39; 1 Cor. 13:8).
- Sacrificial (John 15:12, 13; Rom. 5:8; 2 Cor. 5:14, 15; Gal. 2:20; 1 John 3:16, 17).
- Healing and reconciling (Matt. 5:38–48; Luke 6:27–31; 2 Cor. 5:17–19).
- Shared between Father, Son, and Holy Spirit (Matt. 11:27–30; John 14:31).
- More than emotion; it is effective and action-oriented (1 John 3:18, 19; 4:21; 5:1–3).
- Fearless (Rom. 1:16; 1 John 4:18).
- Discerning (1 Tim. 1:3–7; 1 John 2:15–17; 4:1–7).
- Accepting (Luke 15:11–32; 18:10–17; John 3:16, 17; Rom. 8:1).
- Generous (Luke 10:25–37; Rom. 5:8, 15–17; 6:23; 1 Cor. 2:9; 1 Pet. 3:8, 9).

The best summary of godly love appears in 1 Corinthians 13, the Love Chapter, in which Paul describes God's love as it should be lived out among the Christians at Corinth. The finest one-verse expression of God's love is John 3:16, where we learn that it was love that drove God to offer His only begotten Son as an atoning sacrifice for the world's sins.

As we study the qualities of God's true love, we become aware of areas where our own love needs to develop. This growth starts when we comprehend the dimensions of God's love for us (Rom. 8:35–39; Eph. 3:14–19). Fully experiencing His unstoppable, perfect love enables us to ignite our own hearts and actions with Christlike love, transforming ourselves into modern-day apostles of love. John said it well: “We love Him because He first loved us” (1 John 4:19).

When a culture doesn't know what to believe, it sometimes believes in everything. All ideas, opinions, and creeds are held to be equally valid, equally true—and therefore equally meaningless. As people sift through a sea of superficial beliefs, they are hard-pressed to distinguish fact from fiction.

Second John encourages Christians to test ideas and spiritual claims against the essential test of Christology: What do they say about Jesus? At the time of John's writing, the early Christian community was overrun with deceivers who were attempting to infiltrate the church with their teaching that Jesus was nothing more than a spirit. Claiming that anything physical was evil, they declared that Christ could not have inhabited a real body. Unless Jesus came in the flesh, however, He could not have died for our sins. Because Christians were welcoming these false teachers into their homes, John warned his well-intentioned readers to shut the door on this deception.

The brevity of 2 John causes many Bible readers to overlook this book, yet its message is crucial. In the pluralistic culture of the modern world, John's warnings remain extremely relevant. Along with 1 and 3 John, tradition attributes this book to the apostle John. It was probably written toward the end of the first century A.D.

Key Verses in 2 John

- "I rejoiced greatly that I have found some of your children walking in truth" (2 John 4).

- “Many deceivers have gone out into the world who do not confess Jesus Christ as coming in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist” (2 John 7).

2 John 1

Greeting the Elect Lady

1 The Elder,

To the elect lady and her children, whom I love in truth, and not only I, but also all those who have known the truth, The Elect Lady

2 because of the truth which abides in us and will be with us forever:

3 Grace, mercy, and peace will be with you[a] from God the Father and from the Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of the Father, in truth and love.

Walk in Christ's Commandments

4 I rejoiced greatly that I have found some of your children walking in truth, as we received commandment from the Father.

5 And now I plead with you, lady, not as though I wrote a new commandment to you, but that which we have had from the beginning: that we love one another.

6 This is love, that we walk according to His commandments. This is the commandment, that as you have heard from the beginning, you should walk in it.

Beware of Antichrist Deceivers

7 For many deceivers have gone out into the world who do not confess Jesus Christ as coming in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist. Hospitality and Discernment

8 Look to yourselves, that we[b] do not lose those things we worked for, but that we[c] may receive a full reward.

9 Whoever transgresses[d] and does not abide in the doctrine of Christ does not have God. He who abides in the doctrine of Christ has both the Father and the Son.
10 If anyone comes to you and does not bring this doctrine, do not receive him into your house nor greet him; 11 for he who greets him shares in his evil deeds.

John's Farewell Greeting

12 Having many things to write to you, I did not wish to do so with paper and ink; but I hope to come to you and speak face to face, that our joy may be full.
13 The children of your elect sister greet you. Amen.

The Elect Lady
2 John 1

The identity of the "elect lady" is unknown. Some believe that she was an individual woman, and that John hid her identity to shield her from persecution. Others think that the term is symbolic, referring to a group of Christians, perhaps the church at Ephesus. If John was indeed writing to a specific woman, she must have been a wise and loving mother (2 John 4–6). He warned her not to welcome those who spread false teaching (vv. 9, 10). His closing remarks also hint that the "elect lady" and John shared a close friendship (vv. 12, 13). Whatever her identity, John's description of her reveals a person or group whose faith in Christ impacted everyone within reach.

More: Most first-century cultures isolated and discriminated against women, but Christ invited women to follow Him. See "The Women Around Jesus" at John 19:25. Women also had key roles in the early church. See "Women and the Growth of Christianity" at Phil. 4:3.

Hospitality and Discernment
2 John 7–11

The recipient of 1 John was hospitable—a Christlike virtue that reflected the practical love John lifted up in his first letter (1 John 3:16–21). But John now wanted to help this woman (or group; see "The Elect Lady" at 2 John 1) to become more discerning and to refuse to lend the reputation of her household to teachers who distorted the truth about Christ (vv. 7, 11).

Not all who call on Christ's name are authentic followers, so we too must learn discernment if we intend to remain loyal to truth.

Knowing what the Bible teaches allows us to detect error. And abiding in Christ's love shows us how to demonstrate a firm yet kind demeanor when raising concerns about major issues of faith and truth.

b 8 NU-Text reads you.
c 8 NU-Text reads you.

The readers of 3 John may have taken the warnings of 2 John a little too far. Not only were they shutting the door on false teachers but some had refused to welcome honest messengers as well.

The ringleader of this rebellion was a man named Diotrephes, "who loves to have . . . preeminence" (3 John 9). Diotrephes apparently felt no loyalty toward the apostles or their doctrine. He had become self-absorbed and opposed to the church's leaders. In fact, it seems that he had become a bully, forbidding other members of the congregation to disagree with him and expelling them when they did.

John responds to this problem by setting descriptions of the faithful and hospitable Gaius and the domineering Diotrephes side by side, instructing his readers to "imitate . . . what is good" (v. 11). He must have felt confident that enough of the community remained perceptive enough to make the right decision.

This brief letter shows that it takes effort to stand up for the truth and put it into practice. Like 1 and 2 John, this letter was likely composed late in the first century A.D. Tradition attributes it to the apostle John.

Key Verses in 3 John

- "Beloved, do not imitate what is evil, but what is good. He who does good is of God, but he who does evil has not seen God" (3 John 11).
- "I had many things to write, but I do not wish to write to you with pen and ink; but I hope to see you shortly, and we shall speak face to face” (3 John 13, 14).

3 John 1

Greeting to Gaius

1 The Elder,

To the beloved Gaius, whom I love in truth:

Contrasts of Faith

2 Beloved, I pray that you may prosper in all things and be in health, just as your soul prospers. Praying for Prosperity

3 For I rejoiced greatly when brethren came and testified of the truth that is in you, just as you walk in the truth.
4 I have no greater joy than to hear that my children walk in truth.[a]

Gaius Commended for Generosity

5 Beloved, you do faithfully whatever you do for the brethren and[b] for strangers,
6 who have borne witness of your love before the church. If you send them forward on their journey in a manner worthy of God, you will do well,
7 because they went forth for His name's sake, taking nothing from the Gentiles.
8 We therefore ought to receive[c] such, that we may become fellow workers for the truth.

Diotrephes and Demetrius

9 I wrote to the church, but Diotrephes, who loves to have the preeminence among them, does not receive us.
10 Therefore, if I come, I will call to mind his deeds which he does, prating against us with malicious words. And not content with that, he himself does not receive the brethren, and forbids those who wish to, putting them out of the church.

11 Beloved, do not imitate what is evil, but what is good. He who does good is of God, but[d] he who does evil has not seen God.

12 Demetrius has a good testimony from all, and from the truth itself. And we also bear witness, and you know that our testimony is true.

Farewell Greeting

13 I had many things to write, but I do not wish to write to you with pen and ink;

14 but I hope to see you shortly, and we shall speak face to face. Peace to you. Our friends greet you. Greet the friends by name.

Contrasts of Faith

3 John 1–11

John's contrast between Gaius and Diotrephes offers a helpful summary of what Christ desires from His followers. Note the patterns of each:

Gaius . . .

- Focused on things that contributed to a godly spiritual life (3 John 2).
- Was respected by other Christians for his life and activities (v. 3).
- Made truth the core of his communication (vv. 3, 4).
- Extended hospitality to fellow Christians and others (vv. 5, 6).
- Showed generosity to traveling Christian teachers, freeing them from dependence on outside sources (v. 7).
- Shunned fame and power, unlike some others in his community (v. 9).

Diotrephes . . .

- Loved the spotlight (v. 9).
- Craved power (v. 9).
- Rejected John's communication (v. 9).
- Injured John's reputation with malicious information (v. 10).
- Refused to welcome other Christians (v. 10).
- Hindered others in the congregation from showing hospitality (v. 10).
- Expelled members who disagreed with his unkind attitude (v. 10).

The true test of our integrity is whether our actions befit a follower of Christ. Who do we resemble more—Gaius or Diotrephes? Does our behavior benefit others and honor Christ?

Praying for Prosperity
3 John 2

Some take John's greeting to mean that we can count on God to enrich us physically and financially. But we should note these crucial facts:

- John prays for Gaius's prosperity. Gaius does not speak this prayer for himself.
- John's words are part of a formal greeting or blessing, not something that would imply an obligation from God.
- The Greek word translated here as prosper means "to travel well on a journey," a fitting image for a Christian blessing. But this "traveling well" is not something we can earn but rather a gift that comes our way. It suggests a sense of wholeness like the Old Testament concept of shalom, a quality of life that one enjoys when following God's precepts.
- John's main concern was that Gaius would walk in the truth (3 John 3, 4), not that he would become a model of health and wealth.

More: Paul says that people who teach that God rewards godliness with material blessing are "destitute of the truth" (1 Tim. 6:5). See "Giving to Get" at 1 Tim. 6:3–6.

The Book of Jude is the New Testament's exposé of false teachers in the body of Christ. Using vivid metaphors of nature in turmoil and a rogue's gallery of deceivers from the Old Testament, the author documents a history of subversive forces that threatened to destroy Israel and were now a menace to the early church.

"Certain men have crept in unnoticed," Jude warns, " . . . ungodly men, who turn the grace of our God into lewdness and deny the only Lord God and our Lord Jesus Christ" (Jude 4).

Jude does not give specific advice for how we should get rid of false teachers. He merely urges us to guard ourselves by building ourselves up in the faith (vv. 20, 21). The best protection against deception is a thorough grasp of God's revealed truth.

Jude is an English form of Judas, a name made infamous by Judas Iscariot, who is never mentioned in the New Testament without a reminder that it was he who betrayed Jesus (Matt. 10:4; Mark 3:19; John 12:4). In contrast to Judas Iscariot, the author of Jude was a devoted defender of Christ and the faith. The letter reveals little about the man except that he called himself "a bondservant of Jesus Christ and brother of James" (Jude 1). If he was referring to James the apostle and brother of Jesus (Matt. 13:55; Gal. 1:19), then Jude must also have been Jesus' brother.

Whoever this man was, he was familiar with the Old Testament as well as with apocryphal books that dated from the intertestamental period. Written during an era of political turmoil for the Jewish people—from about 200 B.C. to about A.D. 100—these books are of dubious origin and were therefore excluded from the Hebrew Old Testament canon. Even so, they were popular at the time of Christ. Jesus and Jude likely read them in their youth. In fact, Jude might have employed some of these writings in composing his letter. Jude 14 may refer to a passage from the apocryphal Book of Enoch.

Jude's thunderous letter has the feeling of an essay or sermon written for a general Christian audience (Jude 1). It cannot be dated with precision, but it was probably written in the second half of the first century, possibly after the fall of Jerusalem to the Romans in A.D. 70.

Key Verses in Jude

- "Certain men have crept in unnoticed, who long ago were marked out for this condemnation, ungodly men, who turn the grace of our God into lewdness and deny the only Lord God and our Lord Jesus Christ" (Jude 4).
- "They are clouds without water, carried about by the winds; late autumn trees without fruit, twice dead, pulled up by the roots; raging waves of the sea, foaming up their own shame; wandering stars for whom is reserved the blackness of a darkness forever" (Jude 12, 13).
- "But you, beloved, building yourselves up on your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Spirit, keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life" (Jude 20, 21).

Jude 1

Greeting to the Called

1 Jude, a bondservant of Jesus Christ, and brother of James,
To those who are called, sanctified[a] by God the Father, and preserved in Jesus Christ:

2 Mercy, peace, and love be multiplied to you.

Contend for the Faith

3 Beloved, while I was very diligent to write to you concerning our common salvation, I found it necessary to write to you exhorting you to contend earnestly for the faith which was once for all delivered to the saints. Contending for the Faith

4 For certain men have crept in unnoticed, who long ago were marked out for this condemnation, ungodly men, who turn the grace of our God into lewdness and deny the only Lord God[b] and our Lord Jesus Christ.

Old and New Apostates

5 But I want to remind you, though you once knew this, that the Lord, having saved the people out of the land of Egypt, afterward destroyed those who did not believe.

6 And the angels who did not keep their proper domain, but left their own abode, He has reserved in everlasting chains under darkness for the judgment of the great day;

7 as Sodom and Gomorrah, and the cities around them in a similar manner to these, having given themselves over to sexual immorality and gone after strange flesh, are set forth as an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire.

8 Likewise also these dreamers defile the flesh, reject authority, and speak evil of dignitaries. Live by the Truth 9 Yet Michael the archangel, in contending with the devil, when he disputed about the body of Moses, dared not bring against him a reviling accusation, but said, “The Lord rebuke you!”
10 But these speak evil of whatever they do not know; and whatever they know naturally, like brute beasts, in these things they corrupt themselves.
11 Woe to them! For they have gone in the way of Cain, have run greedily in the error of Balaam for profit, and perished in the rebellion of Korah.

Apostates Depraved and Doomed

12 These are spots in your love feasts, while they feast with you without fear, serving only themselves. They are clouds without water, carried about[c] by the winds; late autumn trees without fruit, twice dead, pulled up by the roots;
13 raging waves of the sea, foaming up their own shame; wandering stars for whom is reserved the blackness of darkness forever.
14 Now Enoch, the seventh from Adam, prophesied about these men also, saying, “Behold, the Lord comes with ten thousands of His saints, 15 “to execute judgment on all, to convict all who are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have committed in an ungodly way, and of all the harsh things which ungodly sinners have spoken against Him.”

Apostates Predicted

16 These are grumblers, complainers, walking according to their own lusts; and they mouth great swelling words, flattering people to gain advantage.

17 But you, beloved, remember the words which were spoken before by the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ: 18 how they told you that there would be mockers in the last time who would walk according to their own ungodly lusts.
19 These are sensual persons, who cause divisions, not having the Spirit.

Maintain Your Life with God

20 But you, beloved, building yourselves up on your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Spirit, 21 keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life.
22 And on some have compassion, making a distinction;[d]
23 but others save with fear, pulling them out of the fire,[e] hating even the garment defiled by the flesh.

Glory to God

24 Now to Him who is able to keep you[f] from stumbling,
And to present you faultless Before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy,
25 To God our Savior,[g]
Who alone is wise,[h]
Be glory and majesty,
Dominion and power,[i]
Both now and forever.
Amen.

Contending for the Faith
Jude 3

Some scholars believe that Jude's description of faith as having been "once for all delivered to the saints" suggests a formal and even codified body of beliefs and practices. But that body was under attack, so Jude urged believers to "contend earnestly for the faith."

The most important battle that early Christians faced was not with the Jewish Council, the Roman government, or the plethora of esoteric philosophies and mystery religions that pervaded the ancient world. The true danger came from within—from people who claimed to follow Jesus but twisted the truth into blasphemy. Curiously, Jude doesn't name any names, except from the Old Testament: sinful Israel (Jude 5; Num. 14:22, 23), rebellious angels (Jude 6), Sodom and Gomorrah (v. 7; Gen. 19:24, 25), Cain (Jude 11; Gen. 4:3–8), Balaam (Jude 11; Num. 22–24), and Korah (Jude 11; Num. 16:19–35).

Jude's readers—probably Jewish Christians—understood these references as powerful symbols of subversion and rebellion against God. Jude warned his readers that, like those who caused the ancient Hebrews so much evil, mockers and false teachers were infiltrating the church with poisonous lies.

Yet why did the author not call out specific blasphemers of his own day? Perhaps the point was to encourage his readers to develop their own discretion so that they could defend themselves. Or perhaps he was protecting his readers from retaliation.

At any rate, it is significant that Jude's oblique references recall Judas Iscariot: the danger is inside the camp, Jude warned, but you don't always know who it is. Like the disciples at the Last Supper, Jude's readers would look around and ask, in effect, "Which of us is it?" (Matt. 26:20–22; John 13:25).

In the two thousand years since this letter was composed, Christians have always needed to be on their guard against deceivers who lead people astray. This book reminds us that faith is no game. The ancient rebels mentioned in Jude came to gruesome ends, and so will the false teachers of today.

Live by the Truth
Jude 8–16

Suggesting that someone is wrong can be highly offensive. Even worse is asserting the existence of such a thing as absolute truth. And though it's trendy to say everything is equally true, that contradicts logic—at least if we can agree with Webster that truth is "the state of being the case: fact" or "the body of real things, events, or facts: actuality."

Jesus claimed to be the truth, not just a truth (John 14:6). He also often explicitly stated that He was telling His listeners the truth (for example, Matt. 5:18, 26; Mark 10:15, 29; Luke 21:3, 32; John 3:3–11; 16:7–23). But as the Book of Jude demonstrates, not all who begin to follow God's truth make it to the end:

- When Israel fled Egypt, some disbelieved and died (Jude 5; Num. 14:26–45).
- Some angels turned from God and were banished from their positions (Jude 6; Matt. 25:41; 2 Pet. 2:4).
- Sodom and Gomorrah serve as evidence that sin invites destruction (Jude 7; Gen. 13:10–19:28).
- Cain chose selfishness, greed, hatred, and murder (Jude 11; Gen. 4:3–8).
- Balaam gave in to error and became confused about truth (Jude 11; Num. 22–24; 2 Pet. 2:15, 16).
- Korah mistakenly opposed God's chosen leaders and paid for it dearly (Jude 11; Num. 16).

We are not to be arrogant that we possess the truth, but we can behave arrogantly if we're not careful. Our loyalty to the facts is not so much a challenge as an invitation. Asking questions can arouse curiosity in those who offer anything less than the truth (Jude 17–23). We don't need to call attention to every minor inaccuracy, but we cannot overlook major errors for the sake of peace. We must mercifully communicate God's truth (v. 22), for all will perish without it (v. 23). And we must live the truth; otherwise our words are little more than a clanging symbol (1 Cor. 13:1).

Originally known as the Apocalypse, which means the "unveiling" or "disclosure" of things known only to God, the Book of Revelation pulls back the curtain on how the world will end. It is a dramatic tale clothed in highly symbolic language, but the crux of the story is easily grasped: Christ will destroy evil and welcome His followers to their heavenly home. He will emerge as the Lord of history. The world will change—there will be death and destruction, birth and creation—but through it all, Jesus remains "the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End . . . who is and who was and who is to come, the Almighty" (Rev. 1:8).

Revelation endures as the Bible's most debated book. Throughout history people have offered countless interpretations in an attempt to explain its underlying meaning. Some regard it as allegory, often linking its images and events to world history or current events. Others think that many of its predictions were fulfilled long ago. Still others take it as more formulaic, expecting a future that matches this book moment by moment, word for word.

No matter what ultimate conclusions we may draw, anyone who opens this book should understand that it is written in a particular genre—that of apocalyptic literature. Like other books in this genre, it seeks to reveal divine mysteries otherwise hidden. Yet in conveying its message, it communicates in figurative rather than literal terms (see "Apocalyptic Literature" at Rev. 10:1–10). Revelation is the only New Testament example of apocalyptic writing, but other examples appear in the Old Testament at Daniel 7–12, Isaiah 24–27, Ezekiel 37–41, and Zechariah 9–12.

We may well wonder why such writings, meant to reveal hidden realities, remain so difficult to understand. Wouldn't it be easier to speak plainly rather than couch one's message in intricate symbolism? One answer to this question may lie in the fact that apocalyptic literature tends to proliferate during eras of great danger. A writer may find it necessary for his safety to cloak his meaning in images that his intended readers will understand but his opponents—and, unfortunately, many non-contemporary readers—will not.

The visions of Revelation, for example, may have been recorded during the reign of Emperor Domitian (A.D. 81–96), the first Roman emperor to demand that the entire empire honor him as "Lord and God." Exiled to the island of Patmos under Domitian, the author of Revelation may have sought to warn first-century Christians not to give in to the emperor's demand (compare 22:8, 9). The images of "Babylon the great, the mother of harlots" and of a seven-headed beast that lives on seven mountains (17:1–11) are often interpreted as veiled references to Rome (the city was situated on seven hills; see the map at the introduction to Romans).

Another reason for the mystical nature of apocalyptic literature may have to do with its attempt to convey heavenly realities in earthly terms. We have no words for that which we've not yet experienced. In Revelation, the author seems to run out of words as he tries to describe the indescribable. Metaphors, similes, and symbols are often used to express what he has seen, heard, and experienced (Rev. 1:13–16; 4:1, 3, 6–7), perhaps because these methods of communication felt more accurate to the original concepts and events. Or perhaps they felt more expressive of the truth, similar to a parable. Regardless, it is likely that these images are only approximations of the realities that lie beyond human words.

Nonetheless, interpreting this book requires that we accept it as real rather than fantasy. Revelation is a vision that takes us beyond everyday experience, but that does not make it imaginary. We can trust that Jesus appeared to John, just as the writer says He does (1:1). We can enter into the world of the churches to which letters are addressed in chapters 2–3 (see "The Seven Churches of Revelation" at Rev. 3:1). We can study the patterns that emerge in its pages. Most importantly, we cannot neglect the book's obvious outcome. God triumphs over every adversary—Satan, sin, evil, and death. History is fulfilled in Christ. His kingdom is victorious, His eternal reign established, and His people enter a joyful eternity.

Writing in the first person singular, the author of Revelation repeatedly identifies himself as John, a brother and companion of his readers (Rev. 1:4, 9; 21:2; 22:8). Early church tradition generally supports the view that this John was John the apostle of Jesus and the writer of the Gospel of John and 1, 2, and 3 John. The book was likely composed during the reign of Emperor Domitian (A.D. 81–96) during John's exile on Patmos.

Key Verses in Revelation

- "I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End" (Rev. 1:8; 21:6; 22:13).
- "Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, who was and is and is to come!" (Rev. 4:8).
- "You are worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honor and power; for You created all things, and by Your will they exist and were created" (Rev. 4:11).
- "Worthy is the Lamb who was slain to receive power and riches and wisdom, and strength and honor and glory and blessing!" (Rev. 5:12).

- "So I looked, and behold, a pale horse. And the name of him who sat on it was Death" (Rev. 6:8).
- "Let him who has understanding calculate the number of the beast, for it is the number of a man: His number is 666" (Rev. 13:18).
- "They gathered them together to the place called in Hebrew, Armageddon" (Rev. 16:16).
- "He has on His robe and on His thigh a name written: KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS" (Rev. 19:16).
- "I saw the dead, small and great, standing before God, and books were opened. And another book was opened, which is the Book of Life. And the dead were judged according to their works, by the things which were written in the books" (Rev. 20:12).
- "Now I saw a new heaven and a new earth" (Rev. 21:1).
- "God will wipe away every tear from their eyes; there shall be no more death, nor sorrow, nor crying. There shall be no more pain, for the former things have passed away" (Rev. 21:4).
- "Behold, I make all things new" (Rev. 21:5).
- "If anyone adds to these things, God will add to him the plagues that are written in this book; and if anyone takes away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part from the Book of Life" (Rev. 22:18, 19).

Revelation 1

Introduction and Benediction

1 The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave Him to show His servants—things which must shortly take place.
And He sent and signified it by His angel to His servant
John,
2 who bore witness to the word of God, and to the testimony of Jesus Christ, to all things that he saw.
3 Blessed is he who reads and those who hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things which are written in it; for the time is near.

Greeting the Seven Churches

4 John, to the seven churches which are in Asia:

> Grace to you and peace from Him who is and > who was and who is to come, and from the > seven Spirits who are before His throne,

5 and from Jesus Christ, the faithful witness, the firstborn from the dead, and the ruler over the kings of the earth. To Him who loved us and washed[a] us from our sins in His own blood,
6 and has made us kings[b] and priests to His God and Father, to Him be glory and dominion forever and ever.
Amen.
7 Behold, He is coming with clouds, and every eye will see Him, even they who pierced Him. And all the tribes of the earth will mourn because of Him. Even so, Amen.
8 "I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End,"[c] says the Lord,[d] "who is and who was and who is to come, the Almighty."

Vision of the Son of Man

9I, John, both[e] your brother and companion in the tribulation and kingdom and patience of Jesus Christ, was on the island that is called Patmos for the word of God and for the testimony of Jesus Christ.
10I was in the Spirit on the Lord's Day, and I heard behind me a loud voice, as of a trumpet, 11saying, "I am the Alpha and the Omega, the First and the Last," and,[f] "What you see, write in a book and send it to the seven churches which are in Asia:[g] to Ephesus, to Smyrna, to Pergamos, to Thyatira, to Sardis, to Philadelphia, and to Laodicea." 12Then I turned to see the voice that spoke with me. And having turned I saw seven golden lampstands, 13and in the midst of the seven lampstands One like the Son of Man, clothed with a garment down to the feet and girded about the chest with a golden band.
14His head and hair were white like wool, as white as snow, and His eyes like a flame of fire; 15His feet were like fine brass, as if refined in a furnace, and His voice as the sound of many waters; 16He had in His right hand seven stars, out of His mouth went a sharp two-edged sword, and His countenance was like the sun shining in its strength.
17And when I saw Him, I fell at His feet as dead. But He laid His right hand on me, saying to me,[h] "Do not be afraid;
I am the First and the Last.
18"I am He who lives, and was dead, and behold, I am alive forevermore. Amen. And I have the keys of Hades and of Death.
19"Write[i] the things which you have seen, and the things which are, and the things which will take place after this.
20"The mystery of the seven stars which you saw in My right hand, and the seven golden lampstands: The seven stars are the angels of the seven churches, and the seven lampstands which you saw[j] are the seven churches. The Church at the End of the First Century

Revelation 2

The Loveless Church

1 “To the angel of the church of Ephesus write,
‘These things says He who holds the seven stars in His right hand, who walks in the midst of the seven golden lampstands: Ephesus: A Church in Action
2 “I know your works, your labor, your patience, and that you cannot bear those who are evil. And you have tested those who say they are apostles and are not, and have found them liars;
3 “and you have persevered and have patience, and have labored for My name’s sake and have not become weary.
4 “Nevertheless I have this against you, that you have left your first love.
5 “Remember therefore from where you have fallen; repent and do the first works, or else I will come to you quickly and remove your lampstand from its place—unless you repent.
6 “But this you have, that you hate the deeds of the Nicolaitans, which I also hate.
7 “He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. To him who overcomes I will give to eat from the tree of life, which is in the midst of the Paradise of God.” ’

The Persecuted Church

8 “And to the angel of the church in Smyrna write,
‘These things says the First and the Last, who was dead, and came to life:
9 “I know your works, tribulation, and poverty (but you are rich); and I know the blasphemy of those who say they are Jews and are not, but are a synagogue of Satan.

10 “Do not fear any of those things which you are about to suffer. Indeed, the devil is about to throw some of you into prison, that you may be tested, and you will have tribulation ten days. Be faithful until death, and I will give you the crown of life.
11 “He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. He who overcomes shall not be hurt by the second death.” ’

The Compromising Church

12 “And to the angel of the church in Pergamos write, ‘These things says He who has the sharp two-edged sword:
13 “I know your works, and where you dwell, where Satan’s throne is. And you hold fast to My name, and did not deny My faith even in the days in which Antipas was My faithful martyr, who was killed among you, where Satan dwells.
14 “But I have a few things against you, because you have there those who hold the doctrine of Balaam, who taught Balak to put a stumbling block before the children of Israel, to eat things sacrificed to idols, and to commit sexual immorality.
15 “Thus you also have those who hold the doctrine of the Nicolaitans, which thing I hate.[a] 16 “Repent, or else I will come to you quickly and will fight against them with the sword of My mouth.
17 “He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. To him who overcomes I will give some of the hidden manna to eat. And I will give him a white stone, and on the stone a new name written which no one knows except him who receives it.” ’

The Corrupt Church

18 "And to the angel of the church in Thyatira write,

'These things says the Son of God, who has eyes like a flame of fire, and His feet like fine brass:

19 "I know your works, love, service, faith,[b] and your patience; and as for your works, the last are more than the first.

20 "Nevertheless I have a few things against you, because you allow[c] that woman[d] Jezebel, who calls herself a prophetess, to teach and seduce[e] My servants to commit sexual immorality and eat things sacrificed to idols. That Woman Jezebel

21 "And I gave her time to repent of her sexual immorality, and she did not repent.[f]

22 "Indeed I will cast her into a sickbed, and those who commit adultery with her into great tribulation, unless they repent of their[g] deeds.

23 "I will kill her children with death, and all the churches shall know that I am He who searches the minds and hearts. And I will give to each one of you according to your works.

24 "Now to you I say, and[h] to the rest in Thyatira, as many as do not have this doctrine, who have not known the depths of Satan, as they say, I will[i] put on you no other burden.

25 "But hold fast what you have till I come.

26 "And he who overcomes, and keeps My works until the end, to him I will give power over the nations—

27 'He shall rule them with a rod of iron;
They shall be dashed to pieces like the potter's vessels'[j]— as I also have received from My Father;

28 “and I will give him the morning star.
29 “He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.” ’

Revelation 3

The Dead Church

1 “And to the angel of the church in Sardis write, ‘These things says He who has the seven Spirits of God and the seven stars: “I know your works, that you have a name that you are alive, but you are dead. The Seven Churches of Revelation 2 “Be watchful, and strengthen the things which remain, that are ready to die, for I have not found your works perfect before God.[a] 3 “Remember therefore how you have received and heard; hold fast and repent. Therefore if you will not watch, I will come upon you as a thief, and you will not know what hour
I will come upon you.
4 “You[b] have a few names even in Sardis who have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with Me in white, for they are worthy.
5 “He who overcomes shall be clothed in white garments, and I will not blot out his name from the Book of Life; but I will confess his name before My Father and before His angels.
6 “He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.” ’

The Faithful Church

7 “And to the angel of the church in Philadelphia write,
‘These things says He who is holy, He who is true, “He who has the key of David, He who opens and no one shuts, and shuts and no one opens”:[c]
8 “I know your works. See, I have set before you an open door, and no one can shut it;[d] for you have a little strength, have kept My word, and have not denied My name.

9 “Indeed I will make those of the synagogue of Satan, who say they are Jews and are not, but lie—indeed I will make them come and worship before your feet, and to know that I have loved you.
10 “Because you have kept My command to persevere, I also will keep you from the hour of trial which shall come upon the whole world, to test those who dwell on the earth.
11 “Behold,[e] I am coming quickly! Hold fast what you have, that no one may take your crown.
12 “He who overcomes, I will make him a pillar in the temple of My God, and he shall go out no more. I will write on him the name of My God and the name of the city of My God, the New Jerusalem, which comes down out of heaven from My God. And I will write on him My new name.
13 “He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.” ’

The Lukewarm Church

14 “And to the angel of the church of the Laodiceans[f] write,
‘These things says the Amen, the Faithful and True
Witness, the Beginning of the creation of God: 15 “I know your works, that you are neither cold nor hot. I could wish you were cold or hot.
16 “So then, because you are lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot,[g] I will vomit you out of My mouth.
17 “Because you say, ‘I am rich, have become wealthy, and have need of nothing’—and do not know that you are wretched, miserable, poor, blind, and naked—18 “I counsel you to buy from Me gold refined in the fire, that you may be rich; and white garments, that you may be clothed, that the shame of your nakedness may not be revealed; and anoint your eyes with eye salve, that you may see.

19 “As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten. Therefore be zealous and repent.
20 “Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears My voice and opens the door, I will come in to him and dine with him, and he with Me.
21 “To him who overcomes I will grant to sit with Me on My throne, as I also overcame and sat down with My Father on His throne.
22 “He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.” ’ ”

Revelation 4

The Throne Room of Heaven

1 After these things I looked, and behold, a door standing open in heaven. And the first voice which I heard was like a trumpet speaking with me, saying, “Come up here, and I will show you things which must take place after this.”

2 Immediately I was in the Spirit; and behold, a throne set in heaven, and One sat on the throne.

3 And He who sat there was[a] like a jasper and a sardius stone in appearance; and there was a rainbow around the throne, in appearance like an emerald.

4 Around the throne were twenty-four thrones, and on the thrones I saw twenty-four elders sitting, clothed in white robes; and they had crowns[b] of gold on their heads.

5 And from the throne proceeded lightnings, thunderings, and voices.[c] Seven lamps of fire were burning before the throne, which are the[d] seven Spirits of God.

6 Before the throne there was[e] a sea of glass, like crystal. And in the midst of the throne, and around the throne, were four living creatures full of eyes in front and in back.

7 The first living creature was like a lion, the second living creature like a calf, the third living creature had a face like a man, and the fourth living creature was like a flying eagle.

8 The four living creatures, each having six wings, were full of eyes around and within. And they do not rest day or night, saying:

> “Holy, holy, holy,[f]
> Lord God Almighty,
> Who was and is and is to come!”

9 Whenever the living creatures give glory and honor and thanks to Him who sits on the throne, who lives forever and ever,
10 the twenty-four elders fall down before Him who sits on the throne and worship Him who lives forever and ever, and cast their crowns before the throne, saying:

11 "You are worthy, O Lord,[g]
To receive glory and honor and power;
For You created all things,
And by Your will they exist[h] and were created." Creation and Redemption

Revelation 5

The Lamb Takes the Scroll

1 And I saw in the right hand of Him who sat on the throne a scroll written inside and on the back, sealed with seven seals.
2 Then I saw a strong angel proclaiming with a loud voice,
"Who is worthy to open the scroll and to loose its seals?"
3 And no one in heaven or on the earth or under the earth was able to open the scroll, or to look at it.
4 So I wept much, because no one was found worthy to open and read[a] the scroll, or to look at it.
5 But one of the elders said to me, "Do not weep. Behold, the Lion of the tribe of Judah, the Root of David, has prevailed to open the scroll and to loose[b] its seven seals." 6 And I looked, and behold,[c] in the midst of the throne and of the four living creatures, and in the midst of the elders, stood a Lamb as though it had been slain, having seven horns and seven eyes, which are the seven Spirits of God sent out into all the earth.
7 Then He came and took the scroll out of the right hand of Him who sat on the throne.

Worthy Is the Lamb

8 Now when He had taken the scroll, the four living creatures and the twenty-four elders fell down before the Lamb, each having a harp, and golden bowls full of incense, which are the prayers of the saints.
9 And they sang a new song, saying:

"You are worthy to take the scroll,
And to open its seals;

For You were slain,
And have redeemed us to God by Your blood
Out of every tribe and tongue and people and nation, 10And have made us[d] kings[e] and priests to our God;
And we[f] shall reign on the earth."

11Then I looked, and I heard the voice of many angels around the throne, the living creatures, and the elders; and the number of them was ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands, 12saying with a loud voice:

"Worthy is the Lamb who was slain
To receive power and riches and wisdom,
And strength and honor and glory and blessing!"

13And every creature which is in heaven and on the earth and under the earth and such as are in the sea, and all that are in them, I heard saying:

"Blessing and honor and glory and power
Be to Him who sits on the throne,
And to the Lamb, forever and ever!"[g]

14Then the four living creatures said, "Amen!" And the twenty-four[h] elders fell down and worshiped Him who lives forever and ever.[i]

Revelation 6

First Seal: The Conqueror

1 Now I saw when the Lamb opened one of the seals;[a] and I heard one of the four living creatures saying with a voice like thunder, “Come and see.” Worship or Wrath

2 And I looked, and behold, a white horse. He who sat on it had a bow; and a crown was given to him, and he went out conquering and to conquer.

Second Seal: Conflict on Earth

3 When He opened the second seal, I heard the second living creature saying, “Come and see.”[b]

4 Another horse, fiery red, went out. And it was granted to the one who sat on it to take peace from the earth, and that people should kill one another; and there was given to him a great sword.

Third Seal: Scarcity on Earth

5 When He opened the third seal, I heard the third living creature say, “Come and see.” So I looked, and behold, a black horse, and he who sat on it had a pair of scales in his hand.

6 And I heard a voice in the midst of the four living creatures saying, “A quart[c] of wheat for a denarius,[d] and three quarts of barley for a denarius; and do not harm the oil and the wine.”

Fourth Seal: Widespread Death on Earth

7 When He opened the fourth seal, I heard the voice of the fourth living creature saying, “Come and see.”

8So I looked, and behold, a pale horse. And the name of him who sat on it was Death, and Hades followed with him. And power was given to them over a fourth of the earth, to kill with sword, with hunger, with death, and by the beasts of the earth.

Fifth Seal: The Cry of the Martyrs

9When He opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of those who had been slain for the word of God and for the testimony which they held.

10And they cried with a loud voice, saying, “How long, O Lord, holy and true, until You judge and avenge our blood on those who dwell on the earth?”

11Then a white robe was given to each of them; and it was said to them that they should rest a little while longer, until both the number of their fellow servants and their brethren, who would be killed as they were, was completed.

Sixth Seal: Cosmic Disturbances

12I looked when He opened the sixth seal, and behold,[e] there was a great earthquake; and the sun became black as sackcloth of hair, and the moon[f] became like blood.

13And the stars of heaven fell to the earth, as a fig tree drops its late figs when it is shaken by a mighty wind.

14Then the sky receded as a scroll when it is rolled up, and every mountain and island was moved out of its place.

15And the kings of the earth, the great men, the rich men, the commanders,[g] the mighty men, every slave and every free man, hid themselves in the caves and in the rocks of the mountains, 16and said to the mountains and rocks, “Fall on us and hide us from the face of Him who sits on the throne and from the wrath of the Lamb!

17 “For the great day of His wrath has come, and who is able to stand?”

Revelation 7

The Sealed of Israel

1 After these things I saw four angels standing at the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth, that the wind should not blow on the earth, on the sea, or on any tree. Angels

2 Then I saw another angel ascending from the east, having the seal of the living God. And he cried with a loud voice to the four angels to whom it was granted to harm the earth and the sea,

3 saying, "Do not harm the earth, the sea, or the trees till we have sealed the servants of our God on their foreheads."

4 And I heard the number of those who were sealed. One hundred and forty-four thousand of all the tribes of the children of Israel were sealed:

5 of the tribe of Judah twelve thousand were sealed;[a] of the tribe of Reuben
twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Gad
twelve thousand were sealed;
6 of the tribe of Asher
twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Naphtali
twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Manasseh
twelve thousand were sealed;
7 of the tribe of Simeon
twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Levi
twelve thousand were sealed;

of the tribe of Issachar
twelve thousand were sealed;
8 of the tribe of Zebulun
twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Joseph
twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Benjamin
twelve thousand were sealed.

A Multitude from the Great Tribulation

9 After these things I looked, and behold, a great multitude which no one could number, of all nations, tribes, peoples, and tongues, standing before the throne and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, with palm branches in their hands, A Global Multitude

10 and crying out with a loud voice, saying, "Salvation belongs to our God who sits on the throne, and to the Lamb!"

11 All the angels stood around the throne and the elders and the four living creatures, and fell on their faces before the throne and worshiped God,

12 saying:

"Amen! Blessing and glory and wisdom, Thanksgiving and honor and power and might,
Be to our God forever and ever.
Amen."

13 Then one of the elders answered, saying to me, "Who are these arrayed in white robes, and where did they come from?"

14 And I said to him, "Sir,[b] you know." So he said to me, "These are the ones who come out of the great tribulation, and washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb.

15 “Therefore they are before the throne of God, and serve Him day and night in His temple. And He who sits on the throne will dwell among them.

16 “They shall neither hunger anymore nor thirst anymore; the sun shall not strike them, nor any heat;

17 “for the Lamb who is in the midst of the throne will shepherd them and lead them to living fountains of waters.[c] And God will wipe away every tear from their eyes.”

Revelation 8

Seventh Seal: Prelude to the Seven Trumpets

1When He opened the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven for about half an hour.
2And I saw the seven angels who stand before God, and to them were given seven trumpets.
3Then another angel, having a golden censer, came and stood at the altar. He was given much incense, that he should offer it with the prayers of all the saints upon the golden altar which was before the throne.
4And the smoke of the incense, with the prayers of the saints, ascended before God from the angel's hand.
5Then the angel took the censer, filled it with fire from the altar, and threw it to the earth. And there were noises, thunderings, lightnings, and an earthquake.
6So the seven angels who had the seven trumpets prepared themselves to sound.

First Trumpet: Vegetation Struck

7The first angel sounded: And hail and fire followed, mingled with blood, and they were thrown to the earth.[a]
And a third of the trees were burned up, and all green grass was burned up.

Second Trumpet: The Seas Struck

8Then the second angel sounded: And something like a great mountain burning with fire was thrown into the sea, and a third of the sea became blood.
9And a third of the living creatures in the sea died, and a third of the ships were destroyed.

Third Trumpet: The Waters Struck

10Then the third angel sounded: And a great star fell from heaven, burning like a torch, and it fell on a third of the rivers and on the springs of water.
11The name of the star is Wormwood. A third of the waters became wormwood, and many men died from the water, because it was made bitter.

Fourth Trumpet: The Heavens Struck

12Then the fourth angel sounded: And a third of the sun was struck, a third of the moon, and a third of the stars, so that a third of them were darkened. A third of the day did not shine, and likewise the night.
13And I looked, and I heard an angel[b] flying through the midst of heaven, saying with a loud voice, “Woe, woe, woe to the inhabitants of the earth, because of the remaining blasts of the trumpet of the three angels who are about to sound!”

Revelation 9

Fifth Trumpet: The Locusts from the Bottomless Pit

1 Then the fifth angel sounded: And I saw a star fallen from heaven to the earth. To him was given the key to the bottomless pit.
2 And he opened the bottomless pit, and smoke arose out of the pit like the smoke of a great furnace. So the sun and the air were darkened because of the smoke of the pit.
3 Then out of the smoke locusts came upon the earth. And to them was given power, as the scorpions of the earth have power.
4 They were commanded not to harm the grass of the earth, or any green thing, or any tree, but only those men who do not have the seal of God on their foreheads. Faith and the Environment 5 And they were not given authority to kill them, but to torment them for five months. Their torment was like the torment of a scorpion when it strikes a man.
6 In those days men will seek death and will not find it;
they will desire to die, and death will flee from them.
7 The shape of the locusts was like horses prepared for battle. On their heads were crowns of something like gold, and their faces were like the faces of men.
8 They had hair like women's hair, and their teeth were like lions' teeth.
9 And they had breastplates like breastplates of iron, and the sound of their wings was like the sound of chariots with many horses running into battle.
10 They had tails like scorpions, and there were stings in their tails. Their power was to hurt men five months.

11 And they had as king over them the angel of the bottomless pit, whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon, but in Greek he has the name Apollyon. Names for Satan in the New Testament 12 One woe is past. Behold, still two more woes are coming after these things.

Sixth Trumpet: The Angels from the Euphrates

13 Then the sixth angel sounded: And I heard a voice from the four horns of the golden altar which is before God, 14 saying to the sixth angel who had the trumpet,
"Release the four angels who are bound at the great river Euphrates."
15 So the four angels, who had been prepared for the hour and day and month and year, were released to kill a third of mankind.
16 Now the number of the army of the horsemen was two hundred million; I heard the number of them.
17 And thus I saw the horses in the vision: those who sat on them had breastplates of fiery red, hyacinth blue, and sulfur yellow; and the heads of the horses were like the heads of lions; and out of their mouths came fire, smoke, and brimstone.
18 By these three plagues a third of mankind was killed—by the fire and the smoke and the brimstone which came out of their mouths.
19 For their power[a] is in their mouth and in their tails; for their tails are like serpents, having heads; and with them they do harm.
20 But the rest of mankind, who were not killed by these plagues, did not repent of the works of their hands, that they should not worship demons, and idols of gold, silver, brass, stone, and wood, which can neither see nor hear nor walk.

21 And they did not repent of their murders or their sorceries[b] or their sexual immorality or their thefts.

Revelation 10

The Mighty Angel with the Little Book

1 I saw still another mighty angel coming down from heaven, clothed with a cloud. And a rainbow was on his head, his face was like the sun, and his feet like pillars of fire. Apocalyptic Literature
2 He had a little book open in his hand. And he set his right foot on the sea and his left foot on the land, 3 and cried with a loud voice, as when a lion roars. When he cried out, seven thunders uttered their voices.
4 Now when the seven thunders uttered their voices,[a] I was about to write; but I heard a voice from heaven saying to me,[b] "Seal up the things which the seven thunders uttered, and do not write them." 5 The angel whom I saw standing on the sea and on the land raised up his hand[c] to heaven 6 and swore by Him who lives forever and ever, who created heaven and the things that are in it, the earth and the things that are in it, and the sea and the things that are in it, that there should be delay no longer, 7 but in the days of the sounding of the seventh angel, when he is about to sound, the mystery of God would be finished, as He declared to His servants the prophets.

John Eats the Little Book

8 Then the voice which I heard from heaven spoke to me again and said, "Go, take the little book which is open in the hand of the angel who stands on the sea and on the earth."
9 So I went to the angel and said to him, "Give me the little book." And he said to me, "Take and eat it; and it will make your stomach bitter, but it will be as sweet as honey in your mouth.”

10 Then I took the little book out of the angel’s hand and ate it, and it was as sweet as honey in my mouth. But when I had eaten it, my stomach became bitter.

11 And he[d] said to me, “You must prophesy again about many peoples, nations, tongues, and kings.”

Revelation 11

The Two Witnesses

1 Then I was given a reed like a measuring rod. And the angel stood,[a] saying, “Rise and measure the temple of God, the altar, and those who worship there.
2 “But leave out the court which is outside the temple, and do not measure it, for it has been given to the Gentiles.
And they will tread the holy city underfoot for forty-two months.
3 “And I will give power to my two witnesses, and they will prophesy one thousand two hundred and sixty days, clothed in sackcloth.”
4 These are the two olive trees and the two lampstands standing before the God[b] of the earth.
5 And if anyone wants to harm them, fire proceeds from their mouth and devours their enemies. And if anyone wants to harm them, he must be killed in this manner.
6 These have power to shut heaven, so that no rain falls in the days of their prophecy; and they have power over waters to turn them to blood, and to strike the earth with all plagues, as often as they desire.

The Witnesses Killed

7 When they finish their testimony, the beast that ascends out of the bottomless pit will make war against them, overcome them, and kill them.
8 And their dead bodies will lie in the street of the great city which spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, where also our[c] Lord was crucified.
9 Then those from the peoples, tribes, tongues, and nations will see their dead bodies three-and-a-half days, and not allow[d] their dead bodies to be put into graves.

10 And those who dwell on the earth will rejoice over them, make merry, and send gifts to one another, because these two prophets tormented those who dwell on the earth.

The Witnesses Resurrected

11 Now after the three-and-a-half days the breath of life from God entered them, and they stood on their feet, and great fear fell on those who saw them.
12 And they[e] heard a loud voice from heaven saying to them, "Come up here." And they ascended to heaven in a cloud, and their enemies saw them.
13 In the same hour there was a great earthquake, and a tenth of the city fell. In the earthquake seven thousand people were killed, and the rest were afraid and gave glory to the God of heaven.
14 The second woe is past. Behold, the third woe is coming quickly.

Seventh Trumpet: The Kingdom Proclaimed

15 Then the seventh angel sounded: And there were loud voices in heaven, saying, "The kingdoms[f] of this world have become the kingdoms of our Lord and of His Christ, and He shall reign forever and ever!" 16 And the twenty-four elders who sat before God on their thrones fell on their faces and worshiped God, 17 saying:

> "We give You thanks, O Lord God Almighty,
> The One who is and who was and who is to > come,[g]
> Because You have taken Your great power > and reigned.

[18]The nations were angry, and Your wrath has come,
And the time of the dead, that they should be judged,
And that You should reward Your servants
the prophets and the saints,
And those who fear Your name, small and great,
And should destroy those who destroy the earth.”

19Then the temple of God was opened in heaven, and the ark of His covenant[h] was seen in His temple. And there were lightnings, noises, thunderings, an earthquake, and great hail.

Revelation 12

The Woman, the Child, and the Dragon

1 Now a great sign appeared in heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, with the moon under her feet, and on her head a garland of twelve stars. Women in Revelation
2 Then being with child, she cried out in labor and in pain to give birth.
3 And another sign appeared in heaven: behold, a great, fiery red dragon having seven heads and ten horns, and seven diadems on his heads.
4 His tail drew a third of the stars of heaven and threw them to the earth. And the dragon stood before the woman who was ready to give birth, to devour her Child as soon as it was born.
5 She bore a male Child who was to rule all nations with a rod of iron. And her Child was caught up to God and His throne.
6 Then the woman fled into the wilderness, where she has a place prepared by God, that they should feed her there one thousand two hundred and sixty days.

Satan Thrown Out of Heaven

7 And war broke out in heaven: Michael and his angels fought with the dragon; and the dragon and his angels fought,
8 but they did not prevail, nor was a place found for them[a] in heaven any longer.
9 So the great dragon was cast out, that serpent of old, called the Devil and Satan, who deceives the whole world;
he was cast to the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

10 Then I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, “Now salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of His Christ have come, for the accuser of our brethren, who accused them before our God day and night, has been cast down.
11 “And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony, and they did not love their lives to the death.
12 “Therefore rejoice, O heavens, and you who dwell in them! Woe to the inhabitants of the earth and the sea! For the devil has come down to you, having great wrath, because he knows that he has a short time.”

The Woman Persecuted

13 Now when the dragon saw that he had been cast to the earth, he persecuted the woman who gave birth to the male Child.
14 But the woman was given two wings of a great eagle, that she might fly into the wilderness to her place, where she is nourished for a time and times and half a time, from the presence of the serpent.
15 So the serpent spewed water out of his mouth like a flood after the woman, that he might cause her to be carried away by the flood.
16 But the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened its mouth and swallowed up the flood which the dragon had spewed out of his mouth.
17 And the dragon was enraged with the woman, and he went to make war with the rest of her offspring, who keep the commandments of God and have the testimony of Jesus Christ.[b]

Revelation 13

The Beast from the Sea

1 Then I[a] stood on the sand of the sea. And I saw a beast rising up out of the sea, having seven heads and ten horns,[b] and on his horns ten crowns, and on his heads a blasphemous name.

2 Now the beast which I saw was like a leopard, his feet were like the feet of a bear, and his mouth like the mouth of a lion. The dragon gave him his power, his throne, and great authority.

3 And I saw one of his heads as if it had been mortally wounded, and his deadly wound was healed. And all the world marveled and followed the beast.

4 So they worshiped the dragon who gave authority to the beast; and they worshiped the beast, saying, “Who is like the beast? Who is able to make war with him?”

5 And he was given a mouth speaking great things and blasphemies, and he was given authority to continue[c] for forty-two months.

6 Then he opened his mouth in blasphemy against God, to blaspheme His name, His tabernacle, and those who dwell in heaven.

7 It was granted to him to make war with the saints and to overcome them. And authority was given him over every tribe,[d] tongue, and nation.

8 All who dwell on the earth will worship him, whose names have not been written in the Book of Life of the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world.

9 If anyone has an ear, let him hear.

10 He who leads into captivity shall go into captivity; he who kills with the sword must be killed with the sword.

Here is the patience and the faith of the saints.

The Beast from the Earth

11 Then I saw another beast coming up out of the earth, and he had two horns like a lamb and spoke like a dragon.
12 And he exercises all the authority of the first beast in his presence, and causes the earth and those who dwell in it to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.
13 He performs great signs, so that he even makes fire come down from heaven on the earth in the sight of men.
14 And he deceives those[e] who dwell on the earth by those signs which he was granted to do in the sight of the beast, telling those who dwell on the earth to make an image to the beast who was wounded by the sword and lived.
15 He was granted power to give breath to the image of the beast, that the image of the beast should both speak and cause as many as would not worship the image of the beast to be killed.
16 He causes all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and slave, to receive a mark on their right hand or on their foreheads,
17 and that no one may buy or sell except one who has the mark or[f] the name of the beast, or the number of his name.
18 Here is wisdom. Let him who has understanding calculate the number of the beast, for it is the number of a man: His number is 666.

Revelation 14

The Lamb and the 144,000

1 Then I looked, and behold, a[a] Lamb standing on Mount Zion, and with Him one hundred and forty-four thousand, having[b] His Father's name written on their foreheads.
2 And I heard a voice from heaven, like the voice of many waters, and like the voice of loud thunder. And I heard the sound of harpists playing their harps.
3 They sang as it were a new song before the throne, before the four living creatures, and the elders; and no one could learn that song except the hundred and forty-four thousand who were redeemed from the earth.
4 These are the ones who were not defiled with women, for they are virgins. These are the ones who follow the Lamb wherever He goes. These were redeemed[c] from among men, being firstfruits to God and to the Lamb.
5 And in their mouth was found no deceit,[d] for they are without fault before the throne of God.[e]

The Proclamations of Three Angels

6 Then I saw another angel flying in the midst of heaven, having the everlasting gospel to preach to those who dwell on the earth—to every nation, tribe, tongue, and people—7 saying with a loud voice, "Fear God and give glory to Him, for the hour of His judgment has come; and worship Him who made heaven and earth, the sea and springs of water."
8 And another angel followed, saying, "Babylon[f] is fallen, is fallen, that great city, because she has made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication."

9 Then a third angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, “If anyone worships the beast and his image, and receives his mark on his forehead or on his hand, 10 “he himself shall also drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is poured out full strength into the cup of His indignation. He shall be tormented with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy angels and in the presence of the Lamb.
11 “And the smoke of their torment ascends forever and ever; and they have no rest day or night, who worship the beast and his image, and whoever receives the mark of his name.”
12 Here is the patience of the saints; here are those[g] who keep the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus.
13 Then I heard a voice from heaven saying to me,[h] “Write: ‘Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from now on.’ ” “Yes,” says the Spirit, “that they may rest from their labors, and their works follow them.”

Reaping the Earth’s Harvest

14 Then I looked, and behold, a white cloud, and on the cloud sat One like the Son of Man, having on His head a golden crown, and in His hand a sharp sickle.
15 And another angel came out of the temple, crying with a loud voice to Him who sat on the cloud, “Thrust in Your sickle and reap, for the time has come for You[i] to reap, for the harvest of the earth is ripe.” 16 So He who sat on the cloud thrust in His sickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped.

Reaping the Grapes of Wrath

17 Then another angel came out of the temple which is in heaven, he also having a sharp sickle.

[18]And another angel came out from the altar, who had power over fire, and he cried with a loud cry to him who had the sharp sickle, saying, “Thrust in your sharp sickle and gather the clusters of the vine of the earth, for her grapes are fully ripe.”

[19]So the angel thrust his sickle into the earth and gathered the vine of the earth, and threw it into the great winepress of the wrath of God.

[20]And the winepress was trampled outside the city, and blood came out of the winepress, up to the horses’ bridles, for one thousand six hundred furlongs.

Revelation 15

Prelude to the Bowl Judgments

1 Then I saw another sign in heaven, great and marvelous: seven angels having the seven last plagues, for in them the wrath of God is complete.

2 And I saw something like a sea of glass mingled with fire, and those who have the victory over the beast, over his image and over his mark[a] and over the number of his name, standing on the sea of glass, having harps of God.

3 They sing the song of Moses, the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb, saying:

> "Great and marvelous are Your works,
> Lord God Almighty!
> Just and true are Your ways,
> O King of the saints![b]
> 4 Who shall not fear You, O Lord, and glorify > Your name?
> For You alone are holy.
> For all nations shall come and worship > before You,
> For Your judgments have been manifested."

5 After these things I looked, and behold,[c] the temple of the tabernacle of the testimony in heaven was opened.

6 And out of the temple came the seven angels having the seven plagues, clothed in pure bright linen, and having their chests girded with golden bands.

7 Then one of the four living creatures gave to the seven angels seven golden bowls full of the wrath of God who lives forever and ever.

[8]The temple was filled with smoke from the glory of God and from His power, and no one was able to enter the temple till the seven plagues of the seven angels were completed.

Revelation 16

1 Then I heard a loud voice from the temple saying to the seven angels, “Go and pour out the bowls[a] of the wrath of God on the earth.”

First Bowl: Loathsome Sores

2 So the first went and poured out his bowl upon the earth, and a foul and loathsome sore came upon the men who had the mark of the beast and those who worshiped his image.

Second Bowl: The Sea Turns to Blood

3 Then the second angel poured out his bowl on the sea, and it became blood as of a dead man; and every living creature in the sea died.

Third Bowl: The Waters Turn to Blood

4 Then the third angel poured out his bowl on the rivers and springs of water, and they became blood.
5 And I heard the angel of the waters saying:

> “You are righteous, O Lord,[b]
> The One who is and who was and who is to > be,[c]
> Because You have judged these things.
> 6 For they have shed the blood of saints and > prophets,
> And You have given them blood to drink.
> For[d] it is their just due.”

7 And I heard another from[e] the altar saying, “Even so, Lord God Almighty, true and righteous are Your judgments.”

Fourth Bowl: Men Are Scorched

8Then the fourth angel poured out his bowl on the sun, and power was given to him to scorch men with fire.
9And men were scorched with great heat, and they blasphemed the name of God who has power over these plagues; and they did not repent and give Him glory.

Fifth Bowl: Darkness and Pain

10Then the fifth angel poured out his bowl on the throne of the beast, and his kingdom became full of darkness; and they gnawed their tongues because of the pain.
11They blasphemed the God of heaven because of their pains and their sores, and did not repent of their deeds.

Sixth Bowl: Euphrates Dried Up

12Then the sixth angel poured out his bowl on the great river Euphrates, and its water was dried up, so that the way of the kings from the east might be prepared.
13And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs coming out of the mouth of the dragon, out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet.
14For they are spirits of demons, performing signs, which go out to the kings of the earth and[f] of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of that great day of God Almighty.
15“Behold, I am coming as a thief. Blessed is he who watches, and keeps his garments, lest he walk naked and they see his shame.”
16And they gathered them together to the place called in Hebrew, Armageddon.[g]

Seventh Bowl: The Earth Utterly Shaken

17Then the seventh angel poured out his bowl into the air, and a loud voice came out of the temple of heaven, from the throne, saying, “It is done!”

18And there were noises and thunderings and lightnings; and there was a great earthquake, such a mighty and great earthquake as had not occurred since men were on the earth.

19Now the great city was divided into three parts, and the cities of the nations fell. And great Babylon was remembered before God, to give her the cup of the wine of the fierceness of His wrath.

20Then every island fled away, and the mountains were not found.

21And great hail from heaven fell upon men, each hailstone about the weight of a talent. Men blasphemed God because of the plague of the hail, since that plague was exceedingly great.

Revelation 17

The Scarlet Woman and the Scarlet Beast

1 Then one of the seven angels who had the seven bowls came and talked with me, saying to me,[a] “Come, I will show you the judgment of the great harlot who sits on many waters,
2 “with whom the kings of the earth committed fornication, and the inhabitants of the earth were made drunk with the wine of her fornication.”
3 So he carried me away in the Spirit into the wilderness.
And I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet beast which was full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads and ten horns.
4 The woman was arrayed in purple and scarlet, and adorned with gold and precious stones and pearls, having in her hand a golden cup full of abominations and the filthiness of her fornication.[b]
5 And on her forehead a name was written:

MYSTERY,
BABYLON THE GREAT,
THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND OF THE ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH.

6 I saw the woman, drunk with the blood of the saints and with the blood of the martyrs of Jesus. And when I saw her,
I marveled with great amazement.

The Meaning of the Woman and the Beast

7 But the angel said to me, “Why did you marvel? I will tell you the mystery of the woman and of the beast that carries her, which has the seven heads and the ten horns.

8 “The beast that you saw was, and is not, and will ascend out of the bottomless pit and go to perdition. And those who dwell on the earth will marvel, whose names are not written in the Book of Life from the foundation of the world, when they see the beast that was, and is not, and yet is.[c]
9 “Here is the mind which has wisdom: The seven heads are seven mountains on which the woman sits.
10 “There are also seven kings. Five have fallen, one is, and the other has not yet come. And when he comes, he must continue a short time.
11 “The beast that was, and is not, is himself also the eighth, and is of the seven, and is going to perdition.
12 “The ten horns which you saw are ten kings who have received no kingdom as yet, but they receive authority for one hour as kings with the beast.
13 “These are of one mind, and they will give their power and authority to the beast.
14 “These will make war with the Lamb, and the Lamb will overcome them, for He is Lord of lords and King of kings; and those who are with Him are called, chosen, and faithful.”
15 Then he said to me, “The waters which you saw, where the harlot sits, are peoples, multitudes, nations, and tongues.
16 “And the ten horns which you saw on[d] the beast, these will hate the harlot, make her desolate and naked, eat her flesh and burn her with fire.
17 “For God has put it into their hearts to fulfill His purpose, to be of one mind, and to give their kingdom to the beast, until the words of God are fulfilled.
18 “And the woman whom you saw is that great city which reigns over the kings of the earth.”

Revelation 18

The Fall of Babylon the Great

1 After these things I saw another angel coming down from heaven, having great authority, and the earth was illuminated with his glory. The Delusions of Luxury

2 And he cried mightily[a] with a loud voice, saying, "Babylon the great is fallen, is fallen, and has become a dwelling place of demons, a prison for every foul spirit, and a cage for every unclean and hated bird!

3 "For all the nations have drunk of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth have become rich through the abundance of her luxury."

4 And I heard another voice from heaven saying, "Come out of her, my people, lest you share in her sins, and lest you receive of her plagues.

5 "For her sins have reached[b] to heaven, and God has remembered her iniquities.

6 "Render to her just as she rendered to you,[c] and repay her double according to her works; in the cup which she has mixed, mix double for her.

7 "In the measure that she glorified herself and lived luxuriously, in the same measure give her torment and sorrow; for she says in her heart, 'I sit as queen, and am no widow, and will not see sorrow.'

8 "Therefore her plagues will come in one day—death and mourning and famine. And she will be utterly burned with fire, for strong is the Lord God who judges[d] her.

The World Mourns Babylon's Fall

9 “The kings of the earth who committed fornication and lived luxuriously with her will weep and lament for her, when they see the smoke of her burning,
10 “standing at a distance for fear of her torment, saying, ‘Alas, alas, that great city Babylon, that mighty city! For in one hour your judgment has come.’ 11 “And the merchants of the earth will weep and mourn over her, for no one buys their merchandise anymore: 12 “merchandise of gold and silver, precious stones and pearls, fine linen and purple, silk and scarlet, every kind of citron wood, every kind of object of ivory, every kind of object of most precious wood, bronze, iron, and marble; 13 “and cinnamon and incense, fragrant oil and frankincense, wine and oil, fine flour and wheat, cattle and sheep, horses and chariots, and bodies and souls of men.
14 “The fruit that your soul longed for has gone from you, and all the things which are rich and splendid have gone from you,[e] and you shall find them no more at all.
15 “The merchants of these things, who became rich by her, will stand at a distance for fear of her torment, weeping and wailing, 16 “and saying, ‘Alas, alas, that great city that was clothed in fine linen, purple, and scarlet, and adorned with gold and precious stones and pearls!
17 ‘For in one hour such great riches came to nothing.’ Every shipmaster, all who travel by ship, sailors, and as many as trade on the sea, stood at a distance 18 “and cried out when they saw the smoke of her burning, saying, ‘What is like this great city?’ 19 “They threw dust on their heads and cried out, weeping and wailing, and saying, ‘Alas, alas, that great city, in which all who had ships on the sea became rich by her wealth!
For in one hour she is made desolate.’

20 “Rejoice over her, O heaven, and you holy apostles[f] and prophets, for God has avenged you on her!”

Finality of Babylon’s Fall

21 Then a mighty angel took up a stone like a great millstone and threw it into the sea, saying, “Thus with violence the great city Babylon shall be thrown down, and shall not be found anymore.
22 “The sound of harpists, musicians, flutists, and trumpeters shall not be heard in you anymore. No craftsman of any craft shall be found in you anymore, and the sound of a millstone shall not be heard in you anymore.
23 “The light of a lamp shall not shine in you anymore, and the voice of bridegroom and bride shall not be heard in you anymore. For your merchants were the great men of the earth, for by your sorcery all the nations were deceived.

Magic and Sorcery

24 “And in her was found the blood of prophets and saints, and of all who were slain on the earth.”

Revelation 19

Heaven Exults over Babylon

1 After these things I heard[a] a loud voice of a great multitude in heaven, saying, “Alleluia! Salvation and glory and honor and power belong to the Lord[b] our God!
2 “For true and righteous are His judgments, because He has judged the great harlot who corrupted the earth with her fornication; and He has avenged on her the blood of His servants shed by her.”
3 Again they said, “Alleluia! Her smoke rises up forever and ever!”
4 And the twenty-four elders and the four living creatures fell down and worshiped God who sat on the throne, saying, “Amen! Alleluia!”
5 Then a voice came from the throne, saying, “Praise our God, all you His servants and those who fear Him, both[c] small and great!”
6 And I heard, as it were, the voice of a great multitude, as the sound of many waters and as the sound of mighty thunderings, saying, “Alleluia! For the[d] Lord God Omnipotent reigns! Hope for the Family 7 “Let us be glad and rejoice and give Him glory, for the marriage of the Lamb has come, and His wife has made herself ready.”
8 And to her it was granted to be arrayed in fine linen, clean and bright, for the fine linen is the righteous acts of the saints.
9 Then he said to me, “Write: ‘Blessed are those who are called to the marriage supper of the Lamb!’ ” And he said to me, “These are the true sayings of God.”

10 And I fell at his feet to worship him. But he said to me,
"See that you do not do that! I am your fellow servant, and of your brethren who have the testimony of Jesus. Worship God! For the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy."

Christ on a White Horse

11 Now I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse.
And He who sat on him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness He judges and makes war.
12 His eyes were like a flame of fire, and on His head were many crowns. He had[e] a name written that no one knew except Himself.
13 He was clothed with a robe dipped in blood, and His name is called The Word of God.
14 And the armies in heaven, clothed in fine linen, white and clean,[f] followed Him on white horses.
15 Now out of His mouth goes a sharp[g] sword, that with it
He should strike the nations. And He Himself will rule them with a rod of iron. He Himself treads the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God.
16 And He has on His robe and on His thigh a name written:

KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS.

The Beast and His Armies Defeated

17 Then I saw an angel standing in the sun; and he cried with a loud voice, saying to all the birds that fly in the midst of heaven, "Come and gather together for the supper of the great God,[h] 18 "that you may eat the flesh of kings, the flesh of captains, the flesh of mighty men, the flesh of horses and of those who sit on them, and the flesh of all people, free[i] and slave, both small and great."

19 And I saw the beast, the kings of the earth, and their armies, gathered together to make war against Him who sat on the horse and against His army.

20 Then the beast was captured, and with him the false prophet who worked signs in his presence, by which he deceived those who received the mark of the beast and those who worshiped his image. These two were cast alive into the lake of fire burning with brimstone.

21 And the rest were killed with the sword which proceeded from the mouth of Him who sat on the horse. And all the birds were filled with their flesh.

Revelation 20

Satan Bound 1,000 Years

1 Then I saw an angel coming down from heaven, having the key to the bottomless pit and a great chain in his hand. Evil's Final Reward 2 He laid hold of the dragon, that serpent of old, who is the Devil and Satan, and bound him for a thousand years; 3 and he cast him into the bottomless pit, and shut him up, and set a seal on him, so that he should deceive the nations no more till the thousand years were finished. But after these things he must be released for a little while.

The Saints Reign with Christ 1,000 Years

4 And I saw thrones, and they sat on them, and judgment was committed to them. Then I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded for their witness to Jesus and for the word of God, who had not worshiped the beast or his image, and had not received his mark on their foreheads or on their hands. And they lived and reigned with Christ for a[a] thousand years.
5 But the rest of the dead did not live again until the thousand years were finished. This is the first resurrection.
6 Blessed and holy is he who has part in the first resurrection. Over such the second death has no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with Him a thousand years.

Satanic Rebellion Crushed

7 Now when the thousand years have expired, Satan will be released from his prison

8 and will go out to deceive the nations which are in the four corners of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battle, whose number is as the sand of the sea.
9 They went up on the breadth of the earth and surrounded the camp of the saints and the beloved city.
And fire came down from God out of heaven and devoured them.
10 The devil, who deceived them, was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone where[b] the beast and the false prophet are. And they will be tormented day and night forever and ever.

The Great White Throne Judgment

11 Then I saw a great white throne and Him who sat on it, from whose face the earth and the heaven fled away. And there was found no place for them.
12 And I saw the dead, small and great, standing before God,[c] and books were opened. And another book was opened, which is the Book of Life. And the dead were judged according to their works, by the things which were written in the books.
13 The sea gave up the dead who were in it, and Death and Hades delivered up the dead who were in them. And they were judged, each one according to his works.
14 Then Death and Hades were cast into the lake of fire.
This is the second death.[d] 15 And anyone not found written in the Book of Life was cast into the lake of fire.

Revelation 21

All Things Made New

1 Now I saw a new heaven and a new earth, for the first heaven and the first earth had passed away. Also there was no more sea. Genesis and Revelation

2 Then I, John,[a] saw the holy city, New Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband.

3 And I heard a loud voice from heaven saying, "Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and He will dwell with them, and they shall be His people. God Himself will be with them and be their God.

4 "And God will wipe away every tear from their eyes;
there shall be no more death, nor sorrow, nor crying. There shall be no more pain, for the former things have passed away."

5 Then He who sat on the throne said, "Behold, I make all things new." And He said to me,[b] "Write, for these words are true and faithful."

6 And He said to me, "It is done![c] I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End. I will give of the fountain of the water of life freely to him who thirsts.

7 "He who overcomes shall inherit all things,[d] and I will be his God and he shall be My son.

8 "But the cowardly, unbelieving,[e] abominable, murderers, sexually immoral, sorcerers, idolaters, and all liars shall have their part in the lake which burns with fire and brimstone, which is the second death."

The New Jerusalem

9Then one of the seven angels who had the seven bowls filled with the seven last plagues came to me[f] and talked with me, saying, “Come, I will show you the bride, the Lamb’s wife.”[g] 10And he carried me away in the Spirit to a great and high mountain, and showed me the great city, the holy[h]
Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God, 11having the glory of God. Her light was like a most precious stone, like a jasper stone, clear as crystal.
12Also she had a great and high wall with twelve gates, and twelve angels at the gates, and names written on them, which are the names of the twelve tribes of the children of Israel:
13three gates on the east, three gates on the north, three gates on the south, and three gates on the west.
14Now the wall of the city had twelve foundations, and on them were the names[i] of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.
15And he who talked with me had a gold reed to measure the city, its gates, and its wall.
16The city is laid out as a square; its length is as great as its breadth. And he measured the city with the reed: twelve thousand furlongs. Its length, breadth, and height are equal.
17Then he measured its wall: one hundred and forty-four cubits, according to the measure of a man, that is, of an angel.
18The construction of its wall was of jasper; and the city was pure gold, like clear glass.
19The foundations of the wall of the city were adorned with all kinds of precious stones: the first foundation was jasper, the second sapphire, the third chalcedony, the fourth emerald, 20the fifth sardonyx, the sixth sardius, the seventh chrysolite, the eighth beryl, the ninth topaz, the tenth chrysoprase, the eleventh jacinth, and the twelfth amethyst.

21 The twelve gates were twelve pearls: each individual gate was of one pearl. And the street of the city was pure gold, like transparent glass.

The Glory of the New Jerusalem

22 But I saw no temple in it, for the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are its temple.

23 The city had no need of the sun or of the moon to shine in it,[j] for the glory[k] of God illuminated it. The Lamb is its light.

24 And the nations of those who are saved[l] shall walk in its light, and the kings of the earth bring their glory and honor into it.[m]

25 Its gates shall not be shut at all by day (there shall be no night there).

26 And they shall bring the glory and the honor of the nations into it.[n]

27 But there shall by no means enter it anything that defiles, or causes[o] an abomination or a lie, but only those who are written in the Lamb's Book of Life.

Revelation 22

The River of Life

1 And he showed me a pure[a] river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding from the throne of God and of the Lamb. Work in the Bible
2 In the middle of its street, and on either side of the river, was the tree of life, which bore twelve fruits, each tree yielding its fruit every month. The leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations. The Tree of Life
3 And there shall be no more curse, but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it, and His servants shall serve Him.
4 They shall see His face, and His name shall be on their foreheads.
5 There shall be no night there: They need no lamp nor light of the sun, for the Lord God gives them light. And they shall reign forever and ever.

The Time Is Near

6 Then he said to me, "These words are faithful and true."
And the Lord God of the holy[b] prophets sent His angel to show His servants the things which must shortly take place.
7 "Behold, I am coming quickly! Blessed is he who keeps the words of the prophecy of this book."
8 Now I, John, saw and heard[c] these things. And when I heard and saw, I fell down to worship before the feet of the angel who showed me these things.
9 Then he said to me, "See that you do not do that. For[d] I am your fellow servant, and of your brethren the prophets, and of those who keep the words of this book. Worship God."

10 And he said to me, "Do not seal the words of the prophecy of this book, for the time is at hand.

11 "He who is unjust, let him be unjust still; he who is filthy, let him be filthy still; he who is righteous, let him be righteous[e] still; he who is holy, let him be holy still."

Jesus Testifies to the Churches

12 "And behold, I am coming quickly, and My reward is with Me, to give to every one according to his work.

13 "I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End, the First and the Last."[f]

14 Blessed are those who do His commandments,[g] that they may have the right to the tree of life, and may enter through the gates into the city.

15 But[h] outside are dogs and sorcerers and sexually immoral and murderers and idolaters, and whoever loves and practices a lie.

16 "I, Jesus, have sent My angel to testify to you these things in the churches. I am the Root and the Offspring of David, the Bright and Morning Star."

17 And the Spirit and the bride say, "Come!" And let him who hears say, "Come!" And let him who thirsts come. Whoever desires, let him take the water of life freely. Welcome

A Warning

18 For[i] I testify to everyone who hears the words of the prophecy of this book: If anyone adds to these things, God will add[j] to him the plagues that are written in this book;

19 and if anyone takes away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away[k] his part from the Book[l] of Life, from the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book.

I Am Coming Quickly

20 He who testifies to these things says, "Surely I am coming quickly." Amen. Even so, come, Lord Jesus!

21 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all.[m] Amen.

The Church at the End of the First Century

Rev. 1:20

First-century Christians met fierce opposition from political authorities determined to halt the spread of their message. Despite increasingly harsh treatment, these stalwart believers went a long way toward fulfilling the Lord's mandate to take the gospel "to the end of the earth" (Acts 1:8). Within three decades, they won converts throughout the Roman empire, including the capital city of Rome.

One factor behind these spectacular results was a focus on reaching urban communities (see "Paul's Urban Strategy" at Acts 16:4). In Ephesus, Christian leaders penetrated specific groups of workers, who not only turned the city upside down with their new faith but proceeded to take the gospel inland so that "all who dwelt in Asia [Minor] heard the word of the Lord" (Acts 19:10; see also "The Ephesus Approach: How the Gospel Transformed a Community" at Acts 19:8–41).

In Revelation, John relays messages from the Lord to seven churches that had likely been established thanks to the Ephesians' strategy (see "The Seven Churches of Revelation" at Rev. 3:1). The churches were located in provincial capitals in what is now the nation of Turkey. A clockwise route would have taken a courier to each of these cities. From there the message would spread to other regional churches.

At the time of John's writing, Christians were likely facing intense persecution under Emperor Domitian (A.D. 81–96), who fostered a system of emperor-worship that demanded all citizens to refer to him as "Lord and God." He used political, economic, and social measures to suppress anything perceived as resistance, including the rapidly spreading Christian movement. It was likely during this period that Christians first sought refuge in Rome's catacombs, deep underground tunnels customarily used as burial chambers.

At the same time that Christians endured these external threats, they struggled with the internal perils of poverty, heresy, and dissension. Revelation refers to heretical teachers as teachers of Balaam (2:14), Jezebel (2:20), the Nicolaitans (2:6, 15), and the synagogue of Satan (2:9; 3:9). Although we do not know the exact nature of these heresies, emerging gnosticism may have been one of them. Syncretism and worldliness were also common problems (see "Syncretism: A Dangerous Mix" at Col. 2:1–23).

While John sent the Lord's letters to seven groups of believers living at the end of the first century, the Book of Revelation serves as an open letter to Christians of all times and places, including believers of the modern age. Christ-followers in John's day faced the "fiery trial" (1 Pet. 4:12) of false teachers and violent persecution in the name of emperor-worship. The Book of Revelation challenged them to hold to the truth and persevere through suffering. Likewise, we can find encouragement in the pages of Revelation for our own challenges—for example, standing up for biblical principles in opposition to mainstream relativism and culturally acceptable immorality, sharing our faith with others under the rule of governments that do not support freedom of religion, and persevering through personal hardships that overwhelm us with feelings of doubt and despair.

Ephesus: A Church in Action

Rev. 2:1–7

The New Testament provides more information about the church at Ephesus than about any other first-century church. The biblical record of the Christians at Ephesus spans seven documents by three authors over roughly four decades. John's letter assesses that forty-year-old congregation. He commends solid accomplishments but also warns them about a glaring weakness. Learn more in the following features:

Key People

- Priscilla and Aquila: see their profile at Romans 16:3–5.
- Apollos: see his profile at Acts 18:24–28.
- Paul: see his profile at Acts 13:9.

Key Places and Events

Studying the experiences of this early Christian community gives insight to our own modern gatherings. Would you describe your congregation as a living temple of God? In what areas is your church strong? In what areas is it weak? What changes must you make as you face present challenges? What warnings is God giving to your congregation? How do you pray for your church? How are you planning for the future?

That Woman Jezebel

Rev. 2:20–23

This wife of King Ahab was named Jezebel (see her profile at 1 Kin. 19:1), and she was so vile (16:31; 21:25; 2 Kin. 9:7–10, 22) that her name has stood as a symbol of evil for thousands of years, even among some people today. Here in Revelation, another "Jezebel" encourages idol worship and immorality.

This woman was no follower of Christ. She led people astray, yet the Thyatiran Christians had tolerated her false ideas and promotion of sexual promiscuity. The Lord urged this community to repent lest they suffer the same destruction as the unrepentant Jezebel in their midst.

Think About It: Put your name in this blank: "That ___." What does that stand for? What would you like it to stand for?

Creation and Redemption

Rev. 4:11; 5:9, 10

The book of Revelation records two heavenly songs that celebrate God's twin works of creation and redemption:

1. A creation hymn lauds God's creation and sustaining of the universe for our benefit (Gen. 1:1–31). Twenty-four elders proclaim, "You are worthy, O Lord . . . for You created all things, and by Your will they exist and were created."
2. A redemption hymn declares that God offered up the necessary sacrifice through Christ to rescue us from sin. Four creatures and twenty-four elders holding harps sing, "You are worthy . . . for You were slain, and have redeemed us to God by Your blood."

These two superlative gifts of God—creation and redemption—then cause every creature in heaven and on earth to burst forth in praise, singing, "Blessing and honor and glory and power be to Him" (Rev. 5:13).

These glorious scenes should move us to put our worship into action. God's creative activity prompts us to work on behalf of the environment. His redemptive activity prompts us to take His message of saving grace to "the end of the earth" (Acts 1:8).

It is important to note that instead of choosing one of these crucial emphases over the other, we are to strike a balance between both. God's calling is a dual calling; He commands us to steward His creation, wisely watching over its resources (Gen. 1:26–31) and to carry His words to the world, making disciples of all peoples (Matt. 28:18–20).

More: The overarching story of creation and redemption runs through the Bible from Genesis to Revelation. John Milton drew upon this overarching story for his works Paradise Lost and Paradise Regained.

Worship or Wrath

Rev. 6:1–17

For some people, Christ makes little or no difference to their worldview. But Revelation 4–10 gives us a glimpse of eternity, showing that the time we spend on earth is only a brief prelude to something much bigger—and how we respond to Jesus has everything to do with where we will spend it.

This section reveals the coming apocalypse and the joy that awaits in heaven (Rev. 4:1). The contrasts couldn't be more striking. Those who embrace Christ as God's provision for sin can anticipate a celebration that exceeds their highest expectations. Those who reject Christ have reason to tremble. Their refusal to accept His free gift of forgiveness ensures that they will experience God's righteous wrath.

Only in Christ can we escape this wrath. God offers safety that begins now and lasts forever, but waiting to accept His offer deprives us of enjoying a new life today. Our choice for or against Jesus has eternal consequences.

With Christ: Worship

Splendor and beauty (Rev. 4:2–8)
Praise and adoration (4:8–11)
Access to God (5:1–8)
Outbursts of worship (5:9)
Exalted status (5:10)
Affirmation (5:11–14)
Restoration (6:9–11)
Protection (7:2–8)

Without Christ: Wrath

No peace (Rev. 6:4)
Killing unleashed (6:5)
Death reigns (6:8)
Earth collapses (6:12–17)
Fires and earthquakes (8:5) Destruction surges (8:7–10)
Rampant death (8:11)
Pervasive darkness (8:12)

An end to suffering (7:9–17)
Bitter becomes sweet (10:9)
Worldwide woes (8:13)
Tormenting plagues (9:2–11)
More death (9:18)
Repentance rejected (9:20, 21)

Angels

Rev. 7:1

The angels that John saw standing at the four corners of earth are among the countless spirits that serve God and His people (Heb. 1:7, 14). Angels appear frequently in the Book of Revelation (for example, Rev. 1:20; 5:2, 11; 7:2, 11; 8:2, 6; 12:7; 14:6; 15:1; 18:21; 20:1; 22:8). They also play a part in many other New Testament events. Angels . . .

- Foretold to Zacharias the birth of John the Baptist (Luke 1:11–20).
- Told Mary that she would bear the Christ (1:26–38).
- Relieved Joseph's doubts about Mary's pregnancy (Matt. 1:20–25).
- Announced Jesus' birth to shepherds near Bethlehem (Luke 2:8–15).
- Warned Joseph to flee due to Herod's plan to kill Jesus (Matt. 2:13).
- Encouraged Joseph to return to Israel with his family (2:19, 20).
- Ministered to Jesus after His temptation in the wilderness (4:11).
- Appeared to Jesus in the Garden of Gethsemane to give Him strength (Luke 22:43).
- Told the women at the empty tomb that Jesus was alive (Matt. 28:2–6).
- Promised the crowd observing Jesus' ascension that He would return in like manner (Acts 1:10, 11).
- Led Peter and John out of prison (5:17–20).

- Told Philip to go into the desert where he met the Ethiopian treasurer (8:26).
- Told the centurion Cornelius to send for Peter (10:3–8).
- Released Peter from prison (12:7).
- Struck down Herod for not giving glory to God (12:23).
- Stood by Paul during a storm at sea to assure him that he would stand before Caesar (27:23, 24).

A Global Multitude

Rev. 7:9

Jesus commanded His followers to make disciples of all the nations (Greek: ethnē, "peoples"; see "To Every Nation" at Matt. 28:19). As John leads us into heaven's throne room, we see the fulfillment of that mandate. Standing before Christ the Lamb is a throng of "all nations, tribes, peoples, and tongues" so large it cannot be counted.

Two groups are present—representatives from God's people, the Jews (Rev. 7:3–8), and Gentile believers (7:9, 10). Just as Jesus predicted, the gospel has spread from Jerusalem to "the end of the earth" (Acts 1:8). Jews and Gentiles have joined together to receive God's promised salvation. God dwells among His people. Jesus the Shepherd supplies all their needs (Rev. 7:14–17).

In response to this worldwide, multiethnic and multicultural salvation, every creature in heaven and on earth falls before God in worship and song (7:11, 12).

For now, we live in a world wracked by hatred and international conflict. Knowing that God intends to populate heaven with people of every ethnicity, nation, and language matters deeply for all who claim to follow Christ. If God's heart reaches to the entire world, so should ours.

Faith and the Environment

Rev. 9:4

Climate change. Habitat destruction. Overpopulation. Some both inside and outside the church think that God cares little about these issues, as if He made the earth's resources to be exploited by human beings with little regard for long-term consequences. But God designed us to be more than consumers; He designed us to be caretakers (Gen. 1:26–29).

A biblical view of the environment begins by acknowledging God as the owner of everything we see. "The earth is the LORD's, and all its fullness," the psalmist declares (Ps. 24:1). As maker and owner of the universe, God entrusts us with managing the world's resources as a gift, which we are to use to serve each other (see "God and the Environment" at Ps. 104:14–23, 35). Our management role is part of living as people made in God's image (Gen. 1:26–29). We will answer to Him both individually and collectively for how we handle this trust.

John describes rampant destruction and violence in the end times, but not all will be consumed. The command not to harm "the grass of the earth, or any green thing, or any tree" (Rev. 9:4) echoes Gen. 1:29: "every herb that yields seed which is on the face of all the earth, and every tree whose fruit yields seed."

God shows the same concern for our planet when He sends a messenger to the four angels "to whom it was granted to harm the earth and the sea," so that the messenger will cry out in a loud voice, "Do not harm the earth, the sea, or the trees" (Rev. 7:2, 3). Likewise, the new heaven and new earth include a "pure river of water of life, clear as crystal . . . the tree of life, which bore twelve fruits, each tree yielding its fruit every month. The leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations" (22:1, 2).

God's creation deserves the sort of respect that its Creator demonstrates toward it. And in modern times, the environment needs our faithful management more than ever. There are countless ways we can do our part—regularly recycling, being mindful not to waste water or electricity, sharing rides in order to cut down on greenhouse gas emissions, participating in a community-supported agriculture project, or donating to environmental protection organizations, for example.

Often the thing that keeps us from doing more for the environment is not a major obstacle but a minor inconvenience. But these inconveniences will be well worth it not only for future generations but for ourselves when we find ourselves standing before the Lord to answer for our work on behalf of creation.

Names for Satan in the New Testament

Rev. 9:11

Descriptors for Satan reveal his character and hint at how to fight him. Two names are given to the "angel of the bottomless pit": Abaddon ("Destruction") and Apollyon ("Destroyer"). There is no mistaking this reference to Satan ("Adversary"), the archenemy of God. His other New Testament appellations also reveal his evil character:

- Beelzebub, ruler of the demons (Matt. 12:24)
- The wicked one (13:19, 38)
- The enemy (13:39)
- Murderer (John 8:44)
- Liar (8:44)
- The ruler of this world (12:31; 14:30)
- The god of this age (2 Cor. 4:4)
- Belial (6:15, according to some interpretations)
- The prince of the power of the air (Eph. 2:2)
- The tempter (1 Thess. 3:5)
- A roaring lion (1 Pet. 5:8)
- The adversary (5:8)
- The dragon (Rev. 12:7)
- The accuser of our brethren (12:10)
- The serpent of old (20:2)
- The deceiver (20:10)

Apocalyptic Literature
Rev. 10:1–10

An angel straddling land and sea (Rev. 10:1, 2). A voice from heaven (10:4). The number seven (10:4, 7). Prophecies about "peoples, nations, tongues, and kings" (10:11). These are features of a genre of writing known as apocalyptic literature. Although the Book of Revelation is more than just any apocalyptic work, in that it is part of Scripture, understanding the main features of the apocalyptic genre is crucial to deciphering its contents.

The Greek word for apocalypse means "revelation," "unveiling," or "disclosure." Apocalyptic literature reveals mysteries about heaven and earth, mankind and God, angels and demons, the life of the world today, and the world to come. This type of writing first arose among Jews and Christians during the approximate period of 200 B.C. to A.D. 200.

Characteristics

Apocalyptic literature employs literary devices, styles, and motifs that set it apart from other genres of literature. Some examples:

- Visions that reveal secrets from heaven about the present and the future. Apocalyptic visions are often caused by a trauma or major event that creates a crisis in the writer's life (for example, Rev. 1:9, 10). One vision often leads to others.
- Ethical conclusions drawn from the writer's visionary experiences. For example, John's seven letters to seven churches in Revelation 2–3 are composed in response to a vision and a divine commission (1:19). The letters call the churches to specific ethical and moral decisions.
- Anonymous or attributed authorship. Revelation is an exception among apocalyptic works in naming its actual author (1:1, 9). Many noncanonical apocalyptic books attribute their origins to famous prophets of old, including Ezra, Enoch, Jeremiah, and Moses, likely as an attempt to give the work a sense of credibility.

- Powerful symbolism. Apocalyptic books stretch our imagination with dramatic images full of extreme actions and outcomes; numerology and colors are especially important. Often the books' contemporary readers are intended to grasp the meanings of symbols and connect them to events of the time.
- Stark contrasts between good and evil. Apocalyptic writing is dualistic, splitting everything into clear categories of good and evil, right and wrong. All the people and creatures of Revelation, for example, are either on the side of God, who is holy, righteous, and just, or on the side of Satan, who is surrounded by abominations, idolatry, and evil.
- A concern with end times. Apocalyptic authors look to future events, offering hope to those who long for justice and deliverance from evil, but also issuing warnings to those who rebel against God.

Messages

Apocalyptic authors used their writing to communicate critical messages to their readers. The following themes occur in all apocalyptic writings:

- An imminent end. Apocalyptic writers put the demise of the world in the near future. A sense of immediacy lends urgency to their message.
- A cosmic perspective. The coming destruction extends to the entire universe, emphasizing cataclysmic judgments.
- History is unbending. Many writings divide history into the present world, ruled by Satan and his legions, and the world to come, when evil will be eliminated and God will rule supreme.
- Angels and demons. Spirits take active roles in human events. Satan and his demons—fallen angels—are to blame for much evil. Angels still loyal to God protect and serve His faithful followers.
- A new heaven and a new earth. The end times return to the beginning of creation. Out of heaven comes a new heaven and a new earth. The old is destroyed, replaced by a new creation where God reigns without opposition.
- The Messiah. In most apocalyptic writings, a mediator between God and human beings accomplishes the world's final salvation. Revelation shows that Christ is our Messiah, and the "King of kings and Lord of lords" (19:16).

Revelation forms a part of God's revealed Word, putting it in a class of its own among apocalyptic works. Like other inspired Scriptures, it is reliable and authoritative, possessing an integrity and trustworthiness not found in uninspired writings. But studying other works in the genre of apocalyptic literature helps us identify Revelation's themes and better apply God's message contained there.

Women in Revelation

Rev. 12:1

Revelation casts its female characters in two extremes of moral character—they are either extraordinarily good or outrageously bad. Such dichotomies are typical of apocalyptic literature (see "Apocalyptic Literature" at Rev. 10:1–10). The marked dualism and unusual actions of these women suggest that we should view them in a symbolic light rather than a literal one.

Jezebel

Christ rebukes the church at Thyatira for allowing "that woman Jezebel" (2:20) to encourage immorality and teach people to worship false gods. In the Old Testament, Queen Jezebel was the wife of King Ahab. Together they were probably Israel's most wicked rulers (see "That Woman Jezebel" at Rev. 2:20–23). Christ says that He will judge not only Jezebel but also her children, meaning those who follow her ways.

The Woman Giving Birth

Attacked by an evil dragon, this woman takes refuge in God (12:1–6). Because she bears a male child, some conclude that this woman represents Mary the mother of Jesus; others see her as Israel, the collective "mother" that brought forth the Messiah. The dragon's attempts to destroy her and "the rest of her offspring" (12:17) may refer to Satan's struggles to destroy Israel and disrupt the Messianic line.

Babylon, the Great Harlot

The harlot is found in a number of passages in Revelation (14:8; 17:1–6, 15–18; 18:1–24). Old Testament prophets, such as Hosea and Ezekiel, often pointed to adulterers and prostitutes as symbols of people who practiced idolatry. Like an adulteress unfaithful to her husband, God's people betray Him by worshiping other gods (see "Harlots Enter the Kingdom" at Matt. 21:31, 32). Revelation 17 identifies the harlot as Babylon, which first-century readers likely understood as a code name for Rome. Unlike the New Jerusalem that descends from heaven with glory and blessing (ch. 21), Babylon is shattered and judged for persecuting God's people and corrupting earth's peoples (ch. 18).

The Wife (Bride) of the Lamb

As the marriage feast of the Lamb approaches, a bride has made herself ready. The description of this woman clothing herself in righteous acts (19:8) suggests that she represents the church.

The Delusions of Luxury

Rev. 18:1–24

Too much wealth endangers the moral and spiritual health of individuals, cities, and nations. Luxury can lead us into spiritual carelessness, greed, and ruin. Jesus frankly warned the world about the "deceitfulness of riches" (Matt. 13:22). Paul wrote that "the love of money is a root of all kinds of evil, for which some have strayed from the faith in their greediness, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows" (1 Tim. 6:10).

John envisions a Babylon entrapped by her wealth. The literal ancient city had achieved wealth, power, and dominance through unrelenting warfare, oppression, and corruption, making it notorious throughout the known world for plundering others for selfish gain. Here in Revelation, Babylon likely symbolizes not only Rome but an entire world system at war with God.

Babylon's people pay a heavy price for their self-indulgent lifestyle and the injustice they inflict to maintain it. Their cruelty and deception do not go unanswered:

- The city becomes a dwelling place for demons (18:2).
- Insulated from pain, she suffers from denial (18:4–8).
- Her economic systems and trading partnerships are dissolved (18:11–18, 22, 23).
- Her possessions disappear and she is left desolate (18:19).

Magic and Sorcery

Rev. 18:23

Occult beliefs and practices—fortune-telling, witchcraft, astrology, and more—charm a never-ending supply of new devotees. John reveals the occult's true nature when he says that Babylon's sorcery has deceived the nations.

Although occult practices were common among ancient cultures, God's people were explicitly prohibited from engaging in any kind of occult practice. That directive extends to Christians today. Among the practices called "an abomination to the LORD" (Deut. 18:12) are the following:

- child sacrifice (making a child "pass through the fire," 2 Kin. 17:17, for example),
- witchcraft,
- soothsaying (divination possibly similar to astrology or reading tea leaves),
- interpreting omens,
- sorcery,
- conjuring spells,
- consulting mediums,
- spiritism, and
- calling upon the dead.

The New Testament shows the gospel exposing the sorcerers Simon (Acts 8:9–25) and Elymas (13:6–8). The Book of Acts also mentions "itinerant Jewish exorcists" (19:13) who attempted to drive out evil spirits by using Jesus' name, even though for them it was an empty gesture.

The New Testament word translated sorcery comes from the same Greek word from which we derive the English word pharmacy. The denunciations of Revelation 9:21, 18:23, 21:8, and 22:15 also apply to those who use drugs to bring on trances in an attempt to gain supernatural insight or power.

More: Scripture strongly warns us against even casually dabbling in magic and the occult. See "The Seduction of Spirits" at Deut. 18:9–14.

Hope for the Family

Rev. 19:6–10

The fact that John's vision ends in a marriage between Christ the Lamb and His bride the church should offer hope for modern families. Families face inevitable pain simply because all families are made up of sinners, but this was not God's original intention. He instituted the family by joining Adam and Eve as "one flesh" (Gen. 2:24), a perfect relationship. But their sin and rebellion brought turmoil into their relationship and into all subsequent families. Adam and Eve experienced horrifying grief firsthand when their son Cain murdered his brother Abel (4:1–16). But amid the worst of this fallen world, God wants families to experience His best. Scripture teaches us how we can begin to enjoy His restoration:

- It encourages parents to raise children in an environment of truth and integrity (Deut. 6:2–9).
- It shows how a family devastated by death and the prospect of poverty was lifted out of hardship (the Book of Ruth).
- It tells the story of a family destroyed by evil but restored twofold by a faithful God (Job 1:13–21; 2:9; 42:10–17).

- It affirms the beauty of sexual love within marriage and celebrates passion, fidelity, and integrity (the Song of Solomon).
- It offers a template for marriage that features mutual submission, loyalty, love, and discipline that does not alienate —a pattern similar to Christ's relationship to His bride the church (Eph. 5:21–6:4).

God's original design for the family cannot be destroyed. For now, we endure the pain of imperfect human relationships or even a fragmented family. But God's healing and love will one day win out, and He will "wipe away every tear" from our eyes, for "there shall be no more death, nor sorrow, nor crying" (Rev. 21:4).

Evil's Final Reward

Rev. 20:1–5

On some days we may look around at the world and wonder whatever happened to ethics and justice. But the Bible shows that justice will soon reign.

God never overlooks injustice, and Scripture promises that He will deal with evil absolutely and finally. John's vision looks ahead to this ultimate triumph:

- God will bind evil and cast it into a bottomless pit (Rev. 20:2, 3).
- He will seal the source of evil (20:3).
- He will administer judgment and restore Christians killed unjustly (20:4).
- He will at long last deal with Satan after allowing him a final attempt to deceive (20:7–9); the devil's punishment includes eternal torment (20:10, 14).
- The dead will stand before God and be judged (20:11–15).

As we live out God's righteousness in our communities, families, and workplaces, we can be sure that no human being—no matter how impartial and objective—or biased and corrupt—is the final judge. Justice will be administered by One we can thoroughly trust: God, through Christ.

Genesis and Revelation

Rev. 21:1

The word Bible comes from the Greek word biblos ("book"). The Bible is one complete book unified in theme and message. It is also a collection of sixty-six books, a library of God's Word to humanity. As the Bible's first and last books, Genesis and Revelation help define the collection, showing us the beginning and end of history. In Revelation 21:1, John reveals a new heaven and new earth that take us back to the beginnings of the world.

Genesis	Revelation
God creates the world.	God creates a new heaven and new earth.
The devil introduces sin into the world.	The devil is defeated and sin is destroyed.
Humanity falls into sin.	God restores people to sinlessness.
The world is subjected to the Curse.	The Curse is removed.
People are separated from God.	People live with God forever.
People shed tears.	God wipes away every tear.
People are barred from the tree of life.	People eat freely from the tree of life.
Death enters the world.	Death is destroyed and people live forever.

People's language is confused and they are scattered.	The world's peoples come together to sing the Lord's praises.

Work in the Bible

Rev. 22:1–11

As John's vision draws to a close, we see creation restored to God's original design. Work plays an essential role throughout history, and Scripture depicts three distinct "eras" of work—work as it was in the Garden of Eden, work as it is in a fallen world, and work as it will be when Christ returns.

Main Point	Key Texts
Creation of Work: Work according to God's original design.
God reveals Himself as the primary Worker and Creator.	Gen. 1:1–25; Ps. 19:1–6
God creates us in His likeness and image as coworkers.	Gen. 1:26–31; 2:15–25; Ps. 8:1–9
Distortion of Work: Work under the Curse and influenced by the principalities and powers that oppose God.
Sin introduces toil, sweat, and pain into work and family.	Gen. 3:16–24; 4:11, 12; Rom. 8:20–22
Workplace complications intensify.	Gen. 39:1–23
Workplace exploitation appears.	Ex. 1:8–22
Work is meant not only for our own benefit but for others, including the poor and oppressed.	Ex. 23:10–11; Deut. 15:7–11; Eph. 4:28

God continues to equip people for work through His Word and Spirit.	Ex. 31:2–11
People lack fulfillment because they make work an end in itself.	Eccl. 2:4–26; Luke 12:13–34
Work can still be a gift that fits God's design.	Eccl. 2:24–3:17
Work is a gift of God that He will bless.	Ps. 104:1–35; 127:1–5; Eccl. 3:12, 13; 5:18–20
Jesus reestablished and illustrated God's original design for work.	John 4:34–38; 5:1–18
We experience agony as we seek release from sin and await creation's renewal.	Eccl. 1:2, 3; Rom. 8:18–30
God's people demonstrate their citizenship in heaven through good work here and now.	Eph. 6:5–9; Col. 3:17–23; Titus 2:1–3:15; James 2:1–26

Restoration of Work: Work as it will be when Christ returns.

God restores His original design; His people work without the burden of sin.	Is. 65:17–25; Rev. 15:1–4; 22:1–11

The Tree of Life

Rev. 22:2

As John gazes on the new heaven and earth that God will someday create, he sees a tree of life that bears twelve kinds of fruits, a different fruit each month.

A tree that productive will give little rest to the workers who cultivate it and harvest its fruit. But those who tend the tree will surely be happy because God promises that "there shall be no more curse" (Rev. 22:3). Work will be entirely without the toil and drudgery we now experience (21:4).

This view of a new creation with enjoyable work and mouthwatering results closely resembles a future society described in Isaiah 65:17–23. That scene includes attractive images such as . . .

- joy and rejoicing (Is. 65:18),
- an end to weeping and crying (65:19),
- building and living in our own houses (65:21),
- owning, planting, and enjoying the fruit of our vineyards (65:21, 22),
- enjoying the work of our hands (65:22), and
- an end to laboring in vain or bringing children into a world of trouble (65:23).

These pictures from Revelation and Isaiah remind us of God's original design for His handiwork, a creation that was "very good" (Gen. 1:31). God made people His coworkers in managing the world's resources for everyone's benefit (see "People at Work" at Ps. 8:6), and He will one day restore that ideal. As Paul promised, God will free the world from its sufferings, futility, and bondage to corruption, and remake it in line with its original design (Rom. 8:18–25). This is truly a hope to cherish.

More: Despite the troubles of work, the Bible calls it a gift from God. See "Work Itself Is a Gift from God" at Gen. 3:17–19.

Welcome

Rev. 22:17

Many people think religion offers nothing but judgment. But Jesus came not to condemn but to save. His purpose was to offer life to a dying humanity, inviting us to experience forgiveness, healing, and hope. "Come!" He says to those who are thirsty: "Whoever desires, let him take the water of life freely" (Rev. 22:17; John 7:37, 38).

Centuries prior to Jesus' coming, a prophet foretold this invitation (Is. 55:1, 3):

Ho! Everyone who thirsts,
Come to the waters;
And you who have no money,
Come, buy and eat.
Yes, come, buy wine and milk
Without money and without price
. . . . . .

Incline your ear, and come to Me.
Hear, and your soul shall live.

The same Jesus who issues this invitation wields the power to withdraw it from those who refuse His call and continue their habits of rebellion and sin (Rev. 22:14, 15, 18, 19). Just as He has authority to welcome us into eternal life, He also has the authority not to welcome us. Yet He graciously chooses to offer life to sinful people.

Whatever confusion you might feel about religion, don't miss God's gracious offer: Jesus wants to forgive your sins and welcome you into new life. If you haven't already accepted His invitation, do it now. Choose this moment to begin the journey that leads to eternal life.

Table of Monies, Weights, and Measures

The Hebrews probably first used coins in the Persian period (500–350 B.C.). However, minting began around 700 B.C. in other nations. Prior to this, precious metals were weighed, not counted as money.

Some units appear as both measures of money and measures of weights. This comes from naming the coins after their weight. For example, the shekel was a weight long before it became the name of a coin.

It is helpful to relate biblical monies to current values. But we cannot make exact equivalents. The fluctuating value of money's purchasing power is difficult to determine in our own day. It is even harder to evaluate currencies used two- to three-thousand years ago.

Therefore, it is best to choose a value meaningful over time, such as a common laborer's daily wage. One day's wage corresponds to the ancient Jewish system (a silver shekel is four days' wages) as well as to the Greek and Roman systems (the drachma and the denarius were each coins representing a day's wage).

The monies chart below takes a current day's wage as thirty-two dollars. Though there are differences of economies and standards of living, this measure will help us apply meaningful values to the monetary units in the chart and in the biblical text.

Concordance

This Concordance is designed to help you locate important occurrences of significant words, phrases, and proper names found in the Bible. Words and phrases are referenced with Scripture quotations, in which the first letter of the word or phrase, italicized, stands for the entire word or phrase. Phrases are cross-referenced under every major word of the phrase except the first. When looking up a word, be sure to check for related forms of the word and for phrases beginning with that word.

Proper names are defined by descriptive phrases and Scripture references. If a name applies to more than one person, place, or group (see ABIJAH, below), the different identities are distinguished by the dash ("———").

5 Some Jews say that Paul taught against the Jewish nation, law, and temple (Acts 21:28a). Paul is charged with bringing a Gentile into the sacred precincts of the temple (Acts 21:28b, 29). Threats to his life necessitate a military escort to Caesarea (Acts 23:12–23). Here he is imprisoned for two years (Acts 24:27).
